FROM EXILE LEADER

Cubans Get Call To Arms Against Castro's Regime

NEW YORK (UPI)—The president of the Cuban exile government issued a call to arms Saturday for all Cubans to rise up against Premier Fidel Castro and demanded the "moral and material support" of the rest of the Western Hemisphere in ending Soviet enslavement of his home-land.

Jose Miro Cardona, 59-year-old first premier of Castro's revolutionary government who defected last summer shortly after being named ambassador to the United States, made his appeals at a news conference sponsored by the Cuban Revolutionary Council.

The council, made up of various anti-Castro exiled groups with contacts in Cuba, denied through Miro Cardona that the Central Intelligence Agency of the U. S. government had been providing arms or money for the exile army.

ASKS MORAL AID

Miro Cardona also said the CIA had nothing to do with the formation of the revolutionary council.

"Cuba, our tormented country, is today a Soviet colony enslaved by the totalitarian nations of Europe and Asia, which have fallen into the clutches of this new order of hatred and poverty," Miro Cardona said in a six-page mimeographed statement.

"This sad experience suffered by our flesh and blood moves us to demand vehemently the moral and material support of our sister republics in our fight to expel from Cuba the invaders, not only as an act of hemispheric solidarity, but to prevent further attacks on other nations of this hemisphere.

"Without this determined, sincere and vigorous support, our final victory, even though inevitable, would not eliminate the danger that other sister republics may suffer the horrors and crimes which the Cubans are suffering today."

Miro Cardona indicated the rebel groups were pinning their hopes on infiltration and popular uprisings rather than an immediate invasion.

"I cannot speak for our future plans because they are war plans," he said. "They will be

30 Missing After Ship Fire, Blasts

MANAMA, Bahrein (AP)—Explosions rocked the crippled British liner Dara Saturday night after hundreds of passengers and crew jumped from the burning vessel and were plucked safely from the sea. A daring band of ship's officers tried and failed to take her in tow for salvage.

A spokesman for the owners said the count of survivors rose steadily throughout the day — to 520 — after the first SOS was sounded around dawn. Rescue craft scoured the Persian Gulf after darkness fell, hunting about 30 persons unaccounted for. One body was recovered from the sea.

U. S. Nabs Exiled Aide Of Batista

MIAMI (UPI)—Ex-Cuban Senator Rolando Masferrer Rojas, head of the hated "Tiger" police of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista, was arrested by immigration officials here Saturday at the request of the State Department.

Edward Ahrens, district immigration director, said Masferrer's immigration parole had been revoked and that the handsome Cuban was picked up at his home-in-exile here.

"Because of his allegation that he wasn't feeling well and particularly in view of his past medical history, he was taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital and held in custody," Ahrens said.

The State Department asked that Masferrer be taken into custody because his "continued presence at large...in the United States and particularly in...Florida is prejudicial to the national interests from the point of view of our foreign relations.

Masferrer, who fled to this country with a number of his followers after Fidel Castro ousted Batista in 1959, has been living in Miami, an outcast among other anti-Castro Cuban exiles who are as much opposed to Batista as the Castro regime.

A State Department spokesman in Washington declined to elaborate on the statement, but anti-Castro groups in the United States have been trying to get Masferrer out of the Miami area for fear he would become identified with the movements trying to oust Castro.

Cloudy, Rains Expected Today

Dreary Sunday weather is in store for the Twin Cities and surrounding area today as the forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies and scattered showers and thundershowers today.

Mild temperatures are expected to prevail today with the high ranging from 66 to 76 degrees. It will be a little cooler tonight.

Yesterday's high — accompanied by a night shower — was 69. The low reading was 52.

In the southeast portion of the state tonight, rain is expected. And the weather bureau last night put out small craft warnings from Port Arthur, Tex., to Morgan City.

Bowden Tops Two Foes In Mayor Race

Elections Held In Several State Cities Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alexandria mayor George D. Bowden Saturday night won in his bid for re-election, swamping two opponents according to unofficial returns.

With returns in from all of the city's 14 boxes in election, Bowden had 4,564 votes to John L. McConnell's 3,331. The third candidate, Jack Mule, had 433.

THIRD TERM

Bowden was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor on New Orleans mayor deLesseps Morrison's ticket in the last gubernatorial race. This will be Bowden's third term.

Lake Charles—Alfred Roberts, insurance man and agricultural implemental dealer topped four-man field with 5,097, but goes into the May 13 runoff against Will Cox, city commissioner of streets and parks who pulled 4,313. Finance commissioner Jim Sudduth received 4,201 votes and public safety commissioner Sam Tarleton got 2,710.

In other mayor races in Louisiana:

Hammond—Mayor James A. Stire topped a seven-man field with 1,269 votes, but faced a runoff with John Morrison who pulled 702 votes.

Bossier City—Former police chief George Nattin appeared to be an easy winner with all returns reported. The returns showed Nattin with 3,204 while incumbent Jake Cameron had 1,571. Two other candidates were far behind.

Donaldsonville—R. N. Sims had a narrow lead in a three-man race for mayor. Sims, with 847 votes on complete returns, will go into a runoff with Dr. D. C. Foti, who pulled 834 votes.

Breaux Bridge—Mayor Louis M. Kern appeared an easy winner in a re-election bid. Complete returns showed him with 871 votes to W. L. Bruner's 512.

Gretna—Mayor William White had a big lead over Dr. Joseph Gregoratti with complete returns in from the 55 precincts involved. White had 4,155 to Gregoratti's 2,283. Gretna city marshal Beauregard Miller swamped his anti gambling foe, W. J. Gurley, 4,160

Highway Closed In Acid Scare

KROTZ SPRINGS, La. (AP)—State troopers sealed off a major Louisiana highway for three hours Saturday when a trailer truck hauling deadly hydrocyanic acid broke down.

There was no gas leakage, however, and an emergency chemical crew rushed to the scene by air gave the all-clear.

The quick-thinking, unidentified driver, parked his vehicle when it began to buckle on U.S. 190 a mile east of this small rural community.

He telephoned state police, officers said, warning some of the approximately 200 steel cylinders might have cracked with the shock.

The American Cyanamid Co. cargo, en route from New Orleans to Kansas City, was shifted to another truck after the firm's emergency crew flew to the area about 35 miles west of Baton Rouge.

GUATEMALA REPORTS

Marcello's Birth Records Are Legal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Guatemala government reportedly has taken the position that deported rackets boss Carlos Marcello's Guatemala birth records are legal.

In a dispatch from Guatemala City, the States-Item Saturday said no government inquiry is planned by Guatemala into the deportation Tuesday of the 51-year-old New Orleans underworld czar.

Meanwhile, Marcello, lounging in a luxurious Guatemala City hotel, awaited arrival of his chief attorney, Jack Wasserman. Wasserman, who has filed a petition contesting the deportation, was reported flying to Marcello from Washington.

Guatamalan presidential press secretary Augusto Mulet said records in Guatemala show Marcello's birth here in 1910. All U.S. government contentions in its 9-year battle to deport Marcello was that he was born in Tunis, North Africa.

A States-Item reporter, who examined the birth records, said there was great variance in the signatures of witnesses.

Marcello brands the records forgeries. He claims Tunis is his birthplace and wants to return to his home in Jefferson Parish outside New Orleans.

Guatemala newspapers continued to ask the government to kick out Marcello. But press secretary Mulet said:

"We have nothing against this man. No official complaint has been filed and he is charged with nothing."

Holever, Mulet said there are rumors of an Interpol (International Police) probe involving Marcello and his background of narcotics convictions.

U. S. Orbits Satellite With Secret Payload

300-Pound Capsule To Be Ejected

The second stage of the 81-foot-tall projectile was identical in appearance to those of Midas and Samos space-spy satellites—a 2,450-pound, 25-foot-long orbital vehicle called Agena B.

NO COMMENT

The Air Force declined, however, to say whether the second stage of Saturday's rocket carried any experimental Midas or Samos gear.

When perfected, Midas satellites will be able to detect enemy missile launchings by spotting the heat of their exhaust. Samos satellites will carry cameras far superior to those in the U2 plane shot down by the Soviet Union last spring.

Saturday's rocket has in its nose a 300-pound capsule which will be ejected after one to four days in orbit. As it parachutes down near Hawaii, planes will try to catch the capsule in the air.

If they fail, the capsule is to be fished from the ocean.

Officers said privately, however, that engineers hoped it would be possible to recover the capsule from the 2,100-pound satellite after a record four days and a million and a half miles in space. Two similar attempts have been unsuccessful.

The Air Force said the satellite was orbiting around the earth once every 94 minutes. A spokesman said its low point was an altitude of 186 miles and its high point 402 miles.

The giant rocket shot into a clear sky at about 11:21 a.m. and the Air Force said the ascent was normal.

3 Airmen Found Killed

Two Others On Bomber Feared Dead

GRANTS, N. M. (AP) — The bodies of three crewmen of a B52 jet bomber, shot down accidentally by a National Guard fighter plane, were discovered Saturday.

Two remaining crewmen were missing in the snowy wastes around Mt. Taylor in western New Mexico. Both were presumed dead.

NOT IDENTIFIED

The Air Force declined to identify those known dead.

The shaken guard pilot blamed mechanical failure.

Three men parachuted to safety and were recovered alive. They were kept incommunicado by the Air Force.

The big bomber crashed near the 8,000-foot level in a heavy snowstorm. It dug a hole in the barren hillside eight feet deep and 30 feet wide.

Only small bits of wreckage remained. One jet engine was found 300 yards from the crash scene.

Failure to find a trace of the two missing crewmen led officers to speculate they may have parachuted. If they did, the Air Force held out no hope they survived.

One still identifiable piece of wreckage bore what apparently was the plane's nickname "Ciudad Juarez." Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., where the B52 was stationed, is just across the Rio Grande from the city of Juarez, Mexico.

Maj. Ted Lewis, search director, said examination of the wreckage confirmed that three were dead. "The other two are missing and we must presume them to be dead because of the weather," Lewis said.

Twenty-one would-be rescuers and newsmen remained stranded on the snowy slopes Saturday night. They were not considered to be in any danger. Forty-nine were stranded Friday night, but survived with air-dropped food and blankets.

Merger Of Two Life Insurance Firms Revealed

The officers and board of Ouachita Security Life Insurance Company yesterday announced that the company had combined with Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company of America to form a new company, Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company with home offices in Monroe.

The merger was seen as a "forward step" by both of the combining companies, "forming a major financial institution in Monroe."

Ouachita Security Life was established in Monroe in 1956 when gross assets totaled $27,000. The figure now stands at $930,000 and will exceed $1,000,000 before the end of 1961, it was predicted.

The merger of the two companies brings together a number of

Allied Chiefs Give Somber Joint Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan warned the Western world Saturday that many sacrifices will be necessary to win security against Communist might.

Standing in the sunlight of the White House rose garden, they concluded their first far-ranging conference on Allied and cold war issues with a statement cast in somber tone.

IN AGREEMENT

They reported a very high level of agreement on the nature of the problems they face and complete agreement on the dangers in the present world situation for countries which would remain free of Communist domination.

But for the most part the vaguely worded joint report gave little indication of what the President and the prime minister really said to each other. And there was even less to pinpoint what they may have agreed on as to future courses of action. Nor did the statement detail the nature of the many sacrifices they said will be needed to solve cold war problems.

However, it was learned one of the most important results of the three days of meeting here will be a new effort to persuade French President Charles de Gaulle to abandon or limit his plan to make France an independent nuclear military power. Instead, he will be urged to join in some new nuclear partnership within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Diplomats of both the United States and Britain showing great sensitivity on this subject, confirmed that Kennedy and Macmillan intend to do everything possible to encourage the NATO nuclear striking force which would be equipped with U.S. weapons.

The 350-word statement was

Officer Saves Rescue Party

GRANTS, N. M. (AP) — A five-man rescue party was picked up in an isolated tent Saturday, their eyes iced shut and two of the men semiconscious.

A state policeman was credited with saving the lives of the men when he walked in front of a snow Weasel guiding the vehicle to the stranded party.

The five, members of a large-scale search for the missing crewmembers of a B52 jet bomber accidentally shot down by a Sidewinder missile from an F100 jet fighter, were stranded in snow-swept western New Mexico near the crash site.

When the Weasel arrived they found the violent wind had torn the tent pegs loose, the tent ripped and snow blowing inside.

AREA ELECTIONS

Carter Is Winner In Bastrop Vote

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

Three municipal elections in northeast Louisiana last night ended giving Bastrop and Farmerville mayors, with a runoff for that post in Collinston and a slate of aldermen elected in Collinston and Farmerville with a runoff called for in Bastrop.

Farmerville's city administration had almost complete housecleaning, from the mayor on down when the incumbent mayor was defeated at the polls and only one incumbent alderman re-elected.

Bastrop's incumbent mayor swept to a clean victory, while only two incumbent aldermen were re-elected and a third incumbent is slated in a runoff when he tied votes with a challenger.

THIRD TERM

The Collinston race curtailed two challenger's chances for the mayor's post, while the incumbent will vie in a runoff election for his position. In the city councilmen's race, only one incumbent was re-elected in Collinston.

Bastrop Mayor A. P. Carter was re-elected to a third term in city elections last night, and Collinston residents will see a runoff held for the mayor's post after last night's voting.

Appendectomy Fails To Delay This Wedding

PITTSBURG (AP) — Ronald Komer of Akron, Ohio, woke up Saturday minus his appendix but determined to get married. He did at Ohio Valley Hospital — flat on his back.

Komer, 25, a former resident of Youngstown, Ohio, and his bride-to-be, Miss Joan Morosky, 24, of suburban McKees Rocks, were making final plans Friday night when he was stricken.

A doctor summoned by Miss Morosky's family ordered Komer to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy. "Don't forget," he told his fiance, "we got a date tomorrow morning."

Miss Morosky kept the date. Just 14 hours after the operation a priest joined Komer and Miss Morosky in matrimony. The bridegroom was dressed in a drab hospital robe. The bride wore the traditional white gown and veil.

The honeymoon was postponed.

PILOT TELLS STORY

Failure Is Blamed In Missile Tragedy

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — First Lt. James W. Van Seyoc said Saturday his F100 fighter fired a Sidewinder missile into a B52 bomber because of a mechanical failure.

Van Seyoc read a 300-word prepared statement in a clear and steady voice before a news conference.

The supersonic missile that his plane fired brought the B52 down in wreckage on a blizzard-swept New Mexico mesa.

The fighter pilot said four safety switches were checked twice in flight, the second time just before the plane began a series of six mock attack passes at the B52 36,000 feet in the air.

He read the statement during a seven-minute news conference, the first permitted since the freak and tragic accident Friday.

Asked his personal reaction, the 27-year-old pilot paused a moment and said:

"It was: count parachutes."

He said none, but a cloud ceiling 10,000 feet below him blocked his vision. Three men are known to have parachuted.

His wingman, Capt. Dale Dodd, saw no parachutes either.

"This was impossible due to the clouds going down to 6,000 feet in the mountainous terrain," Van

State Post Resigned By Harris

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sen. Wendell P. Harris of Baton Rouge, an ardent segregationist, said Saturday he has resigned from the State Sovereignty Commission because of a revised attorney general's opinion.

In his resignation letter to Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, the administration supporter said he was stepping out because of the reversal of a 1960 legal opinion by Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion.

The opinion originally held his service in both the Senate and the Commission did not violate the dual office holding prohibition.

Harris emphasized that he resigned immediately, sending in his letter Friday, after receipt of the new ruling from Gremillion. It was not made clear who requested the new opinion.

There was no indication from the governor's office who would replace Harris, only lawmaker on the commission from the eight congressional districts. The chairman is Frank Voelker Jr. of Lake Providence, a top Davis leader.

The commission was created at Gov. Davis's request by the 1960 legislature. It received an initial appropriation of $175,000.

The law provides a per diem payment to the district members for each day they are engaged in commission duties. The per diem payment, Gremillion held in his new opinion, put Harris' commission membership in the category of employment for profit.

One still identifiable piece of wreckage bore what apparently was the pane's nickname "Ciudad Juarez." Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., where the B52 was stationed, is just across the Rio Grande from the city of Juarez, Mexico.

Maj. Ted Lewis, search director, said examination of the wreckage confirmed that three were dead. "The other two are missing and we must presume them to be dead because of the weather," Lewis said.

Twenty-one would-be rescuers and newsmen remained stranded on the snowy slopes Saturday night. They were not considered to be in any danger. Forty-nine were stranded Friday night, but survived with air-dropped food and blankets.

Merger Of Two Life Insurance Firms Revealed

The officers and board of Ouachita Security Life Insurance Company yesterday announced that the company had combined with Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company of America to form a new company, Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company with home offices in Monroe.

The merger was seen as a "forward step" by both of the combining companies, "forming a major financial institution in Monroe."

Ouachita Security Life was established in Monroe in 1956 when gross assets totaled $27,000. The figure now stands at $930,000 and will exceed $1,000,000 before the end of 1961, it was predicted.

The merger of the two companies brings together a number of

Allied Chiefs Give Somber Joint Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan warned the Western world Saturday that many sacrifices will be necessary to win security against Communist might.

Standing in the sunlight of the White House rose garden, they concluded their first far-ranging conference on Allied and cold war issues with a statement cast in somber tone.

IN AGREEMENT

They reported a very high level of agreement on the nature of the problems they face and complete agreement on the dangers in the present world situation for countries which would remain free of Communist domination.

But for the most part the vaguely worded joint report gave little indication of what the President and the prime minister really said to each other. And there was even less to pinpoint what they may have agreed on as to future courses of action. Nor did the statement detail the nature of the many sacrifices they said will be needed to solve cold war problems.

However, it was learned one of the most important results of the three days of meeting here will be a new effort to persuade French President Charles de Gaulle to abandon or limit his plan to make France an independent nuclear military power. Instead, he will be urged to join in some new nuclear partnership within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Diplomats of both the United States and Britain showing great sensitivity on this subject, confirmed that Kennedy and Macmillan intend to do everything possible to encourage the NATO nuclear striking force which would be equipped with U.S. weapons.

The 350-word statement was

Officer Saves Rescue Party

GRANTS, N. M. (AP)—A five-man rescue party was picked up in an isolated tent Saturday, their eyes iced shut and two of the men semiconscious.

A state policeman was credited with saving the lives of the men when he walked in front of a snow Weasel guiding the vehicle to the stranded party.

The five, members of a large-scale search for the missing crewmembers of a B52 jet bomber accidentally shot down by a Sidewinder missile from an F100 jet fighter, were stranded in snow-swept western New Mexico near the crash site.

When the Weasel arrived they found the violent wind had torn the tent pegs loose, the tent ripped and snow blowing inside.

AREA ELECTIONS

Carter Is Winner In Bastrop Vote

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

Three municipal elections in northeast Louisiana last night ended giving Bastrop and Farmerville mayors, with a runoff for that post in Collinston and a slate of aldermen elected in Collinston and Farmerville with a runoff called for in Bastrop.

Farmerville's city administration had almost complete housecleaning, from the mayor on down when the incumbent mayor was defeated at the polls and only one incumbent alderman re-elected.

Bastrop's incumbent mayor swept to a clean victory, while only two incumbent aldermen were re-elected and a third incumbent is slated in a runoff when he tied votes with a challenger.

THIRD TERM

The Collinston race curtailed two challenger's chances for the mayor's post, while the incumbent will vie in a runoff election for his position. In the city councilmen's race, only one incumbent was re-elected in Collinston.

Bastrop Mayor A. P. Carter was re-elected to a third term in city elections last night, and Collingston residents will see a runoff held for the mayor's post after last night's voting.

Appendectomy Fails To Delay This Wedding

PITTSBURG (AP) — Ronald Komer of Akron, Ohio, woke up Saturday minus his appendix but determined to get married. He did at Ohio Valley Hospital — flat on his back.

Komer, 25, a former resident of Youngstown, Ohio, and his bride-to-be, Miss Joan Morosky, 24, of suburban McKees Rocks, were making final plans Friday night when he was stricken.

A doctor summoned by Miss Morosky's family ordered Komer to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy. "Don't forget," he told his fiance, "we got a date tomorrow morning."

Miss Morosky kept the date. Just 14 hours after the operation a priest joined Komer and Miss Morosky in matrimony. The bridegroom was dressed in a drab hospital robe. The bride wore the traditional white gown and veil.

The honeymoon was postponed.

PILOT TELLS STORY

Failure Is Blamed In Missile Tragedy

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) First Lt. James W. Van Seyoc said Saturday his F100 fighter fired a Sidewinder missile into a B52 bomber because of a mechanical failure.

Van Seyoc read a 300-word prepared statement in a clear and steady voice before a news conference.

The supersonic missile that his plane fired brought the B42 down in wreckage on a blizard-swept New Mexico mesa.

The fighter pilot said four safety switches were checked twice in flight, the second time just before the plane began a series of six mock attack passes at the B52 36,000 feet in the air.

He read the statement during a seven-minute news conference, the first permitted since the freak and tragic accident Friday.

Asked his personal reaction, the 27-year-old pilot paused a moment and said:

"It was: count parachutes."

He said none, but a cloud ceiling 10,000 feet below him blocked his vision. Three men are known to have parachuted.

His wingman, Capt. Dale Dodd, saw no parachutes either.

"This was impossible due to the clouds going down to 6,000 feet in the mountainous terrain," Van

300-Pound Capsule To Be Ejected

The second stage of the 81-foot-tall projectile was identical in appearance to those of Midas and Samos space-spy satellites—a 2,450-pound, 25-foot-long orbital vehicle called Agena B.

NO COMMENT

The Air Force declined, however, to say whether the second stage of Saturday's rocket carried any experimental Midas or Samos gear.

When perfected, Midas satellites will be able to detect enemy missile launchings by spotting the heat of their exhaust. Samos satellites will carry cameras far superior to those in the U2 plane shot down by the Soviet Union last spring.

Saturday's rocket has in its nose a 300-pound capsule which will be ejected after one to four days in orbit. As it parachutes down near Hawaii, planes will try to catch the capsule in the air.

If they fail, the capsule is to be fished from the ocean.

Officers said privately, however, that engineers hoped it would be possible to recover the capsule from the 2,100-pound satellite after a record four days and a million and a half miles in space. Two similar attempts have been unsuccessful.

The Air Force said the satellite was orbiting around the earth once every 94 minutes. A spokesman said its low point was an altitude of 186 miles and its high point 402 miles.

The giant rocket shot into a clear sky at about 11:21 a.m. and the Air Force said the ascent was normal.

State Post Resigned By Harris

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sen. Wendell P. Harris of Baton Rouge, an ardent segregationist, said Saturday he has resigned from the State Sovereignty Commission because of a revised attorney general's opinion.

In his resignation letter to Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, the administration supporter said he was stepping out because of the reversal of a 1960 legal opinion by Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion.

The opinion originally held his service in both the Senate and the Commission did not violate the dual office holding prohibition.

Harris emphasized that he resigned immediately, sending in his letter Friday, after receipt of the new ruling from Gremillion. It was not made clear who requested the new opinion.

There was no indication from the governor's office who would replace Harris, only lawmaker on the commission from the eight congressional districts. The chairman is Frank Voelker Jr. of Lake Providence, a top Davis leader.

The commission was created at Gov. Davis's request by the 1960 legislature. It received an initial appropriation of $175,000.

The law provides a per diem payment to the district members for each day they are engaged in commission duties. The per diem payment, Gremillion held in his new opinion, put Harris' commission membership in the category of employment for profit.

South Louisiana is represented by Joy N. Houck, chairman of the board; J. V. O'Quinn, executive vice president; W. J. Bumpass, vice president and Douglass W. Svendson, secretary.

The management of the company represents men with varied interests including motels, shopping centers, investment companies, motion picture theatres and airport developments. Also associated with the new company will be several public officials, including Louisiana Attorney General Jack P. F. Gremillion.

In a joint statement to stockholders of both companies, Mantrozos and J. V. O'Quinn told their shareholders:

"In the many weeks of conferences before the final form of the plan (to merge), we kept before us one guiding principle: the equitable treatment of all our stockholders.

"After you have examined the plan of merger, we believe you will agree that we have faithfully followed this principle.

"Our new company will be far stronger financially than either of the two predecessors; it will have a respectable surplus account for more rapid growth. It will better serve the citizens of the entire state through solidly - established agencies in the major cities. Our firm financial base will help us to buy, reinsure, merge or otherwise acquire other life insurance companies."

The plan of merger received approval by the Commissioner of Insurance of Louisiana. The formal hearing was conducted Tuesday at the commissioner's office where no objections were presented.

Cosmopolitan stockholders approved the merger at a meeting Thursday night. Friday night Ouachita Security Life stockholders approved the plan.

of 110 was led by 19 European officers.

She was traveling to Bombay from the Iraqi oil port of Basra, with stops along the way.

The ship had been berthed at the Arabian port of Dibai when a storm blew up. She headed for open water to avoid being blown aground and was riding out a furious electrical storm about 50 miles from Dibai when fire broke out. Most passengers were asleep.

The blaze spread quickly, but most of the passengers and crew jumped overboard into the warm waters of the gulf. About half a dozen lifeboats were lowered.

The officers gathered on another vessel and, led by Capt. Charles Elson, reboarded the Dara from a small boat as the Barpeta, one of British India's newest freighters, arrived and attempted the tricky operation of taking the ship in tow.

Then the smouldering fire reached the fuel tanks and they began exploding like a string of firecrackers. The officers beat a hasty retreat.

"When they were driven off it looked as though the ship was lost," said a spokesman for the Dara's owners.

Then a British navy frigate, one of three looking for survivors, raced up and began pouring water from fire hoses into the smoking vessel.

"We may save the Dara yet," the spokesman said.

Elson, safe aboard the Barpeta, indicated in a radiotelephone conversation with the owners that the fire originated in the Dara's engine room.

But the picture was confused by reports of a collision in a busy shipping lane about the time of the fire.

"It appears there was a collision," the spokesman said, "but whether this was the cause of the fire we cannot say yet."

While the survivors were being landed by rescue craft at the ports of Dibai and Bahrein, U.S. Air Force planes from the Saudi Arabian base of Dhahran flew out medical supplies and doctors. A British unit at Bahrein threw up a tent city for survivors.

Three hundred survivors were picked up by the British military transport ship Empire Guillemot and taken to Dibai. The British tanker British Energy radioed she had fished out 150 more passengers and was taking them to the oil port of Bahrein.

NO PROPER SLUMS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Strip tease dancer Gypsy Rose Lee blames the decline of burlesque on slum clearance.

Seyoe said in his prepared statement.

Kirtland AFB information officer Maj. Harold Susskind called Van Seyoe "a fine example of an Air Force and air guard officer" in introducing him to reporters.

Susskind said the pilot has, several times, shown a high degree of skill and knowledge of the aircraft which he flew regularly in the Air Force before he joined the guard in August, 1958.

The missile released by Van Seyoe's plane struck the bomber's left wing.

He estimated the giant intercontinental bomber was 3,000 to 4,000 feet from his plane and the missile struck one or one-and-a-half seconds after its release.

He said he did not know whether the bomber had any warning or tried to take evasive action from the supersonic missile, but surmised there was no time.

The dog sped past her and leaped into the driver's seat. When the woman tried to push the dog aside it snapped and growled ominously.

The woman hitch-hiked into Oxford and called two policemen to go back with her to the stalled car. An hour later the woman was on her way without the dog. And as one of the policemen said, "He resisted fiercely."

read by Kennedy to newsmen from all over the world and to television and movie cameras. Macmillan followed the President's delivery, silently reading his own copy. Advisers were ranged behind the two men as they issued their final report and brought the conference to an end.

When the formal statement was completed, Macmillan said he felt certain "that the results of these meetings will be good for both our countries and for the future of the free world." Kennedy called the conference another happy milestone in U.S.-British relations.

The reference in the formal statement to "a very high level of agreement" on problems the Allies must deal with reflected a recognition of earlier disagreement between the two men, notably on Red China.

Britain recognizes the Chinese Communist government. Macmillan is reported to have told Kennedy that his government might find it necessary next fall, if the issue arises in the U.N. General Assembly, to vote against the United States and in favor of a U.N. seat for Red China.

But most of the statement reflected agreement and stressed heavily the theme that greater unity and understanding are needed among the Western allies. These specific points were mentioned:

Western Alliance — Macmillan and Kennedy studied steps which might be taken together with this country's allies "to insure the cohesion, effectiveness and adaptability of the Atlantic community in a changing world."

In this connection Kennedy and Macmillan called for closer economic and financial cooperation and said it is urgently necessary to move toward "the economic and political unity of Europe."

United Nations — The President and prime minister declared "our vigorous support of the United Nations and our determination to oppose" the drive by Soviet Premier Khrushchev to "undermine its authority" as an instrument for world peace.

Southeast Asia — Kennedy and Macmillan gave "close attention" to this area of the world and particularly to the critical problems of Laos and Viet Nam. They did not say it but it had been previously learned that they agreed the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam needed more help in battling Communist guerrillas, help which Kennedy began sending days ago.

Apparently Macmillan was disappointed taat he did not get Khrushchev's full agreement to a cease-fire in Laos before the end of the talks with Kennedy.

Soviet Union—The statement reported Kennedy-Macmillan agreement on "both the importance and the difficulty of working toward satisfactory relations with the Soviet Union."

Nuclear weapons—The two leaders said they will do their utmost to reach an agreement with the Soviet Union for a ban on nuclear weapons testing "within a reasonable period time."

per with a total of 51 votes in Collinston's one precinct and Jack Langston with 39 votes will vie for the mayor's office in a run off election, carrying the the high over two other candidates.

In one of the best "turned out" elections in Bastrop in years, according to one election official, incumbent Mayor Carter carried all 12 of the city's precincts to defeat his automobile salesman challengre R. H. Elkins, 1,696 to 526.

The Collinston primary saw incumbent Mayor Harper take 51 votes, and Langston collect a total of 39. Their challengers, J. M. Goodnight and Bill Nunnally, both carried only 22 votes each, to put them out of the running.

With 14 candidates running for aldermen in Bastrop including three incumbents, four were elected and two will compete in a runoff to fill the fifth seat on the council.

Incumbents Jimmy Holt and Dr. J. L. Rawls were re-elected to their city council posts while the next term will see two newcomers take seats. Leroy Martin collected 1,196 votes and Ina Perry, 1,337 votes, to award them seats.

A runoff will be staged between Bill Blacet, incumbent, and Harry Fox, who both culled a total of 870 votes apiece. In the race, Holt had a total of 1,266 votes and Rawls a total of 1,348 votes to reassure them of their old positions.

The Collinston fight for the three council posts saw incumbent Veva A. Waldrop skim through with 69 votes to recapture the seat, sharing the alderman honors with newcomers Tom Linzay, 91 votes, and C. C. Terry, 71 votes.

Bastrop election officials said that 2,222 persons voted out of a possible 2,868 and that some precincts ran as close to 95 per cent in turn out.

In the Collinston race, voting ran, Mayor Harper, 51; J. M. Goodnight, 22; Jack Langston, 39; and Bill Nunally, 22 in the mayor's race. For City council, W. T. Fontenot, 53 votes; Leon Langston, 56; Linzay, 91; C. L. Standard, 41; C. C. Terry, 71; Veva A. Waldrop, 69.

The old city administration was ousted in Farmerville's hard-fought race for mayor and alderman with the exception of incumbents Alderman Jake Long, who reclaimed his seat by the barest minimum of votes, and City Marshall Carl Miller.

Clyde Williams, retired oilman, defeated incumbent Mayor Troy Nolan, 479 to 354 for the headman's position. Nolan was filling the unexpired team of the late Mayor R. L. Turnage who died shortly after being elected to office.

The city marshall's post will be filled by Carl Miller, who shattered Shelby Deer's chances for the position 494 to 333.

Two incumbents were beaten out of their aldermen's seats on the five man board and the new administration will include last night's election winners Robert Ray James, 625 votes; Russell Adams, 500 votes; Johnny Wagnon, 441 votes; and W. C. McMurrian, 631 votes, plus incumbent Long with 432 votes, the low man on the totem pole of Farmerville's tops.

of 110 was led by 19 European officers.

She was traveling to Bombay from the Iraqi oil port of Basra, with stops along the way.

The ship had been berthed at the Arabian port of Dibai when a storm blew up. She headed for open water to avoid being blown aground and was riding out a furious electrical storm about 50 miles from Dubai when fire broke out. Most passengers were asleep.

The blaze spread quickly, but most of the passengers and crew jumped overboard into the warm waters of the gulf. About half a dozen lifeboats were lowered.

The officers gathered on another vessel and, led by Capt. Charles Elson, reboarded the Dara from a small boat as the Barpeta, one of British India's newest freighters, arrived and attempted the tricky operation of taking the ship in tow.

Then the smouldering fire reached the fuel tanks and they began exploding like a string of firecrackers. The officers beat a hasty retreat.

"When they were driven off it looked as though the ship was lost," said a spokesman for the Dara's owners.

Then a British navy frigate, one of three looking for survivors, raced up and began pouring water from fire hoses into the smoking vessel.

"We may save the Dara yet," the spokesman said.

Elson, safe aboard the Barpeta, indicated in a radiotelephone conversation with the owners that the fire originated in the Dara's engine room.

But the picture was confused by reports of a collision in a busy shipping lane about the time of the fire.

"It appears there was a collision," the spokesman said, "but whether this was the cause of the fire we cannot say yet."

While the survivors were being landed by rescue craft at the ports of Dibai and Bahrein, U.S. Air Force planes from the Saudi Arabian base of Dhahran flew out medical supplies and doctors. A British unit at Bahrein threw up a tent city for survivors.

A British air force reconnaissance Shackleton, heavily laden with dinghies, food and water, took off from Aden.

Three hundred survivors were picked up by the British military transport ship Empire Guillemot and taken to Dibai. The British tanker British Energy radioed she had fished out 150 more passengers and was taking them to the oil port of Bahrein.

NO PROPER SLUMS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Strip tease dancer Gypsy Rose Lee blames the decline of burlesque on slum clearance.

The former burlesque queen, in a speech at the St. Louis Press Club, said most of the old burlesque theaters were "in pretty shabby neighborhoods," but cities "just don't have the proper slums any more."

Scyoc said in his prepared statement.

He appeared with Dodd and their air National Guard group commander, Maj. Francis Williams.

Kirtland AFB information officer Maj. Harold Susskind called Van Scyoc "a fine example of an Air Force and air guard officer" in introducing him to reporters.

Susskind said the pilot has, several times, shown a high degree of skill and knowledge of the aircraft which he flew regularly in the Air Force before he joined the guard in August, 1958.

The missile released by Van Scyoc's plane struck the bomber's left wing.

He estimated the giant intercontinental bomber was 3,000 to 4,000 feet from his plane and the missile struck one or one-and-a-half seconds after its release.

He said he did not know whether the bomber had any warning or tried to take evasive action from the supersonic missile, but surmised there was no time.

Westwego—Mayor Roy C. Keller and Harry Pitre in runoff. Returns from all seven precincts showed Keller with 1,168 and Pitre 1,119.

Elton—Allen Treme was top man among five candidates with 199 votes, but will face Allen Treme, who got 197, in a runoff. Mrs. Emma Marcante, who filled the unexpired term of her late husband, did not seek re-election.

Jennings—Mayor John L. Conner appeared an easy winner on complete but unofficial returns with 1,806 votes to J. W. Watson's 993. Clabie Clark received 764 votes.

Hitchhiking Dog Takes Over Auto

OXFORD, England (UPI) — A woman motorist felt sorry for a big, shaggy, ginger-and-white dog sitting alone by the road and stopped.

The dog sped past her and leaped into the driver's seat. When the woman tried to push the dog aside it snapped and growled ominously.

The woman hitch-hiked into Oxford and called two policemen to go back with her to the stalled car. An hour later the woman was on her way without the dog. And as one of the policemen said, "He resisted fiercely."

Allied Chiefs Give Somber Joint Report

read by Kennedy to newsmen from all over the world and to television and movie cameras. Macmillan followed the President's delivery, silently reading his own copy. Advisers were ranged behind the two men as they issued their final report and brought the conference to an end.

When the formal statement was completed, Macmillan said he felt certain "that the results of these meetings will be good for both our countries and for the future of the free world." Kennedy called the conference another happy milestone in U.S.-British relations.

The reference in the formal statement to "a very high level of agreement" on problems the Allies must deal with reflected a recognition of earlier disagreement between the two men, notably on Red China.

Britain recognizes the Chinese Communist government. Macmillan is reported to have told Kennedy that his government might find it necessary next fall, if the issue arises in the U.N. General Assembly, to vote against the United States and in favor of a U.N. seat for Red China.

But most of the statement reflected agreement and stressed heavily the theme that greater unity and understanding are needed among the Western allies. These specific points were mentioned:

Western Alliance — Macmillan and Kennedy studied steps which might be taken together with this country's allies "to insure the cohesion, effectiveness and adaptability of the Atlantic community in a changing world."

In this connection Kennedy and Macmillan called for closer economic and financial cooperation and said it is urgently necessary to move toward "the economic and political unity of Europe."

United Nations — The President and prime minister declared "our vigorous support of the United Nations and our determination to oppose" the drive by Soviet Premier Khrushchev to "undermine its authority" as an instrument for world peace.

Southeast Asia — Kennedy and Macmillan gave "close attention" to this area of the world and particularly to the critical problems of Laos and Viet Nam. They did not say it but it had been previously learned that they agreed the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam needed more help in battling Communist guerrillas, help which Kennedy began sending days ago.

Apparently Macmillan was disappointed that he did not get Khrushchev's full agreement to a cease-fire in Laos before the end of the talks with Kennedy.

Soviet Union—The statement reported Kennedy-Macmillan agreement on "both the importance and the difficulty of working toward satisfactory relations with the Soviet Union."

Nuclear weapons—The two leaders said they will do their utmost to reach an agreement with the Soviet Union for a ban on nuclear weapons testing "within a reasonable period time."

Carter Is Winner In Bastrop Vote

per with a total of 51 votes in Collinston's one precinct and Jack Langston with 39 votes will vie for the mayor's office in a run off election, carrying the the high over two other candidates.

In one of the best "turned out" elections in Bastrop in years, according to one election official, incumbent Mayor Carter carried all 12 of the city's precincts to defeat his automobile salesman challengre R. H. Elkins, 1,696 to 526.

The Collinston primary saw incumbent Mayor Harper take 51 votes, and Langston collect a total of 39. Their challengers, J. M. Goodnight and Bill Nunnally, both carried only 22 votes each, to put them out of the running.

With 14 candidates running for aldermen in Bastrop including three incumbents, four were elected and two will compete in a runoff to fill the fifth seat on the council.

Incumbents Jimmy Holt and Dr. J. L. Rawls were re-elected to their city council posts while the next term will see two newcomers take seats. Leroy Martin collected 1,196 votes and Ina Perry, 1,337 votes, to award them seats.

A runoff will be staged between Bill Blacet, incumbent, and Harry Fox, who both culled a total of 870 votes apiece. In the race, Holt had a total of 1,266 votes and Rawls a total of 1,348 votes to reassure them of their old positions.

The Collinston fight for the three council posts saw incumbent Veva A. Waldrop skim through with 69 votes to recapture the seat, sharing the alderman honors with newcomers Tom Linzay, 91 votes, and C. C. Terry, 71 votes.

Bastrop election officials said that 2,222 persons voted out of a possible 2,868 and that some precincts ran as close to 95 per cent in turn out.

In the Collinston race, voting ran, Mayor Harper, 51; J. M. Goodnight, 22; Jack Langston, 39; and Bill Nunally, 22 in the mayor's race. For City council, W. T. Fontenot, 53 votes; Leon Langston, 56; Linzay, 91; C. L. Standard, 41; C. C. Terry, 71; Veva A. Waldrop, 69.

The old city administration was ousted in Farmerville's hard-fought race for mayor and alderman with the exception of incumbents Alderman Jake Long, who reclaimed his seat by the barest minimum of votes, and City Marshall Carl Miller.

Clyde Williams, retired oilman, defeated incumbent Mayor Troy Nolan, 479 to 354 for the headman's position. Nolan was filling the unexpired team of the late Mayor R. L. Turnage who died shortly after being elected to office.

The city marshall's post will be filled by Carl Miller, who shattered Shelby Deer's chances for the position 494 to 333.

Two incumbents were beaten out of their aldermen's seats on the five man board and the new administration will include last night's election winners Robert Ray James, 625 votes; Russell Adams, 500 votes; Johnny Wagnon, 441 votes; and W. C. McMurrian, 631 votes, plus incumbent Long with 432 votes, the low man on the totem pole of Farmerville's tops.

Out of the two precincts, defeated incumbents Herbert Waller collected 341 votes; Grayson, Odom, 336 votes. The eighth challenger for a post, Mrs. James T. Spencer, captured 425 votes.

MINIMUM WAGE BILL

JFK Shy Votes In Demo Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will need votes of several Republicans to win the crucial-Senate fight on the minimum wage bill, administration lieutenants said Saturday.

The Senate floor battle over the legislation is expected to begin late this week, probably Thursday. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., hopes to pass it by Friday night, although some of his colleagues think this is optimistic.

Both supporters and foes of the Kennedy bill to raise the minimum to $1.25 an hour and extend coverage of the law agree the key test will come on an amendment of Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., to cut down the number of persons to be brought under the Wages and hours Act for the first time.

The Oklahoman is a supporter of most Kennedy proposals, but he has resisted all administration blandishments to drop this amendment.

Last August Monroney offered the same proposal when Kennedy, as the Democratic presidential nominee, was floor manager for the minimum wage bill. It was beaten 50-48.

Kennedy got that measure through the Senate but it died when the Senate and the House were unable to resolve differences in their conflicting versions.

Eight Republican senators joined with 42 Democrats to beat the Monroney amendment last year. Administration supporters say they will need at least that many GOP votes this time; they are hoping for nine or 10.

Actually the wage bill is not yet out of the Labor Committee. But that group is to consider it Tuesday and is said to be ready to clear it in one day.

The committee is expected to send to the floor the latest revised administration bill sponsored by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., who succeeded Kennedy as chairman of the Labor subcommittee dealing with labor legislation.

This bill would raise the $1 minimum wage to $1.25 in two steps and bring more than four million additional workers under the act. Several small groups were eliminated from a previous version in a bid for broader Senate support.

The House passed a much narrower bill, a product of a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition. The House version would establish a $1.15 minimum and bring about 1.2 million retail store workers under the act at a $1 minimum with no overtime pay.

The administration rests its hopes on the prospect that the Senate will pass a bill close to its recommendations and that the final compromise, in turn, will resemble that more closely than the House bill.

Two Wounded After Drawing In Pistol Duel

RALEIGH, Miss. (UPI) — A game warden and a Jasper County man drew at close range and wounded each other in a pistol battle on a game reservation near here, an officer said Saturday.

Smith County Warden Sellers B. Norris, 40, was shot in the leg and Arthur Simmons, 60, in the side when they fired at each other Friday.

Deputy Sheriff O. W. Clark of Smith County said the two had an argument. He said witnesses indicated the warden ordered Simmons off the reservation.

"Both drew about the same time and started shooting," Clark said. Clark said Simmons fired twice and Norris once.

The deputy said the matter would probably be presented to the Smith County grand jury, which meets here Monday. He said no charges or arrests had been made.

CALLS ON KENNEDY

Helen Keller Adds To Lengthy Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Helen Keller called on President Kennedy Saturday — adding to her record of having visited every president since Grover Cleveland.

The 80-year old woman, who conquered blindness and deafness to become a world leader on behalf of the handicapped, was ushered into the President's office only minutes after British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had left.

Speaking in the voice she learned to use through arduous lessons as a child, Miss Keller asked Kennedy to "send a kiss to Caroline," his 3-year old daughter.

The spry, stylishly dressed octogenarian expressed regret that she was unable to meet the President's wife, Jacqueline.

Kennedy explained that his wife was at their Middleburg, Va. home for the weekend.

Kennedy remarks were related to Miss Keller through the finger-tapping system she has worked out with her companion, Evelyn Seide.

When Miss Keller said she had visited all the presidents since Cleveland, Kennedy told her the huge desk at which they were sitting was a gift to Cleveland from Britain's Queen Victoria.

Then, taking her hand, the President led her fingers gently over the rich carvings on the desk so she could "see" it.

Miss Keller, who was accompanied by officials of the American Foundation for the Blind, Inc., and Lions International, is in Washington to receive a humanitarian award from the Lions organization.

Weather Bureau Orders Small Craft Warnings

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Weather Bureau Saturday night ordered small craft warnings extended along the Gulf of Mexico east of Morgan City to western Florida.

The bureau said:

"Hoist small craft warnings 8 p.m. from Morgan City, La., to Apalachicola, Fla., for increasing southerly winds, becoming 20-30 knots by early Sunday and shifting to northerly 20-30 knots Sunday.

Rainach Says Convention Not Needed

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Former Sen. William Rainach, a longtime segregation voice, said Saturday the legislature already has constitutional power to use public school funds for private education.

Current leaders in efforts to block spread of school integration in Louisiana, including some of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' key men, said recently it would be necessary to have a limited constitutional convention for quick provisions assuring use of dedicated public school funds for any private school cooperatives set up by the people.

While talk of a limited convention apparently has been fading, the strategists have not given up seeking one some time after the May fiscal legislature.

Rainach said in an interview at Homer, "I don't see that the legislature needs a constitutional convention or any amendment to the constitution to transfer dedicated funds from public schools to private education."

Rainach, chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation until he stepped out to run for governor in 1960, said the legislature "already has this power. It was conferred by constitutional amendment No. 2, adopted in the 1958 general election. The language is clear and specific."

He said the amendment gave the legislature full authority to make provisions for "financial assistance to students attending private, nonsectarian, elementary or secondary schools."

"The legislature," he continued, "may make these provisions 'out of any monies or funds presently or hereafter dedicated or devoted to public schools or public education—by this constitution or by statute, anything in this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding.'"

Davis Postpones Statewide Talk Until April 19

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis said Saturday he will postpone his April 12 television talk on proposed extra medical care for the aged until April 19.

At that time, with free public service time, he will expand his planned remarks into a 15-minute report on state affairs.

He had planned a brief talk on new welfare programs, under new federal aid, calling for direct medical vendor payments to old age assistance recipients.

However, Davis said, there have been "significant developments in the fields of industrial development, highways and other functions of major state government departments, which I feel are of interest to the people of the state."

His talk will fall on the eve of the all-important state mineral board leasing, when the fiscal officers will concentrate closely on money collected.

Holmes Service Slated Monday

Mrs. Lelalia Holmes, 85, died Saturday at a local convalescent home following an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be held Monday at the Lee Funeral Home of Winona, Miss., with interment in Bethlehem Cemetery near Winona.

Survivors include three grandchildren.

She was a member of the Bethlehem, Miss., Methodist Church and a native of Winona. She had lived here three years.

Local arrangements were under the direction of Mulhearn's Funeral home in Monroe.

WILLIAM C. THOMAS, 47, of Fort Myers, Fla., a U.S. Federal Aviation Agency employe, was injured by a terrorist grenade in Saigon, South Viet Nam. 7 Injured In Accidents On Saturday

A total of seven persons suffered injuries, none serious, in four separate accidents in and around the Twin Cities Saturday.

Seven year old William Paul of 405 Catalpa Street, a passenger in a vehicle driven by Sidney A. Accardo, 32 of the same address, was injured when an automobile ran into the path of their car.

The accident occurred at Catalpa and Oaks Street intersection at 5:56 p.m. when Kiwanis Bonds, 40 of 2714 Lee Ave., going west on Oak street which is one way going east, ran into the intersection of the Accardo vehicle that was traveling north on Catalpa, police said.

Police arrested Bond and charged him with reckless driving, driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, damage to city property in the amount of $50 and driving down a one-way street the wrong way. Bond's vehicle slammed into a parking meter, knocking it down. He was held in lieu of a $521 bond.

Earlier in the day, Joseph A. Battaglia Jr., 14 of 314 South Third Street, Monroe, suffered a broken arm when the car he was riding in was involved in an accident on the Milhaven Road.

The boy was riding in a car driven by Joe Battaglia, 38 of 503 Morris street, Monroe, which was traveling west on the Milhaven road. Battaglia told officers that a car driven by Negro Henry Stewart, 23 of Route One, Monroe, pulled into the Milhaven Road from Nutland Lane in front of him.

Battaglia applied his brakes to avoid hitting the Negro, slid sideways in the road, striking the Negro car's rear and meeting another vehicle headon.

Mrs. Claudia, Thomason, 28 of 416 South 10th St., Monroe, was taken to the hospital for observation. She was the driver of the car that Battaglia met head on. Mrs. Thomason's husband, James, 27 of the same address, was also taken to the hospital for x-rays. Their two children riding in the car with them were uninjured.

Stewart was charged with failure to yield right - of - way and Battaglia with reckless driving.

In another accident at the Grammont - South Grand Street intersection at 3:45 p.m., drivers of the two vehicles were taken to the hospital, x-rayed, treated and released.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Day, 28 of 1103 Evergreen, West Monroe, was traveling south on South Grand street, attempting to make a left turn onto Grammont street when her car was struck by one driven by Mrs. Katie B. McBroom, 63 of 811 St. John street, Monroe.

Mrs. McBroom was traveling north on South Grand Street. The accident report stated that Mrs. McBroom said she looked at the traffic light located at this intersection as she entered the crossing and it was on caution. As she started on through the light, Mrs. Day, who said she had stopped in the left turn lane waiting for traffic to clear and the light to turn red, made a left turn onto Grammont street. No charges were made.

In West Monroe, Gay B. May, 20 of Shady Oas Drive, West Monroe was taken to a private doctor when she was thrown from the vehicle she was driving after it was involved in an accident.

The May girl, traveling north on Trenton street, said she approached the intersection of Bridge and Trenton at 3:20 p.m., applied her brakes and slid sideways.

Pearl Fowler Chatham of 101 Ridgeway Drive, West Monroe, said that she began to make a left turn onto Bridge street in front of the May car just as the girl applied her brakes. The May vehicle struck the front fender of the other car.

Both drivers were charged with reckless driving.

Texas Legion Chief Lauds Birch Group

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The commander of the Texas department of the American Legion said Saturday the work of the John Birch Society "is effective and directed for the right purpose."

Pete E. Turner of Midland spoke before the Texas legion department's Committee on Countersubversive Activities. The committee will recommend to the Texas legion's executive committee here Sunday an official position on the John Birch Society. A final decision will come from the executive committee.

"I am not asking that the American Legion make a blanket endorsement of the John Birch Society," Turner said. He added he hopes the committee will point out "the attacks on the John Birch Society is a part of a conspiracy that began in Moscow."

Robert Welch, the former Boston candy manufacturer who heads the society, was invited either to appear at Saturday's meeting or to answer by mail a legion questionnaire on the society's work. Welch neither appeared nor answered the questionnaire.

Turner said the society's "design, its purpose is good." He said the American press, which in recent weeks has been critical of the three-year-old conservative society, lifted from a West Coast Communist publication, "a story attacking the John Birch Society, without there being a voice raised from the society to point out the truth."

Tornadoes Hit Parts Of Texas

By United Press International

Tornadoes ravaged parts of Texas and Oklahoma Saturday while two - foot snows smothered parts of the Rockies and Central Plains and dust storms chocked New Mexico.

At least three tornadoes touched down near Wichita Falls, Tex., injuring two persons. Seven persons died in Texas traffic accidents blamed on the weather. In the worst of the highway collisions, four persons were killed on a rain-slick road near Tyler. A plane was destroyed at an airport near Wichita Falls and hail and 90-mile winds shredded power lines.

FOR OVER YEAR

Husband Locks Up Mother, Children

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP)—The pale young mother, leading her son, 4, and carrying an infant daughter, walked wearily into Dodge City police headquarters Saturday.

"I can't take it any more and keep my mind," she said, then told her story to officers.

She identified herself as Mrs. Gary Herbert, 21. Her 23-year-old husband, she said, had kept her and the children locked in the house for more than a year.

He released her only to be taken to the hospital six months ago to have the baby. Once every several weeks, she said, he would take the family for a drive.

Otherwise, when he went to work at the gas station he operates, Herbert would have her triple-padlock the front door from the inside and slip him the keys through a slot. Upon his return, Herbert would pass the keys to her and she would unlock the padlocks for him. The back door and the windows of the house were nailed shut.

Saturday, she got up enough nerve to break out and shattered the bathroom window. She lowered the boy out, handed him the baby then crawled through herself.

Herbert was charged with assault and battery, and jailed. He refused to comment on his wife's complaint.

Norman Abbey, city-county juvenile officer, said a check of the house corroborated Mrs. Herbert's story to that extent.

"She and the children even had prison pallor," he said.

Shirley Oakes Becomes Bride

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Saturday signed a bill authorizing him to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

The bill, on Kennedy's top priority list of legislation revives the Reorganization Act of 1949 which lapsed two years ago. It authorizes the President to submit organization plans to Congress and lets them go into effect unless vetoed by either the House or Senate within 60 days.

Kennedy is reported to be planning the creation of a new Cabinet-level Department of Urban Affairs; he could use the authority given him by Congress to do so.

Churchill Sails For New York

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill sailed from here aboard the lavish yacht "Christina" late Saturday for a leisurely voyage to New York where he planned to board a plane for London.

Sir Winston, who came ashore Friday for a brief visit, remained aboard the 320-foot yacht Saturday. The Christina is owned by Greek shipping magnage Aristotle Onassis.

Onassis, long-time friend and admirer of the 86 - year - old Churchill, came here Friday to put his two children ashore to fly back to school in Paris.

Onassis said the voyage up the East Coast to New York probably would take two or three days. He said it was uncertain whether the Christina would put in at any other port along the way.

CALLS ON KENNEDY

Helen Keller Adds To Lengthy Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Helen Keller called on President Kennedy Saturday — adding to her record of having visited every president since Grover Cleveland.

The 80-year old woman, who conquered blindness and deafness to become a world leader on behalf of the handicapped, was ushered into the President's office only minutes after British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had left.

Speaking in the voice she learned to use through arduous lessons as a child, Miss Keller asked Kennedy to "send a kiss to Caroline," his 3-year old daughter.

The spry, stylishly dressed octogenarian expressed regrets that she was unable to meet the President's wife, Jacqueline.

Kennedy explained that his wife was at their Middleburg, Va. home for the weekend.

Kennedy remarks were related to Miss Keller through the finger-tapping system she has worked out with her companion, Evelyn Seide.

When Miss Keller said she had visited all the presidents since Cleveland, Kennedy told her the huge desk at which they were sitting was a gift to Cleveland from Britain's Queen Victoria.

Then, taking her hand, the President led her fingers gently over the rich carvings on the desk so she could "see" it.

Miss Keller, who was accompanied by officials of the American Foundation for the Blind, Inc., and Lions International, is in Washington to receive a humanitarian award from the Lions organization.

Weather Bureau Orders Small Craft Warnings

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Weather Bureau Saturday night ordered small craft warnings extended along the Gulf of Mexico east of Morgan City to western Florida.

The bureau said:

"Hoist small craft warnings 8 p.m. from Morgan City, La., to Apalachicola, Fla., for increasing southerly winds, becoming 20-30 knots by early Sunday and shifting to northerly 20-30 knots Sunday.

"Scattered thundershowers west portion Saturday night and East portion Sunday."

Rainach Says Convention Not Needed

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Former Sen. William Rainach, a longtime segregation voice, said Saturday the legislature already has constitutional power to use public school funds for private education.

Current leaders in efforts to block spread of school integration in Louisiana, including some of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' key men, said recently it would be necessary to have a limited constitutional convention for quick provisions assuring use of dedicated public school funds for any private school cooperatives set up by the people.

While talk of a limited convention apparently has been fading, the strategists have not given up seeking one some time after the May fiscal legislature.

Rainach said in an interview, at Homer, "I don't see that the legislature needs a constitutional convention or any amendment to the constitution to transfer dedicated funds from public schools to private education."

Rainach, chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation until he stepped out to run for governor in 1960, said the legislature "already has this power. It was conferred by constitutional amendment No. 2, adopted in the 1958 general election. The language is clear and specific."

ARCHEOLOGISTS UNCOVER

Family Skeltons In Boeuf Bottom

By JANICE CLARK
Staff Correspondent

CROSSETT (Special) — Men went back in time 600 years a few days ago as they skimmed black soil off the skeletons of a family of three who lay buried in the Boeuf River bottom near Bonita, La.

A young mother, not yet 18 years old when she died, cradled her baby in her arms, its head resting on her cheek, as they were wrapped together and buried long before Columbus dreamed of a new route to India.

Nearby lay a tall young man, his knees drawn up, his hands held under his thighs as he had been tightly bound in skins and buried beside his young squaw and little child.

The family that lived in what was to become northeast Louisiana had probably died of malaria, typhoid, or some plague which killed all three within a matter of hours or days.

They lay undisturbed for perhaps six centuries, while generations of their people continued to live on the nearby mounds — before white man had come along to name the bronze - skinned people "Indians."

They continued to rest beneath the soft tread of those white men and boys who slipped away from plowing in nearby fields for an hour or two of fishing in the remnant of the old river bed which formed a lake near their grave.

It was not until a few years ago that the earth around the buried family shuddered, and was ripped open as a new road was built along the old river bed.

Bulldozers that came to scoop out drainage ditches beside the road clawed their way over the ancient burial, and the skeletal head of the father was shattered.

As the earth shuddered above them, the child's head was pressed down, and it came to rest on the displaced lower jaw of its mother.

That is the way Orville McCready, and his nephew, Bert McCready, of Bonita, La., found the trio one rainy day two weeks ago.

Orville, an amateur archeologist of more than 20 years, felt sure they had hit on a burial of primitive man in Louisiana, but wanted help in evaluating their find.

He called Crossett's Ed Sanders, president of the Southeast Arkansas Archeological Society, and asked for help. Sanders, with two other members of the Society, went down next day to the site with Bert, and the men spent the day exploring the burial.

A six - foot square, oriented north - south, was marked off, and the tedious work of skimming off the midden (refuse) soil began.

Burials are commonly found in the area in which the Indians threw their refuse, and the black loamy soil in a limited area near a place suspected to have been a living site points to the burial ground of those early "settlers."

The men screened and carefully examined the soil first from the top 12 inches, and found pottery in abundance, muscle shells, and charcoal. The pottery was all of the Coles Creck period, which served to set the probable time of the burials.

The three skeleton forms lay 12 inches from the surface. They had been placed on natural ground, and the 24 inches of midden built up around them.

There were no beads, no indication of burial pots, no arrow points near the burials.

Nearby, but apparently unrelated to the burials, was found one crude arrow point 4½ inches long, of pink-tinged flint. There were also two deer-bone awls, probably used in punching holes in skins through which to run thongs for "sewing" garments or utensils.

The three lay alone in the six-foot square, all oriented north-west.

It was noted that three hundred and five hundred feet east of the burial are two mounds each 100 feet in diameter, and three and four and one-half feet high. Th[illegible] is a typical feature to look for in living sites, or domiciliary mounds from 150 to 500 feet from the midden deposit.

As the men dug and examined the displaced soil, quite a crowd gathered to watch the proceedings.

Farmers who found their fields too wet to work, stopped as they cruised down the gravel road, and some took shovels and helped in the dig.

As the sad little story began to unfold beneath the soil which those boys and men had walked over so many times, it began to grip the watchers.

One old man, as he sat on the wet ground leaning against the huge cleated wheel of a 1961 tractor, mused, "Don't you know that'd be a sight to see them all walkin' around now!"

And for a little while, that rainy day down by the old river bed, a little family walked again. It was a family with no material wealth. The young mother had no pendant, no beads — nothing. The father had no arrow points, and no jewelry.

But they had love. The mother held her child, the "soft spot" on its head not yet closed, with its dark hair resting on her cheek.

And nearby lay the tall young man who was father to the child in her arms.

The amateur archeologists learned all they could from the bones. They measured and studied the skeletons, and photographed them from many ang[illegible]

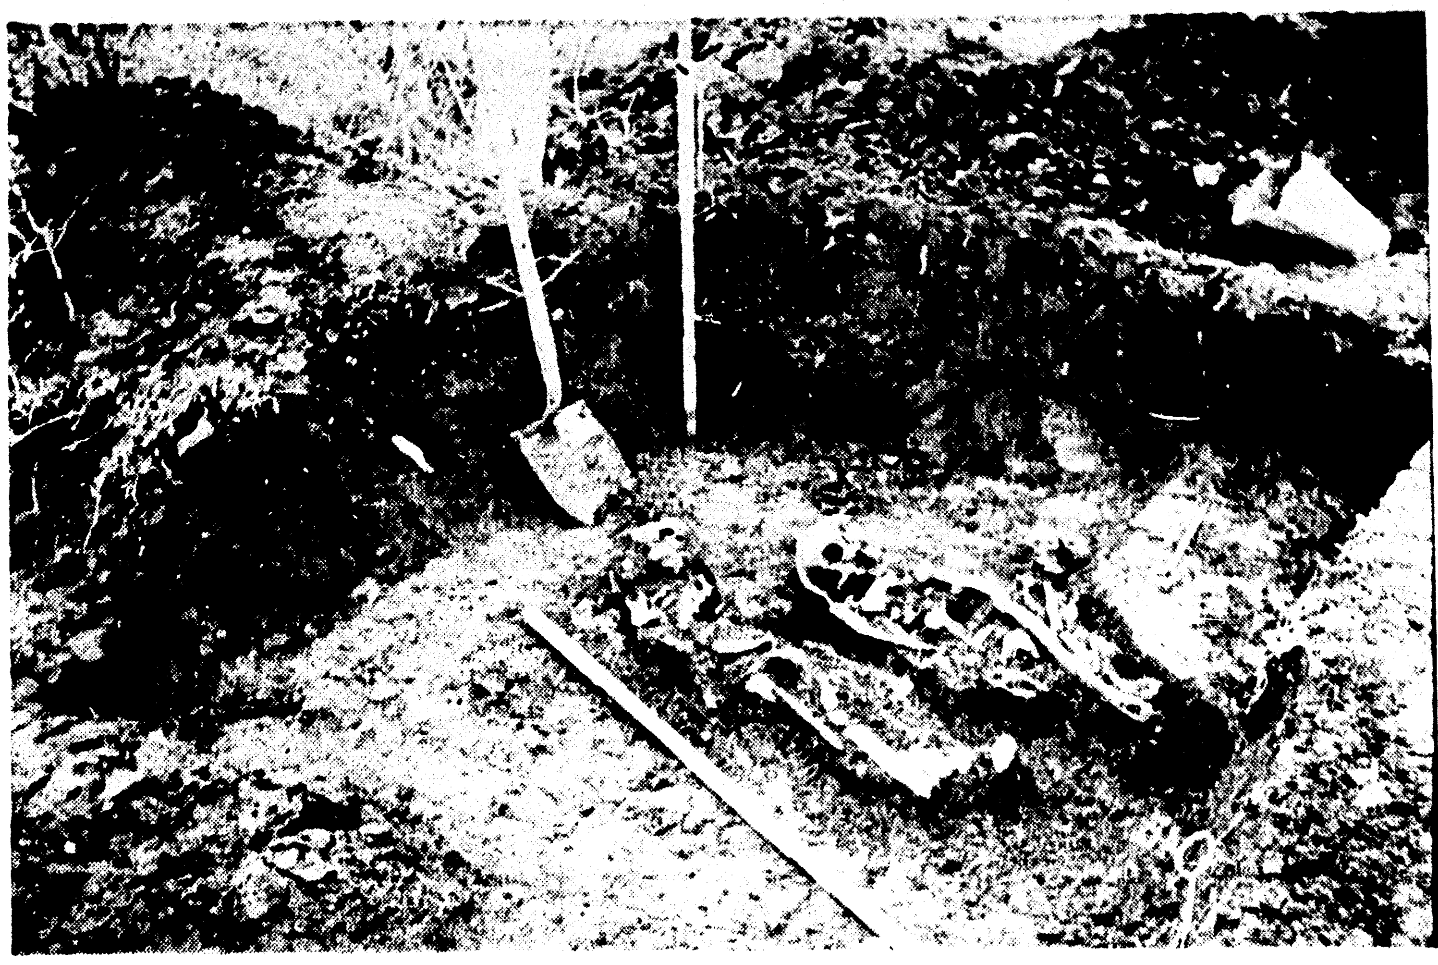
It if is left undisturbed, within a few weeks the grass and briers will grow again over the father, the mother, and the child who were buried together beside the river in a land our ancestors didn't [illegible]



FAMILY OF THREE lay buried for 600 years in the Boeuf River Bottom near Bonita until a few days ago, when the grave was discovered and archeologists from Crossett, Ark. were called in to excavate. Equipment used in the excavation, including paper bags for sifted soil, indicate expert archeological handling of the uncovering. Studies are being made to determine specific points such as ages, etc. of the father, mother and baby. It has already been determined that the baby was under three years old.

Congo Factions Postpone Talks

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The two rival Congo regimes, unable to agree on a the last minute Saturday night long-awaited peace talks which many hoped would point the way to relief from political chaos.

The talks between Leopoldville officials and Stanleyville pro-Lumumba leader Antoine Gizenga had been scheduled to open Sunday at a jungle village in neutral territory. But Vice Premier Jean Bolikango, in a communique, said he and other Leopoldville leaders would not fly to Bundoki, in Equator Province, as scheduled. His statement expressed hope agreement would be reached on another site by Monday.

Barnett Urges States To Unite In Rights Fight

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett said Saturday the condition of states' rights is "perilous" and all of the states must unite to prevent their destruction.

"The federal government is making a whipping boy of the states by overstepping its constitutional powers," Barnett told a Woodmen of the World convention.

"Much needs to be done to awaken all of the states and all of the people to their perilous condition," the governor said.

"There is a crying need for the states not only to organize but to express the true feeling of the states with reference to these usurpations which, if continued, will bring about the destruction of our constitutional form of government."

For "their own survival," he said, the states should present a common front against "unconstitutional encroachments."

Kennedy Flies To His Estate

Mrs. Kennedy and their daughter Caroline had traveled to Middleburg Friday night.

ARCHEOLOGISTS UNCOVER

Family Skeltons In Boeuf Bottom

By JANICE CLARK
Staff Correspondent

CROSSETT (Special) — Men went back in time 600 years a few days ago as they skimmed black soil off the skeletons of a family of three who lay buried in the Boeuf River bottom near Bonita, La.

A young mother, not yet 18 years old when she died, cradled her baby in her arms, its head resting on her cheek, as they were wrapped together and buried long before Columbus dreamed of a new route to India.

Nearby lay a tall young man, his knees drawn up, his hands held under his thighs as he had been tightly bound in skins and buried beside his young squaw and little child.

The family that lived in what was to become northeast Louisiana had probably died of malaria, typhoid, or some plague which killed all three within a matter of hours or days.

They lay undisturbed for perhaps six centuries, while generations of their people continued to live on the nearby mounds — before white man had come along to name the bronze - skinned people "Indians."

They continued to rest beneath the soft tread of those white men and boys who slipped away from plowing in nearby fields for an hour or two of fishing in the remnant of the old river bed which formed a lake near their grave.

It was not until a few years ago that the earth around the buried family shuddered, and was ripped open as a new road was built along the old river bed.

Bulldozers that came to scoop out drainage ditches beside the road clawed their way over the ancient burial, and the skeletal head of the father was shattered.

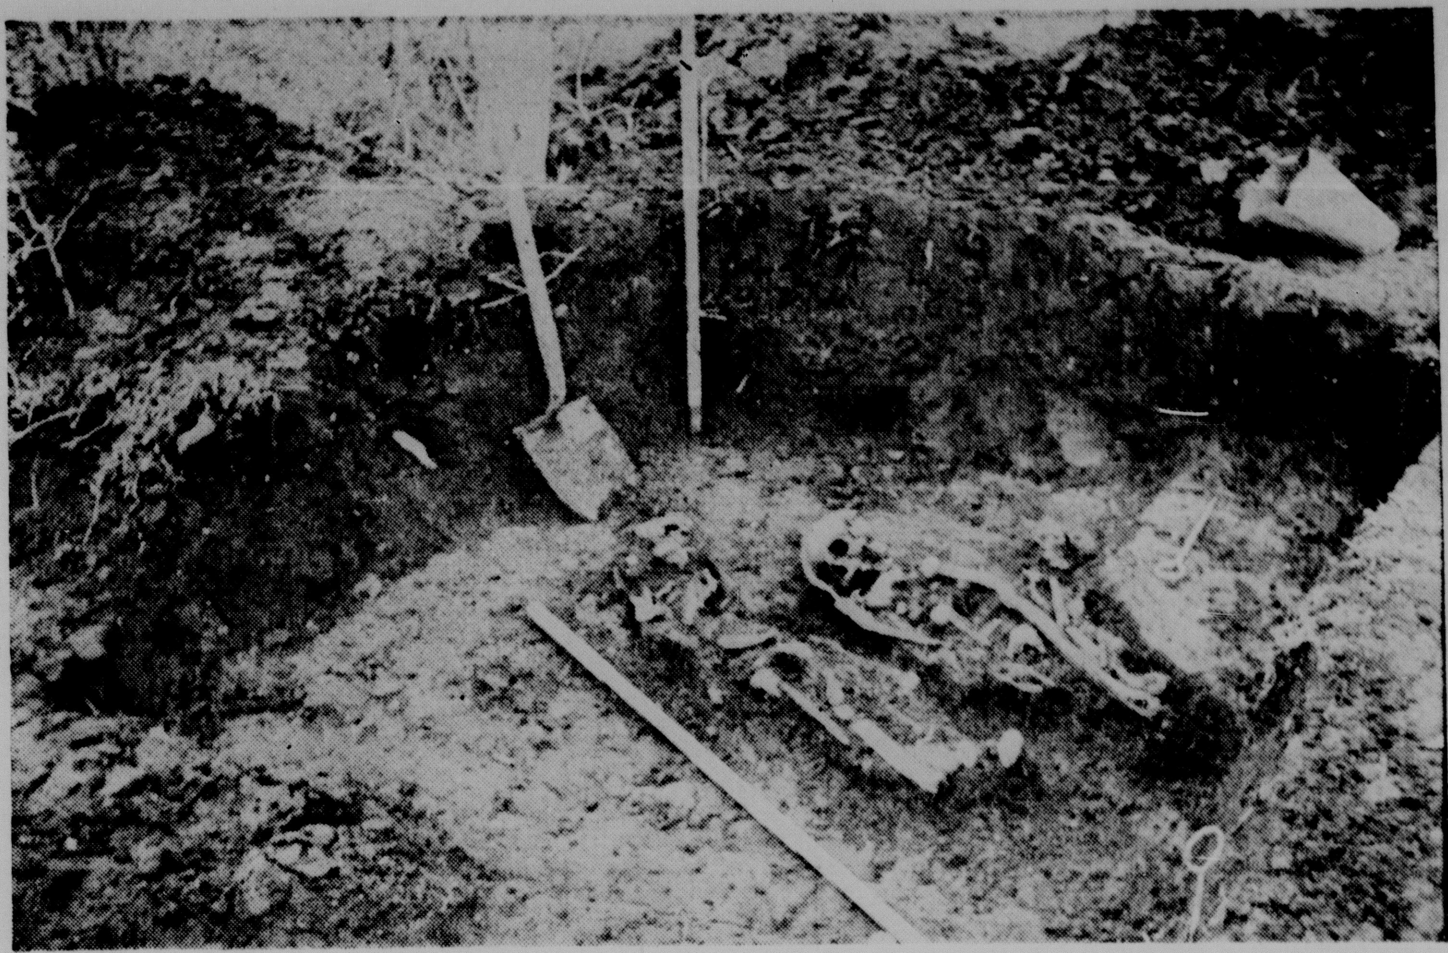
As the earth shuddered above them, the child's head was pressed down, and it came to rest on the displaced lower jaw of its mother.

That is the way Orville McCready, and his nephew, Bert McCready, of Bonita, La., found the trio one rainy day two weeks ago.

Orville, an amateur archeologist of more than 20 years, felt sure they had hit on a burial of primitive man in Louisiana, but wanted help in evaluating their find.

He called Crossett's Ed Sanders, president of the Southeast Arkansas Archeological Society, and asked for help. Sanders, with two other members of the Society, went down next day to the site with Bert, and the men spent the day exploring the burial.

A six - foot square, oriented north - south, was marked off, and the tedious work of skimming off the midden (refuse) soil began.



FAMILY OF THREE lay buried for 600 years in the Boeuf River Bottom near Bonita until a few days ago, when the grave was discovered and archeologists from Crossett, Ark. were called in to excavate. Equipment used in the excavation, including paper bags for sifted soil, indicate expert archeological handling of the uncovering. Studies are being made to determine specific points such as ages, etc. of the father, mother and baby. It has already been determined that the baby was under three years old.

Burials are commonly found in the area in which the Indians threw their refuse, and the black loamy soil in a limited area near a place suspected to have been a living site points to the burial ground of those early "settlers."

The men screened and carefully examined the soil first from the top 12 inches, and found pottery in abundance, muscle shells, and charcoal. The pottery was all of the Coles Creek period, which served to set the probable time of the burials.

The three skeleton forms lay 12 inches from the surface. They had been placed on natural ground, and the 24 inches of midden built up around them.

There were no beads, no indication of burial pots, no arrow points near the burials.

Nearby, but apparently unrelated to the burials, was found one crude arrow point 4½ inches long, of pink-tinged flint. There were also two deer-bone awls, probably used in punching holes in skins through which to run thongs for "sewing" garments or utensils.

The three lay alone in the six-foot square, all oriented north-west.

It was noted that three hundred and five hundred feet east of the burial are two mounds each 100 feet in diameter, and three and four and one-half feet high. This is a typical feature to look for—living sites, or domiciliary mounds from 150 to 500 feet from the midden deposit.

As the men dug and examined the displaced soil, quite a crowd gathered to watch the proceedings.

Farmers who found their fields too wet to work, stopped as they cruised down the gravel road, and some took shovels and helped in the dig.

As the sad little story began to unfold beneath the soil which those boys and men had walked over so many times, it began to grip the watchers.

One old man, as he sat on the wet ground leaning against the huge cleated wheel of a 1961 tractor, mused, "Don't you know that'd be a sight to see them all walkin' around now!"

And for a little while, that rainy day down by the old river bed, a little family walked again. It was a family with no material wealth. The young mother had no pendant, no beads — nothing. The father had no arrow points, and no jewelry.

But they had love. The mother held her child, the "soft spot" on its head not yet closed, with its dark hair resting on her cheek.

And nearby lay the tall young man who was father to the child in her arms.

The amateur archeologists learned all they could from the bones. They measured and studied the skeletons, and photographed them from many angles.

Then they replaced the dark soil over the three who were buried 600 years ago.

If it is left undisturbed, within a few weeks the grass and biers will grow again over the father, the mother, and the child who were biried together beside the river in a land our ancestors didn't dream of.

Eichmann Murder Trial Most Extraordinary Ever

EDITOR'S NOTE—Adolf Eichmann traveled a long, dark road from an unremarkable youth to power in the Third Reich—and a court room in Jerusalem. The following article recounts his career and examines the legal, moral and political implications of the unparalleled trial about to begin.

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Next Tuesday morning, April 11, 1961, a bony, hawk-faced man with gray-blue eyes, a high forehead, and thinning hair will be brought into a courtroom in Jerusalem.

There, he will confront three Israeli judges, a battery of lawyers, more than 700 spectators—and a legion of ghosts.

The most extraordinary murder trial in history is about to begin.

It is the case of the State of Israel vs. Adolf Eichmann, former chief of the Jewish section of the Nazi Gestapo.

The particulars—complicity in destroying an estimated total of six million Jews, including one million children, during World War II, and causing "enslavement, starvation, degradation, inhuman suffering and torture."

Never before in history has one man been charged with personal responsibility for crimes of such enormity. In the Nuernberg trials, a group of Nazis was tried jointly.

Never before has a trial been fraught with greater moral, legal, and political implication.

Few ever raised weightier questions.

Should Eichmann have been turned over to West Germany for trial? Or to an international tribunal, perhaps under the aegis of the United Nations?

By reminding the world of the hideous catastrophe visited on the Jews during the war, will it help to wipe out bigotry and bolt the door forever against the possibility of another such tragedy? Or could it, on the contrary, trigger new outbursts of anti-Semitism?

Will it revive the old hatreds against the Germans? Both Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Willy Brandt, mayor of Berlin, have expressed concern on this score.

Will the testimony document the existence of an operating Nazi underground?

Will the case go into history as another step in humanity's slow, painful struggle to achieve a workable system of law and order among nations?

Finally, no other legal action ever brought to a courtroom so many reporters and news media representatives. Some 550, from 35 nations, received credentials. This is more than double the number who covered the Nuernberg trials. Moreover, this case is the first of such magnitude to be televised.

Every aspect of the Eichmann trial is on a gigantic scale.

It may last six weeks, two months, or longer.

The indictment contains 15 major counts.

They are distilled from evidence in hundreds of documents, selected from 300 tons of papers found in the archives of Hitler's Germany. The attorney general, Gideon Hausner, is ready to call 39 witnesses. Other information was given to "Zero Six," the special police bureau set up to work on the case, by 168 persons. Prospective witnesses have come before Israeli consulates in the United States, Canada, Latin America and Germany.

Eichmann himself has written or dictated more than 1,000 typewritten pages of his side of the story.

The Beit Ha'am Community Centers of Jerusalem has been converted into a huge courtroom. It has 756 seats. About two-thirds have been reserved for the press. The others are set aside for representatives of foreign governments, Israeli government officials, judges from other countries, lawyers, and representatives of various political organization.

Hebrew will be the official language of the trial.

It will be translated, simultaneously, into English, French and German. Transistor radios that can be tuned to these languages will bring the proceedings to spectators who do not understand Hebrew.

The basement of the Beit Ha'am has been equipped as a press room with communications facilities, including numerous overseas telephone circuits to many of the capitals of the world.

These channels — which may have to carry a million words of written and spoken news on the heavy days — are separate from the normal communications machinery of Israel.

What manner of man is the object of all this?

Many grotesque creatures, the cruel, the twisted, the emotionally deformed, always surface out of the great upheavals of history.

Adolf Hitler was one of these.

And what of Adolf Eichmann? What put his feet on the road to Jerusalem where he awaits trial today, charged with crimes so black as to boggle the imagination? Was he merely a victim of time and circumstance?

Eichmann joined the Nazi party at an early date, 1931, when it was still illegal.

He did not resign when the persecution of the Jews began in Germany in 1935. The burning of the synagogues in 1938 did not repel him. He did not discard his Gestapo uniform when the fury of the persecutions grew more intense on the eve of World War II.

On the contrary, during those years he rose rapidly on the Gestapo ladder, until finally he became the chief of its section on Jewish affairs.

In that capacity, the prosecution charges, he was the operational director of the Nazi plan called "the final solution of the Jewish problem" — which meant total extermination.

This, in outline, constitutes his career as a Nazi. Otherwise, in his 55 years of life, he appears to have been eminently undistinguished. "I am a man of average character," he says.

He had four years of high school but did not win his diploma. Next, he entered a technical school but left after two years.

One of his Gestapo aides, Maj. Dieter Wisliscezeny — who was hanged in 1948 — said in a deposition that Eichmann claimed "he had the same history teacher in school as Adolf Hitler."

There are conflicting versions of Eichmann's attitude toward Jews during his childhood and early youth. In one, he is reported to have fought with Jewish boys in school. But in another, the son of a Jewish druggist was his best friend.

In statements attributed to him by Life magazine, Eichmann was quoted: "I am no anti-Semite. I was just politically opposed to Jews because they were stealing the breath of life from us."

In any event, he became an ardent Nazi.

Two years after joining the party, he entered its "Elite Guard," the SS.

Having been fired from his job as a traveling salesman for an oil company, he became a file clerk in an SS office.

Then in 1935, the "Nuernberg laws" were promulgated. They embodied Hitler's psychotic hatred of the Jews. Their effect was to strip the Jew of his legal and human rights, to drive him from the professions, to "legally" denaturalize him and confiscate his property.

At this time, Heinrich Himmler, chief of the security forces, ordered the creation of a "Jewish museum" in Berlin. Somehow the faceless file clerk, Eichmann, was assigned to organize it.

Apparently, he became fascinated with the work. He learned some Hebrew and Yiddish. In short order, he was able to convince his superiors that he was an "expert" on Jewish matters.

He rode this vehicle, his alleged "expertness," to high position in the Gestapo. In rank, he was only a lieutenant colonel. But at one time he was directing three separate offices dealing with Jewish affairs. One was called, in fact, "Dienststelle Eichmann."

Presently, he was organizing deportations of Jews from those parts of Europe under Nazi control. As it spread to more and more countries, millions of Jews came into the Nazi net.

Wisliscezeny's deposition names Eichmann as the author of the "Madagascar plan," a program to deport Jews from Europe to the island of Madagascar.

It might have been a more merciful fate than the one that actually overtook them. But on a fateful day, Jan. 20, 1942, it was replaced by the ultimate horror.

On that day, 14 SS chiefs assembled at Wannsee, in Berlin. Eichmann was among them. To this conference, the word was carried that Hitler had ordered "the final solution of the Jewish problem—mass destruction.

It seems also to have envisaged the extermination of some 30 million Slavs and several hundred thousands Gypsies in conformity with Nazi theories of the "subhuman races."

Wisliscezeny's deposition says: "Eichmann told me that the words 'final solution' meant the biological extermination of the Jewish race."

The ghastly work began. Machine guns and automatic rifles first, then gas vans with carbon monoxide coming into the sealed compartment as the truck rolled along. Finally, the huge extermination camps of Auschwitz, Belsen and others with their great gas chambers and crematoria.

How did this affect Adolf Eichmann, the ex-salesman and former file clerk now a big man in the SS?

Wisliscezeny's deposition says he began drinking heavily, chain-smoking, engaging in illicit affairs with women in many cities.

Apparently, he began to fear

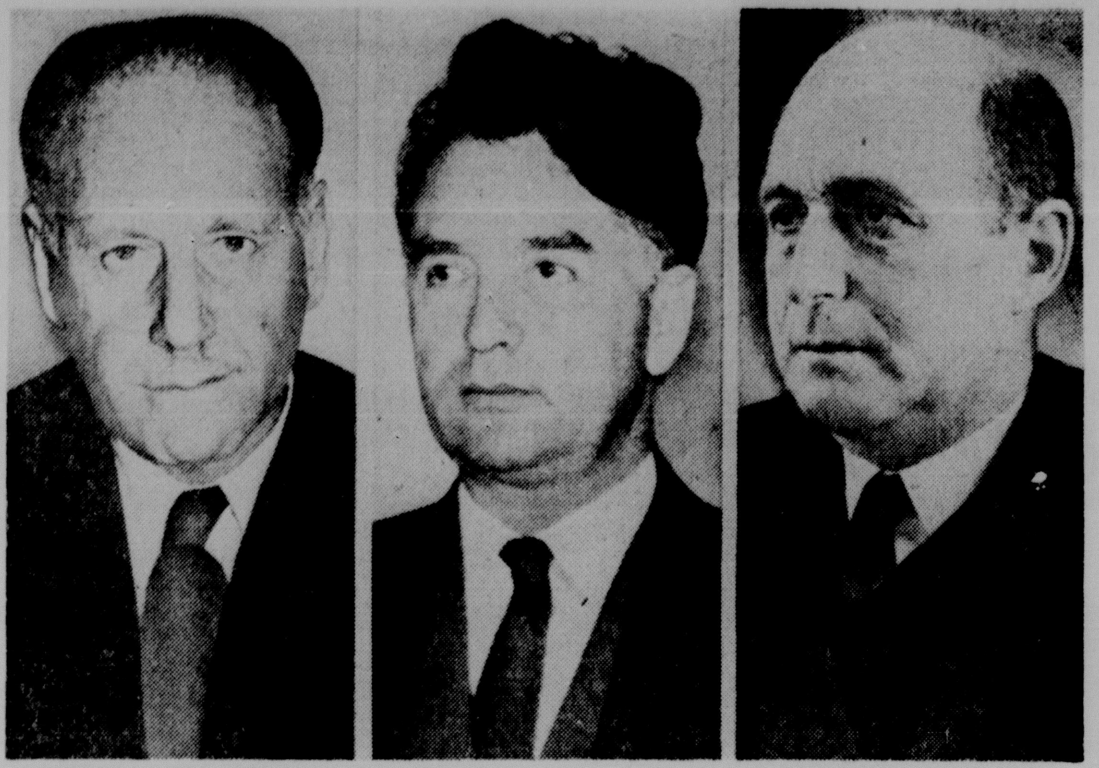
The indictment contains 15 major counts.

They are distilled from evidence in hundreds of documents, selected from 300 tons of papers found in the archives of Hitler's Germany. The attorney general, Gideon Hausner, is ready to call 39 witnesses. Other information was given to "Zero Six," the special police bureau set up to work on the case, by 168 persons. Prospective witnesses have come before Israeli consulates in the United States, Canada, Latin America and Germany.

Eichmann himself has written or dictated more than 4,000 typewritten pages of his side of the story.

The Beit Ha'am (Community Center) of Jerusalem has been converted into a huge courtroom. It has 756 seats. About two-thirds have been reserved for the press. The others are set aside for representatives of foreign governments, Israeli government officials, judges from other courts, lawyers, and representatives of various political organizations.



JUSTICE MOSHE LANDAU, right, will preside over the panel of three judges at the genocide trial of Adolf Eichmann in Jerusalem starting April 11. Others on the panel are Judge Benjamin Halevi, center, president of the Jerusalem district court and Judge Dr. Izhak Raveh, of the Tel-Aviv district court. (AP Wirephoto)

Hebrew will be the official language of the trial.

It will be translated, simultaneously, into English, French and German. Transistor radios that can be tuned to these languages will bring the proceedings to spectators who do not understand Hebrew.

The basement of the Beit Ha'am has been equipped as a press room with communications facilities, including numerous overseas telephone circuits to many of the capitals of the world.

These channels — which may have to carry a million words of written and spoken news on the heavy days — are separate from the normal communications machinery of Israel.

What manner of man is the object of all this?

Many grotesque creatures, the cruel, the twisted, the emotionally deformed, always surface out of the great upheavals of history.

Adolf Hitler was one of these.

And what of Adolf Eichmann? What put his feet on the road to Jerusalem where he awaits trial today, charged with crimes so black as to boggle the imagination? Ws he merely a victim of time and circumstance?

Eichmann joined the Nazi party at an early date, 1931, when it was still illegal.

He did not resign when the persecution of the Jews began in Germany in 1935. The burning of the synagogues in 1938 did not repel him. He did not discard his Gestapo uniform when the fury of the persecutions grew more intense on the eve of World War II.

On the contrary, during those years he rose rapidly on the Gestapo ladder, until finally he became the chief of its section on Jewish affairs.

In that capacity, the prosecution charges, he was the operational director of the Nazi plan called "the final solution of the Jewish problem" — which meant total extermination.

This, in outline, constitutes his career as a Nazi. Otherwise, in his 55 years of life, he appears to have been eminently undistinguished. "I am a man of average character," he says.

He had four years of high school but did not win his diploma. Next, he entered a technical school but left after two years.

One of his Gestapo aides, Maj. Dieter Wisliczeny — who was hanged in 1948—said in a deposition that Eichmann claimed "he had the same history teacher in school as Adolf Hitler."

There are conflicting versions of Eichmann's attitude toward Jews during his childhood and early youth. In one, he is reported to have fought with Jewish boys in school. But in another, the son of a Jewish druggist was his best friend.

In statements attributed to him by Life magazine, Eichmann was quoted: "I am no anti-Semite. I was just politically opposed to Jews because they ware stealing the breath of life from us."

In any event, he became an ardent Nazi.

Two years after joining the party, he entered its "Elite Guard," the SS.

Having been fired from his job as a traveling salesman for an oil company, he became a file clerk in an SS office.

Then in 1935, the "Nuernberg laws" were promulgated. They embodied Hitler's psychotic hatred of the Jews. Their effect was to strip the Jew of his legal and human rights, to drive him from the professions, to "legally" denaturalize him and confiscate his property.

At this time, Heinrich Himmler, chief of the security forces, ordered the creation of a "Jewish museum" in Berlin. Somehow the faceless file clerk, Eichmann, was assigned to organize it.

Apparently, he became fascinated with the work. He learned some Hebrew and Yiddish. In short order, he was able to convince his superiors that he was an "expert" on Jewish matters.

He rode this vehicle, his alleged "expertness," to high position in the Gestapo. In rank, he was only a lieutenant colonel. But at one time he was directing three separate offices dealing with Jewish affairs. One was called, in fact, "Dienststelle Eichmann."

Presently, he was organizing deportations of Jews from those parts of Europe under Nazi control. As it spread to more and more countries, millions of Jews came into the Nazi net.

Wisliczeny's deposition names Eichmann as the author of the "Madagascar plan," a program to deport Jews from Europe to the island of Madagascar.

It might have been a more merciful fate than the one that actually overtook them. But on a fateful day, Jan. 20, 1942, it was replaced by the ultimate horror.

On that day, 14 SS chiefs assembled at Wannsee, in Berlin. Eichmann was among them. To this conference, the word was carried that Hitler had ordered "the final solution of the Jewish problem—mass destruction.

It seems also to have envisaged the extermination of some 30 million Slavs and several hundred thousands Gypsies in conformity with Nazi theories of the "subhuman races."

Wisliczeny's deposition says: "Eichmann told me that the words 'final solution' meant the biological extermination of the Jewish race."

The ghastly work began. Machine guns and automatic rifles first, then gas vans with carbon monoxide coming into the sealed compartment as the truck rolled along. Finally, the huge extermination camps of Auschwitz, Belsen and others with their great gas chambers and crematoria.

How did this affect Adolf Eichmann, the ex-salesman and former file clerk now a big man in the SS?

Wisliczeny's deposition says he began drinking heavily, chain-smoking, engaging in illicit affairs with women in many cities.

for his life. He never rode in airplanes. He carried an arsenal of sub-machine guns and hand grenades in his automobile. At night, soldiers guarded the place where he slept.

Yet the Life magazine statement attributed to him says he told his men in the last days of Nazi Germany:

"I will gladly jump into my grave in the knowledge that five million enemies of the Reich have already died like animals."

The war ended. Eichmann, disguised as an air force sergeant, escaped from an American prison camp. For a time he worked as a lumberjack in north Germany. Then discovering that Jewish agents were on his trail, he made his way to Spain.

From there he went to Italy and received from a relief agency, papers describing him as "Richard Klemena," a displaced person. Then to South America where he was "Ricardo Clement," constantly in disguise, almost constantly on the run for 10 years.

In 1959, Israeli agents spotted Eichmann's wife in Vienna. She was renewing her passport. When she flew back to Buenos Aires, they followed her.

On May 11, 1960, three men described by the Israeli government as "volunteer commandos" captured Eichmann in a suburb of Buenos Aires. An airplane carried him to Israel.

A glance at the indictment explains why this is considered necessary. It contains 15 counts, and the first of these is murder.

It reads: "The accused caused the killing of millions of Jews in his capacity as the person responsible for the execution of the Nazi plan for the physical extermination of the Jews, known as 'the final solution of the Jewish problem.'"

Then comes a ledger of death, the dates, the places, the groups that did the killing, and a ghastly column of figures.

"In Lithuania, more than 80,000 Jews; in Latvia, more than 80,000 Jews; in Estonia, 470 Jews; in Tilsit, about 5,500 Jews." And so on and on, across Nazi-occupied Europe.

This, the indictment alleges, is the accounting for only one operational group during a given period of time.

The indictment also names three other such operational groups and tabulates the number of their respective victims in parts of Europe occupied by the [illegible]

In the section covering the mass slaughter in the huge extermination camps, it accuses Eichmann of direct responsibility on a specific point—the means used to kill the captives. A paragraph reads:

"Millions of Jews were exterminated in this camp (Auschwitz) in gas chambers, and in crematoria, and by shooting and hanging. The accused directed the commanders of that camp to use gas known as Zyklon B, and in 1942 and 1944 the accused also secured the supply of a quantity of gas for the purpose of exterminating the Jews."

At Auschwitz and other such camps, men were separated from women and children. Each group was taken to a different chamber with a capacity for several hundred people.

There, they were told to strip, that while they were taking showers their clothes would be deloused. Once inside the chamber, the huge doors were sealed tight.

Inside, they actually saw what appeared to be the nozzles of showers. But no water came out. Instead, crystals of Zyklon B were dropped through the holes and the gas formed. Those nearest the "showers" died almost immediately, witnesses testified. The majority, crazed with terror, lived about 15 minutes.

Along with murder, the bill of particulars filed against Eichmann accuses him of organizing and directing the deportation of Jews, enslaving them, subjecting them to degradation, depriving them of their human rights, and responsibility for inhuman suffering and torture.

Count seven accuses Eichmann, among other things, of systematic robbery and it says:

"The extent of the success of such robbery is reflected by the fact that when the Germans, at the time of their retreat in 1945, burnt 29 stores of personal effects and valuables out of 35 such stores. The six stores saved from the fire were found to contain, inter alia, 348,820 men's suits, [illegible] women's dresses, 38,000 men's shoes."

Another paragraph speaks of "vast amounts of parts of the bodies of the murdered persons, such as hair, gold teeth, false teeth, and artificial limbs."

Under other sections of the indictment, entitled "crimes against humanity," Eichman is accused of deporting and exterminating thousands of Poles, Yugoslavs, Slovenes and gypsies.

This was the little village where Czech patriots succeeded in assassinating Reinhard Heydrick, "the hangman," one of Eichmann's immediate superiors. In retaliation, the Nazis obliterated Lidice and all its inhabitants from the face of the earth. A paragraph in this section of the indictment reads:

"The accused caused the deportation of approximately 104 children civilians of the village of Lidice in Czechoslovakia, their transportation to Poland, and their murder there."

It has been reported that the prosecution's brief comprises 1,500 documents and lines a shelf seven feet long.

On what grounds will Adolf Eichmann's defense be based?

Last November, Life magazine published his memoirs. They said he gave them to a German newspaperman in Argentina while he was a fugitive, "talking into a tape recorder for hours at a time." In these statements, Eichmann is quoted as saying:

"I was merely a little cog in the machinery that carried out the directives and orders of the German Reich. I am neither a murderer nor a mass murderer.

"It would be as pointless to blame me for the whole final solution of the Jewish problem as to blame the official in charge of the railroads over which the Jewish transports traveled. With us an order was an order."

Elsewhere, he says: "My department never gave a single annihilation order. We were responsible only for deportation."

Referring to the Wannsee conference of 1942 when Hitler allegedly ordered the "final solution"—meaning extermination — the article says: "Heydrich assured me that neither I nor my men would have anything to do with the physical liquidation. We would round up the Jews for others."

He says he never watched the Jews being herded into trains headed for the death camps. And he says he declined an invitation to witness the asphyxiation of some captives.

"I regret nothing," the article quotes him as saying. "I will not humble myself or repent in any way."

Thus, he may attempt to defend himself on the grounds:

1. That it was wartime and, as an officer, he had no alternative but to carry out orders from above. This was the principal line of defense of the Nazis in the Nuernberg trials.

2. That his was an executive task solely, to collect the Jews in a given country and to arrange the railroad timetables that carried them to the death camps. What happened there, he may argue, was not his responsibility.

3. That "my department never gave a single annihilation order."

Eichmann's chief defense counsel is Dr. Robert Servatius, of Cologne, West Germany. Servatius was not a Nazi. He defended, among others at Nuernberg, Fritz Sauckel, superintendent of the Nazi slave labor camps. Sauckel was convicted and hanged.

Israel is paying Servatius' fees of $20,000.

He said one of his reasons for taking the Eichmann case is that he believes "there will be a possibility in this trial for an official revision, so to speak, of the Nuernberg trials, which were held under the shadow of the victorious powers. The general legal principals will have to be cleared up some time."

This apparently refers to the retroactive character of the Nuernberg charter, under which the Nazi leaders were tried.

Israel is trying Eichmann under a law entitled "the Nazis and Nazi collaborators (punishment) law, 5710." It was passed in 1950. International lawyers describe it as an "elaboration" of the Nuernberg charter and the affirmations of the charter in the United Nations in December 1946.

Servatius indicated he might challenge the validity of the trial on three points of law:

1. The retroactive character of the Israeli law of 1950.

2. The circumstances under which Eichmann was captured in Argentina and brought to Israel.

3. The fact that Eichmann's crimes were not committed on Israeli soil and at a time when Israel did not yet exist.

Whether Servatius will have witnesses to testify for Eichmann is not yet clear. He said recently he had been unable to find any.

Later, an assistant reported that he had found some. But he said they are afraid to go to Israel for fear of implicating themselves.

What is Eichmann's attitude on the eve of the trial?

"I think Eichmann is eager to explain why things happened."

Cancer Panel Discussion Set Over Television

A panel discussion on cancer will be conducted here April 16 by the Ouachita Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

With three Monroe doctors participating, the panel will appear on KNOE-TV at 12:45 p.m. next Sunday. Mac Ward, KNOE news director, will moderate the panel.

Participants will include Dr. N. R. Spencer, a surgeon who is president of the local cancer chapter, Dr. George Ellis, a radiologist, and Dr. Margaret Coon, a pathologist.

They will discuss the danger signals of cancer, as well as other aspects of the disease, and answer questions from the public.

Northeast Louisiana residents interested in having questions answered on cancer are urged to write their questions to the American Cancer Society, 403 Hudson Lane, Monroe.

Questions in turn will be submitted to the panel and answered on the telecast. Persons who would like to have a question answered should write the local office, since questions will not be taken once the panel goes on the air.

Dr. Spencer said the panel was in conjunction with the annual Cancer Crusade, which is underway in Ouachita Parish now.

A host of other relatives and friends called in the afternoon, among them a special guest, Mrs. J. H. Barr, who was present at the wedding 50 years ago.

Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Jessie Thornton of Winnfield and Miss Annette Payne, Dodson

GIANT JET BOMBERS

Rising Accidents Disturb Air Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force was disturbed Saturday by the rising accident rate of its B52 intercontinental bombers but officials said that so far they had found no pattern of common trouble.

The giant jets, mainstay of America's nuclear retaliatory forces, have had more accidents and crew fatalities in the past three months than in all 1960.

In Friday's tragic accident in New Mexico, the B52 was an innocent victim of an errant Sidewinder missile released in some manner still unexplained from an F100 jet fighter. The two planes were involved in a practice combat misson. Three of the B52s eight crew members were reported dead.

Members said the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee have asked the Air Force for a full report on the incident to be made available to all members of the parent Senate Armde Services Committee. The preparedness subcommittee would be the panel to conduct a follow-up inquiry if any is necessary.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the preparedness subcommittee, said the accident is a "stark warning that we simply must be on the alert for such mishaps." He said the incident illustrates how "missile war could be sparked by accident, miscalculation or surprise."

In four previous major accidents since mid-January in aerial refueling and other training exercises, 14 B52 crewmen have died.

The general legal principals will have to be cleared up some time."

This apparently refers to the retroactive character of the Nuernberg charter, under which the Nazi leaders were tried.

Israel is trying Eichmann under a law entitled "the Nazis and Nazi collaborators (punishment) law, 5710." It was passed in 1950. International lawyers describe it as an "elaboration" of the Nuernberg charter and the affirmations of the charter in the United Nations in December 1946.

Servatius indicated he might challenge the validity of the trial on three points of law:

1. The retroactive character of the Israeli law of 1950.
2. The circumstances under which Eichmann was captured in Argentina and brought to Israel.
3. The fact that Eichmann's crimes were not committed on Israeli soil and at a time when Israel did not yet exist.

Whether Servatius will have witnesses to testify for Eichmann is not yet clear. He said recently he had been unable to find any.

Later, an assistant reported that he had found some. But he said they are afraid to go to Israel for fear of implicating themselves.

What is Eichmann's attitude on the eve of the trial?

"I think Eichmann is eager to explain why things happened."

Cancer Panel Discussion Set Over Television

A panel discussion on cancer will be conducted here April 16 by the Ouachita Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

With three Monroe doctors participating, the panel will appear on KNOE-TV at 12:45 p.m. next Sunday. Mac Ward, KNOE news director, will moderate the panel.

Participants will include Dr. N. R. Spencer, a surgeon who is president of the local cancer chapter, Dr. George Ellis, a radiologist, and Dr. Margaret Coon, a pathologist.

They will discuss the danger signals of cancer, as well as other aspects of the disease, and answer questions from the public.

Northeast Louisiana residents interested in having questions answered on cancer are urged to write their questions to the American Cancer Society, 408 Hudson Lane, Monroe.

Questions in turn will be submitted to the panel and answered on the telecast. Persons who would like to have a question answered should write the local office, since questions will not be taken once the panel goes on the air.

Dr. Spencer said the panel was in conjunction with the annual Cancer Crusade, which is underway in Ouachita Parish now.

Clarene Prewitt Initiated Into Science Society

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Clarene Prewitt of West Monroe was one of the 13 students recently initiated into Alpha Chapter of Alpha Beta Alpha, the national library science fraternity.

As one of a group pledged at a Christmas party, Miss Prewitt was initiated in a candlelight ceremony on March 23.

Officers of the local chapter are president, Dixie Barker, Monroe; vice president, Mary Ann Schafer of Killeen, Texas; recording secretary, Marlan Hodges of Calvin; corresponding secretary, Gloria Wright of Harrisonburgh; treasurer, Mary Gandy of Winnfield; reporter, Ann Matthews of Many; parliamentarian, Billie Gough of Trout; and historian Jo Edwards of Robeline.

CELEBRATING their 50 years of married life together recently are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Temple, Dodson. The couple were married in Jackson Parish on Sept. 11, 1910. They are parents of Mrs. E. H. Gentry, and George Temple, both of Monroe.

Area Couple Observe 50 Wedded Years

They were married in Jackson Parish on September 11, 1910.

Enjoying the day with them were their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Temple, Danny and Sandra, Knoxville, Tenn.; Mrs. Kenneth J. Parker, Becky, Richard, Kenny, and David, Hobart, Okla.; and Laura Temple, Shreveport.

Among the relatives attending were: Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gentry of Monroe, Mrs. E. J. Hogan of Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Temple of Dodson, and Mr. and Mrs. George Temple of Monroe, brothers and sisters of "Uncle Bud"; Ben Davis of Jonesboro, brother of Mrs. Temple; James B. Temple of Paducah, Kentucky, a nephew of "Uncle Bud."

A host of other relatives and friends called in the afternoon, among them a special guest, Mrs. J. H. Barr, who was present at the wedding 50 years ago.

Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Jessie Thornton of Winnfield and Miss Annette Payne, Dodson.

Rising Accidents Disturb Air Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force was disturbed Saturday by the rising accident rate of its B52 intercontinental bombers but officials said that so far they had found no pattern of common trouble.

The giant jets, mainstay of America's nuclear retaliatory forces, have had more accidents and crew fatalities in the past three months than in all 1960.

In Friday's tragic accident in New Mexico, the B52 was an innocent victim of an errant Sidewinder missile released in some manner still unexplained from an F100 jet fighter. The two planes were involved in a practice combat mission. Three of the B52s eight crew members were reported dead.

Members said the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee have asked the Air Force for a full report on the incident to be made available to all members of the parent Senate Armde Services Committee. The preparedness subcommittee would be the panel to conduct a follow-up inquiry if any is necessary.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the preparedness subcommittee, said the accident is a "stark warning that we simply must be on the alert for such mishaps." He said the incident illustrates how "missile war could be sparked by accident, miscalculation or surprise."

In four previous major accidents since mid-January in aerial refueling and other training exercises, 14 B52 crewmen have died.

11 Wounded As Viet Nam Voting Nears

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—A series of Communist hand gernade explosions during the past 24 hours wounded two Americans and nine Vietnamese and spread terror through Saigon Sunday as the Communist-threatened nation elected a president.

President Ngo Dinh Diem, a deeply religious bachelor of 60 who has led the fight against infiltration, subversion and terror for the past seven years, was an overwhelming favorite over his two opponents, a herb doctor and a rubber plantation owner.

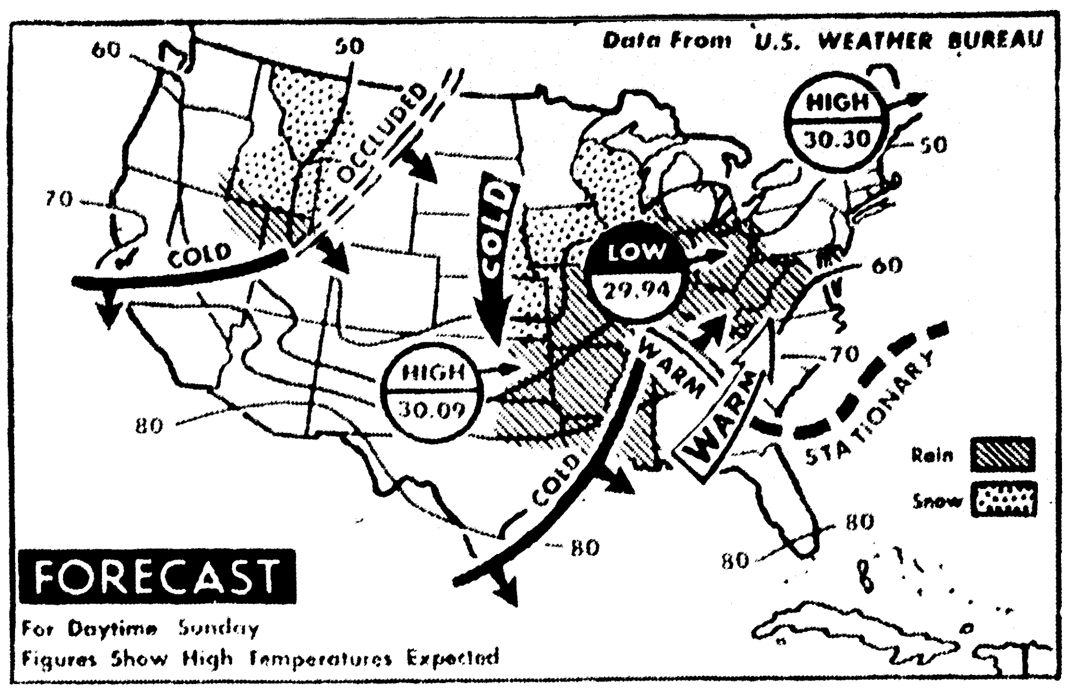
The Communist Viet Cong guerrillas brought their anti-American and anti-Diem terrorist tactics into the heart of the city on eve of the election. At least four hand grenades exploded in the heart of the city within the past 24 hours.

An American sergeant, Carl S. Cox of Salem, Ore., was wounded Saturday in a bombing incident which also hit nine Vietnamese. In this incident terrorists exploded a grenade near the headquarters of the U.S. military advisory group which has aided Diem's fight against the Red.

Another American, William A. Thomas, 47, of Fort Myers, Fla., was wounded Friday when terrorists hurled a grenade into his home. He suffered eye injuries and was flown to Clark Air Field in the Philippines. His condition was reported excellent after doctors removed a grenade fragment from his eye.

Witnesses said a pedicab laden with foodstuffs appeared before the building and that the driver leaned back, threw the grenade and peddled off before anyone realized what he was up to. He missed the door and the bomb exploded against the side of the building.

Two other grenades were tossed early Saturday in front of Saigon movie theaters in incidents reminiscent of the terrorism that struck in Saigon before and immediately after the end of the French Indo-China civil war.



SNOW is expected Sunday in central Plains, western Great Lakes and in northern Rockies. Rain is due in Ohio valley, lower and middle Mississippi valley, Gulf coast states and in central Rockies. It will be warmer in Atlantic coast states and colder in Rocky Mountain states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Red Chinese Stall Laos Cease-Fire

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China was reported Saturday to have stalled an immediate cease fire in Laos by insisting that the United States halt aid before the warring factions lay down their arms.

Another snag was reflected in a Soviet Tass news agency dispatch quoting Laotian rebel paratroop Capt. Kong Le as demanding a dominant role for neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The Communist-backed Souvanna fled into exile last December when pro-Western Prince Boun Oum took over the government.

Both British and American diplomatic sources had predicted Britain and Russia would call a cease fire by the end of the week and an agreement was reported all but in the bag.

British officials said they remained hopeful and expected a reply at "any moment" from the Kremlin on arrangements to call a cease fire, reactivate a three-power control commission to supervise the truce and then call a 14-nation conference to plan Laos' future.

The Russians have consulted with Peiping throughout the negotiations and diplomatic sources said there were indication Saturday the Chinese had been stalling.

Red China's hand showed in broadcasts which prominently quoted demands by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas that a Laos cease fire must be pre- the halting of all Am debye-rC' ceded by the halting of all American aid to the Laotian government of Prince Boun Oum.

Peiping cited three further conditions. It demanded the international conference be convened immediately. It demanded that Souvanna—and not pro-Western Premier Prince Boun—sponsor such a conference. It demanded the Pathet Lao's political arm participate in the conference.

Moscow, presumably under this pressure, has itself raised complaints against a U. S. helicopter air lift in Laos. Friday night it called it a "new United States militarist venture." But whether it was just stalling or something more sinister was not immediately known.

3 Winnsboro Negroes Held For Thefts

WINNSBORO (Special) — Three Winnsboro Negroes were in the Franklin Parish jail last night charged with theft and with bonds set at $500 each after they admitted a series of thefts during the past 18 months.

The investigation was started when a Negro girl brought a radio to Ship Electric Co. here for repair Friday.

The radio was recognized as one stolen from the company a month ago.

George Washington, 17, admitted to the Franklin Parish sheriff's department that he had taken the radio valued at $50. A .38 caliber S&W revolver valued at $60 was recovered from Billy Rose, 20, who admitted taking it from the car of Jesse Peyton.

The sheriff's department also recovered from G. W. Williams, 20, a radio which he admitted taking from a local drug store, a fishing reel stolen from another store and baseball gloves taken from a local sporting goods store.

The entire value of these goods was $50.

Gore Suggests Showdown On Nuclear Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Albert Gore, congressional adviser to U. S. negotiators, disclosed Saturday that he has suggested President Kennedy press for a showdown on Soviet veto demands before prolonging the marathon talks on nuclear testing.

The Tennessee Democrat returned from the Geneva test-ban conference Friday. In talks with newsmen Saturday and in a short statement summarizing his views, Gore said the conference "has taken a decidedly discouraging turn."

The senator sat in on the negotiations as a member of the U. S. delegation.

He accused Russian delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin of going back on a previous agreement by insisting on an inspection veto when the conference resumed last month.

'Greek Week' Is Scheduled At Northeast

Greek social sororities and fraternities will be featured at Northeast Louisiana State College during the coming week.

Activities of Greek Week opened last night with a banquet in Gunby Dining Hall on campus, and other social affairs will be held daily through Friday with exception of today.

The program is the first of its kind to be initiated at Northeast.

Sponsors of the organizations are Miss Frances Baldwin of the chemistry faculty; Miss Alma Lufcy, counselor to women; and Dr. Fred J. Vogel, dean of Student Services.

In addition to council presidents, other student leaders who are playing responsible roles in Greek Week are: Betty Mantrozos, Esta Ford, Johnnie James, Cole, Robert Vance and Joe Dimaggio, who assisted with banquet preparations and is working with Miss Mantrozos in handling publicity.

Last night's banquet was planned for members of social sororities and fraternities at Northeast, alumni and members of Greek social organizations which do not have chapters on the campus.

The week's schedule includes Monday's informal party in the Panhellenic House for all social Greek women on campus. The time is from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Wednesday will feature open house from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Panhellenic House for all women students. Thursday will emphasize open house in the Student Center for all men students. Both social affairs are planned for persons who are not affliated with Greek social organizations as well as for those who hold membership.

Friday night's songfest in the recital room of Biedenharn Hall will find sororities and fraternities competing for awards. Prizes will be given for first and second places in the performance, which opens at 7 p.m.

Scott Opposes Communists In Laos Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., Saturday night joined top-rank congressional Republicans condemning any settlement that would put Communists in the government of Laos.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has called the expression of such views "harassment" of the Kennedy administration in its handling of a delicate international crisis.

But Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois defended as "restrained" the criticisms GOP leaders have voiced

Solon Asks Davis Delay Judge Vote

BASTROP (Special) — Morehouse Parish Rep. Woodrow Wilson said last night he had wired Governor Jimmie Davis asking for a delay in calling an election to fill the position of Fourth Judicial District Judge.

A vacancy in this position was created by the death of the late Judge David I. Garrett.

Ouachita Parish Representatives Mike John and Lawrence Gibbs both stated earlier this week that they had wired asking for an election as soon as possible.

Wilson explained that his request for a delay in such an election came as a result of the lack of permanent voter registration in Morehouse Parish.

"Every four years we throw out the rolls and begin anew," he stated. This past January the old rolls were thrown out and the parish is in the process now of re-registering voters.

"Our rolls are far from complete," Wilson said. "Therefore, I asked that the election be delayed until we get more of our permanent voters re-registered."

Two Men Booked For Theft Of Missing Watch

Two men were booked on charges of theft by Monroe police after they were allegedly involved in the disappearance of a watch at a local business Friday night.

Booked were Elzie Tucker, 46 of Reedville, Ga., held on a $350 bond for theft, and George Dyer, 39 who gave his address as City Jail, held for felony theft and disturbing the peace.

According to police, Tucker was alleged to have taken a watch off Jodie Horton without his knowledge and given it to Dyer.

Dyer was then supposed to pawn the watch, according to reports. However, police have been unable to locate the watch.

Houghton Youth Is Booked For Check Forgery

A Haughton youth was booked for forgery yesterday and a Negro woman for theft by Monroe police.

Sam Edward Smith, 19, was booked for forgery on two counts and transferred to the parish jail. According to Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr., Smith forged names of local persons to two checks and attempted to pass them off to local businesses. One was for $35 and one for $30.

Annie Bee Wilson, 35 of 107 Coleman Street, West Monroe, was taken into custody at a local grocery store and booked for theft.

A cashier at the store called police and reports showed that the Wilson woman was charged with the theft of $7.91 worth of meat.

G. W. Harrison

OAK GROVE (Special) — Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. for George W. Harrison, 94, who died early Saturday morning in a local clinic after an illness of one and one half weeks.

The Rev. O. E. Garner, pastor of the Lanes Ferry Baptist Church, will officiate at the services to be held at the Lanes Ferry Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Oak Grove Cemetery under the direction of Kidder Cox Funeral Home of Oak Grove.

He is survived by four sons, Doc Harrison, Hazelhurst, Miss., Pete and Kelly Harrison, both of Oak Grove, and Charles Brewer, Oak Grove; nine daughters, Mrs. D. L. Berry, Pinola, Miss., Mrs. Mamie Odom, Hazelhurst, Miss., Mrs. Lissie Postel, Epps, Mrs. Mildred Gunter, Mrs. Louise Phillips, Mrs. Marie Smith and Mrs. Dollie Hales, all of Oak Grove, Mrs. Carrie Robertson, Lake Providence, and Mrs. Verna Labranch, Jackson, Miss.; 56 grandchildren, 104 great grandchildren and 5 great great grandchildren.

Grandsons will act as pallbearers.

Police War On Algerian Terrorists

PARIS (UPI) — A wave of Algerian-inspired terrorism sweeping France took two more lives Saturday despite raids by thousands of police who arrested 130 suspected French and Algerian extremists.

An Algerian was killed and two others seriously wounded by pistol shots at Lyons in east central France when a rival Algerian fired on a group in a downtown street. At Maubeuge, east of Paris, police found the strangled body of a 56-year-old Algerian floating in a canal.

The new violence was reported as Algiers settlers issued a "call to arms" for formation of an anti-government underground army to prevent Algeria being turned over to the Moslems through a peace settlement.

Some 6,000 police searched houses, checked identity papers and hauled suspects off the streets for questioning in a massive campaign to halt a wave of terrorist violence that has rocked France for more than a week.

Police sources said at least 80 persons had been arrested for questioning in the Paris area and about 50 in provincial cities. One of those arrested, and later released, was Guy Forzy, former aide to right-wing settlers' revolt leader Pierre Lagaillarde, now a fugutive in Spain.

Saturday's crackdown was directed at known extreme right-wing sympathizers of the "French Algeria" cause who have been blamed for a series of bomb attacks. One of the attacks killed the mayor of Evian, France, and another wrecked a corner of the Paris stock exchange.

Chatham Man Succumbs; Rites Sceduled Today

J. W. Fookes, 78, of Chatham, route one, died early Saturday in St. Francis Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

He was a retired sawmill worker, and a native of Erie, Tex. He came to Chatham about 35 years ago from Arkansas.

Funeral Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church near Chatham, with the Revs. Falcon Hearne and C. K. Brooks officiating.

Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Church Cemetery, under direction of Edmonds Funeral Home of Jonesboro.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annie Fookes of Chatham; two sons, Alton Fookes, West Monroe; Karl Fookes, Alexandria; two daughters, Mrs. G. H. Head, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Karl Gailion, Pasadina, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. G. H. Story, Calvert City, Ky.; Mrs. Myrtle Edwards, Clovis, Calif.; two brothers, T. E. Fookes, Henrietta, Texas; Melvin Fookes, Colinsville, Texas, three grandchildren.

Spring Snow Storm Hits Six States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A spring snowstorm broke out of the Rockies Saturday and buried up to 10 inches of snow across half a dozen states from New Mexico to the Dakotas. Deep drifts, a dust storm and fog plagued motorists.

The wind-powered storm buried some mountain sections of western Wyoming and Colorado under a foot and a half of drifting snow Friday night before spilling into the plains.

Gusts from 40 to 65 miles an hour menaced highway travel and heaped the out-of-season snowfall into paralyzing drifts.

Preceding the snow in western Texas, a blinding dust storm, packing winds up to 50 miles an hour, churned into the Big Spring area at midday. It reduced visibility to a tenth of a mile and forced motorists to drive with headlights.

Severe thunderstorm and tornado warnings were in effect for portions of Oklahoma and Texas, on the southern fringe of the snow area.

Ham Operators To Meet Thursday

The Ouachita Valley Amateur Radio Club will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the civil defense building at 400 Stone Ave. in Monroe according to Jack Phillips, president.

All Ham operators are urged to attend this "emergency" meeting.

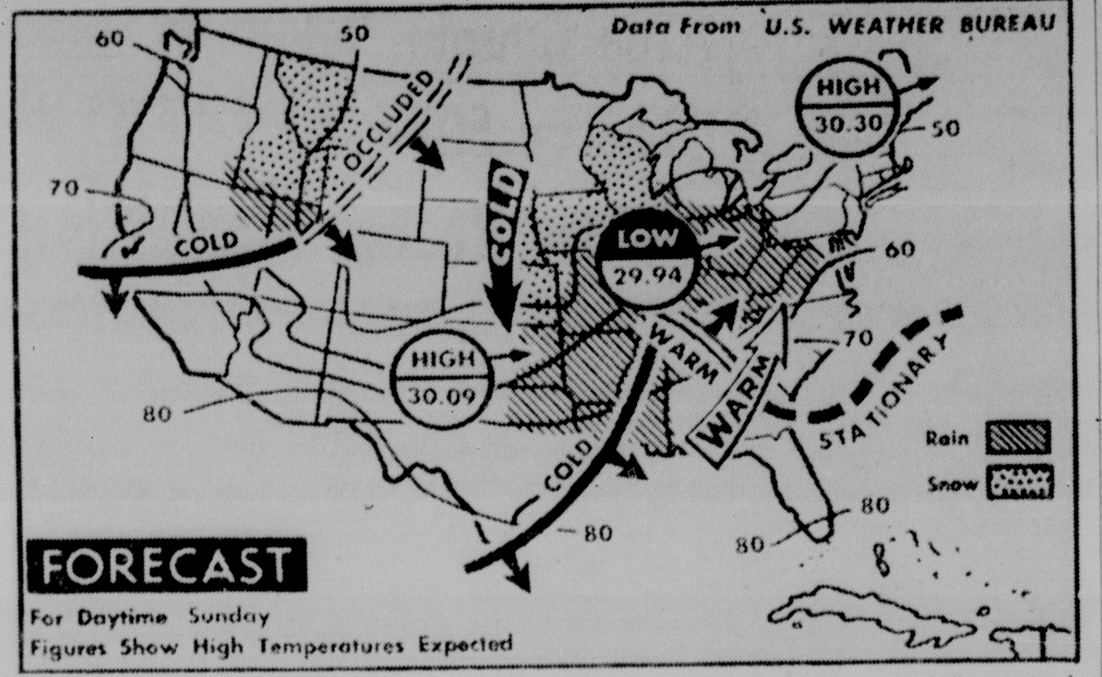
Annie Bee Wilson, 35 of 107 Coleman Street, West Monroe, was taken into custody at a local grocery store and booked for theft.

A cashier at the store called police and reports showed that the Wilson woman was charged with the theft of $7.91 worth of meat.



SNOW is expected Sunday in central Plains, western Great Lakes and in northern Rockies. Rain is due in Ohio valley, lower and middle Mississippi valley, Gulf coast states and in central Rockies. It will be warmer in Atlantic coast states and colder in Rocky Mountain states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Red Chinese Stall Laos Cease-Fire

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China was reported Saturday to have stalled an immediate cease fire in Laos by insisting that the United States halt its aid before the warring factions lay down their arms.

Another snag was reflected in a Soviet Tass news agency dispatch quoting Laotian rebel paratroop Capt. Kong Le as demanding a dominant role for neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The Communist-backed Souvanna fled into extile last December when pro-Western Prince Boun Oum took over the government.

Both British and American diplomatic sources had predicted Britain and Russia would call a cease fire by the end of the week and an agreement was reported all but in the bag.

British officials said they remained hopeful and expected a reply at "any moment" from the Kremlin on arrangements to call a cease fire, reactivate a three-power control commission to supervise the truce and then call a 14-nation conference to plan Laos' future.

The Russians have consulted with Peiping throughout the negotiations and diplomatic sources said there were indications Saturday the Chinese had been stalling.

Red China's hand showed in broadcasts which prominently quoted demands by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas that a Laos cease fire must be pre-
the halting of all Am debye-rC ceded by the halting of all American aid to the Laotian government of Prince Boun Oum.

Peiping cited three further conditions. It demanded the international conference be convened immediately. It demanded that Souvanna—and not pro-Western Premier Prince Boun—sponsor such a conference. It demanded the Pathet Lao's political arm participate in the conference.

Moscow, presumably under this pressure, has itself raised complaints against a U. S. helicopter air lift in Laos. Friday night it called it a "new United States militarist venture." But whether it was just stalling or something more sinister was not immediately known.

Police War On Algerian Terrorists

PARIS (UPI) — A wave of Algeria-inspired terrorism sweeping France took two more lives Saturday despite raids by thousands of police who arrested 130 suspected French and Algerian extremists.

An Algerian was killed and two others seriously wounded by pistol shots at Lyons in east central France when a rival Algerian fired on a group in a downtown street. At Maubeuge, east of Paris, police found the strangled body of a 56-year-old Algerian floating in a canal.

The new violence was reported as Algiers settlers issued a "call to arms" for formation of an anti-government underground army to prevent Algeria being turned over to the Moslems through a peace settlement.

Some 6,000 police searched houses, checked identity papers and hauled suspects off the streets for questioning in a massive campaign to halt a wave of terrorist violence that has rocked France for more than a week.

Police sources said at least 80 persons had been arrested for questioning in the Paris area and about 50 in provincial cities. One of those arrested, and later released, was Guy Forzy, former aide to right-wing settlers' revolt leader Pierre Lagaillarde, now a fugutive in Spain.

Saturday's crackdown was directed at known extreme right-wing sympathizers of the "French Algeria" cause who have been blamed for a series of bomb attacks. One of the attacks killed the mayor of Evian, France, and another wrecked a corner of the Paris stock exchange.

Chatham Man Succumbs; Rites Sceduled Today

J .W. Fookes, 78, of Chatham, route one, died early Saturday in St. Francis Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

He was a retired sawmill worker, and a native of Erie, Tex. He came to Chatham about 35 years ago from Arkansas.

Funeral Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church near Chatham, with the Revs. Falcon Hearne and C. K. Brooks officiating.

Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Church Cemetery, under direction of Edmonds Funeral Home of Jonesboro.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annie Fookes of Chatham; two sons, Alton Fookes, West Monroe; Karl Fookes, Alexandria; two daughters, Mrs. G. H. Head, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Karl Gailion, Pasadina, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. G. H. Story, Calvert City, Ky.; Mrs. Myrtle Edwards, Clovis, Calif.; two brothers, T. E. Fookes, Henrietta, Texas; Melvin Fookes, Colinsville, Texas, three grandchildren.

3 Winnsboro Negroes Held For Thefts

WINNSBORO (Special) —Three Winnsboro Negroes were in the Franklin Parish jail last night charged with theft and with bonds set at $500 each after they admitted a series of thefts during the past 18 months.

The investigation was started when a Negro girl brought a radio to Ship Electric Co. here for repair Friday.

The radio was recognized as one stolen from the company a month ago.

George Washington, 17, admitted to the Franklin Parish sheriff's department that he had taken the radio valued at $50. A .38 caliber S&W revolver valued at $60 was recovered from Billy Rose, 20, who admitted taking it from the car of Jesse Peyton.

The sheriff's department also recovered from G. W. Williams, 20, a radio which he admitted taking from a local drug store, a fishing reel stolen from another store and baseball gloves taken from a local sporting goods store.

The entire value of these goods was $50.

Spring Snow Storm Hits Six States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A spring snowstorm broke out of the Rockies Saturday and hurled up to 10 inches of snow across half a dozen states from New Mexico to the Dakotas. Deep drifts, a dust storm and fog plagued motorists.

The wind-powered storm buried some mountain sections of western Wyoming and Colorado under a foot and a half of drifting snow Friday night before spilling into the plains.

Gusts from 40 to 65 miles an hour menaced highway travel and heaped the out-of-season snowfall into paralyzing drifts.

Preceding the snow in western Texas, a blinding dust storm, packing winds up to 50 miles an hour, churned into the Big Spring area at midday. It reduced visibility to a tenth of a mile and forced motorists to drive with headlights.

Severe thunderstorm and tornado warnings were in effect for portions of Oklahoma and Texas, on the southern fringe of the snow area.

Ham Operators To Meet Thursday

Gore Suggests Showdown On Nuclear Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Albert Gore, congressional adviser to U. S. negotiators, disclosed Saturday that he has suggested President Kennedy press for a showdown on Soviet veto demands before prolonging the marathon talks on nuclear testing.

The Tennessee Democrat returned from the Geneva test-ban conference Friday. In talks with newsmen Saturday and in a short statement summarizing his views, Gore said the conference "has taken a decidedly discouraging turn."

The senator sat in on the negotiations as a member of the U. S. delegation.

He accused Russian delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin of going back on a previous agreement by insisting on an inspection veto when the conference resumed last month.

'Greek Week' Is Scheduled At Northeast

Greek social sororities and fraternities will be featured at Northeast Louisiana State College during the coming week.

Activities of Greek Week opened last night with a banquet in Gunby Dining Hall on campus, and other social affairs will be held daily through Friday with exception of today.

The program is the first of its kind to be initiated at Northeast.

Sponsors of the organizations are Miss Frances Baldwin of the chemistry faculty; Miss Alma Lufcy, counselor to women; and Dr. Fred J. Vogel, dean of Student Services.

In addition to council presidents, other student leaders who are playing responsible roles in Greek Week are: Betty Mantrozos, Esta Ford, Johnnie James, Cole, Robert Vance and Joe Dimaggio, who assisted with banquet preparations and is working with Miss Mantrozos in handling publicity.

Last night's banquet was planned for members of social sororities and fraternities at Northeast, alumni and members of Greek social organizations which do not have chapters on the campus.

The week's schedule includes Monday's informal party in the Panhellenic House for all social Greek women on campus. The time is from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Wednesday will feature open house from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Panhellenic House for all women students. Thursday will emphasize open house in the Student Center for all men students. Both social affairs are planned for persons who are not affliated with Greek social organizations as well as for those who hold membership.

Friday night's songfest in the recital room of Biedenharn Hall will find sororities and fraternities competing for awards. Prizes will be given for first and second places in the performance, which opens at 7 p.m.

Scott Opposes Communists In Laos Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., Saturday night joined top-rank congressional Republicans condemning any settlement that would put Communists in the government of Laos.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has called the expression of such views "harassment" of the Kennedy administration in its handling of a delicate international crisis.

But Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois defended as "restrained" the criticisms GOP leaders have voiced.

ANALYZE NIXON'S LOSS

GOP Says 1964 Prospects Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Committee researchers said Saturday the most obvious and dramatic switch away from the GOP in the 1960 presidential election was among Catholic voters.

Party statisticians, reporting on a detailed analysis of the 1960 returns, said approximately 50 per cent of Catholic voters cast ballots for Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956. But, they said, probably less than 25 per cent voted last November for Richard M. Nixon.

A fair estimate, they said, would be that President Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to be elected president, received six million more Catholic votes than did Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956. The total Democratic presidential vote increased by eight million.

"Anti-Catholicism certainly cost Kennedy large number of votes," the report said. "But it probably cut most deeply in states that are not among the giants in the electoral college and in one-party states in which a Democratic candidate can suffer a substantial vote loss without losing the state."

The report added that if many Catholics voted for Kennedy in order to end a custom which seemed to bar one of their faith from the highest office in the land, their action was understandable.

"Now that the barrier has been removed," the report continued, "we can expect that a false issue has been eliminated from the political arena..."

The report said the greatest Republican decline in the overall vote was in the big cities and their suburbs, particularly in the Northeastern section.

The report noted also that the GOP vote percentage declined among Negroes and Jews and apparently fell compared with 1956 among nationality groups.

But it said Republican chances to win back the White House in 1964 are good because any party which receives more than 49 per cent of the presidential vote and increases its strength in Congress and in state legislatures has not had a severe defeat.

So close was the vote, the report said, that under the proposed Mundt-Coudert electoral system the Nixon-Lodge ticket would have won. This system would give each state two at-large electors and one elector for each congressional district.

The report said Nixon carrier 223 or a majority of the nation's congressional districts, Kennedy won 206 while unpledged electors in Mississippi had three. It figured that under the Mundt-Coudert plan Nixon would have received 280 electoral votes, Kennedy 252, and electors pledged to Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., 5.

Conceding there are "ominous indications of continued or aggravated Republican weakness," the report said the 1960 returns turned up encouraging signs and the 1964 outlook is far from bad.

It said for example that in nine states carried by Kennedy, Nixon received 49 per cent of the vote. These nine states (Hawaii, Illinois, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Minnesota, Delaware, Michigan, Texas) will have an electoral vote of 122 in 1964. If the party's 1964 candidate takes these and holds the 26 states Nixon carried, he'd win with 351 electoral votes.

The report said the Republicans have no chance of winning control of the Senate in 1962, but will have their best opportunity in recent years to do this in 1964. It made no estimate of House chances in '62 or '64.

Walker Elected Vice President Of Association

Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast Louisiana State College, was elected first vice president of the Southwestern Social Science Association during its annual convention held in Dallas last week.

In 1959-60 Dr. Walker held the office of second vice president of the Association and from 1949-52 he was secretary - treasurer.

Dr. Leon C. Megginson of Louisiana State University was elected president of the group.

Also representing Northeast State College at the convention were Dr. William R. Hammond, dean of liberal arts, and Wilbur L. Perkins, head, division of business administration. Several faculty members from these departments also attended.

Membership in the S.S.S.A. is open to all persons interested in the social problems of particular significance to the Southwestern States. The majority of the members are drawn from Arkansas, Colordo, Louisiana, Kansas, Missouri, Mississippi, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Antitrust Probe Is Scheduled By Kefauver Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said Saturday he will try to learn whether antitrust conspiracies among electrical manufacturing firms "went higher up in the corporate hierarchy" than those punished.

Kefauver announced officials of four of the giant corporations involved in the conspiracies will be questioned in the first two days of hearings starting Thursday before his Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

All of the 11 witnesses, he said, are or were officials of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Ingersoll-Rand Co., the Carrier Corp., and General Electric Co. None of the 11 was a defendant in any of the conspiracy cases.

The over-all announced objective of the inquiry is to determine whether the antitrust laws need strengthening.

Progress Of I-20 Cited By Burgess

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Louisiana Highway Director Ray W. Burgess has announced that two separate bids will be received April 26 for construction of a segment of new Interstate-20 between Ada and Arcadia in Bienville Parish.

Burgess pointed out that one of the segments begins at the west end of the US 80 Interchange near Ada, then east a distance of 6.7 miles to the east end of the State Rouge 154 Interchance at Gibsland.

He added the second portion begins at the east end of the State Route 154 Interchange at Gibsland and continues east a distance of 6.3 miles to the east and of the State Route 9 Interchange, approximately one mile northwest of Arcadia.

Plans on the Ada-Gibsland project call for grading, drainage structures, two overpasses with a 28-foot clear roadway, one overpass with a 24-foot clear roadway, one grade separation with a 28-foot clear roadway and concrete pavement 24 feet wide. Time of construction has been set at 27 months.

Burgess emphasized that these projects, in addition to providing overpasses on local roads leading into Gibsland and Arcadia, also incorporate interchanges which will provide ready access or exit from these local communities.

On the Gibsland - Arcadia segment, plans call for grading, drainage structures, one overpass with a 28-foot clear roadway, one overpass with a 24-foot clear roadway and concrete pavement 24 feet wide. Time of construction is estimated at 24 months.

Burgess said this was another step in the construction of Interstate-20, which will eventually stretch from Mississippi to the Texas border. Already completed is the I-20 segment from McIntyre to Ada.

The highway director pointed out that a four-lane highway now extends from Bossier City to Minden, but is not a part of the Interstate. However, this highway will serve traffic needs until money is made available to finish the Interstate in that section outside Shreveport.

To the east, Burgess said that I-20 from Arcadia to Ruston is under construction and the section from Ruston to Calhoun is almost complete. On April 4, two contracts for $2,535,255 and $2,286,008 were awarded to the Louisiana Paving Company of Ruston for construction of Interstate-20 from Calhoun to the west limits of Monroe.

Burgess emphasized that in no case will the new Interstate Highway use an existing roadway since none are up to the high design standards required for the superhighway. However, he reminded that U.S. 80, which traverses the northern part of the state, will still serve a vital traffic need even after the giant Interstate Program is completed.

The director pointed out that superhighways, constructed to the highest engineering standards, will greatly speed up traffic, eliminate costly and time - consuming delays and drastically cut down on the present high fatality and accident rate.

Long To Oppose Any Increases In Gas Taxation

BATON ROUGE (Special) — U. S. Senator Russell B. Long said here Saturday that He is opposed to any further tax increases that would directly affect Louisiana motorists.

The senator said that he supports the view that the federal gasoline tax should expire this June 30th as promised by Congress in 1959. This gasoline tax reduction would save Louisiana motorists $9.5 million a year.

The occasion for Senator Long's remarks was a meeting with Baton Rouge business leaders prior to his return to Washington.

"My position on motorists taxes was made clear in 1959," Long said, "when I advocated that all gasoline tax revenue and automotive excise taxes be placed in the Highway Trust Fund to finance the Road Building Program. If this was done, there would be plenty of money for the highways and the additional penny federal tax would not be needed."

Presently, some $1.5 Billion a year in automotive excise taxes is diverted to the General Fund of the Treasury.

Burgess said this was another step in the construction of Interstate-20, which will eventually stretch from Mississippi to the Texas border. Already completed is the I-20 segment from McIntyre to Ada.

The highway director pointed out that a four-lane highway now extends from Bossier City to Minden, but is not a part of the Interstate. However, this highway will serve traffic needs until money is made available to finish the Interstate in that section outside Shreveport.

To the east, Burgess said that I-20 from Arcadia to Ruston is under construction and the section from Ruston to Calhoun is almost complete. On April 4, two contracts for $2,535,255 and $2,286,008 were awarded to the Louisiana Paving Company of Ruston for construction of Interstate-20 from Calhoun to the west limits of Monroe.

Burgess emphasized that in no case will the new Interstate Highway use an existing roadway since none are up to the high design standards required for the superhighway. However, he reminded that U.S. 80, which traverses the northern part of the state, will still serve a vital traffic need even after the giant Interstate Program is completed.

The director pointed out that superhighways, constructed to the highest engineering standards, will greatly speed up traffic, eliminate costly and time - consuming delays and drastically cut down on the present high fatality and accident rate.

Long To Oppose Any Increases In Gas Taxation

BATON ROUGE (Special) — U. S. Senator Russell B. Long said here Saturday that He is opposed to any further tax increases that would directly affect Louisiana motorists.

The senator said that he supports the view that the federal gasoline tax should expire this June 30th as promised by Congress in 1959. This gasoline tax reduction would save Louisiana motorists $9.5 million a year.

The occasion for Senator Long's remarks was a meeting with Baton Rouge business leaders prior to his return to Washington.

"My position on motorists taxes was made clear in 1959," Long said, "when I advocated that all gasoline tax revenue and automotive excise taxes be placed in the Highway Trust Fund to finance the Road Building Program. If this was done, there would be plenty of money for the highways and the additional penny federal tax would not be needed."

Presently, some $1.5 Billion a year in automotive excise taxes is diverted to the General Fund of the Treasury.

PREFER SHORT PANTS

OTTAWA (AP) — Most Boy Scouts interviewed here and in Edmonton are against a proposal to replace their short scout pants with long slacks.

LEAVING FOR Waco, Texas next Thursday will be Mr. and Mrs. James K. Neyland, and their two daughters, Cheryl Ann and Debra Rae. Neyland will assume new duties as minister of education at the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco next Sunday after serving four years in a similar post at the First Baptist Church of West Monroe.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: What is purity of Heart? I hear much about this in the church I attend, but in a world like we live in, I can hardly conceive of of an absolute "pure heart."
O.W.

ANSWER: I am glad that our church is concerned about making men's hearts pure. I wish more people were interested in "interior decorating," rather than the frivolous and transient things of life. Civilization as we know it is declining partially because we are losing our [illegible] for spiritual and moral values.

Purity of heart is something that God can accomplish. The Bible says: "If we confess our sins unto Him, he is faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." God not only forgives our sins, but through Christ He gives us a new nature. As Paul said: "Old things are passed away, and all things are become new." Purity of heart is a miracle of God. You are right when you say you can't conceive of it in a world like we live in — this is an "other-world" experience. It is the kingdom of heaven descending to earth. It is "Christ in you, the hope of glory."

You would do well to listen carefully to what your minister has to say about purity of heart, because all of us were born with impure heart. "All have sinned," declares the Scriptures, but in Christ we have forgiveness and cleansing. His grace prepares us to live in a pure place, with redeemed, pure people, forever.

Seminary Sets Commencement Program Plans

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — The 43rd annual commencement program at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary will be held Thursday and Friday, May 18-19, with two major addresses scheduled.

Dr. Chester L. Quarles, Jackson, Miss., executive secretary of the Mississippi Baptist Convention, will deliver the commencement address Friday (May 19) at 10 a.m. in the Seminary chapel.

Alumni Day exercises will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Chapel with the Rev. George C. Capps, pastor of the First Baptist church, Parsons, Tenn., delivering the featured address.

Dr. H. Leo Eddleman, president of the Seminary, will deliver the degrees and awards to the 137 graduates.

Paron Baptist Church Revival Starts Thursday

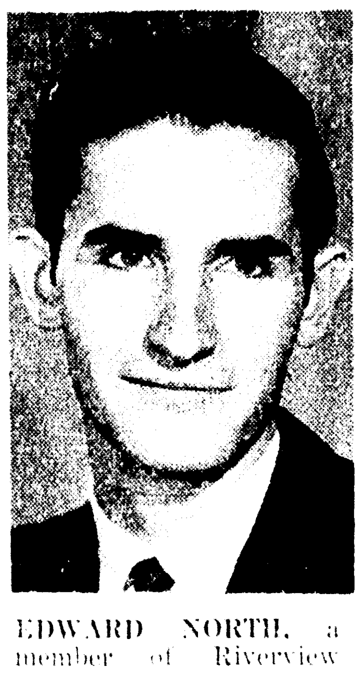
Revival services scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Paron Baptist Church, 1½ miles north of Sterlington on Highway 2, will continue nightly through Saturday.

Evangelist will be the pastor of the church, the Rev. Wayne Gentry. Singer will be Bill Barrs of Springfield, Mo. Kay Harris will play the marimba.

Revival Starts Here Tonight

The Victory Baptist Church, located at the corner of Pecan and South 10th St., Monroe, will launch a revival series today which will run through next Saturday.

Services will be held nightly at 7:30, with the church pastor, the Rev. Estus Pirkle as speaker. Jimmy McGough will lead the singing.



EDWARD NORTH, a member of Riverview Baptist Church of West Monroe, will deliver the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. messages there today, following which he will be licensed to practice the ministry. He is a graduate of West Monroe High School and attended Northeast State College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul North of West Monroe.

Lutheran Clergy Missouri Synod Set Annual Meet

The Louisiana clergy of the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod will meet in annual conference at Percy Quin State Park, McComb, Mississippi, Monday through Thursday.

The major paper of the conference "The Educational Function of the Church in a Changing World," will be delivered by Dr. Donald Deffner, professor at Concorida Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, and member of Synod's Board for Parish Education.

Dr. Sigfred Matson, head of the Music Department of Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus, Mississippi, will deliver the minor conference paper on "Music in the Church."

The Rev. O. H. Rinboth, executive secretary of the Southern District of the Luthern Church — Missouri Synod, will speak to the conference on the "Doctrine of Prayer." Chairman of the Louisiana Pastoral Conference is the Rev. Norman Gardels, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, New Orleans. Vice chairman is the Rev. Albert Lehenbauer, pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church, New Orleans.

Church Leaders Will Meet For Strategy Talks

A top-level strategy consultation on the direction of Methodist work in Africa will be held in one of two major African cities May 8-16, involving 75 Methodist leaders from North America, South America, Europe, Africa and Asia. The place will be either Elisabethville, in Katanga or Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia.

The consultation on the life and work of the church in Africa will bring together 10 members and staff executives of the Methodist Board of Missions from the United States, 12 Methodist clerical and lay leaders from Europe, Asia and Latin America, and 44 Methodist leaders from Africa including the four Methodist bishops with episcopal responsibilities on the continent.

The leaders from outside the United States will counsel with the Board of Missions members and executives regarding future policies and action in the light of the rapidly changing situation in various parts of Africa.

Adult Sunday School Study Meet Planned

The adult Sunday school institute planned in Shreveport, Monday through Wednesday, will attract workers from throughout Louisiana and from Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi.

Announcement of the meeting which will be held at Queensborough Baptist church, Shreveport, under the joint sponsorship of the Sunday School Departments of the Louisiana and Southern Baptist Conventions, Caddo association Sunday school and Queensborough Baptist church, came from Rev. J. L. Pollard, state sunday school secretary.

LEADERS

Among leaders to be featured at the meeting are John T. Sisemore, superintendent of adult work, the Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Sisemore of the Nashville office; W. R. White, president of Baylor University; R. A. Proctor Jr., Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville; Rev. Pollard; James Chatham, associate in the state Sunday school office; and Melvin A. Bradley, minister of education, First Baptist church, Baton Rouge.

First of its kind to be held in Louisiana, the institute will be attended by adult superintendents and department officers, adult superintendents, Charles Vermillion association superintendent, said.

The meeting which includes Bible study, inspirational sessions and workshops will be of practical value to both Sunday school work and those who attend Sunday school, Vermillion said.

"We must reach adults today or regret it tomorrow," Rev. Pollard declared. "Adults shape the attitudes, create the spiritual to determine the policies and chart the destiny of the church."

Religious Events To Be Presented In Ruston Area

RUSTON (Special) — Plans to bring two religious programs to Ruston have been completed by the Ruston Presbyterian church, the Rev. J. W. Lipscomb, pastor, said.

Religious drama will be introduced in the program of the church as the play, "Christ in the Concrete City" will be presented on April 16 by a cast from the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Shreveport.

Three members of the cast are former residents of Ruston. They are Miss Mary Moore, Miss Grace Reno and Ted Haynes.

On April 19, the Belhaven College Chorale will be brought to Ruston for a concert of sacred music. The organization has achieved wide recognition in its annual concert tours and also in its work with the New Orleans Symphony in presenting the Music Festival of the South in Jackson, Mississippi. Robert DeVos is director.

Missouri Team Of Evangelists To Appear Here

Missouri Evangelist Bob and Jeri Winford will conduct a ministry of Bible preaching and child evangelism, music and singing starting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Central Assembly of God Church, Hall at Calypso.

The series will continue nightly through April 23.

LEAVING FOR Waco, Texas next Thursday will be Mr. and Mrs. James K. Neyland, and their two daughters, Cheryl Ann and Debra Rae. Neyland will assume new duties as minister of education at the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco next Sunday after serving four years in a similar post at the First Baptist Church of West Monroe.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: What is purity of Heart? I hear much about this in the church I attend, but in a world like we live in, I can hardly conceive of an absolute "pure heart." O.W.

ANSWER: I am glad that our church is concerned about making men's hearts pure. I wish more people were interested in "interior decorating," rather than the frivolous and transient things of life. Civilization as we know it is declining partially because we are losing our appreciation for spiritual and moral values.

Purity of heart is something that God can accomplish. The Bible says: "If we confess our sins unto Him, he is faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." God not only forgives our sins, but through Christ He gives us a new nature. As Paul said: "Old things are passed away, and all things are become new." Purity of heart is a miracle of God. You are right when you say you can't conceive of it in a world like we live in — this is an "otherworld" experience. It is the kingdom of heaven descending to earth. It is "Christ in you, the hope of glory."

You would do well to listen carefully to what your minister has to say about purity of heart, because all of us were born with impure heart. "All have sinned," declares the Scriptures, but in Christ we have forgiveness and cleansing. His grace prepares us to live in a pure place, with redeemed, pure people, forever.

Seminary Sets Commencement Program Plans

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — The 43rd annual commencement program at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary will be held Thursday and Friday, May 18-19, with two major addresses scheduled.

Dr. Chester L. Quarles, Jackson, Miss., executive secretary of the Mississippi Baptist Convention, will deliver the commencement address Friday (May 19) at 10 a.m. in the Seminary chapel.

Alumni Day exercises will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Chapel with the Rev. George C. Capps, pastor of the First Baptist church, Parsons, Tenn., delivering the featured address.

Dr. H. Leo Eddleman, president of the Seminary, will deliver the degrees and awards to the 137 graduates.

Paron Baptist Church Revival Starts Thursday

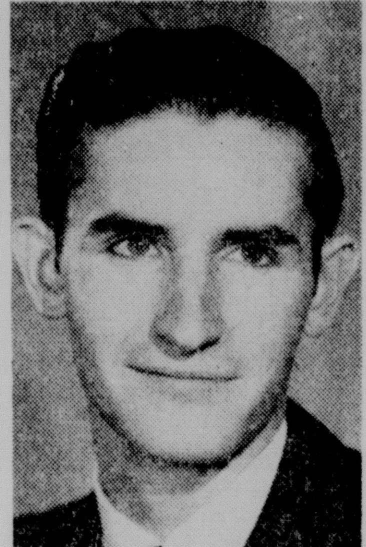
Revival services scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Paron Baptist Church, 1½ miles north of Sterlington on Highway 2, will continue nightly through Saturday.

Evangelist will be the pastor of the church, the Rev. Wayne Gentry. Singer will be Bill Barrs of Springfield, Mo. Kay Harris will play the marimba.

Revival Starts Here Tonight

The Victory Baptist Church, located at the corner of Pecan and South 10th St., Monroe, will launch a revival series today which will run through next Saturday.

Services will be held nightly at 7:30, with the church pastor, the Rev. Estus Pirkle as speaker. Jimmy McGough will lead the singing.



EDWARD NORTH, a member of Riverview Baptist Church of West Monroe, will deliver the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. messages there today, following which he will be licensed to practice the ministry. He is a graduate of West Monroe High School and attended Northeast State College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul North of West Monroe.

Lutheran Clergy Missouri Synod Set Annual Meet

The Louisiana clergy of the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod will meet in annual conference at Percy Quin State Park, McComb, Mississippi, Monday through Thursday.

The major paper of the conference "The Educational Function of the Church in a Changing World," will be delivered by Dr. Donald Deffner, professor at Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, and member of Synod's Board for Parish Education.

Dr. Sigfred Matson, head of the Music Department of Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus, Mississippi, will deliver the minor conference paper on "Music in the Church."

The Rev. O. H. Riboth, executive secretary of the Southern District of the Luthern Church — Missouri Synod, will speak to the conference on the "Doctrine of Prayer." Chairman of the Louisiana Pastoral Conference is the Rev. Norman Gardels, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, New Orleans. Vice chairman is the Rev. Albert Lehenbauer, pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church, New Orleans.

Church Leaders Will Meet For Strategy Talks

A top-level strategy consultation on the direction of Methodist work in Africa will be held in one of two major African cities May 8-16, involving 75 Methodist leaders from North America, South America, Europe, Africa and Asia. The place will be either Elisabethville, in Katanga or Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia.

The consultation on the life and work of the church in Africa will bring together 10 members and staff executives of the Methodist Board of Missions from the United States, 12 Methodist clerical and lay leaders from Europe, Asia and Latin America, and 44 Methodist leaders from Africa including the four Methodist bishops with episcopal responsibilities on the continent.

The leaders from outside the United States will counsel with the Board of Missions members and executives regarding future policies and action in the light of the rapidly changing situation in various parts of Africa.

Adult Sunday School Study Meet Planned

The adult Sunday school institute planned in Shreveport, Monday through Wednesday, will attract workers from throughout Louisiana and from Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi.

Announcement of the meeting which will be held at Queensborough Baptist church, Shreveport, under the joint sponsorship of the Sunday School Departments of the Louisiana and Southern Baptist Conventions, Caddo association Sunday school and Queensborough Baptist church, came from Rev. J. L. Pollard, state Sunday school secretary.

LEADERS

Among leaders to be featured at the meeting are John T. Sisemore, superintendent of adult work, the Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Sisemore of the Nashville office; W. R. White, president of Baylor University; R. A. Proctor Jr., Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville; Rev. Pollard; James Chatham, associate in the state Sunday school office; and Melvin A. Bradley, minister of education, First Baptist church, Baton Rouge.

First of its kind to be held in Louisiana, the institute will be attended by adult superintendents and department officers, adult superintendents, Charles Vermillion association superintendent, said.

The meeting which includes Bible study, inspirational sessions and workshops will be of practical value to both Sunday school work and those who attend Sunday school, Vermillion said.

"We must reach adults today or regret it tomorrow," Rev. Pollard declared. "Adults shape the attitudes, create the spiritual to determine the policies and chart the destiny of the church."

Religious Events To Be Presented In Ruston Area

RUSTON (Special) — Plans to bring two religious programs to Ruston have been completed by the Ruston Presbyterian church, the Rev. J. W. Lipscomb, pastor, said.

Religious drama will be introduced in the program of the church as the play, "Christ in the Concrete City" will be presented on April 16 by a cast from the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Shreveport.

Three members of the cast are former residents of Ruston. They are Miss Mary Moore, Miss Grace Reno and Ted Haynes.

On April 19, the Belhaven College Chorale will be brought to Ruston for a concert of sacred music. The organization has achieved wide recognition in its annual concert tours and also in its work with the New Orleans Symphony in presenting the Music Festival of the South in Jackson, Mississippi. Robert DeVos is director.

Missouri Team Of Evangelists To Appear Here

Missouri Evangelist Bob and Jeri Winford will conduct a ministry of Bible preaching and child evangelism, music and singing starting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Central Assembly of God Church, Hall at Calypso.

ON HIGHER EDUCATION

Alumni Head Asks Planned Approach

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The president of the LSU Alumni Federation, today called for a planned approach to development of higher education in Louisiana before competition among institutions and geographic areas of the state "waters down to mediocrity" the entire higher education program.

Alumni President I. J. Becnel of Metairie, in an article appearing in the April issue of LSU "Alumni News," urged a "second look" at the five - volume report completed by the Louisiana Commission on Higher Education in 1956, for which the state spent approximately $250,000. The report, two years in preparation, was intended for use in developing a sound program for higher education through 1970.

The report (called the Brumbaugh Report) cited lack of coordination of programs and activities as the greatest operating deficiency in the state's system of higher education, the alumni president said.

According to the report, "state-supported institutions have tended to disregard the fact that they are elements of a statewide system of higher education. Competition has resulted in a wasteful and unnecessary duplication of effort."

Citing the "battle" among various geographic areas for funds and additional programs, Becnel said, "we must place more emphasis on specific programs at individual institutions rather than trying to give all the institutions enough funds to have a smattering of all curricula."

"The challenge is placed upon the Legislature to confer with those responsible for the total educational program before making changes or additions to our colleges and universities," the alumni president said. "However, since . . direct legislative action does occur frequently in higher education, a second challenge rests on the shoulders of the LSU Board of Supervisors and the State Board of Education to exert stronger leadership in developing a coordinated plan for higher education."

Becnel pointed out that the Commission's report indicated Louisiana's need for two additional four - year undergraduate institutions in the New Orleans metropolitan area (one for white, one for Negroes), but no other state-supported institutions would be needed through 1970.

However, not only have the two recommended schools been added, Becnel said, but Francis T. Nicholls Junior College (Thibodaux) was made a four-year college in 1956 and LSU at Alexandria was commissioned as a two - year branch of LSU last September.

The Commission's report also recommended many changes in course offerings by the various institutions over the state.

Northeast ROTC Inspection Set For Thursday

The examining team from Fourth Army headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas will be headed by Col. William J. Stover, chief of the ROTC Division, Reserve Forces Section. He will be assisted by Maj. Chester R. Metzke and Maj. Harry F. Sanborn.

Following conferences with Colonel Longfellow and the college president, Dr. George T. Walker, the inspecting officers will observe ROTC classes and examine work done by the administrative department, including records, tests, training program and other procedures used in the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

The afternoon agenda will emphasize inspection of the battle group on the drill field in the area of the residence halls, followed by a review at Brown Stadium. The inspection is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. and the review at 2 p.m.

Featured at 3:30 p.m. will be a retreat ceremony in front of Brown Hall on the campus.

The Northeast ROTC unit will be rated on the basis of the general examination by the Fourth Army team.

Conelrad Drill Slated April 28 Throughout U.S.

A nation - wide Conelrad Drill will be held Friday, April 28 from 3:30 p.m., it was announced Saturday by the office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

During this period all radio and television stations will go off the air except the NEDA (National Emergency Defense Allocation) stations which will automatically switch to 1240 KC. All Monroe stations are on this frequency allocation and will participate.

At the request of the National Civil Defense Organization, the Columbia Broadcasting System will televise a closed circuit briefing program. A closed circuit program will not be broadcast to the general public but instead will be viewed from the studios of KNOE-TV. This program is being produced for all local and area Civil Defense Personnel on Monday, April 10 at 4 p.m. and again on Thursday, April 13 at 5 p.m.

Ray Bond, Chairman of the State Industrial Advisory Committee for Conelrad, has announced that all Civil Defense workers and participating personnel are invited to the KNOE studios on either of the above dates to view the program. The special closed circuit will not be seen at any other time.

CAR THEFTS INCREASE

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Police investigated 4,619 car theft cases in Norway last year, an increase of 48 per cent over 1959.

Atomic Weapons For Allies Still To Be Decided

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan during his U.S. visit, has focused attention on one of the most acute foreign policy issues facing President Kennedy — Atomic weapons for America's allies.

The issue is headed for debate at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial meeting at Islo, Norway, next month. And the Kennedy administration has not yet indicated what it wants to do.

So far the Kennedy administration has neither pushed nor withdrawn an offer made by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter late in the Eisenhower administration to supply atomic subs and missiles to NATO.

Little Theatre Moves To New Home

Lively Musical Comedy Is Opener

"Damn Yankees," a musical based on the book by George Abbott and Douglas Wallop, opens this week at the new Strauss Playhouse on Lamy Lane. The Monroe Little Theatre is presenting the lively musical comedy through the permission of the Music Theatre, Inc.

Music and lyrics for the first production in the new modern building are by the team of Richard Adler and Jerry Ross.

SETTING FOR PLAY

Setting for the play is Washington, D.C., the home of heavy politics and a not too successful baseball team — that is until Mr Applegate arrives on the scene. Then politics takes a backseat to baseball.

Richard M. Clark is director of the production, with Elvie McGee of New Orleans serving as choreographer.

SCENES

The scenes for the play, which number 10 in the first act, and 11 in the second, run the gamut from the corridor of the stands of the Washington Baseball park, an office, the home of one of the fends to an elegant ballroom in a hotel.

Most popular musical numbers of the production are "Whatever Lola Wants," ably handled by Dell Moore; "Near to You," sung by John Pierpont and Nancy Franklin: "Shoeless Joe from Hannibal, Mo.," with Betty Bandy stealing the scene along with a group of burly baseball players; "Two Lost Souls," with Miss Moore, Pierpont and the chorus; and "Heart," which combines the talents of Jack Rawls, Bill Haddad, James R. Henry and George Patterson.

Other numbers and the singers are:

"Six Months Out of Every Year" by Nancy Franklin, Bill Blythe, the baseball fans and the "baseball widows;" "Goodbye Old Girl," with Blythe, and Pierpont; "A Man Doesn't Know," sung by Pierpont; "A Little Brains A Little Talent," by Miss Moore; reprise for "A Man Doesn't Know," with Pierpont and Nancy Franklin; "Who's Got the Pain?" by Miss Moore and Eivie McGehee; "The Game," by James R Henry, Bill Haddad and the baseball players; "Those Were the Good Old Days," by George Brian; and a reprise to "A Man Doesn't Know" with Nancy Franklin and Blythe.

Basicly the story of "Damn Yankees," is much the same as the opera "Faust." A man, dreaming of what he could and would like to be, is approached by the devil and offered his dream for his soul.

The dream comes true when the man becomes a baseball player, then a diamond hero.

But between his leaving and returning to his home, the play provides music, laughter and delicate situations galore.

JFK's Ultimatum

What ever became of President Kennedy's ultimatum to Russia on the Laos situation? Apparently it melted away like the snow. It wasn't effective and if there is anything left of it, we can't find it.

When the ultimatum was issued it sounded somewhat like, "If you don't lay off in Laos by next Wednesday, we'll shoot you." Russia said, "Don't interrupt our fighting for a while. Let's talk about it." France said, "Don't shoot him on Wednesday, even if he keeps on fighting in Laos. Let's wait until some later date to shoot him."

Now the ultimatum is virtually forgotten and Russia has continued to support the communist forces in Laos.

For a time it looked as if President Kennedy had shown a great deal of spunk and firmness. People were surprised when he came forth with something that resembled an ultimatum. Nevertheless, their surprise was mixed with admiration and there was considerable disposition to support him. Now, where has it gone?

It appeared that United States participation in a 14-nation conference on Laos was a means of killing time but not doing much of anything else, while "Rome burned."

Despite all we have heard and will hear about a Laos settlement, diplomatic insiders count that country lost to the communists. It thus follows a long string of others that the United States has let slip away.

The United States installed regime has only a weak hold on a few cities and virtually no military power. Communist - supported forces, which continued to fight while we fiddled around, have a firm hold on the countryside and, whenever the time strikes them as ripe, can take the country by force or let political agents do the job at a leisurely pace.

Any "neutral" government, diplomatic experts say, would be far to the left, since the power and pressure are on that side and those seeking a government at all favorable to the west would be crushed.

As far as Britain and France are concerned, the United States is reaping what it sowed. The British, remembering when we not only failed to support them in Egypt, but forced them to back down, and the French, blaming us for the loss of Indo-China, are privately intrigued by the United States plight, since they advised Washington not to get involved in the Laotian affairs in the first place. Clearly, if we are going to back down, we should have kept quiet, as every failure causes us to lose face with the rest of the world.

Diplomatic insiders are talking about the way President Kennedy has reversed American foreign policy in such a way that Ike was induced to repudiate all his administration had done in Laos.

The Eisenhower administration opposed all ideas of "neutralist" Laos on the grounds that "neutralist" would eventually come to spell "communist," and rejected all Soviet moves to force a new conference on Laos at which Red China would be seated.

After sending warships into Southeast Asia, Kennedy wrote Ike and elicited his support for "standfast" moves. To avoid blaming Ike and the Republicans for the Laotian mess, Kennedy adjusted history as follows: He told a press conference that "real progress" was being made in Laos toward a "unified and neutral status" until last August, when communist-supported forces "turned to a new and greatly intensified military effort to take over." In fact, United States-supported Laotian leaders, using United States arms, reportedly started the current ruckus with an attack on the royal government. When the rebels in October agreed to negotiate for a neutralist Laos, U.S. diplomats torpedoed the idea because they feared the government would go communist in the end.

Now Kennedy has let the communists know he'll accept peacemaking with neutralism, and a conference with Red China sitting in. We might as well quit talking about it.

The president has made himself look good with the American public by seemingly playing tough, for a little while, in front of a Russian threat and is simultaneously being congratulated by Europeans for a soft policy.

In Europe, policymakers know that the United States, has done an about-face and that even if we appeared to win a conference on Laos we would have lost everything because we would have done nothing to stop the advance of communism.

The American people have been a little slow in awakening to this fact but they are about to do so now.

The word Laos is pronounced "Louse" by a goodly proportion of the television and radio announcers. That does well enough, because the whole situation is lousy.

Sugar Situation

The vast importance of Cuba's loss of the United States sugar market is illustrated by Castro's peanutish deal with Morocco.

Morocco, one of the world's largest sugar importers, has agreed to import a minimum of 200,000 tons of unrefined sugar a year from Cuba. The price is said to be "extremely favorable" to the importers. Reportedly, it is considerable below the world price of approximately three cents a pound. In return, Cuba will take Moroccan products, the annual exchange being to the value of $20 million each way.

By contrast with this deal, the last agreement with the United States provided for a supply of 3.3 million tons of sugar annually at a premium price of 5.6 cents a pound, well above the world price and about twice what Morocco is paying.

There is no sugar market in the world remotely comparable with that of the United States and sugar is Cuba's principal export.

In congressional discussion of the recently-extended United States sugar act, it was mentioned that the Cuba quota, which filled a third of the United States requirements, is to be restored when Castro is no longer in power in Cuba or when the Cuban government resumes friendly relations with the United States.

Louisiana, which is now able to enjoy a good part of the sugar market formerly held by Cuba, likes the situation well enough as it is.

Even so, applying enough sugar pressure on Castro may be the best way to sweeten him up or get rid of him.

Harrisburg, Pa., was laid out in 1785 by John Harris Jr., whose father first opened a trading post on the site in 1710.

Reno, Nev., was named for Maj. Gen. Jesse L. Reno, a Union Army officer who died during the Civil War.

Views Of Our Readers

Editor's Note: A Monroe Morning World editorial of March 7, 1961, against giving Washington, D. C., residents the privilege of voting, for the first time in history, at a time when its population is 54 per cent Negro, when such a right was never accorded while the population was on a proportionate basis with the rest of the nation, was reprinted in full in the Washington Post.

(The Post is reportedly circulated among more politicians throughout the nation than any other daily paper with the exception of the New York Times.

(Since the Post is surrounded by Negroes and by politicians who spend their time trying to arouse the Negroes to demand integration and race - mixing in general, it was to be expected that that publication would take a view opposite from the one expressed in the Monroe Morning World.

(It was not expected, however, that the Post would descend to the petty level of trying to make a big thing out of one word which was misspelled because of a typographical error. In an editorial replying to that in the World, the Post, it will be noted, made much of the fact that the letter "e" was accidentally dropped from the word "hordes," making the word read "hords." This was cited as an example of the south's great ignorance. The Post, however, is not always free from errors, either in the matter of composition or in its expression of thought.

(The Post did the people of the District of Columbia a good service by reprinting the Monroe Morning World editorial. It gave those people an opportunity to see the southern viewpoint, a privilege not often accorded by newspapers of the large northern press.

Getting Back At The Northerners

In the last column of this page today we present to our readers a literary and political curiosity in the form of excerpts from an editorial which appeared in the Monroe, La., Morning World on March 7. The editorial seems to us commendable for its candor if not for its devotion to democracy. Does it express the real reasons why only Tennessee among Southern states ratified the 23rd Amendment?

Whatever satisfaction some Southerners may find in these reasons, their descendants, we surmise, will take no pride in them. The editorial suggests that the Americans living in the District of Columbia be denied the right of suffrage (1) "to 'get back' at the Northern radicals who have tried to force integration down the throats of the people in the South," and (2) "to prevent the hords (sic) of Negroes which have flocked to the Nation's Capital from controlling elections as far as the District of Columbia is concerned."

Well, happily, this combination of spite and racism did not prevail. Most legislatures adhered faithfully to fundamental principles that animated the establishment of the American Republic—the principle that all men are created equal and the principle that the just powers of government must be derived from the consent of the governed. Washingtonians, now that they have been admitted to a fuller enjoyment of these principles, hold out a hand of welcome to these Louisianians who share the views of the World—and a hope that they, too, will one day decide to join the Union.

—Washington Post.

The Negro Capital Of The U.S.A.

Washington reports say that President Kennedy has instructed certain agencies of his administration to launch a campaign to get Negro college graduates to apply for government positions in Washington — it is worth noting that the word "positions" and not "jobs" is used. The campaign is to be aimed not only at those already holding college degrees but especially at each graduating class each year, starting in June.

Just why this is being done is not quite clear. No such drive has been launched to get white college graduates to apply for Washington positions — or jobs.

The capital — actually the District of Columbia — now is 54 per cent Negro in population and 77 per cent Negro in its public school. Negroes form only 10½ per cent of the nation's total population.

Why should the federal capital and the federal government be overloaded with Negroes out of all proportion to their ratio in the national population? Certainly no contention can be made of any intellectual qualifications justifying such deliberate packing of administrative posts in the government of a nation 89½ non-Negro.

The 23rd Amendment to the federal Constitution, permitting residents of the District of Columbia to vote in federal elections, now has been ratified and is part of the Constitution. The District is not the statutory jurisdiction of Congress. Its local government is a Commission appointed by the President, with ratification by the Senate. But for practical political purposes, it now ranks beside the states in its voice in national party conventions and in electoral votes determining the President and Vice President of the Nation.

With President Kennedy's urging for Negroes to come to Washington and apply for positions — and this carries an implication that positions will be found for those with college degrees — and with the population now 54 per cent Negro and school population 77 per cent Negro, one can see what the future holds, a completely and overwhelmingly Negro capital of the nation so far as the people in it are concerned.

President Kennedy didn't start this — he is just pulling the throttle wide open. Washington has been subject to an influx of Negro population for many years, but it still was decidedly minority. The Supreme Court school desegregation decision drove literally thousands and thousands of white families out of the District of Columbia. Governmental employment policies brought more and more Negroes in. The result was that a once overwhelmingly white city —the capital of the nation — now already is majority Negro, and President Kennedy seems determined that the majority shall be increased continuously.

SHREVEPORT TIMES

Father Orleans Man

I think the present day American is not used to such bitterness as appeared in your paper recently, especially one whose father was born in New Orleans shortly before the Civil War but who served the United States as a loyal Southerner in the United States Navy. I think there were and still are many people in the South who always believed that the buying and selling of human beings was wrong. In fact George Mason and Edmund Randolph of Virginia refused to sign the Constitution because Slavery was not abolished. I refer you to the minutes of the Constitution.

I might add that I am a direct descendant of Robert Livingston who made the Louisiana Purchase and thus added the state to the Union in which you insult the North and he was from the Hudson River.

Furthermore I believe your figures are wrong. Only 54 per cent of the District population is colored. If the six southern states had at one time not made laws that the black man should not be educated in all likelihood he would be as intelligent a voter as your poor whites. Now that we shall be able to vote for President and Vice - President it will be interesting to see what happens in your National Capitol but I have not the fear of the Negro which you seem to have. After all God made us all.

I only take time to write to you because I feel you have besmirched the state of my father and grandfather and I wish you would quit. I know of no one who has tried to thrust the "hugely disproportionate Negro vote" on any Congressman. It is hardly a credit to any paper to write such prejudiced attacks on so many of your countrymen among whom I am one. If you feel so bitterly why don't you go to Cuba?

You are not helping the South by your editorials. I would advise you to look at yourself in the light of 1961. I was born in a Southern town over 70 years ago, and have acquired some wisdom through the passage of time.

Reader Is Shocked

To the Editor:

I've just heard about your editorial position on Louisiana's failure to approve the new amendment allowing residents of the District of Columbia to vote in presidential elections. Frankly I'm shocked that your reason is "getting even" with the North for believing in integration. Have you forgotten that our country is a democracy (even Louisiana comes under this same democracy) based upon government by representation of all the people.

Apparently you - all seem to have rather foggy notions about the Washington of today. It is still a lovely city. There are still many thousands of respectable white people living there. True, there are also many thousands of Negroes living there — many of them have found new freedom and new dignity, where the only bias against them is social and not legal. Most of the white people who have moved to nearby Maryland and Virginia suburbs have moved not to get away from Negroes, but have moved to more spacious casual living just like the citizens of most of our big cities. I happen to be white and have lived in Maryland many years, even though I work in the District of Columbia. Negroes share our libraries, our offices, our neighborhoods, our restaurants — and there is surprisingly little white prejudice shown anywhere. Negroes, we've found, still prefer their own race socially — so your worries about inter - marriage are largely fictitious.

May I suggest that you in Louisiana think of giving Negroes opportunities to better themselves in terms of improving Louisiana's economic position. Increased prosperity for Negroes means greater prosperity for whites, too, you know. You have nothing to fear but fear itself when it comes to integration, and you Louisianans have a good deal of hate to overcome, apparently.

Editor, News Star & World
Dear Sir:

I would like to publicly commend Representatives Lawrence Gibbs and Mike John for their efforts in behalf of the property owners in the 600 block of South 2nd Street. We were offered about 40 per cent of the valuation of said property. These two men went to Baton Rouge and saw Mr. Burgess to see if he could have this low appraisal re-appraised. But their efforts were in vain. So now I am forced to accept $6,000 for two lots that I was offered $15,000 for by two oil firms. I believe the whole fault lies with the Rocky Branch (Barney Ofield's) zoning (SHIELDING) board. His chairman of this said board stated to me that they zoned it R-1 purposely on the idea of the underpass being put here.

So I wish to submit an appropriate name for this underpass which is — EL CASTRO PASO.

Untrained Youngsters

To the Editor:

"What can we expect from a bunch of untrained youngsters?" This is a question put forth in an editorial on the Peace Corps, March 31, 1961.

I'd like to try to answer that question.

I think that we can expect "from a bunch of untrained youngsters" the same that we can expect from a bunch of untrained oldsters: jobs which require no training. Who would expect a youth or anyone else to be able to fix watches or battle communists effectively if they have not been trained? I think the question is loaded in that youths for the Peace Corps will be trained. I am sure that Mr. Shriver, or you, or I would not send a "bunch of untrained youngsters" to do a man's job. This would be insane. Mr. Shriver has made it clear in the publicity given him that the Peace Corps is no pleasure trip, but a difficult job, in the truest sense of the word, for people who are capable of giving, people who want to aid their country in a high sense, people who can meet the challenge and come out on top.

This is the first time young adults have been asked to meet a real challenge. I say, given training, they will meet it and be the best ambassadors we've ever had. If there is a bad egg in the group, certainly we can excuse one among many. We've overlooked the causes of our status today. It is certain that our present plight is not the result of skillful handling. So let's not expect absolute perfection. I do think that we will get much sacrifice and much effort. Don't underestimate our young people, Sir. Give them the chance they deserve as Americans!

Losing War Bad

Laos Defeat After Korean Debacle Would Hurt This Country

The great cost to the United States in the Korean debacle was not that we lost a war but that every nation had to reassess its relationship to the United States and an increasing number became neutral. Everybody likes a winner.

If we lose in Laos or, for that matter, if we suffer any further loss anywhere, our international situation will degenerate with finality. A nation cannot assert leadership and not lead; it cannot assume superiority without military superiority. And if there is military superiority, it must be proved by military might which is war.

These are axioms and a nation that tries other methods only too soon discovers that some other country has taken its place.

Let us note the position of President de Gaulle of France. Laos was a part of French Indo-China. French Indo-China was a most important political and economic sector of France, the city of Saigon being for France what Hong Kong was for Great Britain. The Annamites and other peoples of French Indo-China rebelled, supported by the Chinese Communists and won a great victory over France which resulted in France being eliminated from Southeast Asia.

Had France been supported by its allies, the United States and Great Britain, it might not have lost French Indo-China. The United States was tied down to a doctrine of anti-colonialism which has fragmented Asia and is now fragmenting Africa. French Indo-China was broken into North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia and because of this, Thialand (which used to be called Siam) is in peril of falling to the might of Red China.

The population of Red China is variously estimated up to 600,000,000 persons. No census has ever been taken. When I lived there, we used to speak of the population of 450,000,000. Whether it has increased so much in 30 years, nobody can truthfully say because no one has counted the people.

However, whatever the figure may be it is too large for the food supply which is traditionally inadequate. During the past two years, at least, Red China has suffered several famines, which is not too unusual, particularly for the southern part of that country where the density of population is perhaps the greatest and worst in the world. Density of population is best solved by the population moving where food is more plentiful. This is a rice eating people and China has, for centuries, imported rice from French Indo-China and from Siam (Thialand). What is happening in Laos is that a Chinese population is pouring into that country. The report that Chinese are about to move into Laos is piffle; they have already moved.

These Chinese are part of Communist China which can well afford to lose 200,000,000 people and benefit thereby. It is cheaper to send people to war or as volunteers in revolutions, to live off some other country, than to attempt to feed them.

Red China sought to solve many of its economic problems by orthodox Marxism, by establishing communes, and failed. The communes did not produce an increase of food. As a matter of fact, famine pursued the communes. Red China is pouring population into all the countries of East Asia.

Indonesia has set up resistance to the increase of Red Chinese in that country, but Laos is not geographically or militarily situated suitably for resistance to Red China. In the South of China lie four heavily populated provinces, Kuantung, which is often referred to as Canton because of the name of the city, has produced most of the Chinese who live outside of China. In Kuangsi live many races of aborigines who have never engaged in any other business than war since the authority of Peking weakened over them during the Taiping Rebellion (1850-1865). Yunnan lies in mountainous country close to Burma and French Indo-China and has been under the influence of the former French city of Saigon for more than a century.

It is out of these four provinces that a Communist Chinese population heavily armed is pouring into Laos. Every day that is lost in stopping them from marching southward gives them more territory. Perhaps when the time comes for a 14 Nation Conference, Laos will be populated by Chinese Reds and the world will encounter another Soviet fait accompli.

This has always been Soviet tactics — talk soft and fight continuously. While all this is going on, the Warsaw Conference has sought to divert attention to Germany. This too is a Soviet tactic: hit two spots at one time and let the West take its choice as to when it will accept defeat.

WASHINGTON

Shorts

BATTLING DEMOCRATS — Democrats are battling furiously in the two biggest Eastern States. In Pennsylvania the fight is over patronage control and is a three-way one between Governor Lawrence, Senator Clark, and Representative Green of Philadelphia. In New York the Eleanor Roosevelt — Herbert H. Lehman — Thomas K. Finletter liberal group is out to ax National Committeeman Carmen De Sapio and State Chairman Michael Prendergast and have the backing of Mayor Wagner of New York City. Prendergast may get a good Federal job as the price for his retirement, but liberals will try to boot De Sapio out of office unceremoniously.

GAVIN AND DeGAULLE — Appointment of Lt. General James M. Gavin as Ambassador to France provides first test of effort to put men without large private fortunes in the big Ambassadorship by providing generous expense accounts, probably amounting to $50,000 per year for Gavin. President Kennedy wanted Gavin in Paris because he is a particular friend of General DeGaulle. In contrast with British Prime Minister MacMillan who has been anxious for a get-acquainted meeting with Kennedy and is coming for that purpose in April, DeGaulle is showing a disinterest in meeting with Kennedy.

MORTON'S SUCCESSOR — Republicans, almost without exception, would like to see Senator Thurston Morton get out as Chairman of the Republican National Committee and a new man begin functioning. Morton, busy with his Senate duties and facing a re-election race in Kentucky in 1962, also will like to yield the post, to which he can give little attention. Chances are, however, that Morton will hang on until July. Best guess on his successor still is Ray Bliss of Ohio, the State which gave Nixon his biggest winning margin.

JFK's Ultimatum

What ever became of President Kennedy's ultimatum to Russia on the Laos situation? Apparently it melted away like the snow. It wasn't effective and if there is anything left of it, we can't find it.

When the ultimatum was issued it sounded somewhat like, "If you don't lay off in Laos by next Wednesday, we'll shoot you." Russia said, "Don't ientrrupt our fighting for a while. Let's talk about it." France said, "Don't shoot him on Wednesday, even if he keeps on fighting in Laos. Let's wait until some later date to shoot him."

Now the ultimatum is virtually forgotten and Russia has continued to support the communist forces in Laos.

For a time it looked as if President Kennedy had shown a great deal of spunk and firmness. People were surprised when he came forth with something that resembled an ultimatum. Nevertheless, their surprise was mixed with admiration and there was considerable disposition to support him. Now, where has it gone?

It appeared that United States participation in a 14 - nation conference on Laos was a means of killing time but not doing much of anything else, while "Rome burned."

Despite all we have heard and will hear about a Laos settlement, diplomatic insiders count that country lost to the communists. It thus follows a long string of others that the United States has let slip away.

The United States-installed regime has only a weak hold on a few cities and virtually no military power. Communist - supported forces, which continued to fight while we fiddled around, have a firm hold on the countryside and, whenever the time strikes them as ripe, can take the country by force or let political agents do the job at a leisurely pace.

Any "neutral" government, diplomatic experts say, would be far to the left, since the power and pressure are on that side and those seeking a government at all favorable to the west would be crushed.

As far as Britain and France are concerned, the United States is reaping what it sowed. The British, remembering when we not only failed to support them in Egypt, but forced them to back down, and the French, blaming us for the loss of Indo-China, are privately intrigued by the United States plight, since they advised Washington not to get involved in the Laotian affairs in the first place. Clearly, if we are going to back down, we should have kept quiet, as every failure causes us to lose face with the rest of the world.

Diplomatic insiders are talking about the way President Kennedy has reversed American foreign policy in such a way that Ike was induced to repudiate all his administration had done in Laos.

The Eisenhower administration opposed all ideas of "neutralist" Laos on the grounds that "neutralist" would eventually come to spell "communist," and rejected all Soviet moves to force a new conference on Laos at which Red China would be seated.

After sending warships into southeast Asia, Kennedy wrote Ike and elicited his support for "standfast" moves. To avoid blaming Ike and the Republicans for the Laotian mess, Kennedy adjusted history as follows: He told a press conference that "real progress" was being made in Laos toward a "unified and neutral status" until last August, when communist-supported forces "turned to a new and greatly intensified military effort to take over." In fact, United States-supported Laotian leaders, using United States arms, reportedly started the current ruckus with an attack on the royal government. When the rebels in October agreed to negotiate for a neutralist Laos, U.S. diplomats torpedoed the idea because they feared the government would go communist in the end.

Now Kennedy has let the communist know he'll accept peacemaking with neutralism, and a conference with Red China sitting in. We might as well quit talking about it.

The president has made himself look good with the American public by seemingly playing tough, for a little while, in front of a Russian threat and is simultaneously being congratulated by Europeans for a soft policy.

In Europe, policymakers know that the United States, has done an about-face and that even if we appeared to win a conference on Laos we would have lost everything because we would have done nothing to stop the advance of communism.

The American people have been a little slow in awakening to this fact but they are about to do so now.

The word Laos is pronounced "Louse" by a goodly proportion of the television and radio announcers. That does well enough, because the whole situation is lousy.

Sugar Situation

The vast importance of Cuba's loss of the United States sugar market is illustrated by Castro's picayunish deal with Morocco.

Morocco, one of the world's largest sugar importers, has agreed to import a minimum of 200,000 tons of unrefined sugar a year from Cuba. The price is said to be "extremely favorable" to the importers. Reportedly, it is considerable below the world price of approximately three cents a pound. In return, Cuba will take Moroccan products, the annual exchange being to the value of $20 million each way.

By contrast with this deal, the last agreement with the United States provided for a supply of 3.3 million tons of sugar annually at a premium price of 5.6 cents a pound, well above the world price and about twice what Morocco is paying.

There is no sugar market in the world remotely comparable with that of the United States and sugar is Cuba's principal export.

In congressional discussion of the recently-extended United States sugar act, it was mentioned that the Cuba quota, which filled a third of the United States requirements, is to be restored when Castro is no longer in power in Cuba or when the Cuban government resumes friendly relations with the United States.

Louisiana, which is now able to enjoy a good part of the sugar market formerly held by Cuba, likes the situation well enough as it is.

Even so, applying enough sugar pressure on Castro may be the best way to sweeten him up or get rid of him.

Views Of Our Readers

Editor's Note: A Monroe Morning World editorial of March 7, 1961, against giving Washington, D. C., residents the privilege of voting, for the first time in history, at a time when its population is 54 per cent Negro, when such a right was never accorded while the population was on a proportionate basis with the rest of the nation, was reprinted in full in the Washington Post.

(The Post is reportedly circulated among more politicians throughout the nation than any other daily paper with the exception of the New York Times.

(Since the Post is surrounded by Negroes and by politicians who spend their time trying to arouse the Negroes to demand integration and race - mixing in general, it was to be expected that that publication would take a view opposite from the one expressed in the Monroe Morning World.

(It was not expected, however, that the Post would descend to the petty level of trying to make a big thing out of one word which was misspelled because of a typographical error. In an editorial replying to that in the World, the Post, it will be noted, made much of the fact that the letter "e" was accidentally dropped from the word "hordes," making the word read "hords." This was cited as an example of the south's great ignorance. The Post, however, is not always free from errors, either in the matter of composition or in its expression of thought.

(The Post did the people of the District of Columbia a good service by reprinting the Monroe Morning World editorial. It gave those people an opportunity to see the southern viewpoint, a privilege not often accorded by newspapers of the large northern press.

Getting Back At The Northerners

In the last column of this page today we present to our readers a literary and political curiosity in the form of excerpts from an editorial which appeared in the Monroe, La., Morning World on March 7. The editorial seems to us commendable for its candor if not for its devotion to democracy. Does it express the real reasons why only Tennessee among Southern states ratified the 23rd Amendment?

Whatever satisfaction some Southerners may find in these reasons, their descendants, we surmise, will take no pride in them. The editorial suggests that the Americans living in the District of Columbia be denied the right of suffrage (1) "to 'get back' at the Northern radicals who have tried to force integration down the throats of the people in the South," and (2) "to prevent the hords (sic) of Negroes which have flocked to the Nation's Capital from controlling elections as far as the District of Columbia is concerned."

Well, happily, this combination of spite and racism did not prevail. Most legislatures adhered faithfully to fundamental principles that animated the establishment of the American Republic—the principle that all men are created equal and the principle that the just powers of government must be derived from the consent of the governed. Washingtonians, now that they have been admitted to a fuller enjoyment of these principles, hold out a hand of welcome to these Louisianians who share the views of the World—and a hope that they, too, will one day decide to join the Union.

—Washington Post.

Washington reports say that President Kennedy has instructed certain agencies of his administration to launch a campaign to get Negro college graduates to apply for government positions in Washington — it is worth noting that the word "positions" and not "jobs" is used. The campaign is to be aimed not only at those already holding college degrees but especially at each graduating class each year, starting in June.

Just why this is being done is not quite clear. No such drive has been launched to get white college graduates to apply for Washington positions — or jobs.

The capital — actually the District of Columbia — now is 54 per cent Negro in population and 77 per cent Negro in its public school. Negroes form only 10½ per cent of the nation's total population.

Why should the federal capital and the federal government be overloaded with Negroes out of all proportion to their ratio in the national population? Certainly no contention can be made of any intellectual qualifications justifying such deliberate packing of administrative posts in the government of a nation 89½ non-Negro.

The 23rd Amendment to the federal Constitution, permitting residents of the District of Columbia to vote in federal elections, now has been ratified and is part of the Constitution. The District is not the statutory jurisdiction of Congress. Its local government is a Commission appointed by the President, with ratification by the Senate. But for practical political purposes, it now ranks beside the states in its voice in national party conventions and in electoral votes determining the President and Vice President of the Nation.

With President Kennedy's urging for Negroes to come to Washington and apply for positions — and this carries an implication that positions will be found for those with college degrees — and with the population now 54 per cent Negro and school population 77 per cent Negro, one can see what the future holds, a completely and overwhelmingly Negro capital of the nation so far as the people in it are concerned.

President Kennedy didn't start this — he is just pulling the throttle wide open. Washington has been subject to an influx of Negro population for many years, but it still was decidedly minority. The Supreme Court school desegregation decision drove literally thousands and thousands of white families out of the District of Columbia. Governmental employment policies brought more and more Negroes in. The result was that a once overwhelmingly white city—the capital of the nation — now already is majority Negro, and President Kennedy seems determined that the majority shall be increased continuously.

Father Orleans Man

I think the present day American is not used to such bitterness as appeared in your paper recently, especially one whose father was born in New Orleans shortly before the Civil War but who served the United States as a loyal Southerner in the United States Navy. In fact George Mason and Edmund Randolph of Virginia refused to sign the Constitution because Slavery was not abolished. I refer you to the minutes of the Constitution.

However, whatever the figure may be it is too large for the food supply which is traditionally inadequate. During the past two years, at least, Red China has suffered several famines, which is not too unusual, particularly for the southern part of that country where the density of population is perhaps the greatest and worst in the world. Density of population is best solved by the population moving where food is more plentiful. This is a rice eating people and China has, for centuries, imported rice from French Indo-China and from Siam (Thialand). What is happening in Laos is that a Chinese population is pouring into that country. The report that Chinese are about to move into Laos is piffle; they have already moved.

These Chinese are part of Communist China which can well afford to lose 200,000,000 people and benefit thereby. It is cheaper to send people to war or as volunteers in revolutions, to live off some other country, than to attempt to feed them.

Red China sought to solve many of its economic problems by orthodox Marxism, by establishing communes, and failed. The communes did not produce an increase of food. As a matter of fact, famine pursued the communes. Red China is pouring population into all the countries of East Asia.

Indonesia has set up resistances to the increase of Red Chinese in that country, but Laos is not geographically or militarily situated suitably for resistance to Red China. In the South of China lie four heavily populated provinces, Kuantung, which is often referred to as Canton because of the name of the city, has produced most of the Chinese who live outside of China. In Kuangsi live many races of aborigines who have never engaged in any other business than war since the authority of Peking weakened over them during the Taiping Rebellion (18[illegible]-1865). Yunnan lies in mountainous country close to Burma and French Indo-China and has been under the influence of the former French city of Saigon for more than a century.

It is out of these four provinces that a Communist Chinese population heavily armed is pouring into Laos. Every day that is lost in stopping them from marching southward gives them more territory. Perhaps when the time comes for a 14 Nation Conference, Laos will be populated by Chinese Reds and the world will encounter another Soviet fait accompli.

This has always been Soviet tactics — talk soft and fight continuously. While all this is going on, the Warsaw Conference has sought to divert attention to Germany. This too is a Soviet tactic: hit two spots at one time and let the West take its choice as to when it will accept defeat.

BATTLING DEMOCRATS — Democrats are battling furiously in the two biggest Eastern States. In Pennsylvania the fight is over patronage control and is a three-way one between Governor Lawrence, Senator Clark, and Representative Green of Philadelphia. In New York the Eleanor Roosevelt — Herbert H. Lehman — Thomas K. Finletter liberal group is out to ax National Committeeman Carmen De Sapio and State Chairman Michael Prendergast and have the backing of Mayor Wagner of New York City. Prendergast may get a good Federal job as the price for his retirement, but liberals will try to boot De Sapio out of office unceremoniously.

GAVIN AND DeGAULLE — Appointment of Lt. General James M. Gavin as Ambassador to France provides first test of effort to put men without large private fortunes in the big Ambassadorship by providing generous expense accounts, probably amounting to $50,000 per year for Gavin. President Kennedy wanted Gavin in Paris because he is a particular friend of General DeGaulle. In contrast with British Prime Minister MacMillan who has been anxious for a get-acquainted meeting with Kennedy and is coming for that purpose in April, DeGaulle is showing a disinterest in meeting with Kennedy.

MORTON'S SUCCESSOR — Republicans, almost without exception, would like to see Senator Thurston Morton get out as Chairman of the Republican National Committee and a new man begin functioning. Morton, busy with his Senate duties and facing a re-election race in Kentucky in 1962, also will like to yield the post, to which he can give little attention. Chances are, however, that Morton will hang on until July. Best guess on his successor still is Ray Bliss of Ohio, the State which gave Nixon his biggest winning margin.

Aid To Schools Will Create Deep Division

EDITOR'S NOTE—No issue before Congress threatens to create a deeper division between opposing factions than the question: Shall the federal government aid private schools? In an area of discussion frequently charged with emotion, here's a summary of the arguments on both sides.

By JULES LOH
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The question of whether federal aid to education should include parochial schools already has caused more clamor than any other domestic problem of the New Frontier.

Realizing the fireworks are not yet over, President Kennedy has appealed for restraint in discussion of what he called "this sensitive issue."

A noisy fight, he reasoned, could cause divisions which might harm the nation. His supporters on Capitol Hill point out it also could harm the chances of Congress' approving his proposal to distribute $2.3 billion of federal money among public grade and high schools only.

Should federal aid go to parochial schools as well as public schools? Would it be constitutional?

Scores of lawyers have attacked the problem from all directions; multitudes of words have been written on the subject. So far nobody has found an answer that satisfies all.

The discussion revolves around such words as "direct," "indirect," "welfare," and "supplemental" and becomes all the more complex because the participants often disagree, not only on the definition and application of the key terms but even on the basic question they are trying to decide.

OPPONENTS

Opponents of parochial school aid say the question, put simply, is: Does the Constitution allow the government to use public money to advance a sectarian school system?

To answer it they cite the Everson case of 1947 in which the Supreme Court ruled it was within the Constitution to transport parochial school students (in New Jersey) on public school buses.

The legal staff of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in cooperation with attorneys of the Department of Justice, cited the opinion in the Everson case to support its view that direct grants or across-the-board loans to church schools would be unconstitutional.

Judges in the Everson case declared: "No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion."

End of argument? Not exactly. Those in favor of such aid argue there are more basic issues to be settled and another constitutional question involved, the matter of equal protection of the laws.

They ask: May the government dispense public funds to promote the general education of its citizens and not include all the children who attend accredited schools?

To answer it they note the right of a parent to select any accredited school for his child and cite the opinion of the 1926 Frost case in which the Supreme Court interpreted the 14th (equal protection of the laws) Amendment as it applied to the right of a private trucking company to use the public highways.

"If the state may compel the surrender of one constitutional right as a condition of its favor, it may, in like manner, compel the surrender of all," the court held. "It is inconceivable that guarantees embedded in the Constitution . . . may thus be manipulated out of existence."

Before examining the specifics of each side's case, here's some background: Chief advocates of Parochial school aid today, as in the past, are the bishops of the Roman Catholic Church whose 13,000 elementary and high schools educate about five million children. Combined with other denominational and private schools, the nation's nonpublic school enrollment amounts to 6.8 million—about one out of every seven children.

TWO DECADES

In the past two decades the nation's population has grown 37 per cent, public school enrollment has increased 42 per cent, and education costs have skyrocketed.

The nation's Catholic population during the same period has doubled, and parochial school growth has been 147 per cent. Despite the growth of its school system, the Catholic church has not been able to keep up with the boom in Catholic population. There are as many Catholic children in public schools as there are in parochial schools.

Each time a general education bill has come before Congress, beginning with the first in 1949, the Catholic hierarchy has made its position clear.

The bishops themselves, however, are divided on the desirability of federal aid in general. But they agree that if there is to be federal aid, it must include parochial school students. If it did not, they said, they would consider it discriminatory legislation and would be obliged to oppose it.

This was the substance of their joint statement regarding the Kennedy proposal.

They suggested aid in the form of long-term low-interest loans which they felt would be "strictly within the framework of the Constitution."

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., has introduced such a bill, and the Senate education subcommittee scheduled hearings for April 17-18.

The Clark bill would authorize $350 million in loans to church and private schools over the next two years at an interest rate high enough to assure that the government would not lose money.

The only other time Congress has considered such a measure was last year when Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., offered an amendment to the education bill providing for an annual fund of $75 million to be lent at 2¾ per cent interest.

It was defeated 49-37 with then Sen. Kennedy registered against the amendment but for the general bill. When the House took up the measure, an attempt to offer a similar amendment was ruled out of order.

At least 48 congressmen have introduced bills during the current session providing for some form of relief to taxpayers who pay for their children's education — tax credits, deductions and the like.

President Kennedy has asked that all such measures be considered independently of his general aid bill rather than as amendments.

Obviously general federal school aid measures, with their history of repeated failures and no successes, face tough sledding in Congress even without provisions for parochial school aid.

Nevertheless, Catholic spokesmen are known to oppose considering parochial school aid separate from the main bill. They feel it would have less than the barest chance of passing and moreover would be unfair.

The Rev. Robert C. Hartnett, SJ., a leading Catholic writer on the subject, declared during the 1949 argument which closely parallels the present one: "The rights of nonpublic education... should not be sloughed off into an incidental bill—as if religious education and the rights and principles which it represents in American society were of no more than incidental concern to the nation."

Such treatment, said Father Hartnett, fails to recognize "that the public school system is not the whole of the American school system."

CRUCIAL

This is crucial to the entire argument of the parochial school aid forces. If they could win this recognition, they say, a legal way could be found for them to participate in general school benefits.

"Either Congress has a responsibility in the field of education or it hasn't," said Father Hartnett. "If it has, it has the same responsibility to citizens of the United States everywhere.... It can't in one and the same law claim and disclaim responsibility."

As the Jesuit publication America expressed it: "What sense does it make to argue that our educational needs are such as to require federal aid for every school district in the country—and then exclude one out of every seven children from its benefits?"

It makes sense, reply the opponents, because it would create a dangerous partnership between the churches and the government which could lead to further erosion of an historic barrier.

The Christian Century, a Protestant journal, summed it up: "If we violate the separation of church and state and sacrifice an essential element in the maintenance of religious and civil liberty, we shall open a Pandora's box of domestic discord which may never be closed."

Furthermore, this side argues, elementary and high school students are compelled to attend school, which is the only reason the state provides the facilities.

Thus they can't be regarded the same as college students who advance their education voluntarily. The government encourages higher education but does not require it.

They insist that regarding parochial schools as part of the American school system would mean, followed to its logical conclusion, giving them the same status as public schools.

Dr. Harold A. Bosley, Methodist clergyman and author of a study of the parochial school aid question, takes the view that "a parochial school is in no sense a public school" and cannot be treated as one.

"The parochial school is an essential part of the church which creates it," he said.

He points out administration of the parochial school rests strictly with the church and not with the community and that "the axiom that voters and taxpayers have a basic right to have a decisive voice in how their tax money is used is denied by the parochial school system."

When parochial school administrators seek public funds, he says, "they are asking that they be treated as public schools at the tax office but nowhere else."

To illustrate another element in the problem, Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., a parochial school aid advocate, advances this argument: If a church school is no more than an extension of the church, "then it logically follows that any contributions to such schools should be treated as any other church contribution for tax purposes."

However, the internal revenue service ruled in 1954 that parochial school tuition cannot be claimed as an income tax deduction.

Still another basic argument is over the fact, which neither side disputes, that sending a child to porochial school is strictly a matter of choice, that no parent is forced to do so.

The public schools are available if parents choose to use them, says Dr. Bosley. If they do not, it is their own choice, and the additional expenses involved become their freely assumed responsibility.

CONTENDS

The other side contends that when parents send their children to parochial schools they are not simply engaging in a privilege indulged them by the state; they are exercising a constitutional right the state cannot deny them.

They point to a unanimous supreme court decision, the 1925 Pierce case which overturned an Oregon law requiring attendance at public schools only: "The fundamental theory of liberty . . . excludes any general power of the state to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only. The child is not the mere creature of the state; those who nurture him and direct his destiny have the right, coupled with the high duty, to recognize and prepare him for additional obligations."

If this is their right, they argue, then the state cannot compel them to surrender it as a condition for participating in general educational benefits. They insist a person's constitutional rights must have no strings attached.

The supreme court has ruled on the constitutionality only of specific aspects of the broad parochial school aid issue—bus rides, free textbooks, released time and the like.

It may rule on another crucial question in the near future.

Five parents in South Burlington, Vt., have petitioned the tribunal to overturn their state court's ruling that paying expenses for local youngsters who attended Catholic high schools in the area was unconstitutional.

South Burlington has no public high school, and since 1915 pupils have attended nearby high schools of their parents' choice at the expense of the local public school district. Thousands of other public school districts across the country have used the same system.

The Vermont parents brought a taxpayers' suit three years ago claiming the public fund payments to parochial schools violated the Constitution. A petition for a hearing reached the Supreme Court March 29.

Should the high court decide to take up the case, it could provide an opportunity for the justices to express themselves on the entire broad issue.

100 Years Ago The Shot That Split The Nation Was Fired

Editor's Note — One hundred years ago next Wednesday it began - the war that locked a young nation for four years on a rack of pain, death and fire and burned an indelible imprint on its memory. Come along now to Charleston harbor and see the site of the shot that split the nation.

By TOM HENSHAW

Fight your way through brambles and marsh grass and brush and sand gnats to the edge of Charleston harbor and, although no marker announces the fact, you will be standing on or near a memorable spot.

Here the Civil war began.

Out in the harbor narrows, across 1 1-3 miles of gray water, rises the low mass of Fort Sumter, once the beleaguered symbol of national strength in the midst of a fast-crumbling Union.

It was from Fort Johnson, in the murky pre-dawn of April 12, 1861, that a Confederate mortar shell arched over the harbor and burst above Sumter's parapet to usher in America's bloodiest war.

Johnson has long since fallen to sand gnats and the biologists; Sumter's only assailants nowadays are the sport-shirted, camera-toting tourists who wander through its battered old casemates and examine the relics in its shiny new museum.

THREE MILES

But, slightly more than three miles up the harbor, Charleston—from whence came the spark that touched off the war—is still Charleston, located they say, "at the point where the Ashley and Cooper rivers join to form the Atlantic Ocean."

A century ago, Charleston was a stronghold of rabid secessionists; today it's a stronghold of equally rabid historians, many of them amateurs devoted to the task of preserving a niche in history for some otherwise forgotten ancestor.

A civil war of words — or at least a salvo of letters to the editor—can break out at the drop of a misplaced minnie ball or some ancestral slight, real or fancied.

For instance: Who fired the first shot?

In the delightful world of Charlestonian tradition and legend, the number of candidates would make an impressive showing at a United Daughters of the Confederacy banquet.

Was it Capt. George S. James, commander of the Beach Battery of 10-inch mortars at Fort Johnson; or was it Lt. Henry S. Farley, James' subordinate; or was it Lt. Wade Hampton Gibbes, commander of a nearby battery?

Another school of thought holds that James (or Farley or Gibbes) fired only a signal shot and the real one was triggered by crusty old Edmund Ruffin, the fire-breathing Virginia who was later spotted, long white hair streaming, riding a cannon into the battle of Bull Run—or "Manassas" to Charlestonians.

Still another stubborn band of Civil War buffs insists that the historic shot was already in the record books when the first mortar zeroed in on Sumter. Their candidate is young George E. Haynsworth, a Citadel cadet, who fired the shot that whistled over the side-wheeler Star of the West, which was trying to bring supplies to the fort the preceding January.

A short while ago, Horace J. Sheely Jr., then historian of the Fort Sumter National Monument, delved deeply into the rival claims and, at the risk of social ostracism, decided James did it.

Sheely, it may be noted, is no longer historian at Sumter, but his transfer is not necessarily connected with his conclusion.

Whoever did fire the first shot of the war didn't brag much about it at the time. James died in Sharpsburg, Md., a year and a half later. Farley and Gibbes didn't enter claims until nearly 30 years had passed.

Many, even some of the most loyal of secessionists, didn't want to shoulder direct responsibility for starting hostilities.

Roger Pryor, like Ruffin an itinerant Virginian of the "strike-a-blow" school, was offered the chance—by James, as the captain's supporters point out — but he turned it down because "I couldn't fire the first gun of the war."

On the other side of the water, however, the man who first fired back had no such qualms. Capt. Abner Doubleday, a New Yorker of deep abolitionist convictions, did it with a relish.

"To me," he wrote later, "it was simply a contest, politically speaking, as to whether virtue or vice should rule"—and the captain had little doubt which side he was on.

Doubleday also was the man who either did or did not invent baseball—but that's another controversy, to be argued out in Cooperstown, N.Y., not Charleston.

The precise spot from which the first shot of the war was fired has never been determined to everyone's satisfaction either.

"It may be under water out there," says Dr. Elmer L. Puryear of the College of Charleston, indicating a spot just off the beach at Fort Johnson, "but I'm not going to say for sure."

North Carolinian Puryear has been in Charleston about four years. He doesn't want to get mixed up in local history, which is the equivalent of local politics elsewhere.

Controversy or not, the Charleston Confederate Centennial Commission plans to raise this week a monument honoring the first shot of the war. It will be set on the grounds of the marine laboratory on the assumption that is as good a spot as any within a couple of hundred yards.

In a way, the Charleston commission will be firing a first shot of its own, for the centennial observance that starts with Sumter will continue for the next four years, possibly until a descendant of Gen. Lee surrenders symbolically at Appomattox.

When Logic Is Bizarre

It's told in the first person, in a very dry, conversational tone with a little bit of jive talk to season it. Gil, Tish and their little daughter Candy spend most of their time in the California sun, which might explain why such addled things happen in their house or wherever they go.

Like the time Tish won 65 cents at Las Vegas, and nearly stopped every wheel from turning, or the time they met the little Mexican matador with the eight sisters.

Their friends and acquaintances always are a little on the zany side — such as the paradoxically innocent beatnik whose oil-rich father was thinking of buying Oklahoma or the Red Cross but finally settled for the University of Southern California. That happened about the same time Gil found the old street car that the matador needed, only it was a funicular car from Hong Kong.

This is humor of a special sort, and it finally dawns on you that really logical ideas about sex, money and life can be uproariously bizarre simply by being so logical. And at the same time there filters through to you an add brand of poker - faced pathos, like the conclusions Tish drew from her luck with the four millionth nickel in the ladies' room. Or when their baby sitter, Morgendstern, won a medal.

For up to the minute American humor, spiced with sex, this is it. Whether the author is spoofing the Ford Foundation or the head-shrinkers, he is immensely funny. And never square, man.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Musical Yankees At Little Theatre

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

Little Theatre will take its giant step into the new Strauss Playhouse with the opening of "Damn Yankees" on Thursday after a preview on the previous night.

This is the first permanent home the Monroe organization has had in its more than 25 years of existence. The Selman Field Playhouse served as a semi-permanent location for more than a decade.

But the new theatre on Lamy Lane puts Monroe ahead of most cities twice its size in the field of community dramatics.

Approximately 75 persons will take part in the opening musical which will be under the general direction of Richard Clark. The Northeast Jazz Ensemble will furnish the music, with Del Sawyer, professor of music at the local college, in charge. Elvie McGehee New Orleans choreographer, has worked out the dances and drilled the chorus lines.

Two performances have been slated for Sunday, April 16, at 2:30 and 8:15 p.m., and the musical will run through Wednesday, April 19.

The Northeast State College Choir will feature works of Hungarian composer, Zoltan Kodaly, and American Howard Hanson in a program set for 3 p.m. at Grace Episcopal Church next Sunday.

Davis Bingham will conduct the group and soloists will be Evelyn Cruse O'Conner, Michael De Shong and Luther Burney.

The program will include Kodaly's "Missa Brevis," and Hanson's "The Cherubic Hymn."

With the Oscar awards night set for April 17, contenders seem to include "Exodus," and "Spartacus." But the show about the fallen woman, "Never on Sunday," may prove to be a dark horse winner.

The film has already been nominated for best actress (Melina Mercouri), best director (Jules Dassin) and best song (same as the movie's title).

Proving there is little new under the sun, "Never on Sunday" deals with an American man of letters who obtains two weeks of the fallen woman's life to teach her about the "finer things of life." This sounds like "Pygmalion," "My Fair Lady," or even "Born Yesterday."

It is understood Miss Mercouri speaks to Americans in the film, she speaks English. Then when she addresses other members of the cast, she speaks in their native tongues and subtitles flash on the screen.

This may work against or in behalf of the movie's rating — with much depending on the judges. It may give the piece the necessary touch of realism to boost it to the top bracket.

One thing is certain. The "fallen woman" topic holds a numerical edge for movies in the Oscar lineup. "Butterfield 8," "Irma La Douce," "Girl of the Night," "Tenderloin," "The World of Suzie Wong," and "Go Naked in the World" — all deal with the time-dishonored profession. It's easy to see that a movie about a good girl — or man — nowadays is hard to find.

The LSU Contemporary Music Festival will continue its Sunday afternoon presentations through the month of April and on Sunday May 7. Works by French, German, Italian and English composers will be featured.

The festival is now in its 18th year and is the oldest of its type in the United States. It was founded in 1944 by Miss Helen Gunderson, LSU professor of theory and composition. Four American premieres have been given to works by leading modern composers at the festivals including Alberto Ginastera of Argentina; Domingo Santa Cruz, Chile; Herman Reutter, Germany, and Humphrey Searle, England.

From behind the "iron curtain" comes a Polish movie which reveals the limited awareness of the world resulting from the limited exchange of information with the western nations.

The hero, a member of the Polish underground in World War II, and now a resident of France, appears on the scene in a medium priced French automobile. As it turns out, the car is a status symbol for western success — as the Polish director envisioned it.

The story unfolds with the hero looking for his old girl friend, Ina. When he locates her, they can't seem to bridge their idealistic differences but they pass one another plenty of political slogans in the process. When he gives up and leaves Poland, he returns the car to its true owner—A French industrialist for whom he is chauffeur.

If the United States can't beat such insubtle entertainment-propaganda, our playwrights must not be trying very hard.

RARE BIBLE SHOWN

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A rare "He" edition of the King James version of the Bible has been displayed as part of a Religion Department exhibit at Ohio Wesleyan University.

It is so named because of a printing error in the book of Ruth (3:15), which was corrected in later editions.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

A great variety of new books have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week. There are books for every reader, no matter what his taste may be. In the field of fiction a number of new titles have been added. "The Wax Foundation" by Gwen Davenport is a delightful story of an eccentric widow, who left her estate, heavily encumbered by absurb provisions and her nephew who attempted to carry them out. "The Infidels," by Chloe Gartner is a powerful story of the first Crusade and the sack of Jerusalem. Chloe Gartner gives great vitality to the age of chivalry and this is a book which will be very popular. Another novel with a historical background is "The Prime Minister's Wife" by Doris Leslie. This story is based on the life of Mrs. Benjamin Disraeli and is a thoroughly charming period piece. "Mirande" by Jan Hilliard is a warm and entertaining story, with it's setting in Canada during the early part of this century and it is the story of a thoroughly charming woman and her family. Alan Paton, whose "Cry the Beloved Country" made such an impression several years ago, has written another book about Africa, called "Tales from a Troubled Land." It is written with compassion and feeling and sheds much light on this unfortunate country. Another novel with a South Africa is "Blue Fire" by Phyllis A. Whitney. It is her most mature work and is a story of conflicting loyalties and characters told against an unusual setting. An exciting new mystery story is "Error of Judgment" by George Harmon Coxe.

Probably the most outstanding commentary on the Bible from a protestant viewpoint is "The Interprater's Bible' a twelve volume set of material. The library has a reference set in the main library, the West Monroe Library and the Anna Meyer Branch Library. A very kind patron is buying a circulating set for the West Monroe Library. This week she and her husband added three more volumes to this set. There are only two more volumes left in this set and it will then be complete. There are only two more volumes left in this set and it will then be complete. This is a wonderful thing to do and we deeply appreciate it. Two other interesting books of a religious nature were added this month. "A Faith of Our Own" by Austin Mersden Farrer and "Putting Faith to Work" by Robert James McCracken.

One of the weak spots in the library collection is the field of business, but a desperate effort is being made to improve this field. Several new books in the business field were added this week. "Sampling in a Nutshell" by Morris J. Slonin is an interesting book in the field of statistics. "What you should know about inflation" by Henry Hazlitt is a book which every businessman should read. "Management of International Operations" by John Fayerweather contains much valuable material about overseas markets. "The European free - trade Association and analysis of it's Operations" by F. V. Meyer is another valuable book. The library has had copies of "The Untouchables" by Eliot Ness for several months, but the demand for it is so great that three new copies were added during the past week. Two new titles in the field of education are noteworthy. One is "Mechanical - Electrical Equipment Handbook for School Buildings" by Harry Terry and "Physical Education in the Modern Elementary School" by Charles A. Bucher.

A very valuable book for parents who went to help their children with their studies in the field of science is "Growing up With Science" by Marianne Besse. An interesting new book on the subject of botany is "Light and plant Growth" by R. Van der Veen.

More and more people are interested in the field of "Tape Recording" and a fine new book on the subject has just beend added to the library collection. It is called "Tape Recording as a Pasttime" by Douglas Gardner. Cookbooks are always popular and the latest title is called "The Electric Epicure's Cookbook" by Poppy Cannan. A new book in the field of personal management is "Human Values Where People Work" by Thomas G. Spates. "The Visual Arts Today" by Gyorgy Kepes is a most interesting book in the field of pictorial communication. The library never has enough books in we are especially happy to have a new title, "The Pahlmann Book of Interior Design" by William Pahlmann.

A perfectly beautiful new book is "The Folk Songs of North America" by Alan Lomax. This is the most complete book which has been written in this field and will be widely read by those who are interested in this art. One of the most interesting and loved people of modern times was Dr. Thomas A. Dooley who did such wonderful work in the countries of Southeast Asia. The library has recently acquired four copies of his work "Deliver Us From Evil" which is the story of the Revolution in Vietnam.

Books about Louisiana are always in demand and we have several new additions to that collection this week. "Origins of the class struggle in Louisiana" by Roger Shugg is a penetrating study of labor conditions in Louisiana. "Ferns and Fern Allies of Louisiana" by Clair Alan Brown is an interesting addition to the study of plant life in our state. "Chata - ima"; the life of Adrien Emmanuel Rouquette" by Dagmar R. LeBraton, presents an interesting picture of the career of an outstanding figure in Louisiana history. We appreciate very much the gift of three copies of the 1961 Monroyan, the year book of Neville High School. These books form an important part of the local history record of our community.

Biographies are widely read and enjoyed by the library patrons and our biography collection is quite large and is growing every week. Three new titles are worthy of note "Samuel Slater; father of American Manufacturers" by E. H. Cameron; "Sara Teasdale" the biography of an outstanding poetress of this century" by Margaret Haley Carpenter, and "Envoy to Caracas"; the story of G. A. Williamson, nineteenth century diplomat by Jane Luces de Grummond.

Several very fine additions have made to the Reference collection of the Library during the past week. "Thomas Register of Manufacturers, the 1961 edition is a worthy addition to the business field. "Scandinavia, past and present" is a perfectly beautiful three volume set of books published in Denmark, which gives a complete history and modern discussion of the Scandinavian countries. This was a gift from the Scandinavin governments. Two useful books were added to the genealogy collection as gifts to the library. One One is "Abstracts of the Wills of the State of South Carolina, first volume" compiled by Caroline Moore, the other is a reprint of "Early Settlers of Alabama" by James F. Sanders.

Aid To Schools Will Create Deep Division

EDITOR'S NOTE—No issue before Congress threatens to create a deeper division between opposing factions than the question: Shall the federal government aid private schools? In an area of discussion frequently charged with emotion, here's a summary of the arguments on both sides.

By JULES LOH
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The question of whether federal aid to education should include parochial schools already has caused more clamor than any other domestic problem of the New Frontier.

Realizing the fireworks are not yet over, President Kennedy has appealed for restraint in discussion of what he called "this sensitive issue."

A noisy fight, he reasoned, could cause divisions which might harm the nation. His supporters on Capitol Hill point out it also could harm the chances of Congress' approving his proposal to distribute $2.3 billion of federal money among public grade and high schools only.

Should federal aid go to parochial schools as well as public schools? Would it be constitutional?

Scores of lawyers have attacked the problem from all directions; multitudes of words have been written on the subject. So far nobody has found an answer that satisfies all.

The discussion revolves around such words as "direct," "indirect," "welfare," and "supplemental" and becomes all the more complex because the participants often disagree, not only on the definition and application of the key terms but even on the basic question they are trying to decide.

OPPONENTS

Opponents of parochial school aid say the question, put simply, is: Does the Constitution allow the government to use public money to advance a sectarian school system?

To answer it they cite the Everson case of 1947 in which the Supreme Court ruled it was within the Constitution to transport parochial school students (in New Jersey) on public school buses.

The legal staff of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in cooperation with attorneys of the Department of Justice, cited the opinion in the Everson case to support its view that direct grants or across-the-board loans to church schools would be unconstitutional.

Judges in the Everson case declared: "No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion."

End of argument? Not exactly.

Those in favor of such aid argue there are more basic issues to be settled and another constitutional question involved, the matter of equal protection of the laws.

They ask: May the government dispense public funds to promote the general education of its citizens and not include all the children who attend accredited schools?

To answer it they note the right of a parent to select any accredited school for his child and cite the opinion of the 1926 Frost case in which the Supreme Court interpreted the 14th (equal protection of the laws) Amendment as it applied to the right of a private trucking company to use the public highways.

"If the state may compel the surrender of one constitutional right as a condition of its favor, it may, in like manner, compel the surrender of all," the court held. "It is inconceivable that guarantees embedded in the Constitution . . . may thus be manipulated out of existence."

Before examining the specifics of each side's case, here's some background: Chief advocates of Parochial school aid today, as in the past, are the bishops of the Roman Catholic Church whose 15,000 elementary and high schools educate about five million children. Combined with other denominational and private schools, the nation's nonpublic school enrollment amounts to 6.8 million—about one out of every seven children.

TWO DECADES

In the past two decades the nation's population has grown 37 per cent, public school enrollment has increased 42 per cent, and education costs have skyrocketed.

The nation's Catholic population during the same period has doubled, and parochial school growth has been 147 per cent. Despite the growth of its school system, the Catholic church has not been able to keep up with the boom in Catholic population. There are as many Catholic children in public schools as there are in parochial schools.

Each time a general education bill has come before Congress, beginning with the first in 1949, the Catholic hierarchy has made its position clear.

The bishops themselves, however, are divided on the desirability of federal aid in general. But they agree that if there is to be federal aid, it must include parochial school students. If it did not, they said, they would consider it discriminatory legislation and would be obliged to oppose it.

This was the substance of their joint statement regarding the Kennedy proposal.

They suggested aid in the form of long-term low-interest loans which they felt would be "strictly within the framework of the Constitution."

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D.-Pa., has introduced such a bill, and the Senate education subcommittee scheduled hearings for April 17-18.

The Clark bill would authorize $350 million in loans to church and private schools over the next two years at an interest rate high enough to assure that the government would not lose money.

The only other time Congress has considered such a measure was last year when Sen. Wayne Morse, D.-Ore., offered an amendment to the education bill providing for an annual fund of $75 million to be lent at 2¾ per cent interest.

It was defeated 49-37 with then Sen. Kennedy registered against the amendment but for the general bill. When the House took up the measure, an attempt to offer a similar amendment was ruled out of order.

At least 48 congressmen have introduced bills during the current session providing for some form of relief to taxpayers who pay for their children's education — tax credits, deductions and the like.

President Kennedy has asked that all such measures be considered independently of his general aid bill rather than as amendments.

Obviously general federal school aid measures, with their history of repeated failures and no successes, face tough sledding in Congress even without provisions for parochial school aid.

Nevertheless, Catholic spokesmen are known to oppose considering parochial school aid separate from the main bill. They feel it would have less than the barest chance of passing and moreover would be unfair.

The Rev. Robert C. Hartnett, SJ., a leading Catholic writer on the subject, declared during the 1949 argument which closely parallels the present one: "The rights of nonpublic education... should not be sloughed off into an incidental bill—as if religious education and the rights and principles which it represents in American society were of no more than incidental concern to the nation."

Such treatment, said Father Hartnett, fails to recognize "that the public school system is not the whole of the American school system."

CRUCIAL

This is crucial to the entire argument of the parochial school aid forces. If they could win this recognition, they say, a legal way could be found for them to participate in general school benefits.

"Either Congress has a responsibility in the field of education or it hasn't," said Father Hartnett. "If it has, it has the same responsibility to citizens of the United States everywhere.... It can't in one and the same law claim and disclaim responsibility."

As the Jesuit publication America expressed it: "What sense does it make to argue that our educational needs are such as to require federal aid for every school district in the country—and then exclude one out of every seven children from its benefits?"

It makes sense, reply the opponents, because it would create a dangerous partnership between the churches and the government which could lead to further erosion of an historic barrier.

The Christian Century, a Protestant journal, summed it up: "If we violate the separation of church and state and sacrifice an essential element in the maintenance of religious and civil liberty, we shall open a Pandora's box of domestic discord which may never be closed."

Furthermore, this side argues, elementary and high school students are compelled to attend school, which is the only reason the state provides the facilities.

Thus they can't be regarded the same as college students who advance their education voluntarily. The government encourages higher education but does not require it.

They insist that regarding parochial schools as part of the American school system would mean, followed to its logical conclusion, giving them the same status as public schools.

Dr. Harold A. Bosley, Methodist clergyman and author of a study of the parochial school aid question, takes the view that "a parochial school is in no sense a public school" and cannot be treated as one.

"The parochial school is an essential part of the church which creates it," he said.

He points out administration of the parochial school rests strictly with the church and not with the community and that "the axiom that voters and taxpayers have a basic right to have a decisive voice in how their tax money is used is denied by the parochial school system."

When parochial school administrators seek public funds, he says, "they are asking that they be treated as public schools at the tax office but nowhere else."

To illustrate another element in the problem, Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., a parochial school aid advocate, advances this argument: If a church school is no more than an extension of the church, "then it logically follows that any contributions to such schools should be treated as any other church contribution for tax purposes."

However, the internal revenue service ruled in 1954 that parochial school tuition cannot be claimed as an income tax deduction.

Still another basic argument is over the fact, which neither side disputes, that sending a child to porochial school is strictly a matter of choice, that no parent is forced to do so.

The public schools are available if parents choose to use them, says Dr. Bosley. If they do not, it is their own choice, and the additional expenses involved become their freely assumed responsibility.

CONTENDS

The other side contends that when parents send their children to parochial schools they are not simply engaging in a privilege indulged them by the state; they are exercising a constitutional right the state cannot deny them.

They point to a unanimous supreme court decision, the 1925 Pierce case which overturned an Oregon law requiring attendance at public schools only: "The fundamental theory of liberty . . . excludes any general power of the state to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only. The child is not the mere creature of the state; those who nurture him and direct his destiny have the right, coupled with the high duty, to recognize and prepare him for additional obligations."

If this is their right, they argue, then the state cannot compel them to surrender it as a condition for participating in general educational benefits. They insist a person's constitutional rights must have no strings attached.

The supreme court has ruled on the constitutionality only of specific aspects of the broad parochial school aid issue—bus rides, free textbooks, released time and the like.

It may rule on another crucial question in the near future.

Five parents in South Burlington, Vt., have petitioned the tribunal to overturn their state court's ruling that paying expenses for local youngsters who attended Catholic high schools in the area was unconstitutional.

South Burlington has no public high school, and since 1915 pupils have attended nearby high schools of their parents' choice at the expense of the local public school district. Thousands of other public school districts across the country have used the same system.

The Vermont parents brought a taxpayers' suit three years ago claiming the public fund payments to parochial schools violated the Constitution. A petition for a hearing reached the Supreme Court March 29.

Should the high court decide to take up the case, it could provide an opportunity for the justices to express themselves on the entire broad issue.

When Logic Is Bizarre

The flavor is unusual, and this is quite a dish.

It's told in the first person, in a very dry, conversational tone with a little bit of jive talk to season it. Gil, Tish and their little daughter Candy spend most of their time in the California sun, which might explain why such addled things happen in their house or wherever they go.

Like the time Tish won 65 cents at Las Vegas, and nearly stopped every wheel from turning, or the time they met the little Mexican matador with the eight sisters.

Their friends and acquaintances always are a little on the zany side — such as the paradoxically innocent beatnik whose oil-rich father was thinking of buying Oklahoma or the Red Cross but finally settled for the University of Southern California. That happened about the same time Gil found the old street car that the matador needed, only it was a funicular car from Hong Kong.

This is humor of a special sort, and it finally dawns on you that really logical ideas about sex, money and life can be uproariously bizarre simply by being so logical. And at the same time there filters through to you an add brand of poker - faced pathos, like the conclusions Tish drew from her luck with the four millionth nickel in the ladies' room. Or when their baby sitter, Morgendstern, won a medal.

For up to the minute American humor, spiced with sex, this is it. Whether the author is spoofing the Ford Foundation or the headshrinkers, he is immensely funny. And never square, man.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

A great variety of new books have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week. There are books for every reader, no matter what his taste may be. In the field of fiction a number of new titles have been added. "The Wax Foundation" by Gwen Davenport is a delightful story of an eccentric widow, who left her estate, heavily encumbered by absurb provisions and her nephew who attempted to carry them out. "The Infidels," by Chloe Gartner is a powerful story of the first Crusade and the sack of Jerusalem. Chloe Gartner gives great vitality to the age of chivalry and this is a book which will be very popular. Another novel with a historical background is "The Prime Minister's Wife" by Doris Leslie. This story is based on the life of Mrs. Benjamin Disraeli and is a thoroughly charming period piece. "Mirande" by Jan Hilliard is a warm and entertaining story, with it's setting in Canada during the early part of this century and it is the story of a thoroughly charming woman and her family. Alan Paton, whose "Cry the Beloved Country" made such an impression several years ago, has written another book about Africa, called "Tales from a Troubled Land." It is written with compassion and feeling and sheds much light on this unfortunate country. Another novel with a South Africa is "Blue Fire" by Phyllis A. Whitney. It is her most mature work and is a story of conflicting loyalties and characters told against an unusual setting. An exciting new mystery story is "Error of Judgment" by George Harmon Coxe.

Probably the most outstanding commentary on the Bible from a protestant viewpoint is "The Interprater's Bible" a twelve volume set of material. The library has a reference set in the main library, the West Monroe Library and the Anna Meyer Branch Library. A very kind patron is buying a circulating set for the West Monroe Library. This week she and her husband added three more volumes to this set. There are only two more volumes left in this set and it will then be complete. There are only two more volumes left in this set and it will then be complete. This is a wonderful thing to do and we deeply appreciate it. Two other interesting books of a religious nature were added this month. "A Faith of Our Own" by Austin Mersden Farrer and "Putting Faith to Work" by Robert James McCracken.

One of the weak spots in the library collection is the field of business, but a desperate effort is being made to improve this field. Several new books in the business field were added this week. "Sampling in a Nutshell" by Morris J. Slonin is an interesting book in the field of statistics. "What you should know about inflation" by Henry Hazlitt is a book which every businessman should read. "Management of International Operations" by John Fayerweather contains much valuable material about overseas markets. "The European free - trade Association and analysis of it's Operations" by F. V. Meyer is another valuable book. The library has had copies of "The Untouchables" by Eliot Ness for several months, but the demand for it is so great that three new copies were added during the past week. Two new titles in the field of education are noteworthy. One is "Mechanical - Electrical Equipment Handbook for School Buildings" by Harry Terry and "Physical Education in the Modern Elementary School" by Charles A. Bucher.

A very valuable book for parents who went to help their children with their studies in the field of science is "Growing up With Science" by Marianne Besse. An interesting new book on the subject of botany is "Light and plant Growth" by R. Van der Veen.

More and more people are interested in the field of "Tape Recording" and a fine new book on the subject has just beend added to the library collection. It is called "Tape Recording as a Pastime" by Douglas Gardner. Cookbooks are always popular and the latest title is called "The Electric Epicure's Cookbook" by Poppy Cannan. A new book in the field of personal management is "Human Values Where People Work" by Thomas G. Spates. "The Visual Arts Today" by Gyorgy Kepes is a most interesting book in the field of pictorial communication. The library never has enough books in we are especially happy to have a new title, "The Pahlmann Book of Interior Design" by William Pahlmann.

A perfectly beautiful new book is "The Folk Songs of North America" by Alan Lomax. This is the most complete book which has been written in this field and will be widely read by those who are interested in this art. One of the most interesting and loved people of modern times was Dr. Thomas A. Dooley who did such wonderful work in the countries of Southeast Asia. The library has recently acquired four copies of his work "Deliver Us From Evil" which is the story of the Revolution in Vietnam.

Books about Louisiana are always in demand and we have several new additions to that collection this week. "Origins of the class struggle in Louisiana" by Roger Shugg is a penetrating study of labor conditions in Louisiana. "Ferns and Fern Allies of Louisiana" by Clair Alan Brown is an interesting addition to the study of plant life in our state. "Chata - ima"; the life of Adrien Emmanuel Rouquette" by Dagmar R. LeBraton, presents an interesting picture of the career of an outstanding figure in Louisiana history. We appreciate very much the gift of three copies of the 1961 Monroyan, the year book of Neville High School. These books form an important part of the local history record of our community.

Biographies are widely read and enjoyed by the library patrons and our biography collection is quite large and is growing every week. Three new titles are worthy of note "Samuel Slater; father of American Manufacturers" by E. H. Cameron; "Sara Teasdale" the biography of an outstanding poetress of this century" by Margaret Haley Carpenter, and "Envoy to Caracas"; the story of G. A. Williamson, nineteenth century diplomat by Jane Luces de Grummond.

Several very fine additions have made to the Reference collection of the Library during the past week. "Thomas Register of Manufacturers, the 1961 edition is a worthy addition to the business field. "Scandinavia, past and present" is a perfectly beautiful three volume set of books published in Denmark, which gives a complete history and modern discussion of the Scandinavian countries. This was a gift from the Scandinavin governments. Two useful books were added to the genealogy collection as gifts to the library. One One is "Abstracts of the Wills of the State of South Carolina, first volume" compiled by Caroline Moore. the other is a reprint of "Early Settlers of Alabama" by James E. Sanders.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Musical Yankees At Little Theatre

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

Little Theatre will take its giant step into the new Strauss Playhouse with the opening of "Damn Yankees" on Thursday after a preview on the previous night.

This is the first permanent home the Monroe organization has had in its more than 25 years of existence. The Selman Field Playhouse served as a semi-permanent location for more than a decade.

But the new theatre on Lamy Lane puts Monroe ahead of most cities twice its size in the field of community dramatics.

Approximately 75 persons will take part in the opening musical which will be under the general direction of Richard Clark. The Northeast Jazz Ensemble will furnish the music, with Del Sawyer, professor of music at the local college, in charge. Elvie McGehee New Orleans choreographer, has worked out the dances and drilled the chorus lines.

Two performances have been slated for Sunday, April 16, at 2:30 and 8:15 p.m., and the musical will run through Wednesday, April 19.

The Northeast State College Choir will feature works of Hungarian composer, Zoltan Kodaly, and American Howard Hanson in a program set for 3 p.m. at Grace Episcopal Church next Sunday.

Davis Bingham will conduct the group and soloists will be Evelyn Cruse O'Conner, Michael De Shong and Luther Burney.

The program will include Kodaly's "Missa Brevis," and Hanson's "The Cherubic Hymn."

With the Oscar awards night set for April 17, contenders seem to include "Exodus," and "Spartacus." But the show about the fallen woman, "Never on Sunday," may prove to be a dark horse winner.

The film has already been nominated for best actress (Melina Mercouri), best director (Jules Dassin) and best song (same as the movie's title).

Proving there is little new under the sun, "Never on Sunday" deals with an American man of letters who obtains two weeks of the fallen woman's life to teach her about the "finer things of life." This sounds like "Pygmalion," "My Fair Lady," or even "Born Yesterday."

It is understood Miss Mercouri speaks to Americans in the film, she speaks English. Then when she addresses other members of the cast, she speaks in their native tongues and subtitles flash on the screen.

This may work against or in behalf of the movie's rating — with much depending on the judges. It may give the piece the necessary touch of realism to boost it to the top bracket.

One thing is certain. The "fallen woman" topic holds a numerical edge for movies in the Oscar lineup. "Butterfield 8," "Irma La Douce," "Girl of the Night," "Tenderloin," "The World of Suzie Wong," and "Go Naked in the World" — all deal with the time-dishonored profession. It's easy to see that a movie about a good girl — or man — nowadays is hard to find.

The LSU Contemporary Music Festival will continue its Sunday afternoon presentations through the month of April and on Sunday May 7. Works by French, German, Italian and English composers will be featured.

The festival is now in its 18th year and is the oldest of its type in the United States. It was founded in 1944 by Miss Helen Gunderson, LSU professor of theory and composition. Four American premieres have been given to works by leading modern composers at the festivals including Alberto Ginastera of Argentina; Domingo Santa Cruz, Chile; Herman Reutter, Germany, and Humphrey Searle, England.

From behind the "iron curtain" comes a Polish movie which reveals the limited awareness of the world resulting from the limited exchange of information with the western nations.

The hero, a member of the Polish underground in World War II, and now a resident of France, appears on the scene in a medium priced French automobile. As it turns out, the car is a status symbol for western success — as the Polish director envisioned it.

The story unfolds with the hero looking for his old girl friend, Ina. When he locates her, they can't seem to bridge their idealistic differences but they pass one another plenty of political slogans in the process. When he gives up and leaves Poland, he returns the car to its true owner—A French industrialist for whom he is chauffeur.

If the United States can't beat such unsubtle entertainment-propaganda, our playwrights must not be trying very hard.

RARE BIBLE SHOWN

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A rare "He" edition of the King James version of the Bible has been displayed as part of a Religion Department exhibit at Ohio Wesleyan University.

It is so named because of a printing error in the book of Ruth (3:15), which was corrected in later editions.

100 Years Ago The Shot That Split The Nation Was Fired

Editor's Note — One hundred years ago next Wednesday it began - the war that locked a young nation for four years on a rack of pain, death and fire and burned an indelible imprint on its memory. Come along now to Charleston harbor and see the site of the shot that split the nation.

By TOM HENSHAW

Fight your way through brambles and marsh grass and brush and sand gnats to the edge of Charleston harbor and, although no marker announces the fact, you will be standing on or near a memorable spot.

Here the Civil war began.

Out in the harbor narrows, across 1 1-3 miles of gray water, rises the low mass of Fort Sumter, once the beleaguered symbol of national strength in the midst of a fast-crumbling Union.

It was from Fort Johnson, in the murky pre-dawn of April 12, 1861, that a Confederate mortar shell arched over the harbor and burst above Sumter's parapet to usher in America's bloodiest war.

Johnson has long since fallen to sand gnats and the biologists; Sumter's only assailants nowadays are the sport-shirted, camera-toting tourists who wander through its battered old casemates and examine the relics in its shiny new museum.

THREE MILES

But, slightly more than three miles up the harbor, Charleston—from whence came the spark that touched off the war—is still Charleston, located they say, "at the point where the Ashley and Cooper rivers join to form the Atlantic Ocean."

A century ago, Charleston was a stronghold of rabid secessionists; today it's a stronghold of equally rabid historians, many of them amateurs devoted to the task of preserving a niche in history for some otherwise forgotten ancestor.

A civil war of words — or at least a salvo of letters to the editor—can break out at the drop of a misplaced minnie ball or some ancestral slight, real or fancied.

For instance: Who fired the first shot?

In the delightful world of Charlestonian tradition and legend, the number of candidates would make an impressive showing at a United Daughters of the Confederacy banquet.

Was it Capt. George S. James, commander of the Beach Battery of 10-inch mortars at Fort Johnson; or was it Lt. Henry S. Farley, James' subordinate; or was it Lt. Wade Hampton Gibbes, commander of a nearby battery?

Another school of thought holds that James (or Farley or Gibbes) fired only a signal shot and the real one was triggered by crusty old Edmund Ruffin, the fire-breathing Virginia who was later spotted, long white hair streaming, riding a cannon into the battle of Bull Run—or "Manassas" to Charlestonians.

Still another stubborn band of Civil War buffs insists that the historic shot was already in the record books when the first mortar zeroed in on Sumter. Their candidate is young George E. Haynsworth, a Citadel cadet, who fired the shot that whistled over the side-wheeler Star of the West, which was trying to bring supplies to the fort the preceding January.

A short while ago, Horace J. Sheely Jr., then historian of the Fort Sumter National Monument, delved deeply into the rival claims and, at the risk of social ostracism, decided James did it.

Sheely, it may be noted, is no longer historian at Sumter, but his transfer is not necessarily connected with his conclusion.

Whoever did fire the first shot of the war didn't brag much about it at the time. James died in Sharpsburg, Md., a year and a half later. Farley and Gibbes didn't enter claims until nearly 30 years had passed.

Many, even some of the most loyal of secessionists, didn't want to shoulder direct responsibility for starting hostilities.

Roger Pryor, like Ruffin an itinerant Virginian of the "strike-a-blow" school, was offered the chance—by James, as the captain's supporters point out — but he turned it down because "I couldn't fire the first gun of the war."

On the other side of the water, however, the man who first fired back had no such qualms. Capt. Abner Doubleday, a New Yorker of deep abolitionist convictions, did it with a relish.

"To me," he wrote later, "it was simply a contest, politically speaking, as to whether virtue or vice should rule"—and the captain had little doubt which side he was on.

Doubleday also was the man who either did or did not invent baseball—but that's another controversy, to be argued out in Cooperstown, N.Y., not Charleston.

The precise spot from which the first shot of the war was fired has never been determined to everyone's satisfaction either.

"It may be under water out there," says Dr. Elmer L. Puryear of the College of Charleston, indicating a spot just off the beach at Fort Johnson, "but I'm not going to say for sure."

North Carolinian Puryear has been in Charleston about four years. He doesn't want to get mixed up in local history, which is the equivalent of local politics elsewhere.

Controversy or not, the Charleston Confederate Centennial Commission plans to raise this week a monument honoring the first shot of the war. It will be set on the grounds of the marine laboratory on the assumption that is as good a spot as any within a couple of hundred yards.

In a way, the Charleston commission will be firing a first shot of its own, for the centennial observance that starts with Sumter will continue for the next four years, possibly until a descendant of Gen. Lee surrenders symbolically at Appomattox.

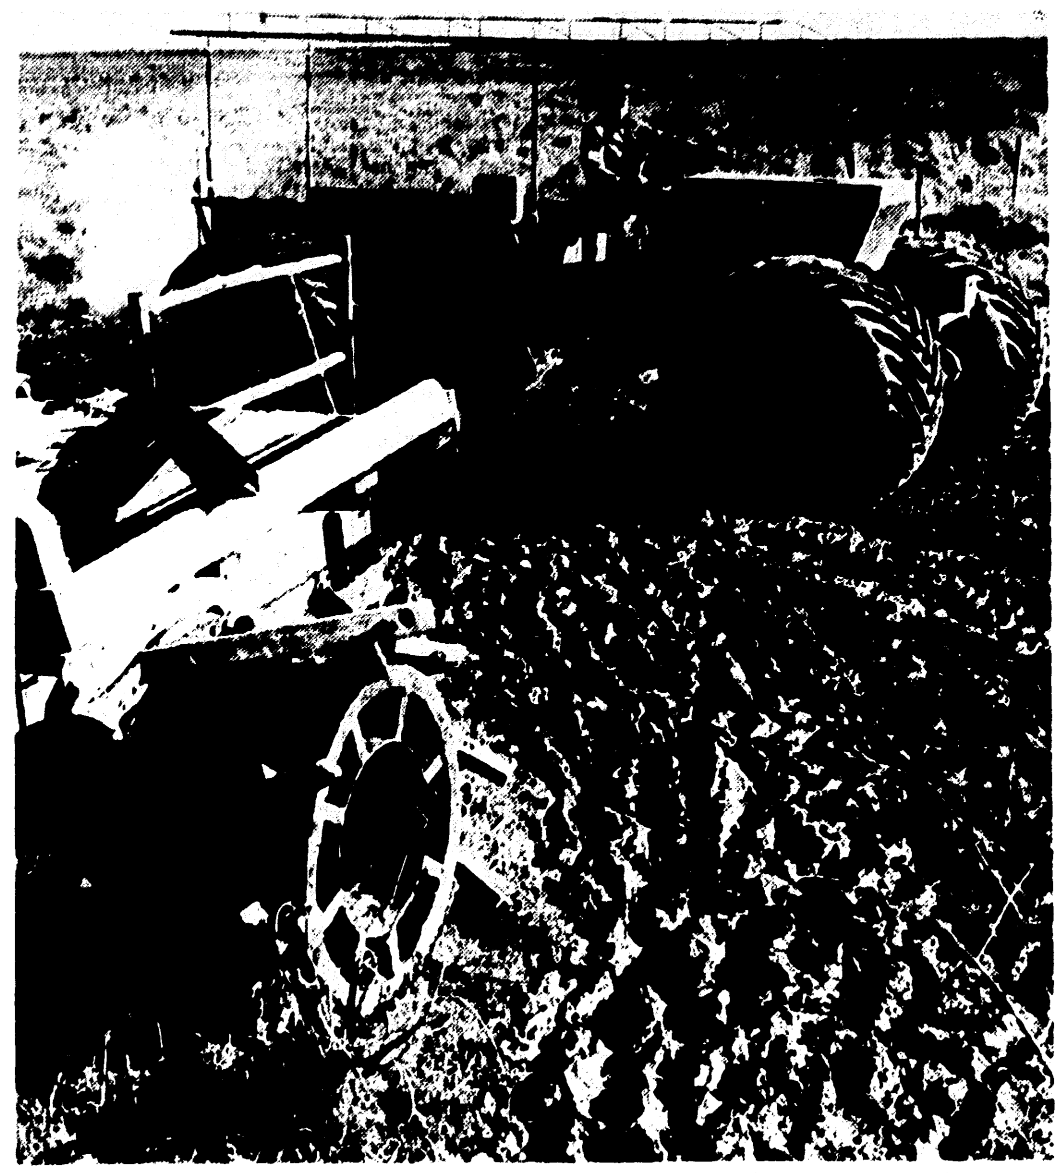
PLAN DIRECT FLIGHTS

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) (AP)—West Germany's Lufthansa on April 30 begins direct Cologne-New York flights on a four-a-week basis.



OLD JOB, NEW WAY — How to conquer a swamp, then and now, is dramatized by the vehicles shown here. Both were designed to take oil exploration crews into swamps to ferret out secrets about the earth's petroleum deposits. The one in the foreground, with the peculiar slat wheels, has been discarded for the streamlined model with "Terra-Tires." Because of their broad footprint construction and inflation pressure requirement of less than 10 pounds per square inch, the tires, five feet high and nearly four feet wide, will not bog down in the broad sea of mud that comprises the swamplands. The new buggies, designed and sold by Crain Bros., of Grand Chenier, La., perform equally well in sand and are amphibious.

DISTRICT OIL ROUNDUP

Conservation Office Here Reports Three Completions

By RICHARD GREENE
World Oil Editor

Drilling and exploration activities in the Monroe district last week produced four well completions and staked eight new locations of possible oil or gas deposits.

Three of the completions were new wells in Catahoula, Jackson and Union parishes, while the foutrh, a re-completion, is in Concordia Parish.

Duncan S. Cook, manager of the 14-parish district, also listed in his report a total of 14 rigs active in the fields and three holes that were plugged and abandoned due to little or no oil flow.

COMPLETIONS

In the Wildcat Field of Catahoula Parish McGoldrick and Watson have completed their Pinhook no. 1 in section 33-6-7E. It will flow 109 barrels through a 10-64 in. choke from perforations at 5463-64 ft., with a tubing pressure of 340 lbs. and a casing pressure of 120 lbs. The gas oil ratio is 320:1 and the gravity is 48.2.

Ark La Gas Co.'s Boyd Est Unit no. 1 was completed in section 1-17-1W of the Calhoun field in Jackson Parish. It will flow 6500 MCF from perforations at 9501 ft.

Louisiana Gas Producing Co. has completed its Roberson no. 4 in section 33-22-3E of the Monroe field of Union Parish. It will flow 600 MCF from 2292 ft. with a rock pressure of 720 lbs.

The re-completed well is the California Co.'s Lake St. John Unit no. 25 in the Lake St. John field of Concordia Parish. It will now flow 183 barrels from perforations at 9038-73 ft. through a 10-64 in. choke, tubing pressure 1100 lbs., gas oil ratio 1202:1, gravity, 38.2.

Olin Oil and Gas Corp's Unit BB-1 was left in the Wildcat field of Union Parish on April 2 at 3505 ft., in sec. 10-21-2E.

Other Parts Of Economy See Promise

NEW YORK (AP)— Sweet music was piped through the nation's business community last week—the sound of automobile factories humming.

Stepped up production through the auto industry, reflecting a sharp upturn in March sales, held promise of a spring tonic to steel, glass, rubber and other important auto-supplying sectors of the country.

There were other brightening signs that set economists, business executivtes and government officials to talking about the pace of recovery and drowned out debate whether the 1960-61 slump was "bottoming out."

STRONGER

Word came of a decline in unemployment in mid-March, of stronger sales in some areas of business, recall of furloughed railroad and industrial workers, an upturn in steel production and rising outlays for construction.

Easter buying, while a hair breadth behind Easter week a year ago when the holiday came in midmonth, was up 5 to 9 per cent on the retail level on a direct calendar comparison basis.

There were discouraging developments too, but not nearly so many.

And nagging doubt persisted over the degree to which economic improvement would dry up disturbingly high joblessness—still at about 5.5 million on March 15.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said 10.5 million new jobs would have to be created in the next year to achieve the theoretical goal to full employment. This would be after allowance for natural growth in the work force, job attrition from better production methods and other factors.

Expressions of optimism came from several sources, notably from the men who do the buying for U. S. business.

"The economy may have rounded the bend toward the upside," said a committee report by the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

ADVISORS

Business advisors to Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges foresaw a spurt in national output from the presently estimated annual level of $503.5 billion to perhaps $520 billion in trying to formulate a code of ethics for businessmen — that a group of businessmen, philosophers and business educators is doing spadework on the project.

Hodges, a former textile executive, has been disturbed over the antitrust conspiracy in the heavy electrical equipment industry which he recently said has put business under an indictment.

As the result of brisk March sales, an over-all boost in production schedules of 18 per cent was ordered for the April-June quarter, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

TRADING SPREE

Buying Caution Urged In Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged such a trading spree this week that the president of the New York Stock Exchange felt it necessary to urge investors to act with caution.

Volume skyrocketed to 6.47 million shares Monday and 7.08 million Tuesday. Each total was the highest since 7.72 million shares changed hands Sept. 26, 1955, after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The exchange head, Keith Funston, said "reports reaching us indicate that some would-be investors are attempting to purchase shares of companies whose names they cannot identify, whose products are unknown to them, and whose prospects are, at best, highly uncertain."

Trading on the American Stock Exchange joind in the splurge. Volume of 4.2 million shares Tuesday was the highest since 1959. The weekly total of 18,992,505 was the highest in the American's history.

TOTALS

Funston's warning had an immediate effect and trading dipped to 5.43 million Wednesday, 4.91 million Thursday and 5.1 million Friday.

The market attained a new 1961 recovery peak as measured by the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks. This barometer advanced 7.05 to 683.63, topping its previous high of the year, 679.38 reached March 22.

The average neared its all-time high of 685.47 established Jan. 5, 1960.

Of 1,456 issues traded, 721 advanced and 619 declind. New 1961 highs totaled 360 and new lows 29.

The most active issue this week on the American exchange was Sapphire Petroleum, unchanged at ⅝ on 797,000 shares.

The corporate bond market, facing mounting new supplies, coasted downhill this week for the third consecutive week. A turnabout by governments in the final two sessions produced the first plus week.

Businessmen In The News

Ray Routon

FERRIDAY — Ray Routon, Jr. of Ferriday, has been awarded the Chevrolet Motor Division's highest selling honer.

Routon, a member of the sales staff of the Guice Chevrolet Company of Ferriday, named to membership in Chevrolet's "Legion of Leaders" honor club at a special banquet attended by fellow members from the division's New Orleans zone. This is his second entry into the select group of Chevrolet salesmen.

For a quarter of a century, Chevrolet has recognized its leading salesmen. It's first "Honor Organization" was inaugurated in 1926. Now, 25 years later, the legion is considered the most rewarding recognition program for salesmen in the automotive industry.

Herb Neely

RUSTON — Three per cent dividend checks were mailed Monday for a total of $843 to the 104 stockholders of Ruston Industries, Inc., according to Herb Neely, secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

Ruston Industries was organized several years ago to purchase land and erect a building for the Diamond Handle Co., as a boost to employment in the Ruston area and as a user of timber.

Wildcat Well Is Successful In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Franklin County wildcat has tested 150 barrels of oil per day in the Wilcox Oil sand.

The USA-J. H. Ewing "A" No. 1, sec. 14-5n-1e, drilled by Pan American Petroleum Corp., was producing from 6,563-65 feet. It is near the Dry Bayou oil field.

Continental Oil Co. was reported running production casing in a Yazoo County wildcat, the Freudenberg No. 1, sec. 24-12n-2w, about 3 miles northeast of Yazoo City.

The well was drilled to 13,800 feet through the smackover lime formation. Shows of undetermined commercial worth have been logged in the smackover, reported indicated.

In Marion County, D. A. Biglane was evaluating commercial worth of gas shows found in a wildcat, the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-2n-13e, at 11,200 feet. The operator was attempting to sidewall core a sand below 11,100 feet.

In the East Fork field of Amite County, Pan American was preparing to test the Moore No. 1, sec. 15-3n-5e. Reports indicated the venture logged oil sands in the upper and lower Tuscaloosa zones. Total depth was 11,406 feet, with production casing set to 11,-250 feet.

In the Bentonia Field of Yazoo County, production tests at the Thompson No. 1, sec. 3-9n-1w, by Humble Oil and Refining Co. were held up due to high water.

The venture was the second well in the Bentonia Field. It has three strings of tubing cemented to test three different sands logged. Total depth of the well is 10,676 feet.

Texaco, Inc., was drilling below 9,600 feet in the Thompson No. 1 sec. 33-10n-1w, located northwest of the discovery well in the Bentonia field.

Gulf Oil Corp. was still shut down due to high water at the deep Issaquena County wildcat, the Eagle Bend No. 1, sec. 8-18n-3e, with the well at 16,602 feet. Reports indicated the well may be drilled below 17,000 feet.

Field drilling the past week brought one new oiler as a dual well and a second near official completion.

A sand at 10,834-44 feet pumped 390 barrels of oil per day. The second zone at 11,036-98 feet pumped 60 barrels daily.

Cooey Firearms Purchased By Olin Mathieson

The purchase of the Cooey Firearms Company of Cobourg, Ontario, for an undisclosed sum was announced by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation. The company, one of Canada's oldest and most respected names in the firearms field, produces a line of rifles and shotguns in the medium price range.

While the Cooey brand name line of firearms will be continued, Olin also announced that a separate operation, Winchester - Western, Ltd. of Canada, will be established at the Cobourg location for the distribution of a non-competitive line of Winchester firearms manufactured in the United States.

Both operations will be conducted through Olin's domestic Winchester - Western Division.

In announcing the decision, W. Miller Hurley, vice president and general manager of the division, stated that the move was undertaken as part of a long - range plan to capitalize more heavily on the enormous growth potential of the Canadian firearms market. Olin plans expansion of the Cobourg facilities.

Olin is a large diversified company with annual sales of more than $700,000,000. In addition to Winchester - Western, its fields of interest are chemicals, energy, metals, packaging, and pharmaceuticals.

Ground Breaking Held For Area Loan Building

VIDALIA (Special) — Ground breaking for the building which will house the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Concordia Parish was held here last week with C. V. Nichols, property owner turning the first shovel of dirt to start construction.

Almost all provisions for obtaining a charter have been filled by the organizers, according to William Koerber, attorney, who said that a charter will be obtained shortly and that the new loan association will be in operation by July 1.

The new association will operate within a radius of fifty miles, primarily in Concordia, Tensas and Catahoula parishes, Koerber said.

EXCEPT ON PAPER

Automobile Choice Not So Plentiful

DETROIT (AP) — Automobile buyers this spring are finding that often there is scarcity in the land of plenty.

With almost a million new cars in dealer stocks it would seem a simple matter to walk in and drive out with your choice. But don't count on it unless you are one of the few who really mean it when you say: "I don't care what's on it, just so it's a good car."

The key word to the problem is choice. A prospective car buyer today, on paper at least, has almost limitless choice.

To start with there are more than 340 standard models from the six American passenger car manufacturers and at least as many from foreign car makers.

VOLUME

Prices, which range from under $1,000 for some of the imported "bugs" to more than $20,000 for a select few super luxury dreamboats, help narrow the decision. But even within a given price bracket the choice is tremendous.

For example: in the volume section of the market (roughly $2,000 to $3,000) you can get a four-cylinder engine, a six-cylinder engine, a V-8. You can have single-barrel carburetors, two-barrel carburetors, four-barrel carburetors. And how about the rear axle ratio? One popular make has six axle options.

Are you interested in a two-door sedan, a four-door sedan, a two-door hardtop, a four-door hardtop, a convertible or a station wagon? In the station wagon field alone there are 101 American-made models.

Then there is the wide range of power accessories—brakes, seats, steering, windows, safety locks. You have to choose between automatic or manual transmission and in both there are options. Some lines have two types of automatic transmissions. Some offer both three-and four-speed manual transmissions.

Once you have settled upon an exterior color you have to decide about the upholstery. Do you want a white car with black upholstery or a black car with white or a red car with gray or a gray car with red, or what?

ASSEMBLY

A New York man who wanted one of the fast selling compacts with white outside and black inside had to wait four weeks. He could have had blue immediately.

All of these items depend on factory assembly. There are dozens of other accessories which a dealer can add or subtract but he isn't going to juggl ertnsmaishe isn't going to juggle transmissions or engines or axles for you.

A Chevrolet official once estimated his factories could build two million vehicles in a model year without making two identical. Thus it is entirely possible for you to find a dealer with 100 or more cars of the make you like without having one that fits your fancy exactly.

Birkett Williams of Cleveland, immediate past president of the National Auto Dealers Association, likens a man buying a car to one buying a tailor-made suit.

"You don't expect to go into a tailor's and pick your suit off the rack," Williams said. "And yet some people get downright angry if a dealer tells them they will have to wait for the car they have in mind to be built."

Williams says many dealers have made the mistake of trying to keep too many models in stock. "It's their own fault but they are mighty foolish if they think they can have one of everything. It just can't be done."

One special problem faced in recent months by prospective car buyers has been the curtailed production of all of the companies. With inventories over the million mark through January and February, assembly operations slowed and often stopped entirely for a week at a time in some makes.

This meant that if you had your heart set on something special and couldn't find it,the wait from the factory was even longer than normal.

OLD JOB, NEW WAY — How to conquer a swamp, then and now, is dramatized by the vehicles shown here. Both were designed to take oil exploration crews into swamps to ferret out secrets about the earth's petroleum deposits. The one in the foreground, with the peculiar slat wheels, has been discarded for the streamlined model with "Trera-Tires." Because of their broad footprint construction and inflation pressure requirement of less than 10 pounds per square inch, the tires, five feet high and nearly four feet wide, will not bog down in the broad sea of mud that comprises the swamplands. The new buggies, designed and sold by Crain Bros., of Grand Chenier, La., perform equally well in sand and are amphibious.

DISTRICT OIL ROUNDUP

Conservation Office Here Reports Three Completions

By RICHARD GREENE
World Oil Editor

Drilling and exploration activities in the Monroe district last week produced four well completions and staked eight new locations of possible oil or gas deposits.

Three of the completions were new wells in Catahoula, Jackson and Union parishes, while the foutrh, a re-completion, is in Concordia Parish.

Duncan S. Cook, manager of the 14-parish district, also listed in his report a total of 14 rigs active in the fields and three holes that were plugged and abandoned due to little or no oil flow.

COMPLETIONS

In the Wildcat Field of Catahoula Parish McGoldrick and Watson have completed their Pinhook no. 1 in section 33-6-7E. It will flow 109 barrels through a 10-64 in. choke from perforations at 5463-64 ft., with a tubing pressure of 340 lbs. and a casing pressure of 120 lbs. The gas oil ratio is 320:1 and the gravity is 48.2.

Ark La Gas Co.'s Boyd Est Unit no. 1 was completed in section 1-17-1W of the Calhoun field in Jackson Parish. It will flow 6500 MCF from perforations at 9501 ft.

Louisiana Gas Producing Co. has completed its Roberson no. 4 in section 33-22-3E of the Monroe field of Union Parish. It will flow 600 MCF from 2292 ft. with a rock pressure of 720 lbs.

The re-completed well is the California Co.'s Lake St. John Unit no. 25 in the Lake St. John field of Concordia Parish. It will now flow 183 barrels from perforations at 9038-73 ft. through a 10-64 in. choke, tubing pressure 1100 lbs., gas oil ratio 1202:1, gravity, 38.2.

Other Parts Of Economy See Promise

NEW YORK (AP)— Sweet music was piped through the nation's business community last week—the sound of automobile factories humming.

Stepped up production through the auto industry, reflecting a sharp upturn in March sales, held promise of a spring tonic to steel, glass, rubber and other important auto-supplying sectors of the country.

There were other brightening signs that set economists, business executivtes and government officials to talking about the pace of recovery and drowned out debate whether the 1960-61 slump was "bottoming out."

STRONGER

Word came of a decline in unemployment in mid-March, of stronger sales in some areas of business, recall of furloughed railroad and industrial workers, an upturn in steel production and rising outlays for construction.

Easter buying, while a hair breadth behind Easter week a year ago when the holiday came in midmonth, was up 5 to 9 per cent on the retail level on a direct calendar comparison basis.

There were discouraging developments too, but not nearly so many.

And nagging doubt persisted over the degree to which economic improvement would dry up disturbingly high joblessness—still at about 5.5 million on March 15.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said 10.5 million new jobs would have to be created in the next year to achieve the theoretical goal to full employment. This would be after allowance for natural growth in the work force, job attrition from better production methods and other factors.

Expressions of optimism came from several sources, notably from the men who do the buying for U. S. business.

"The economy may have rounded the bend toward the upside," said a committee report by the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

ADVISORS

Business advisors to Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges foresaw a spurt in national output from the presently estimated annual level of $503.5 billion to perhaps $520 billion in trying to formulate a code of ethics for businessmen — that a group of businessmen, philosophers and business educators is doing spadework on the project.

Hodges, a former textile executive, has been disturbed over the antitrust conspiracy in the heavy electrical equipment industry which he recently said has put business under an indictment.

As the result of brisk March sales, an over-all boost in production schedules of 18 per cent was ordered for the April-June quarter, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

TRADING SPREE

Buying Caution Urged In Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged such a trading spree this week that the president of the New York Stock Exchange felt it necessary to urge investors to act with caution.

Volume skyrocketed to 6.47 million shares Monday and 7.08 million Tuesday. Each total was the highest since 7.72 million shares changed hands Sept. 26, 1955, after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The exchange head, Keith Funston, said "reports reaching us indicate that some would-be investors are attempting to purchase shares of companies whose names they cannot identify, whose products are unknown to them, and whose prospects are, at best, highly uncertain."

Trading on the American Stock Exchange joind in the splurge. Volume of 4.2 million shares Tuesday was the highest since 1959. The weekly total of 18,992,305 was the highest in the American's history.

TOTALS

The New York Stock Exchange's weekly total was 28,987,-500, compard with 19,760,270 for the previous four-day week.

Funston's warning had an immediate effect and trading dipped to 5.43 million Wednesday, 4.91 million Thursday and 5.1 million Friday.

The market attained a new 1961 recovery peak as measured by the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks. This barometer advanced 7.05 to 683.63, topping its previous high of the year, 679.38 reached March 22.

The average neard its all-time high of 685.47 established Jan. 5, 1960.

Of 1,456 issues traded, 721 advanced and 619 declind. New 1961 highs totaled 360 and new lows 29.

The most active issue this week on the American exchange was Sapphire Petroleum, unchanged at ⅜ on 797,000 shares.

The corporate bond market, facing mounting new supplies, coasted downhill this week for the third consecutive week. A turnabout by governments in the final two sessions produced the first plus week.

Businessmen In The News

Ray Routon

FERRIDAY — Kay Routon, Jr. of Ferriday, has been awarded the Chevrolet Motor Division's highest selling honer.

Routon, a member of the sales staff of the Guice Chevrolet Company of Ferriday, named to membership in Chevrolet's "Legion of Leaders" honor club at a special banquet attended by fellow members from the division's New Orleans zone. This is his second entry into the select group of Chevrolet salesmen.

For a quarter of a century, Chevrolet has recognized its leading salesmen. It's first "Honor Organization" was inaugurated in 1926. Now, 25 years later, the legion is considered the most rewarding recognition program for salesmen in the automotive industry.

Herb Neely

RUSTON — Three per cent dividend checks were mailed Monday for a total of $843 to the 104 stockholders of Ruston Industries, Inc., according to Herb Neely, secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

Ruston Industries was organized several years ago to purchase land and erect a building for the Diamond Handle Co., as a boost to employment in the Ruston area and as a user of timber.

EXCEPT ON PAPER

Automobile Choice Not So Plentiful

DETROIT (AP) — Automobile buyers this spring are finding that often there is scarcity in the land of plenty.

With almost a million new cars in dealer stocks it would seem a simple matter to walk in and drive out with your choice. But don't count on it unless you are one of the few who really mean it when you say: "I don't care what's on it, just so it's a good car."

The key word to the problem is choice. A prospective car buyer today, on paper at least, has almost limitless choice.

To start with there are more than 340 standard models from the six American passenger car manufacturers and at least as many from foreign car makers.

VOLUME

Prices, which range from under $1,000 for some of the imported "bugs" to more than $20,000 for a select few super luxury dreamboats, help narrow the decision. But even within a given price bracket the choice is tremendous.

For example: in the volume section of the market (roughly $2,000 to $3,000) you can get a four-cylinder engine, a six-cylinder engine, a V-8. You can have single-barrel carburetors, two-barrel carburetors, four-barrel carburetors. And how about the rear axle ratio? One popular make has six axle options.

Are you interested in a two-door sedan, a four-door sedan, a two-door hardtop, a four-door hardtop, a convertible or a station wagon? In the station wagon field alone there are 101 American-made models.

Then there is the wide range of power accessories—brakes, seats, steering, windows, safety locks. You have to choose between automatic or manual transmission and in both there are options. Some lines have two types of automatic transmissions. Some offer both three-and four-speed manual transmissions.

Once you have settled upon an exterior color you have to decide about the upholstery. Do you want a white car with black upholstery or a black car with white or a red car with gray or a gray car with red, or what?

ASSEMBLY

A New York man who wanted one of the fast selling compacts with white outside and black inside had to wait four weeks. He could have had blue immediately.

All of these items depend on factory assembly. There are dozens of other accessories which a dealer can add or subtract but he isn't going to juggl ertnsmaishe isn't going to juggle transmissions or engines or axles for you.

A Chevrolet official once estimated his factories could build two million vehicles in a model year without making two identical. Thus it is entirely possible for you to find a dealer with 100 or more cars of the make you like without having one that fits your fancy exactly.

Birkett Williams of Cleveland, immediate past president of the National Auto Dealers Association, likens a man buying a car to one buying a tailor-made suit.

"You don't expect to go into a tailor's and pick your suit off the rack," Williams said. "And yet some people get downright angry if a dealer tells them they will have to wait for the car they have in mind to be built."

Williams says many dealers have made the mistake of trying to keep too many models in stock. "It's their own fault but they are mighty foolish if they think they can have one of everything. It just can't be done."

One special problem faced in recent months by prospective car buyers has been the curtailed production of all of the companies. With inventories over the million mark through January and February, assembly operations slowed and often stopped entirely for a week at a time in some makes.

This meant that if you had your heart set on something special and couldn't find it,the wait from the factory was even longer than normal.

Wildcat Well Is Successful In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Franklin County wildcat has tested 150 barrels of oil per day in the Wilcox Oil sand.

The USA-J. H. Ewing "A" No. 1, sec. 14-5n-1e, drilled by Pan American Petroleum Corp., was producing from 6,563-65 feet. It is near the Dry Bayou oil field.

Continental Oil Co. was reported running production casing in a Yazoo County wildcat, the Freudenberg No. 1, sec. 24-12n-2w, about 3 miles northeast of Yazoo City.

The well was drilled to 13,800 feet through the smackover lime formation. Shows of undetermined commercial worth have been logged in the smackover, reported indicated.

In Marion County, D. A. Biglane was evaluating commercial worth of gas shows found in a wildcat, the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-2n-13e, at 11,200 feet. The operator was attempting to sidewall core a sand below 11,100 feet.

In the East Fork field of Amite County, Pan American was preparing to test the Moore No. 1, sec. 15-3n-5e. Reports indicated the venture logged oil sands in the upper and lower Tuscaloosa zones. Total depth was 11,406 feet, with production casing set to 11,-250 feet.

In the Bentonia Field of Yazoo County, production tests at the Thompson No. 1, sec. 3-9n-1w, by Humble Oil and Refining Co. were held up due to high water.

The venture was the second well in the Bentonia Field. It has three strings of tubing cemented to test three different sands logged. Total depth of the well is 10,676 feet.

Texaco, Inc., was drilling below 9,600 feet in the Thompson No. 1 sec. 33-10n-1w, located northwest of the discovery well in the Bentonia field.

Gulf Oil Corp. was still shut down due to high water at the deep Issaquena County wildcat, the Eagle Bend No. 1, sec. 8-18n-3e, with the well at 16,602 feet. Reports indicated the well may be drilled below 17,000 feet.

Field drilling the past week brought one new oiler as a dual well and a second near official completion.

A sand at 10,834-44 feet pumped 390 barrels of oil per day. The second zone at 11,086-98 feet pumped 60 barrels daily.

Cooey Firearms Purchased By Olin Mathieson

The purchase of the Cooey Firearms Company of Cobourg, Ontario, for an undisclosed sum was announced by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation. The company, one of Canada's oldest and most respected names in the firearms field, produces a line of rifles and shotguns in the medium price range.

While the Cooey brand name line of firearms will be continued, Olin also announced that a separate operation, Winchester - Western, Ltd. of Canada, will be established at the Cobourg location for the distribution of a non -competitive line of Winchester firearms manufactured in the United States.

Both operations will be conducted through Olin's domestic Winchester - Western Division.

In announcing the decision, W. Miller Hurley, vice president and general manager of the division, stated that the move was undertaken as part of a long - range plan to capitalize more heavily on the enormous growth potential of the Canadian firearms market. Olin plans expansion of the Cobourg facilities.

Olin is a large diversified company with annual sales of more than $700,000,000. In addition to Winchester - Western, its fields of interest are chemicals, energy, metals, packaging, and pharmaceuticals.

Ground Breaking Held For Area Loan Building

VIDALIA (Special) — Ground breaking for the building which will house the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Concordia Parish was held here last week with C. V. Nichols, property owner turning the first shovel of dirt to start construction.

Almost all provisions for obtaining a charter have been filled by the organizers, according to William Koerber, attorney, who said that a charter will be obtained shortly and that the new loan association will be in operation by July 1.

The new association will operate within a radius of fifty miles, primarily in Concordia, Tensas and Catahoula parishes, Koerber said.

Dick Donovan, Wynn To Open Baseball Play

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rookies Joe Martin of Chicago and R. C. Stevens of Washington will be in the line-ups for Monday's Presidential Opener of the 1961 baseball season.

As expected, Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox picked Early Wynn as his starting pitcher and Mickey Vernon decided on Dick Donovan for the Senators. Both are right-handers.

Donovan (6-1) pitched with Wyna (13-12) at Chicago last year but was put on the available list when the American League expanded to 10 teams and was drafted by the new management in Washington.

Third baseman Martin, a third baseman who hit .285 at San Diego last season, is the only newcomer in the White Sox line-up. Stevens, .276 at Salt Lake City, edged veteran Dale Long at first base for the Senators and will bat cleanup.

Bernice Wins Track Meet At Southside

Bernice's track and field team won seven individual victories and all three relays Friday afternoon to score 78 points and win a four-way meet with Mangham, Southside and St. Matthew's at the LTI oval.

Buckey scored 15¼ points and Dawson got 12½ to lead the winners. Mangham won first places in the two hurdle races, Southside won the three throwing events and St. Matthew's won the 220-yard dash.

Billy Platt won the shot put for Southside with a toss of 40 ft., and Dale Perkins won the javelin with a throw of 145 ft., 4½ in. Platt also took a first in the discus with 117 ft., 2 in.

For St. Matthews it was Victor Zagone notching the only first for the Irish. Zagone covered the 220 in 24.5.

Southside will host Sterlington, St. Matthew's and Holly Ridge in another four-way battle Friday. Field events are set for 1:30 p.m., with running events to start at 2:30.

Johnson On All-Foe Team For Bulldogs

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — University of Southwestern Louisiana cagers selected a 10-man all - opponent team for the past 1960-61 basketball campaign.

Three foes, including two Gulf States Conference members, each received two berths on the list. Southwestern's all - opponent lineup is as follows:

The '61 race turned out to be the most successful for any Bulldog quintet since 1941. USL won 18 while losing only five to gain the No. 10 rating in the coaches' small - college poll — the highest national rank in school history.

Senior guards Bill McHorris and Tim Thompson were first team selections on the All-GSC team, and junior forward Larry Simon was named to the 2nd unit. Senior forward Howard Humphreys was also chosen on Christian Brothers' all - opponent quint.

Tech, Northeast Nines Split

Bulldogs Win 6-2 Then Falter 11-5

If Northeast State doesn't win another baseball game this year the Indians may well count 1961 a successful season.

Yesterday afternoon they bounced back from a 6-2 defeat at the hands of Louisiana Tech here to gain one of their sweetest wins in many years 11-5 over the Bulldogs.

It was the first time the Tribe has pulled off the trick in three years and in addition to being ardently sought revenge kept the 'Skins in the thick of the GSC fight while knocking the Bulldogs from first.

Tech, last year's Gulf States champs got the rush on its defense, winning a twinbill from Northwestern Wednesday but Southwestern also took two from the Demons yesterday and climbed into first over Tech's back with a 2-0 standard. Tech is now 3-1.

LOOP STANDINGS

	W	L
Southwestern	2	0
La. Tech	3	1

The Indians though 2-2 in conference play have met perhaps their two most rugged tests already and done exceptionally well. Not counted too serious a contender starting the season, they first split with Southeastern, the seeded favorites, then hung their deadlock on the Bulldogs.

Tech took the first game on the splendid pitching of little George Woodson. The small righthander overcame a first inning rash of walks and hit batters that gave Northeast a temporary one-run lead, and earned himself a beautiful two-hit victory.

With Ronnie McNabb trapping flys in centerfield like a fleet greyhound and their big bats bulging Tech took command 4-1 in the third and that was the game.

Jim Sewell and Woodson hit on safely, then tallied on a fielder's choice and a miscue at first. Paul LeBehne and Mac Hunt followed across the plate on George Garrett's double.

Garrett slammed a triple and single in addition to the two-bagger for three hits in three trips to lead K'9 batting in the opener.

Roaring back with a vengeance, Northeast shelled three Bulldog hurlers for 11 hits including homers by George Bryan, Levy Redden and James Spurlock.

Northeast starter Bob Rachel went 5 1-3 innings for the win. He gave up only four hits and one earned run during his tenure but got on a walking spree in the six loading the bases and walking in two before he was relieved.

Bryan's blast came in the third with two on, breaking a 2-2 tie and putting the Tribe in front to stay. Redden hit his in the fourth with Eddie McGowen aboard and Spurlock laced a loner out on the park in the fifth.

Northeast got two in the first, three in the third and fourth, plus one in the sixth to take a 9-2 lead.

Jim Penton, the unfortunate first of three for Tech, was the loser. He lasted 2 and 1-3 innings giving up four runs on four hits. Newell Bloom followed, coughing up identical statistics in 1 and 2-3. He was relieved in the fifth by Jack Bloom.

Northeast also used three slingers in the opener, replacing Payne with Jerry Godwin and then Stan Gardner. Bob Lockwood took over for Rachel in the second and was spelled in the final frame by Godwin.

In all fairness, Tech's graduation depleted young squad played like Bulldog teams of recent years. Calm and confident in the opener, they took over and made their poise pay off.

After one game, the day had all appearances of being just another showing of Tech supremacy, but something happened before the nightcap began — perhaps the Indians decided it was now or never.

BULLDOGS EDGE TRIBE BY SIX POINTS

Tech Wins 3-Way Battle Over Northeast, Demons

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs, behind the winged heels of sprinter Pat Garrett and the all-around hustle of Jackie Smith captured five first places and victories in the shorter relays to top defending Gulf States Conference champion Northeast State and Northwestern in a triangular track and field meet here last night.

Tech had 79½ points to 73½ for the Indians and 28 for NSC. Northeast, losing its second meet to the Bulldogs in two weeks, had no excuses. The Indians lost out in the broad jump, high hurdles and 220 yard dash, events they usually add points in, and the Bulldogs picked up the winning points in those events.

Garrett was the workhorse for the winners getting wins in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and anchoring both Tech's winning relay teams.

Top man of the meet was no doubt Northeast's Buddy Eiland, who racked up victories in the half mile, the mile and two mile runs. Big Hoy Rogers continued his pace in the field events with winning tosses in both the shot put and discus.

Northeast got plenty of hustle from Jack Williams, who placed second in the two mile run and tied for third in the high jump, and from George Abbott, who ran a 4:19.8 mile, the best time for him this season.

The Tribe's mile relay team kept its unbeaten streak going with a first last night, and Randall Walker broke the tape for Northeast in the 440-yard dash in a time of 48.4 seconds.

Tech's Simms took first place in the low hurdles, and John Pennel cleared 14 ft. even to claim the pole vault for Northeast. NSC got its wins from Jackie Smith in the high hurdles and Eddie Taylor in the broad jump.

La. Tech's Joe Cage, ex-Neville star, heaved the javelin 210 ft., 8 in. for first place in that event.

Running on Tech's winning 440 and 880-yard relay teams were Andy Farless, John Mathis, Pat Shows, and Pat Garrett. Northeast's unbeaten mile relay team which coasted to another victory last night is made up of John Baker, Jim Glass, Jim Mouser and Randall Walker.

PETTIT, HAGAN LEAD

Hustling Hawks Top Celts, 124-120

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The steamed up St. Louis Hawks, beaten by a total of 42 points in the first two games of pro basketball's world series, rolled over the Boston Celtics 124-120 Saturday with the help of a combined 57-point blast by Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan and deadly shooting from the free-throw line.

Boston carries a 2-1 edge in the National Basketball Association's best-of-7 title playoff into Sunday's fourth game, which will be televised nationally starting at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Pettit scored 31 points and Hagan 26 in the Hawks' great come-back. But in the long run, it was the Hawks' 33-43 job from the free throw line which made the difference.

The bruising game, played before a Kiel Auditorium crowd of 8,468 and a national television audience, was tied five times in a hot and heavy fourth quarter.

The incomparable Bob Cousy of Boston, who had 21 points, tied the score for the last time at 112-all with 4:32 left. But consecutive baskets by Si Green, Lennie Wilkens and a tip-in by Hagan shot the Hawks to a lead they held despite a closing rush by the Celts.

Big Clyde Lovellette of the Hawks tightly corseted to prevent further injury to his ailing back, contributed 16 points, including four in the last 3 minutes.

Woody Sauldsberry, a dud in the first two games at Boston, scored 20 points for the Hawks and came up with a loose ball with less than a minute to go after the Celtics had clicked off three consecutive baskets.

The clubs, foes in the NBA final playoffs the last two years, left the floor at halftime tied at 66 apiece. Boston, seeking its fourth title in five years, ran off six straight points at the start of the third quarter. But the Hawks, sparked by sub Al Ferrari, outscored Boston 12-0 and 15-2 in the next few minutes for an 82-74 lead. The teams traded baskets and then Sauldsberry put the Hawks ahead by 10 with 5 minutes to go in the third period at 90-80.

Cousy came back with one of his one-handers from the outside, but Hagan gave the Hawks another 10-point bulge before the Celtics took off on an 11-point spurt and went ahead by one, 93-92. The third quarter ended with the Hawks holding a 98-97 edge.

With 2:22 left in the game, the Hawks were 10 points up. But K. C. Jones, Frank Ramsey and Russell connected for consecutive baskets that shaved the Hawks' final margin to four points.

Pettit led both teams in rebounds with 24, one more than Russell.

The Hawks, who trailed by 10 points three times early in the second period, stormed back on the shooting of Pettit, Sauldsberry and Lovellette. They went ahead for the first time, after the early moments, with 2 minutes left in the half on Sauldsberry's jump shot, 62-61. He scored 10 of his 13 first-half points in the second period surge.

A basket by Sam Jones and Russell's free throw put the Celtics ahead again briefly, 64-62. But Ferrari tied it, and Lovellette's hook with 25 seconds left in the half gave the Hawks a momentary edge again, before Cousy connected from the outside with 3 seconds to go to tie it once more.

Title On Line In Big Match At Roll-Arena

Bellangeon wasn't taking time off last week, himself, as the champ put tough Gene Bowman away in two straight falls.

Rivera knows a few tricks, and got his victory over Neopolitan last week with a timely drop kick to the Panther's back side while he was debating with referee Al Massey.

Bellangeon took the final fall of his match last week with an Indian death lock, a hold Rivera will do well to stay out of Monday.

The championship match is slated for an hour time limit with two falls to win.

In the only other match of the night Tony Neopolitan tries his luck again, this time against newcomer Jim Twinn, who has looked good in his effort at Roll-Arena.

Twinn fought Prince Omar to a full time limit 15-minute draw last week. The semifinal battle tomorrow night is also slated for an hour time limit with two falls to win.

Davey Moore Stops Valdez In 1st Round

The 21 - year - old champion stunned a crowd estimated at 8,000 as well as Valdez, by ending the scheduled 15-round contest in 2 minutes, 48 seconds at the Olympic Auditorium.

Moore, ringing up his 23rd kayo in 55 fights, sent Valdez to the canvas with a walloping right to the jaw the first time. Valdez obviously was badly hurt but managed to get up to his feet as Referee Georga Latka reached the count of seven.

Moore moved quickly in and threw another over-hand bomb flush to the chin. It flipped Valdez over backwards to the mat.

At about the count of six, Valdez rolled over and managed to wobble along on both knees near the ropes, but he could not get up at the end of the 10-count.

The Valdez corner, which included former Mexican lightweight Enriquez Bolanos, rushed over to help the wounded gladiator. Valdez moved quickly in and managed to wrestle away from his handlers.

Apparently he wanted to keep on fighting, but somehow he managed to stagger across the ring and lean outside the ropes on the other side.

Moore weighed 125¾ and Valdez 125¼.

Moore at ringside was a 3½-1 betting favorite.

The champion's first lethal blow, a perfectly aimed over-hand right, caught Valdez on the jaw. For all intents that was the end of the challenge for the game local youngster.

This was the third successful defense of the title by Moore. He won it in this same ring March 18, 1959, when he stopped Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in 13 rounds.

In a return match the following August, Moore knocked out Bassey in 11 rounds. Last Aug. 29 he outpointed Kazuo Takayama in Tokyo.

Valdez went into the fight with only 22 pro engagements behind him. He has been fighting as a pro for four years—since he was 17, and boxed in Arizona—and is the California State featherweight champion.

Dick Donovan, Wynn To Open Baseball Play

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rookies Joe Martin of Chicago and R. C. Stevens of Washington will be in the line-ups for Monday's Presidential Opener of the 1961 baseball season.

As expected, Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox picked Early Wynn as his starting pitcher and Mickey Vernon decided on Dick Donovan for the Senators. Both are right-handers.

Donovan (6-1) pitched with Wynn (13-12) at Chicago last year but was put on the available list when the American League expanded to 10 teams and was drafted by the new management in Washington.

Third baseman Martin, a third baseman who hit .285 at San Diego last season, is the only newcomer in the White Sox line-up. Stevens, .276 at Salt Lake City, edged veteran Dale Long at first base for the Senators and will bat cleanup.

Hico Hawks Win Choudrant Hoop Tourney 57-50

CHOUDRANT, La. (Special) The Hico Hawks downed McMoy Phantoms 57-50 here last night to claim first place in the Choudrant Independent tourney.

Johnson On All-Foe Team For Bulldogs

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — University of Southwestern Louisiana cagers selected a 10-man all - opponent team for the past 1960-61 basketball campaign.

Three foes, including two Gulf States Conference members, each received two berths on the list Southwestern's all - opponent lineup is as follows:

The '61 race turned out to be the most successful for any Bulldog quintet since 1941. USL won 18 while losing only five to gain the No. 10 rating in the coaches' small - college poll — the highest national rank in school history.

Senior guards Bill McHorris and Tim Thompson were first team selections on the All-GSC team, and junior forward Larry Simon was named to the 2nd unit. Senior forward Howard Humphreys was also chosen on Christian Brothers' all - opponent quint.

BULLDOGS EDGE TRIBE BY SIX POINTS

Tech Wins 3-Way Battle Over Northeast, Demons

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs, behind the winged heels of sprinter Pat Garrett and the all-around hustle of Jackie Smith captured five first places and victories in the shorter relays to top defending Gulf States Conference champion Northeast State and Northwestern in a triangular track and field meet here last night.

Tech had 79½ points to 73½ for the Indians and 28 for NSC. Northeast, losing its second meet to the Bulldogs in two weeks, had no excuses. The Indians lost out in the broad jump, high hurdles and 220 yard dash, events they usually add points in, and the Bulldogs picked up the winning points in those events.

Garrett was the workhorse for the winners getting wins in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and anchoring both Tech's winning relay teams.

Top man of the meet was no doubt Northeast's Buddy Eiland, who racked up victories in the half mile, the mile and two mile runs. Big Hoy Rogers continued his pace in the field events with winning tosses in both the shot put and discus.

Northeast got plenty of hustle from Jack Williams, who placed second in the two mile run and tied for third in the high jump, and from George Abbott, who ran a 4:19.8 mile, the best time for him this season.

The Tribe's mile relay team kept its unbeaten streak going with a first last night, and Randall Walker broke the tape for Northeast in the 440-yard dash in a time of 48.4 seconds.

Tech's Simms took first place in the low hurdles, and John Pennel cleared 14 ft. even to claim the pole vault for Northeast. NSC got its wins from Jackie Smith in the high hurdles and Eddie Taylor in the broad jump.

La. Tech's Joe Cage, ex-Neville star, heaved the javelin 210 ft., 8 in. for first place in that event.

Running on Tech's winning 440 and 880-yard relay teams were Andy Farless, John Mathis, Pat Shows, and Pat Garrett. Northeast's unbeaten mile relay team which coasted to another victory last night is made up of John Baker, Jim Glass, Jim Mouser and Randall Walker.

PETTIT, HAGAN LEAD

Hustling Hawks Top Celts, 124-120

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The steamed up St. Louis Hawks, beaten by a total of 42 points in the first two games of pro basketball's world series, rolled over the Boston Celtics 124-120 Saturday with the help of a combined 57-point blast by Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan and deadly shooting from the free-throw line.

Boston carries a 2-1 edge in the National Basketball Association's best-of-7 title playoff into Sunday's fourth game, which will be televised nationally starting at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Pettit scored 31 points and Hagan 26 in the Hawks' great come-back. But in the long run, it was the Hawks' 38-43 job from the free throw line which made the difference.

The bruising game, played before a Kiel Auditorium crowd of 8,468 and a national television audience, was tied five times in a hot and heavy fourth quarter.

The incomparable Bob Cousy of Boston, who had 21 points, tied the score for the last time at 112-all with 4:32 left. But consecutive baskets by Si Green, Lennie Wilkens and a tip-in by Hagan shot the Hawks to a lead they held despite a closing rush by the Celts.

Big Clyde Lovellette of the Hawks, tightly corseted to prevent further injury to his ailing back, contributed 16 points, including four in the last 3 minutes.

Woody Sauldsberry, a dud in the first two games at Boston, scored 20 points for the Hawks and came up with a loose ball with less than a minute to go after the Celtics had clicked off three consecutive baskets.

The clubs, foes in the NBA final playoffs the last two years, left the floor at halftime tied at 66 apiece. Boston, seeking its fourth title in five years, ran off six straight points at the start of the third quarter. But the Hawks, sparked by sub Al Ferrari, outscored Boston 12-0 and 15-2 in the next few minutes for an 82-74 lead. The teams traded baskets and then Sauldsberry put the Hawks ahead by 10 with 5 minutes to go in the third period at 90-80.

Cousy came back with one of his one-handers from the outside, but Hagan gave the Hawks another 10-point bulge before the Celtics took off on an 11-point spurt and went ahead by one, 93-92. The third quarter ended with the Hawks holding a 93-97 edge.

With 2:22 left in the game, the Hawks were 10 points up. But K. C. Jones, Frank Ramsey and Russell connected for consecutive baskets that shaved the Hawks' final margin to four points.

Pettit led both teams in rebounds with 24, one more than Russell.

The Hawks, who trailed by 10 points three times early in the second period, stormed back on the shooting of Pettit, Sauldsberry and Lovellette. They went ahead for the first time, after the early moments, with 2 minutes left in the half on Sauldsberry's jump shot, 62-61. He scored 10 of his 13 first-half points in the second period surge.

A basket by Sam Jones and Russell's free throw put the Celtics ahead again briefly, 64-62. But Ferrari tied it, and Lovellette's hook with 25 seconds left in the half gave the Hawks a momentary edge again, before Cousy connected from the outside with 3 seconds to go to tie it once more.

Tech Golf Team Captures Win Over Demons

RUSTON, La. (Special) — La. Tech's golf team won its sixth straight match of the season here yesterday afternoon by defeating NSC, 15½-2½ in a GSC encounter.

Joe Thomas of Tech was medalist with a two-under-par 70. Russel Ogilvie of NSC shot a par 72.

The summary: Russell Ogilvie of NSC defeated Jim Paul of Tech, 2-1. Joe Thomas of Tech defeated Jim Fletcher of NSC, 3-0. Paul and Thomas defeated Ogilvie and Fletcher, 2½-½.

Title On Line In Big Match At Roll-Arena

Bellangeon wasn't taking time off last week, himself, as the champ put tough Gene Bowman away in two straight falls.

Rivera knows a few tricks, and got his victory over Neopolitan last week with a timely drop kick to the Panther's back side while he was debating with referee Al Massey.

Bellangeon took the final fall of his match last week with an Indian death lock, a hold Rivera will do well to stay out of Monday.

The championship match is slated for an hour time limit with two falls to win.

In the only other match of the night Tony Neopolitan tries his luck again, this time against newcomer Jim Twinn, who has looked good in his effort at Roll-Arena.

Twinn fought Prince Omar to a full time limit 15-minute draw last week. The semifinal battle tomorrow night is also slated for an hour time limit with two falls to win.

Bulldogs Win 6-2 Then Falter 11-5

If Northeast State doesn't win another baseball game this year the Indians may well count 1961 a successful season.

Yesterday afternoon they bounced back from a 6-2 defeat at the hands of Louisiana Tech here to gain one of their sweetest wins in many years 11-5 over the Bulldogs.

It was the first time the Tribe has pulled off the trick in three years and in addition to being ardently sought revenge kept the 'Skins in the thick of the GSC fight while knocking the Bulldogs from first.

Tech, last year's Gulf States champs got the rush on its defense, winning a twinbill from Northwestern Wednesday but Southwestern also took two from the Demons yesterday and climbed into first over Tech's back with a 2-0 standard. Tech is now 3-1.

The Indians though 2-2 in conference play have met perhaps their two most rugged tests already and done exceptionally well. Not counted too serious a contender starting the season, they first split with Southeastern, the seeded favorites, then hung their deadlock on the Bulldogs.

Tech took the first game on the splendid pitching of little George Woodson. The small righthander overcame a first inning rash of walks and hit batters that gave Northeast a temporary one-run lead, and earned himself a beautiful two-hit victory.

With Ronnie McNabb trapping flys in centerfield like a fleet greyhound and their big bats bulging Tech took command 4-1 in the third and that was the game.

Jim Sewell and Woodson hit on safely, then tallied on a fielder's choice and a miscue at first. Paul LeBehne and Mac Hunt followed across the plate on George Garrett's double.

Garrett slammed a triple and single in addition to the two-bagger for three hits in three trips to lead K'9 batting in the opener.

Roaring back with a vengeance, Northeast shelled three Bulldog hurlers for 11 hits including homers by George Bryan, Levy Redden and James Spurlock.

Northeast starter Bob Rachel went 5 1-3 innings for the win. He gave up only four hits and one earned run during his tenure but got on a walking spree in the six loading the bases and walking in two before he was relieved.

Bryan's blast came in the third with two on, breaking a 2-2 tie and putting the Tribe in front to stay. Redden hit his in the fourth with Eddie McGowen aboard and Spurlock laced a loner out on the park in the fifth.

Northeast got two in the first, three in the third and fourth, plus one in the sixth to take a 9-2 lead.

Jim Penton, the unfortunate first of three for Tech, was the loser. He lasted 2 and 1-3 innings giving up four runs on four hits. Newell Bloom followed, coughing up identical statistics in 1 and 2-3. He was relieved in the fifth by Jack Bloom.

Northeast also used three slingers in the opener, replacing Payne with Jerry Godwin and then Stan Gardner. Bob Lockwood took over for Rachel in the second and was spelled in the final frame by Godwin.

In all fairness, Tech's graduation depleated young squad player like Bulldog teams of recent years. Calm and confident in the opener, they took over and made their poise pay off.

After one game, the day had all appearances of being just another showing of Tech supremacy, but something happened before the nightcap began — perhaps the Indians decided it was now or never.

Davey Moore Stops Valdez In 1st Round

The 21 - year - old champion stunned a crowd estimated at 8,000 as well as Valdez, by ending the scheduled 15-round contest in 2 minutes, 48 seconds at the Olympic Auditorium.

Moore, ringing up his 23rd kayo in 55 fights, sent Valdez to the canvas with a walloping right to the jaw the first time. Valdez obviously was badly hurt but managed to get up to his feet as Referee Georga Latka reached the count of seven.

Moore moved quickly in and threw another over-hand bomb flush to the chin. It flipped Valdez over backwards to the mat.

At about the count of six, Valdez rolled over and managed to wobble along on both knees near the ropes, but he could not get up at the end of the 10-count.

The Valdez corner, which included former Mexican lightweight Enriquez Bolanos, rushed over to help the wounded gladiator. Valdez moved quickly in and managed to wrestle away from his handlers.

Apparently he wanted to keep on fighting, but somehow he managed to stagger across the ring and lean outside the ropes on the other side.

Moore weighed 125¾ and Valdez 125¼.

Moore at ringside was a 3½-1 betting favorite.

The champion's first lethal blow, a perfectly aimed over-hand right, caught Valdez on the jaw. For all intents that was the end of the challenge for the game local youngster.

This was the third successful defense of the title by Moore. He won it in this same ring March 18, 1959, when he stopped Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in 13 rounds.

In a return match the following August, Moore knocked out Bassey in 11 rounds. Last Aug. 29 he outpointed Kazuo Takayama in Tokyo.

Valdez went into the fight with only 22 pro engagements behind him. He has been fighting as a pro for four years—since he was 17, and boxed in Arizona—and is the California State featherweight champion.

Meeting Slated On Recreation Softball Play

The West Monroe Recreation Commission will hold an open meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday night at the West Monroe City Hall. The purpose of this meeting is to get organized the Civic League and the Church leagues for Softball.

All team managers and or players are asked to be in attendance to set up rules and regulations.

The West Monroe Recreation Commission has plenty of Softball diamonds, tennis courts (lighted) for night play also. The Commission has obtained the use of the West Monroe High School Gym and its facilities for summer recreation, as well as the playgrounds at the school.

This year we will be more than doubling our program. We hope to get all boys, girls, and adults interested in our program. Our director this year is Coach Cecil Pirkey and he will have two assistants.

Norris Leads Pokes To Win

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fred Norris, the Englishman running for McNeese State, Saturday won the 5,000 meters of the Texas Relays by 100 yards.

Norris, running in what was billed as the Race of the Nations, had a time of 14:38.6, which was 13.2 seconds over the Texas Relays record.

Second was Australia's Denis Moore, running for Abilene Christian College.

Ole Miss Tops Tigers By 6-1

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi sophomore southpaw Robert Seidell limited Louisiana State to 3 hits and no walks while fanning 11 Saturday for a 6-1 Rebel Southeastern Conference victory.

Ole Miss opened the scoring with W runs in the fourth inning on 2 walks and 2 singles off Lynn Amedee.

FOUR STROKE LEAD

Gary Player Jumps Ahead Of Palmer In Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, the little South African who came to learn and stayed to earn, took a four-stroke lead over defending champion Arnold Palmer Saturday in the third round of the Masters Golf Tournament. The day was marked by superb golf and super-sized crowds.

Player, now a full-time performer and leading money winner on the American pro tour, shot a brilliant 32-37—69, three-under-par for the jam-packed 6,980-yard, par 36-36—72 Augusta National Course.

After three rounds, he had a score of 206, 10 under par.

Palmer, tied for the lead at the start of the round, had an erratic 36-37—73 which gave him a 210 total.

Although these two—the big winners in money and tournaments this season—remained out in front, they didn't lack challengers for the top prize, which may reach $20,000. Two outsiders in the 41-man field provided some extra thrills for a crowd estimated at over 30,000.

Paul Harney, the slender slammer from Worcester, Mass., fired a 68 for a 212 total, and Bill Collins, the big Baltimorean, had a 67 for 213. Charlie Coe, the Oklahoma thin man who has won two U.S. Amateur championships, tied Harney at 212 with a 69 in his bid to become the first amateur winner of the Masters.

The huge galleries virtually assured a record payoff for the pro winner. Prize money for the Masters is based mainly on gate receipts, which never have been listed officially. Last year, Palmer won $17,500 from a total of over $80,000.

Saturday's crowd appeared the biggest ever to see the Masters. Estimates ranged anywhere from 30,000 to 40,000.

The spectators got their money's worth as Player, a slim, grim 150-pounder who says he won't crack under pressure, charged into the lead.

Palmer challenged with birdies on the first two holes, but Gary met the threat by knocking a stroke off par on each of the same holes. Then, as Palmer's game began to falter, Player shot into the lead with a four-under-par 32 on the front nine. Gary survived a stretch of three straight bogeys and fought his way back into a four-stroke lead at the end.

"I couldn't think; I couldn't putt; I couldn't do anything right," he said.

After an encouraging start on the first two holes, he bogeyed the fourth and fifth; made the turn with a scrambling par 35 and hit two bogeys and only one birdie on the back nine.

Player, after going over par on the 11th, 12th and 13th holes, got a fortunate birdie at the 520-yard 15th when his second shot hit a spectator and bounded onto the green. Then he played a superb tee shot at the 190-yard, over-water 16th and holded his putt for another birdie that gave him a comfortable lead.

On the 15th, it appeared someone in the crowd batted Player's ball with his hand while it still was in the air. Under the rules it had to be counted as "rub of the green" and he played the ball from where it stopped, getting down in two putts for his birdie 4. If the ball had gone the way it appeared headed he might have taken a bogey or worse.

"I certainly don't feel I'm going to win just because I have a four-stroke lead," Player said after the round. "You can lose four strokes in four holes here."

Player very nearly proved his point on the back nine. He was off the green on the 445-yard 11th, one of the hardest holes on the course, ran his third shot 5 feet past the cup, and then missed his putt. He three-putted the short 12th for another bogey, then put his tee shot onto the bank of winding Rae's Creek at the tricky 13th and barely escaped with another bogey.

That left him only two strokes ahead of Palmer going to the 15th. The defending champion also bogeyed the 13th, but got a birdie at 14.

"It's really not fair," Gary said of the fan's interference at the 15th. "I hate to see such a thing happen. But I'd like to give that fellow a dozen balls."

The incident could mean a lot of money to Player, who already has won more than $25,000 on the winter golf tour this year. He's been shooting the kind of golf that makes a four-stroke lead going into the last round look comfortable. He has had rounds of 69-68-69.

But big, flower-decked Augusta National wasn't as tough a course as usual Saturday. The weather was warm and mostly sunny, and there wasn't any strong wind.

Collins, one of the last players invited, turned in the best 18-hole score of the tournament, a 67, after making a belated change in his putting grip. That brought him into contention after starting the day nine strokes behind.

Harney, who began seven strokes back, made his big gain with a 33 on the back nine. Coe fired a round of 34-35—69, holding his place as leading amateur. In all, 13 scores of 70 or better were posted for the day.

Bob Rosburg, in third place at the 36-hole turn, and Don January, who had been fourth, dropped into a tie with Jackie Burke, the 1956 champion, at 214. Rosburg, playing with Palmer, matched his 73. January had a 72, while Burke came back strongly with a 68.

SENATORS, 4-2

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Righthanders Benny Daniels and Rudy Hernandez held Boston to three hits Saturday and Washington's new American League entry beat the Red Sox 4-2.

Daniels, former Pittsburgh pitcher, also hit a home run as the Senators posted their seventh victory in their last eight exhibitions and boosted their spring record to 15-9.

CUBS—SOX

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie outfielder Billy Williams drove in two runs with a single and double and powered the Chicago Cubs to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday at Wrigley Field.

William's single keyed a two-run first inning off Frank Baumann who served another single, a walk and a wild pitch.

Williams' double, behind Don Zimmer's second single of the game, brought in another run in the sixth, off Billy Pierce.

Turk Lown, the Sox' third pitcher, was nicked in the seventh for three hits and one run. Moe Thacker's safety to right scored Al Heist, who had singled and moved to third on Andre Rodgers' single.

Dick Ellsworth went the distance for the Cubs for his third victory of the spring against two defeats. He scattered 11 hits, including a double by Luis Aparicio in the fifth that led to the Sox' run. Aparicio was sacrificed to third by Nellie Fox, and scored when Minnie Minoso was thrown out at first.

The second and final game of the city series shifts to the Sox' Comiskey Park Sunday. The opener drew 12,956 fans in 36-degree weather.

REDLEGS, 7-5

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds pushed across six runs in the third inning and held on for a 7-5 exhibition victory from the Milwaukee Braves Saturday.

It was the Reds' fifth straight success and fourth in a row over the Braves.

Trailing 1-0 going into the third, Cincinnati buried Milwaukee starter Lew Burdette under a five-hit barrage.

Shortstop Roy McMillan, a former Redleg, led Milwaukee with a triple and a single. Vada Pinson and Gene Freese paced the Reds, each with two hits.

Burdette, who pitched five innings, gave up five hits and six runs, five of them earned.

Jay Hook, Cincinnati's starter, gave up nine hits and five runs in seven innings.

CARDS AGAIN

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A six-run assault in the eighth inning lifted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 16-12 victory over the New York Yankees in an exhibition game Saturday.

Stan Musial, who drove in four runs for the Cards, was out of the rainy cold and in the clubhouse when they clobbered Johnny James in the big inning.

The score was tied 10-10 when the Cards staged their big blast. The final Yankee runs came across in the ninth on Deron Johnson's home run.

Mickey Mantle, who like Musial, was removed long before the end, smacked his seventh homer for two Yankee runs in the fourth inning.

There were six errors, four by the Cards and two by the Yanks, and 34 hits in a game that was almost as much sandlot as exhibition.

The Cards now hold a 6-1 edge over New York in the spring series with one to play.

PIRATES WIN

DENEVR (AP) — Pinch hitter Roman Mejias slammed a homer with a man on base in the fourth inning Saturday gave the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-5 exhibition baseball victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Pirates scored two more runs in the big fourth on hits by Bill Vidron, Dick Groat and Bob Skinner. Vernon Law, for whom Mejias batted, was the winning pitcher.

The Phillies scored in the third, fifth, seventh and ninth innings, mostly on a scattering of hits.

ATHLETICS WIN

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Five Kansas City pitchers stifled the bats of the Baltimore Orioles Saturday as the Athletics took a 5-0 exhibition baseball victory.

The Orioles could manage only five singles while Kansas City collected 10 in scoring in the first, getting two more runs in the second and then adding two more in the eighth.

Ray Herbert, who was followed by Ken Johnson Dick Hall, Don Larsen and Bill Kunkel, all righthanders, was credited with the victory. Rookie John Papa was the loser.

"IF YOU CAN'T AFFORD $3000 FOR A NEW CAR...CAN YOU AFFORD $1.50 TO HELP MAKE YOUR CAR PERFORM LIKE NEW?"

FOR OVER 30 YEARS, MORE THAN 50 MILLION CAR OWNERS HAVE SAID, "YES!" READ WHY TOM McCAHILL, THE NATION'S LEADING TEST DRIVER AND CAR CRITIC, RECOMMENDS ADDING A CAN OF RISLONE WITH EVERY OIL CHANGE!

"Rislone has my vote of confidence. The reason is simple. The stuff really works! And what more could anyone ask?

"Rislone is not just an additive. Not a detergent. It doesn't thin or evaporate out of the oil. Very simply, Rislone is a lubricant—but a very special kind of lubricant. It is the true oil alloy because it helps oil perform necessary functions which the oil cannot do alone, dissolve and absorb all types of motor gums and sludge formations as they are deposited in the engine.

"Even the new high detergent motor oils leave gum and sludge deposits in the engine that, little-by-little, cut down power and compression. The people at Shaler specifically developed Rislone to solve the gum and sludge problem once and for all. For my dough, they did the job and did it well.

"Every car on the road, from the day it leaves the dealer's showroom starts collecting gum and sludge. This goo and gunk is rough on engines, and pretty mean on the pocketbook, too. Regardless of the quality or freshness of the oils used, gums accumulate on valves, guides, cylinder walls, pistons and rings. Very shortly, the engine becomes sluggish. And noisy. And wastes gasoline. You know the score.

"Then you get smart like the pros and add a quart of Rislone.

"I made this test myself: I put Rislone in the crankcase of a cranky Detroit Chariot. Then I drove this lumbering monster for 10 miles . . . and gave a listen. Brother, I could actually feel the difference. The engine had suddenly regained that old 'get-up-and-go' it had when there were all those goose eggs on the mileage indicator. The old ticker started a lot quicker and easier, and it ran more quietly and smoothly than it had a few minutes before.

"Fast? Why, Rislone eliminates power-robbing gum and sludge quicker than your mother-in-law can open her mouth. And the engine is slick as a whistle. This means a whopping big savings in gas, maintenance and repair costs. I figure regular use of Rislone in your car's engine could save you $150.00 in 3 years!*

"Have your service man put a quart of Rislone in the old bus today . . . and always include Rislone when the oil is changed. Rislone works best when it's in your car's crankcase and not on your dealer's shelf. So the time to get it is today, before you forget Uncle Tom's advice."

Over a billion miles of motoring have proved RISLONE's ability to improve engine performance

Within a few thousand miles, a new car's engine begins to lose its power and pep. It happens to every car. And the first things you begin to notice are the sluggish starts, engine noise, poor gasoline mileage.

What happens? Because modern gasolines and oils are what they are, all valves become sticky valves through the accumulation of gum. The more an engine operates, the more gum is deposited on valves, and the greater the loss of compression. And with lost compression, there is a corresponding loss of power.

Rislone is guaranteed to: free sticky valves, eliminate noisy hydraulic valve lifters; absorb power-robbing gums and sludge, restore lost compression and power; tune up sluggish engines, keep them running more quietly, smoothly; keep oil free-flowing, even in sub-zero weather; and to facilitate break-in of new or reconditioned engines and permit normal driving speed immediately.

These are the reasons we say . . . if you can't afford a new car, use Rislone regularly to make your present car perform like new. Only $1.50 a quart at better service stations, garages and car dealers everywhere.

Meeting Slated On Recreation Softball Play

The West Monroe Recreation Commission will hold an open meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday night at the West Monroe City Hall. The purpose of this meeting is to get organized the Civic League and the Church leagues for Softball.

All team managers and or players are asked to be in attendance to set up rules and regulations.

The West Monroe Recreation Commission has plenty of Softball diamonds, tennis courts (lighted) for night play also. The Commission has obtained the use of the West Monroe High School Gym and its facilities for summer recreation, as well as the playgrounds at the school.

This year we will be more than doubling our program. We hope to get all boys, girls, and adults interested in our program. Our director this year is Coach Cecil Pirkey and he will have two assistants.

FOUR STROKE LEAD

Gary Player Jumps Ahead Of Palmer In Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, the little South African who came to learn and stayed to earn, took a four-stroke lead over defending champion Arnold Palmer Saturday in the third round of the Masters Golf Tournament. The day was marked by superb golf and super-sized crowds.

Player, now a full-time performer and leading money winner on the American pro tour, shot a brilliant 32-37—69, three-under-par for the jam-packed 6,980-yard, par 36-36—72 Augusta National Course.

After three rounds, he had a score of 206, 10 under par.

Palmer, tied for the lead at the start of the round, had an erratic 36-37—73 which gave him a 210 total.

Although these two—the big winners in money and tournaments this season—remained out in front, they didn't lack challengers for the top prize, which may reach $20,000. Two outsiders in the 41-man field provided some extra thrills for a crowd estimated at over 30,000.

Paul Harney, the slender slammer from Worcester, Mass., fired a 68 for a 212 total, and Bill Collins, the big Baltimorean, had a 67 for 213. Charlie Coe, the Oklahoma thin man who has won two U.S. Amateur championships, tied Harney at 212 with a 69 in his bid to become the first amateur winner of the Masters.

The huge galleries virtually assured a record payoff for the pro winner. Prize money for the Masters is based mainly on gate receipts, which never have been listed officially. Last year, Palmer won $17,500 from a total of over $80,000.

Saturday's crowd appeared the biggest ever to see the Masters. Estimates ranged anywhere from 30,000 to 40,000.

The spectators got their money's worth as Player, a slim, grim 150-pounder who says he won't crack under pressure, charged into the lead.

Palmer challenged with birdies on the first two holes, but Gary met the threat by knocking a stroke off par on each of the same holes. Then, as Palmer's game began to falter, Player shot into the lead with a four-under-par 32 on the front nine. Gary survived a stretch of three straight bogeys and fought his way back into a four-stroke lead at the end.

"I couldn't think; I couldn't putt; I couldn't do anything right," he said.

After an encouraging start on the first two holes, he bogeyed the fourth and fifth; made the turn with a scrambling par 36 and hit two bogeys and only one birdie on the back nine.

Player, after going over par on the 11th, 12th and 13th holes, got a fortunate birdie at the 520-yard 15th when his second shot hit a spectator and bounded onto the green. Then he played a superb tee shot at the 190-yard, over-water 16th and holded his putt for another birdie that gave him a comfortable lead.

On the 15th, it appeared someone in the crowd batted Player's ball with his hand while it still was in the air. Under the rules it had to be counted as "rub of the green" and he played the ball from where it stopped, getting down in two putts for his birdie 4. If the ball had gone the way it appeared headed he might have taken a bogey or worse.

"I certainly don't feel I'm going to win just because I have a four-stroke lead," Player said after the round. "You can lose four strokes in four holes here."

Player very nearly proved his point on the back nine. He was off the green on the 445-yard 11th, one of the hardest holes on the course, ran his third shot 5 feet past the cup, and then missed his putt. He three-putted the short 12th for another bogey, then put his tee shot onto the bank of winding Rae's Creek at the tricky 13th and barely escaped with another bogey.

That left him only two strokes ahead of Palmer going to the 15th. The defending champion also bogeyed the 13th, but got a birdie at 14.

"It's really not fair," Gary said of the fan's interference at the 15th. "I hate to see such a thing happen. But I'd like to give that fellow a dozen balls."

The incident could mean a lot of money to Player, who already has won more than $25,000 on the winter golf tour this year. He's been shooting the kind of golf that makes a four-stroke lead going into the last round look comfortable. He has had rounds of 69-68-69.

But big, flower-decked Augusta National wasn't as tough a course as usual Saturday. The weather was warm and mostly sunny, and there wasn't any strong wind.

Collins, one of the last players invited, turned in the best 18-hole score of the tournament, a 67, after making a belated change in his putting grip. That brought him into contention after starting the day nine strokes behind.

Harney, who began seven strokes back, made his big gain with a 33 on the back nine. Coe fired a round of 34-35—69, holding his place as leading amateur. In all, 13 scores of 70 or better were posted for the day.

Bob Rosburg, in third place at the 36-hole turn, and Don January, who had been fourth, dropped into a tie with Jackie Burke, the 1956 champion, at 214. Rosburg, playing with Palmer, matched his 73. January had a 72, while Burke came back strongly with a 68.

SENATORS, 4-2

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Righthanders Benny Daniels and Rudy Hernandez held Boston to three hits Saturday and Washington's new American League entry beat the Red Sox 4-2.

Daniels, former Pittsburgh pitcher, also hit a home run as the Senators posted their seventh victory in their last eight exhibitions and boosted their spring record to 15-9.

CUBS—SOX

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie outfielder Billy Williams drove in two runs with a single and double and powered the Chicago Cubs to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday at Wrigley Field.

William's single keyed a two-run first inning off Frank Baumann who served another single, a walk and a wild pitch.

Turk Lown, the Sox' third pitcher, was nicked in the seventh for three hits and one run. Moe Thacker's safety to right scored Al Heist, who had singled and moved to third on Andre Rodgers' single.

Dick Ellsworth went the distance for the Cubs for his third victory of the spring against two defeats. He scattered 11 hits, including a double by Luis Aparicio in the fifth that led to the Sox' run. Aparicio was sacrificed to third by Nellie Fox, and scored when Minnie Minoso was thrown out at first.

The second and final game of the city series shifts to the Sox' Comiskey Park Sunday. The opener drew 12,956 fans in 36-degree weather.

REDLEGS, 7-5

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds pushed across six runs in the third inning and held on for a 7-5 exhibition victory from the Milwaukee Braves Saturday.

It was the Reds' fifth straight success and fourth in a row over the Braves.

Trailing 1-0 going into the third, Cincinnati buried Milwaukee starter Lew Burdette under a five-hit barrage.

Shortstop Roy McMillan, a former Redleg, led Milwaukee with a triple and a single. Vada Pinson and Gene Freese paced the Reds, each with two hits.

Burdette, who pitched five innings, gave up five hits and six runs, five of them earned.

Jay Hook, Cincinnati's starter, gave up nine hits and five runs in seven innings.

CARDS AGAIN

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A six-run assault in the eighth inning lifted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 16-12 victory over the New York Yankees in an exhibition game Saturday.

Stan Musial, who drove in four runs for the Cards, was out of the rainy cold and in the clubhouse when they clobbered Johnny James in the big inning.

The score was tied 10-10 when the Cards staged their big blast. The final Yankee runs came across in the ninth on Deron Johnson's home run.

Mickey Mantle, who like Musial, was removed long before the end, smacked his seventh homer for two Yankee runs in the fourth inning.

There were six errors, four by the Cards and two by the Yanks, and 34 hits in a game that was almost as much sandlot as exhibition.

The Cards now hold a 6-1 edge over New York in the spring series with one to play.

PIRATES WIN

DENEVR (AP) — Pinch hitter Roman Mejias slammed a homer with a man on base in the fourth inning Saturday gave the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-5 exhibition baseball victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Pirates scored two more runs in the big fourth on hits by Bill Vidron, Dick Groat and Bob Skinner. Vernon Law, for whom Mejias batted, was the winning pitcher.

The Phillies scored in the third, fifth, seventh and ninth innings, mostly on a scattering of hits.

ATHLETICS WIN

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Five Kansas City pitchers stifled the bats of the Baltimore Orioles Saturday as the Athletics took a 5-0 exhibition baseball victory.

The Orioles could manage only five singles while Kansas City collected 10 in scoring in the first, getting two more runs in the second and then adding two more in the eighth.

Ray Herbert, who was followed by Ken Johnson Dick Hall, Don Larsen and Bill Kunkel, all righthanders, was credited with the victory. Rookie John Papa was the loser.

"IF YOU CAN'T AFFORD $3000 FOR A NEW CAR...CAN YOU AFFORD $1.50 TO HELP MAKE YOUR CAR PERFORM LIKE NEW?"

FOR OVER 30 YEARS, MORE THAN 50 MILLION CAR OWNERS HAVE SAID, "YES!" READ WHY TOM McCAHILL, THE NATION'S LEADING TEST DRIVER AND CAR CRITIC, RECOMMENDS ADDING A CAN OF RISLONE WITH EVERY OIL CHANGE!

"Rislone has my vote of confidence. The reason is simple. The stuff really works! And what more could anyone ask?

"Rislone is not just an additive. Not a detergent. It doesn't thin or evaporate out of the oil. Very simply, Rislone is a lubricant—but a very special kind of lubricant. It is the true oil alloy because it helps oil perform necessary functions which the oil cannot do alone, dissolve and absorb all types of motor gums and sludge formations as they are deposited in the engine.

"Even the new high detergent motor oils leave gum and sludge deposits in the engine that, little-by-little, cut down power and compression. The people at Shaler specifically developed Rislone to solve the gum and sludge problem once and for all. For my dough, they did the job and did it well.

"Every car on the road, from the day it leaves the dealer's showroom starts collecting gum and sludge. This goo and gunk is rough on engines, and pretty mean on the pocketbook, too. Regardless of the quality or freshness of the oils used, gums accumulate on valves, guides, cylinder walls, pistons and rings. Very shortly, the engine becomes sluggish. And noisy. And wastes gasoline. You know the score.

"Then you get smart like the pros and add a quart of Rislone.

"I made this test myself: I put Rislone in the crankcase of a cranky Detroit Chariot. Then I drove this lumbering monster for 10 miles . . . and gave a listen. Brother, I could actually feel the difference. The engine had suddenly regained that old 'get-up-and-go' it had when there were all those goose eggs on the mileage indicator. The old ticker started a lot quicker and easier, and it ran more quietly and smoothly than it had a few minutes before.

"Fast? Why, Rislone eliminates power-robbing gum and sludge quicker than your mother-in-law can open her mouth. And the engine is slick as a whistle. This means a whopping big savings in gas, maintenance and repair costs. I figure regular use of Rislone in your car's engine could save you $150.00 in 3 years!*

"Have your service man put a quart of Rislone in the old bus today . . . and always include Rislone when the oil is changed. Rislone works best when it's in your car's crankcase and not on your dealer's shelf. So the time to get it is today, before you forget Uncle Tom's advice."

*Estimated average savings on maintenance, repair and gasoline bills when Rislone is used regularly as recommended.

Over a billion miles of motoring have proved RISLONE's ability to improve engine performance

Within a few thousand miles, a new car's engine begins to lose its power and pep. It happens to every car. And the first things you begin to notice are the sluggish starts, engine noise, poor gasoline mileage.

What happens? Because modern gasolines and oils are what they are, all valves become sticky valves through the accumulation of gum. The more an engine operates, the more gum is deposited on valves, and the greater the loss of compression. And with lost compression, there is a corresponding loss of power.

Rislone is guaranteed to: free sticky valves, eliminate noisy hydraulic valve lifters; absorb power-robbing gums and sludge, restore lost compression and power; tune up sluggish engines, keep them running more quietly, smoothly; keep oil free-flowing, even in sub-zero weather; and to facilitate break-in of new or reconditioned engines and permit normal driving speed immediately.

These are the reasons we say . . . if you can't afford a new car, use Rislone regularly to make your present car perform like new. Only $1.50 a quart at better service stations, garages and car dealers everywhere.

JERRY SALLEY, the top basketball player in Louisiana Class "C" circles, has signed a letter of intent with Northeast Louisiana State College. Jerry, a Pleasant Hill boy, was voted number one man in his class last year as a junior and again this year. He has made the Class "C" all-state team three years in a row and in his four years of high school ball, has racked up 3,744 points. Jerry, standing at 5'11" and 165 pounds, is certainly classified a small man, but his uncanny "behind the head" jump shot makes him a big man in the scoring book. Jerry, the son of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Salley of Pleasant Hill, was coached in his high-school career by J. D. Trichell and Bob Pender.

GOOD YEAR FOR ALL

Managers See Close Race In Both Major Leagues

By JOE REICHLER

April brings more than just showers. . . It brings a flood of faith and a heaven-ful of hope to the hearts of major league managers. At least 10 of the 18 pilots think their team has a chance to play in the World Series next fall.

If the men who guide their teams' destinies are correct, the National League pennant race should be a rousing, rollicking six-team scramble and four clubs should be in the thick of the American League flag struggle.

Danny Murtaugh of the defending champion Pittsburgh Pirates, Milwaukee's Charlie Dressen, Los Angeles' Walt Alston, St. Louis' Solly Hemus, San Francisco's Alvin Dark and Cincinnati's Fred Hutchinson, all think their team "will be in it all the way" for the National League championship.

New York's Ralph Houk, Baltimore's Paul Richards, Chicago's Al Lopez and Cleveland's Jimmy Dykes insist their team either is the best, or could be the best in the American League.

Houk, succeeding Casey Stengel, who steered the Yankees to 10 pennants in 12 years, probably was the most optimistic in his thumbnail summary of the 1961 pennant race.

"I refuse to pick a club that might beat us," he declared, "because I don't think we'll be beaten. However, I do respect Cleveland, Baltimore and Chicago. I don't think there is any team better than mine and I think we'll win. I would be happier if we had won more games in Florida but I'm satisfied that we have reached our main perspective which was to get in fine physical shape for the opening of the regular season."

Lopez' optimism was based on what he regards as an improved White Sox pitching staff, which he called "the deepest, if not the best staff in the league."

"I think we can win it," he said. "The addition of pitcher Cal McLish helps us where we were weakest last year. I'm satisfied the hitting and defense will be as strong or better than last year. Joe Martin, our new boy at third, has shown me he can do the job."

Dykes boasted his Indians could be the best team he ever managed.

"If our pitchers come through, and I think they will, we could steal the whole thing," he said. "We've got some problems, but so has everybody else. The Yankees can hit, but who's going to pitch for them? Baltimore has fine pitching, but who's going to knock in the runs? The White Sox have a lot of older men around."

Richards envisioned a pennant flying in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium if his young players repeated their outstanding 1960 performances, and if the Orioles came up with additional punch in the outfield.

"I'm looking for Gus Triandos and Jackie Brandt to provide us with the long ball," said Richards. "Their play could have a lot to do with our success."

No National League manager actually picked his own club to win although Murtaugh averred his Pirates were the team to beat.

"I'm not claiming the pennant," he said, "but we're the champions and our team is a bit stronger than it was last year."

Dressen disagreed with Murtaugh.

"I figure the Dodgers are the team to beat," he said. "I don't predict we'll win but I'll say this for sure, we'll beat out the Pirates. We've got a better club than we had last year. I'm still concerned about the relief pitching but we're a whole lot better around second base with Frank Bolling and Roy McMillan."

"A lot of people are picking the Dodgers to win and we could do it," said Alston, "but our young players have to come through. They're highly promising but they have to prove they can hit major league pitching. There are six teams in the race, as far as I am concerned. I am excluding Chicago and Philadelphia because they are in the process of a rebuilding program."

"I feel our chances are as good as any of them," said Hemus of his Cards. "Last year I said we were trying for the first division. This year I don't see why we can not go all the way. I think we have the best pitching staff in the league."

Rookies To Play In American All-Star Game

DALLAS (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss said Saturday that rookies in his year-old American Football League will be allowed to play in the All-Star Game at Chicago this year.

The league withheld its rookies from last year's game, because, spokesmen said, it was building teams for the first time and could not spare the players for All-Star practice.

Foss said "We never have wanted to detract from a contest which has helped the sponsor, Chicago Tribune Charities, to contribute more than $5 million to charity over the years."

The champion of the rival National League traditionally meets a team of college all stars in the Chicago game. The Philadelphia Eagles, 1960 champs, will play in this year's game, Aug. 4.

WINNER CLOSER TO TITLE BOUT

Machen, DeJohn Meet In Big One

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Eddie Machen risks more than he bargained for Monday night when the Portland, Ore., heavyweight battles Mike DeJohn in a 10-round fight at the Cow Palace.

When he signed for the bout, Machen had two main thoughts—a good payday and a boost for his stock in the heavyweight ranks, where he's already rated the No. 2 contender.

Then Floyd Patterson indicated he will probably risk his title against either England's Henry Cooper or Machen at New York in September.

So Machen now must win or lose the opportunity of his fistic career. He's won 36 of his 40 fights, 21 by knockout, lost three and fought one draw.

"He should wait until Tuesday before thinking of a title fight," wryly commented DeJohn, the No. 6 contender from Syracuse, N.Y., with a 41-7-1 mark including 23 kayos.

"A good win over Machen should put me in a good position for a bout with Mr. Patterson."

Both fighters have lost to Sonny Liston, currently rated the No. 1 contender — DeJohn by knockout in 1959 and Machen by decision last year.

The New Yorker holds a height and weight advantage at 6-foot-3 and about 210 pounds. Machen stands 5-11½ and plans to scale just over 190 for the 12:30 p.m. EST meeting.

Mike claims he has no set plan for Machen, explaining, "I'll just take things as they come. You can't plan these things because they never turn out the way you plan."

Machen's last San Francisco fights were against Zora Folley. They drew in the first and Folley took a 12-round verdict in the second. Both were dull affairs with Machen lacking aggressiveness.

But Eddie says he's learned a lot in the past year and promises plenty of action this time.

"DeJohn's style is much better for me than Folley's," he declared. "I've always liked to box men who will come to me."

Monday's fight will be neither broadcast nor televised. If it goes the route, scoring by the referee and two judges will be under California's five-point system. The winner of each round gets from one to five points. The loser gets none and no points are awarded in even rounds.

Bamford Wins

RICHMOND, England (AP)— Brian Bamford, a little known English golfer, won the British Professional Golfers Association title Saturday and clinched a spot on England's team in the Canada Cup matches.

Bamford, 25, shot 68-66-67-65—266 and joined Peter Alliss as England's representatives in the Cup competition to be played in Puerto Rico early in June.

Christy O'Connor of Ireland was second with 70-68-63-68—269, and Alliss third with 70-63-66-70—269.

LSU Wins Track Meet Saturday

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State swept nine of 16 events in a track and field meet with Florida State to win 75-61 Saturday. FSU's first duel meet loss since it fell to LSU at Baton Rouge in 1959.

LSU's Dickie Durham won the high hurdles and was well in front in the 220-yard low hurdles when he had to quit after about 180 yards with a pulled leg muscle.

After the meet, Durham received a trophy as LSU's outstanding track man for the 1960 season.

Abilene Team Tops Field In Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Abilene Christian's corps of mighty sprinters dominated the Texas Relays Saturday with four relay triumphs as they tied one world record and bettered one national collegiate record.

With Olympian Earl Young doing 46 flat on the anchor lap, the Abilene Christian mile relay team bettered the national collegiate record of 3:08.9, which it set last week, with 3:07.9 as the climaxing feature of the big track and field carnival.

Friday night, the Wildcats, with Young doing :20.2, tied the world's record for the 880-yard relay with 1:22.6, and previously Abilene Christian had set a Texas Relays record of 9:51.5 in the distance medley. The Wildcats also won the 440-yard relay in 40.9.

The four relay triumphs, plus a 100-yard dash triumph by Dennis Richeeson, in which he beat defending Southwest Conference champion Ralph Alspaugh in :09.6 was one of the greatest showing in Texas Relays history. Only Texas and Kansas ever won four relay titles in one meet.

Abilene Christian College was picked as outstanding team of the relays and Young was named the top athlete.

In the mile relay Pat McKennon did :46.6, Richardson :48.0, Bud Clanton :47.3 and Young 46.

The relays produced 13 records in its two days with five of them coming in the university class where George Davies of Oklahoma State vaulted 15 feet 1 inch and the Houston 4-mile relay team ran a 17:02.8 in addition to the records in the mile relay, distance medley and 880-yard rela yset by Abilene Christian.

There were two records in the open class, with Eddie Southern, former Texas star, doing the 400-meter hurdles in :50.8 to hang up one and Ernie Cunliffe, former Stanford ace, loping the 1500-meter run in 3:47.1.

The league withheld its rookies from last year's game, because, spokesmen said, it was building teams for the first time and could not spare the players for All-Star practice.

Foss said "We never have wanted to detract from a contest which has helped the sponsor, Chicago Tribune Charities, to contribute more than $5 million to charity over the years."

The champion of the rival National League traditionally meets a team of college all stars in the Chicago game. The Philadelphia Eagles, 1960 champs, will play in this year's game, Aug. 4.

WINNER CLOSER TO TITLE BOUT

Machen, DeJohn Meet In Big One

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Eddie Machen risks more than he bargained for Monday night when the Portland, Ore., heavyweight battles Mike DeJohn in a 10-round fight at the Cow Palace.

When he signed for the bout, Machen had two main thoughts—a good payday and a boost for his stock in the heavyweight ranks, where he's already rated the No. 2 contender.

Then Floyd Patterson indicated he will probably risk his title against either England's Henry Cooper or Machen at New York in September.

So Machen now must win or lose the opportunity of his fistic career. He's won 36 of his 40 fights, 21 by knockout, lost three and fought one draw.

"He should wait until Tuesday before thinking of a title fight," wryly commented DeJohn, the No. 6 contender from Syracuse, N.Y., with a 41-7-1 mark including 23 kayos.

"A good win over Machen should put me in a good position for a bout with Mr. Patterson."

Both fighters have lost to Sonny Liston, currently rated the No. 1 contender — DeJohn by knockout in 1959 and Machen by decision last year.

The New Yorker holds a height and weight advantage at 6-foot-3 and about 210 pounds. Machen stands 5-11½ and plans to scale just over 190 for the 12:30 p.m. EST meeting.

Mike claims he has no set plan for Machen, explaining, "I'll just take things as they come. You can't plan these things because they never turn out the way you plan."

Machen's last San Francisco fights were against Zora Folley. They drew in the first and Folley took a 12-round verdict in the second. Both were dull affairs with Machen lacking aggressiveness.

But Eddie says he's learned a lot in the past year and promises plenty of action this time.

"DeJohn's style is much better for me than Folley's," he declared. "I've always liked to box men who will come to me."

Monday's fight will be neither broadcast nor televised. If it goes the route, scoring by the referee and two judges will be under California's five-point system. The winner of each round gets from one to five points. The loser gets none and no points are awarded in even rounds.

Bamford Wins

RICHMOND, England (AP)—Brian Bamford, a little known English golfer, won the British Professional Golfers' Association title Saturday and clinched a spot on England's team in the Canada Cup matches.

Bamford, 25, shot 68-66-67-65—266 and joined Peter Alliss as England's representatives in the Cup competition to be played in Puerto Rico early in June.

Christy O'Connor of Ireland was second with 70-68-63-68—269, and Alliss third with 70-63-66-70—269.

LSU Wins Track Meet Saturday

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State swept nine of 16 events in a track and field meet with Florida State to win 75-61 Saturday, FSU's first duel meet loss since it fell to LSU at Baton Rouge in 1959.

LSU's Dickie Durham won the high hurdles and was well in front in the 220-yard low hurdles when he had to quit after about 180 yards with a pulled leg muscle.

After the meet, Durham received a trophy as LSU's outstanding track man for the 1960 season.

Steel Bowl

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Duke, Arizona, Duquesne and Pitt will compete in the 1961 Steel Bowl Basketball Tournament Dec. 15-16 the University of Pittsburgh announced Saturday.

Abilene Team Tops Field In Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Abilene Christian's corps of mighty sprinters dominated the Texas Relays Saturday with four relay triumphs as they tied one world record and bettered one national collegiate record.

With Olympian Earl Young doing 46 flat on the anchor lap, the Abilene Christian mile relay team bettered the national collegiate record of 3:08.9, which it set last week, with 3:07.9 as the climaxing feature of the big track and field carnival.

Friday night, the Wildcats, with Young doing :20.2, tied the world's record for the 880-yard relay with 1:22.6, and previously Abilene Christian had set a Texas Relays record of 9:51.5 in the distance medley. The Wildcats also won the 440-yard relay in 40.9.

The four relay triumphs, plus a 100-yard dash triumph by Dennis Richoeson, in which he beat defending Southwest Conference champion Ralph Alspaugh in :09.6 was one of the greatest showing in Texas Relays history. Only Texas and Kansas ever won four relay titles in one meet.

Abilene Christian College was picked as outstanding team of the relays and Young was named the top athlete.

In the mile relay Pat McKennon did :46.6, Richardson :43.0, Bud Clanton :47.3 and Young 46.

The relays produced 13 records in its two days with five of them coming in the university class where George Davies of Oklahoma State vaulted 15 feet 1 inch and the Houston 4-mile relay team ran a 17:02.8 in addition to the records in the mile relay, distance medley and 880-yard rela yset by Abilene Christian.

There were two records in the open class, with Eddie Southern, former Texas star, doing the 400-meter hurdles in :50.8 to hang up one and Ernie Cunliffe, former Stanford ace, loping the 1500-meter run in 3:47.1.

Bailey Says Demos Gain Rural Votes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said Saturday night Republicans not only have a problem in the big city vote, but had better watch out for Democratic gains in rural areas and the suburbs.

Bailey said in a speech prepared for a dinner winding up a Midwest party conference that the Democrats polled the strongest nonurban spring election vote in history in the Michigan State election last Monday.

"We carried areas we never carried before," he said. "We had candidates for local office in areas where the Republicans used to win by default. These are good omens."

As for the suburban vote Bailey said: "We haven't solved that problem yet, but if I were Republican chairman I would be looking nervously over my shoulder at Democratic gains there. Nationally (in 1960) we raised our suburban vote from 37.8 per cent to 48.6 per cent.

"In the Midwest, Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit suburbs gave majority votes to the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. Chicago and Minneapolis-St. Paul suburbs went Republican. The Cleveland suburban vote went up from 37.7 in 1956 to 50.1 in 1960. The Chicago suburbs went from 30.9 to 41.1. So the suburbs aren't hopeless Republican strongholds."

U.N. Soldiers Trade Gunfire With Katangans

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — United Nations spokesmen said Saturday that U. N. soldiers had exchanged gunfire with Katanga troops in a struggle to preserve U. N. control over the key airport and rail station at Kabalo in north Katanga.

The clash, reported to have occurred Friday, was the first tough action taken by U. N. forces under the Feb. 21 Security Council resolution authorizing them to use force of arms, if necessary, to prevent civil war from engulfing the Congo.

A U. N. source in Elisabethville declined to report on casualties, but he indicated some troops might have been shot in the action. The Katanga government had announced Friday it had captured Kabalo from Baluba tribesmen with little or no casualties and no U. N. action.

In Leopoldville, a U. N. official said Ethiopian U. N. troops disarmed a number of Katangese soldiers at Kabalo and held them under guard to avoid a civil war outbreak. He said the U. N. kept control of the airfield and railroad station at Kabalo.

Accidents Take Lives Of Two In Alabama Areas

By United Press International

Accidents have erased at least two lives in Alabama during the weekend, a United Press International survey showed Saturday.

Frank D. Lewis died of shotgun wounds inflicted accidentally when he started to clean his shotgun Saturday. The 69-year-old man was found by his wife in the yard of their home at Tuscumbia. Colbert County Coroner James Mayes said no investigation will be made. Lewis died after reaching the hospital.

Luke P. Aaldridge, 78, of rural Horton, was struck and killed Friday on Marshall County Highway 35 about 15 miles south of Guntersville. Sheriff Louie Townsend said no charges would be placed against the driver of the car, Hoyt Bowen, also of Horton.

Wesley F. Reed, 19 - year - old former student at Lanier High High School, died Friday in Jackson, Miss. of injuries received in car-truck collision a week ago.

Suspect Escapes In Gun Battle

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Police established road blocks on every major highway in Tuscaloosa County Saturday in an effort to capture James H. Colburn, 35, who escaped law enforcement officers in a running gun battle.

Colburn was surrounded by police in an old house on U. S. 82 about five miles south of here. Highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and city police circled the house. After a brief exchange of gunfire, officers rushed the house to find the fugitive had slipped out the back door and disappeared into the woods.

Monroe gardens in the Springtime provide an ideal backdrop for entertaining visitors to our city at this season. Pictured in the garden of the Bayou home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fink on Loop Road, is Mrs. John Lolley, who with her husband, Mr. Lolley are guests here from Travis Air Force Base in California. The Lolleys have been entertained at various informal courtesies during their visit in the city with her parents, the Finks, and also Mr. Lolley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lolley of West Monroe.

AT RIGHT: Another visitor to Monroe is Mrs. Richard P. Baxter of Baton Rouge, who with Mr. Baxter have been guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baxter, and his sister and family, the George Babers. Mrs. Baxter, a recent bride, is the former Sharon Patricia Lytle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lytle of Clinton. Mr. Baxter, a graduate of United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., has just completed four years in the air force and is a pre-med student at L.S.U., where his wife is also a student majoring in speech and hearing therapy.

AT LEFT: Mrs. John Rolfe Windsor, whose marriage to Mr. Windsor was solemnized Saturday, April 8 in the Mer Rouge Methodist church is the former Miss Gilda Mae Tyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tyson, Mer Rouge. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Windsor, also of Mer Rouge.

AT RIGHT: Another visitor to Monroe is Mrs. Richard P. Baxter of Baton Rouge, who with Mr. Baxter have been guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baxter, and his sister and family, the George Babers. Mrs. Baxter, a recent bride, is the former Sharon Patricia Lytle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lytle of Clinton. Mr. Baxter, a graduate of United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., has just completed four years in the air force and is a pre-med student at L.S.U., where his wife is also a student majoring in speech and hearing therapy.

AT LEFT: Mrs. John Rolfe Windsor, whose marriage to Mr. Windsor was solemnized Saturday, April 8 in the Mer Rouge Methodist church is the former Miss Gilda Mae Tyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tyson, Mer Rouge. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Windsor, also of Mer Rouge.

Miss Mary Mills Hawkins Betrothed To William Kennedy Abington Jr.

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mary Mills Hawkins, Lake Village, Arkansas, to William Kennedy Abington Jr., New Orleans, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy Abington Sr., of Monroe, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Hawkins of Lake Village.

Miss Hawkins is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valter Allison Johnson of Pottsville, Arkansas, and the late Mrs. Lillian Mills Hawkins and the late Clarence Chase Hawkins of Memphis, Tenn.

A graduate of Lake Village high school, she attended Mississippi State College for Women and graduated from Louisiana State University with a Bachelor of Music degree. She is at present a teacher of piano in Baton Rouge and attending L.S.U. where she will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in education in June.

Miss Hawkins is a member of Chi Omega social sorority, Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity and Delta Debutante club of Greenville, Mississippi. While attending Mississippi State College for Women, she was a member of Lockhearts and Hottentots Social clubs and the orchestra.

Mr. Abington is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Foster of Natchez, Mississippi, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Merton John Abington of Monroe.

The future bridegroom was graduated from Neville high school and attended Louisiana State University and Northeast Louisiana State College, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration.

At L.S.U. he was affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon social fraternity; Samurai Interfraternity; and Delta Sigma Pi, professional and business fraternity. He served two years with the United States Marine Corps and is now associated with Hartford Insurance Company in New Orleans, where the couple plans to establish a home.

ENGAGEMENT of Miss Mary Louise Stewart, above, to Alvin Cole Ringle, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ringle of Delhi, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Stewart of Jackson, Mississippi. The wedding will be an event of April 29 in Calvary Baptist Church of Alexandria, Louisiana.

Miss Gilda Tyson Weds John Rolfe Windsor In Candlelight Ceremony

Pedestal baskets of white carnations and stock and Southern smilax banked the altar of the Mer Rouge Methodist church for the wedding Saturday, April 8 at 8 p.m. which united Miss Gilda Mae Tyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tyson, Mer Rouge, and John Rolfe Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Windsor, also of Mer Rouge.

White cathedral tapers in branched candelabra, entwined with greenery formed a background for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. L. G. Wilson. Candles were lighted by Miss Rita Bonner and Miss Wanda Thomas of Oak Grove, cousins of the bride. Bows of tulle caught in the center with clusters of lily of the valley marked family pews.

A program of organ nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Windsor, mother of the bridegroom, who also accompanied a trio composed of Joe Rolfe White, Warren White and Charles White, as they sang "Each Thought of You," and Mrs. Clare Clark, who sang "The Wedding Prayer," at end of the ceremony.

Escorted by her brother, B. W. Tyson, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a traditional gown of white satin, fashioned with elbow-length sleeves and moulded bodice accented at the waistline with satin cording. The scoop neckline was adorned with a spray of Alencon lace embellished with seed pearls and the bouffant skirt was fashioned with a pouf bustle back above a cascade of deep pleats which extended into a short chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of lace and pearls, enhanced with aurora borealis crystals. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and stephanotis and she also carried a lace handkerchief which the groom's mother carried at her wedding. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Miss Peggy Tyson served her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Betty Tyson, another sister, and Miss Gay Tonore, of Monroe. They wore identical gowns of mint green chiffon over taffeta, fashioned with low necklines, brief sleeves and bouffant skirts. Wide matching sashes formed floating back panels and their headpieces were bow bandeaux of matching chiffon. They wore short white gloves and carried three long-stemmed white rosebuds, tied with white satin streamers.

Geme White, Bastrop, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl and wore a mint green frock identical to the bridesmaids, with a wide cummerbund forming a large butterfly bow at the back waistline. She carried a white basket of rose petals. Gil White, Mer Rouge, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Roy Windsor Jr. attended his brother as best man and groomsmen were Donald McIntyre of West Monroe and Bob Earl Clark of Mer Rouge. Richard Moore of Mer Rouge and Jimmy Brown of Oak Ridge, were ushers.

Mrs. Tyson chose for her daughter's wedding an orchid shadowmesh frock with matching hat and harmonizing accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore an almond green lace sheath with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of orchids.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the church parlor. Miss Lillian Wall presided at the guest book at a table graced by a large white memory candle, decorated with greenery and encircled at the base with a ruffle of tulle. The bride's bouquet formed the floral accent. The reception table was draped with white satin caught at the corners with bows of tulle and clusters of lilies of the valley and was centered with a tiered nine-branched silver candelabra, holding white tapers, based with stock and carnations.

Mrs. Robert Tyson of Bastrop, aunt of the bride, presided at the silver punch service and at opposite end of the table Mrs. Doyle Tyson, sister-in-law of the bride, served the wedding cake. Tea girls were Miss Janice Clack, Miss Cayle Evans, Miss Pam Parker, Mrs. Eugie Lewis, and Miss Edwina Schultz of Alexandria. Others assisting with the courtesies were Miss Elma Carter, Mrs. F. A. Tolar, Mrs. Shelby White, aunt of the groom, Mrs. E. T. Davidson, Mrs. Richard Moore, and Mrs. Don Tyson, of Alexandria.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip the bride, was wearing a spring suit of beige silk linen with boxy jacket and large face-framing collar. Her accessories were brown and she wore a small hat of beige and brown, and the corsage from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will be at home near Mer Rouge on the Oak Ridge Highway.

The bride is a graduate of Mer Rouge high school and attended Louisiana State University. Mr. Windsor graduated from Mer Rouge high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State college.

MRS. GEORGE DOUGLAS

Douglas-Roberts Wedding Held At Central Baptist

Baskets of white gladioli and white tapers in branched candelabra entwined with Southern smilax and fern trees formed a background for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Patricia Ann Roberts and George Douglas. The wedding was solemnized Saturday, April 1 at 7 p.m. in Central Baptist church with Rev. Charles B. Littleton officiating.

The bride is the daugher of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Roberts, 3205 Lee Avenue, and Mr. Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas, 806 Georgia.

Preceding the double ring ceremony Miss Lila Fite, organist, presented a program of wedding music and accompanied William Haley who sang "Because," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length gown of white French Chantilly lace and tulle with chapel train. The basque bodice joined to the bouffant skirt, featured a Sabrina neckline traced with sequins. French Chantilly lace extended down the center front and back in apron effect, with nylon tulle and bands of lace forming side inserts of the voluminous skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a pearl and sequin tiara and she carried a bouquet of white cymbidium orchids with fleur d'amour mounted on a white Bible.

Mrs. George McConaughey attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a frock of shell pink organza, styled with fitted bodice and full circular skirt, accented at the back wasitline by a bow of self material and cluster of tiny pink roses. She carried a crescent arrangement of pink carnations with white streamers.

Candles were lighted by Miss Shirley Gordy and Mrs. C. L. Hinton Jr., who wore identical sheath dresses of pink brocade with pink organza overskirts and corsagss of white carnations.

Earl Douglas served as best man and ushers were George McConaughey, Marshall Douglas and Walter Foust.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a beige linen dress with beaded front, beige accessories and a corsage of pink pompon chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother wore a two -piece blue silk ensemble with a corsage of pink pompons.

A reception followed the ceremony in the social room of the church where the serving table was centered with an arrangement of pink azaleas and bridal wreath, flanked by pink candles. The tiered wedding cake and pink punch were served from opposite ends of the table by Miss Gloria Cummings, Miss DeLane Cooper, Miss Gayle Jones and Miss Elsie Foust. Miss Margie Rundell presided at the bride's book at another table which held a pink candle arrangement. Both tables were covered with floor - length cloths of white net over pink.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Eureka Springs, Arkansas, the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with white accessories and the corsage of orchids from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will reside in Monroe.

Out - of - town guests were R. K. Davis, Magnolia, Ark., Mrs. Grace Smith, Miss Iris Smith, New Orleans; Mrs. John Griffin, Natchez, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Douglas, Shreveport; Lannie McKay, Orange, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sues Jr., Baton Rouge; Mrs. Irene Franceious, Opelousas; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Foreman and Larry, St. Joseph; Mr. and Mrs. George Toni, Holly Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McKay, Archibald; R. B. McKay, Sue Keene, Mrs. J. L. Ragland, all of Alto; Mr. and Mrs. Tom McKay, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKay, of Archibald.

On Dit'

by Denise

Ah, Spring — gay, capricious often a headache but never a bore.. Just about time we get in the mood for gardening and/or garden parties, the weather changes. Now take this week. Glorious days, and everyone ready to get up to the elbows in flowers, dirt, and seeds; a large party scheduled in EMY-LOU BIEDENHARNS garden Thursday afternoon. So what kind of skies dawned for Thursday? Right. But surely nothing is duller than eternal sunshine. Here things are never dull.

But whether one is inspired to entertain because of or in spite of weather, there is no better reason for a party than to honor out-of-town visitors. JUDGE and MRS. JOSEPH LOSCALZO of New York City, who have been here with their daughter and son-in-law, MILDRED and LEE VANDERPOOL for two weeks, have been guests at several parties during their stay.

Tuesday night BESSIE and FRED FUDICKAR and ROSALIE and FRED FUDICKAR, JR., were hosts at a family party at the home of the latter. An informal barbecue supper was served from a table centered with spring flowers. Guests in addition to the Loscalzos and Vanderpools included the MURRAY HUDSONS, HENRY BIEDENHARNS, JR., PAULINE RILEY, and BLANCHE OLIVER.

Bayou DeSiard country club's glassed porch was scene of a dinner Wednesday night honoring the Loscalzos. Hosts for the event were the BREWER GODFREYS and the FRED PETTYS. A silver Revere bowl held a massive arrangement of white azaleas, mock orange, white iris and white camellias. Ivy extended the length of the table, with three-branched silver candlesticks decorated with white azaleas at either end. . . Included on the menu served to twenty-six guests were Rock Cornish hen with wild rice dressing, cranberry salad, and fresh asparagus, with Alaska refrigerator cake for dessert.

Ten couples attended the buffet supper given Thursday evening by BERNICE and HAROLD WOODS, honoring the Loscalzos. The unusually delicious menu included smothered chicken breasts on beds of rice with dill beans and marinated tomatoes. Individual strawberry pies were served for dessert.

An interesting visitor to Monroe was JEAN FLATTERY of San Francisco, who was the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, LETA and SLOAN OLIVER, for Easter weekend. Jean, who is a former newspaperwoman, has spent two years in Japan and recently visited London and Teiran. She was invited to several small coffee parties during her stay, including those given by LAURA JOHNSON, JEAN GENTRY, and HORTENSE TOUCHSTONE. . . MARGARET DOWNING was hostess for luncheon at the Lotus club.

LETA TISDALE complimented her daughter and son-in-law, LOUISE and DOOLEY NUNNALLY of Alexandria with a dinner party at Bayou DeSiard country club last Saturday night. The Nunnallys were Leta's guests over Easter. A spring bouquet centered the table on the glass porch, where thirteen were seated for dinner.

Today marks the beginning of "Little Theatre Week" in Monroe. The new building on Lamy Lane will be officially opened with a reception this afternoon. The public is invited to inspect the theatre and its equipment between the hours of three and five. First production will be "Damn Yankees," which will be seen by trustees and officers of Little Theatre at a preview on Wednesday evening. Taursday is opening night, with curtain time at 8:15 for these and subsequent performances continuing into next week. There will be a matinee at 2:30 and an evening performance next Sunday.

Arriving tomorrow for a visit with the SIDNEY GILLS will be MRS. H. W. M'CLEARY of Shreveport (the former Maude S. Gill.) She will be here for the preview at Little Theatre Wednesday evening.

Last Saturday evening KARIN and R. C. WHITE, JR., were hosts at a dinner party at Bayou DeSiard country club. Guests gathered on the porch for hors d'oeuvres and then were seated in the Reef room. Shrimp cocktail, filet mignon, broccoli hollandiase, baked potato with sour cream and chives, and tossed salad, comprised the meal, with cherries jubilee for dessert. Guests included HUGH and KURT TOUCHSTONE, HILDA and GYP M'DONALD, VERA AND DICK TROY, the HAROLD WOODS, the SIDNEY GILLS, and the GEORGE WEAKS.

Incidentally, Karin left on Monday following the party for a few days in New Orleans. R. C. and the girls stayed home and allowed mother some time to herself for a reunion with old school friends in the Crescent City.

Wednesday, on her day to have bridge club, HELEN LEDBETTER invited an extra table and turned it into a little party. Bridge games began in the Lotus club lounge in the morning, and the group adjourned to the library for lunch. CISSY RYAN won both high score and travelling prize for slam, with JUDY WORTHEN taking consolation.

On the Gulf Coast this weekend are SANCI and HILLMAN MADISON, who are attending a meeting at Edgewater Gulf hotel. Last night they had supper at Gulf Hills Dude ranch. Tomorrow night a dinner dance is scheduled at the hotel.

Members of Bigtimers Dance club have received notice of the spring formal, which is to be this coming Friday night at Bayou DeSiard country club. As is customary with this club, a social hour preceding the dance. Jan Garber and his orchestra will play for dancing from nine until one.

Friday night members of the Lotus club attended a spring fiesta dinner dance in the club rooms. Shrimp creole and roast beef highlighted the buffet menu. Music was provided by the Dukes from eight until midnight.

For spring time, what more seasonal than a few verses from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayam?

Come, fill the cup and in the fire of spring
Your winter-garment of repentance fling:
The Bird of Time has but a little way
To flutter—and the bird is on the wing.

A book of verses underneath the bough,
A jug of wine, a loaf of bread—and thou
Beside me, singing in the wilderness—
Oh, wilderness were paradise enough!

Ah, my beloved, fill the cup that clears
Today of past regrets and future fears:
Tomorrow! . . . Why, tomorrow I may be
Myself with yesterday's seven thousand years.

For some we loved, the loveliest and the best
That from his vintage rolling Time hath prest,
Have drunk their cup a round or two before,
And one by one crept silently to rest.

Ah, make the most of what we yet may spend,
Before we too into the dust descend;
Dust into dust, and under dust to lie,
Sans wine, sans song, sans singer—and sans end.

Club Plans Garden Tour For Monday

The Monroe Garden Club will hold its annual Garden Tour Monday, April 10 from 3 until 5 p.m.

Homes included on the tour are those of Mrs. J. H. Thatcher, 501 Speed Drive; Mrs. J. W. Gaines, 3420 Loop Road; Mrs. H. K. Touchstone Sr., 2101 Pargoud Blvd., Mrs. Jamar Adcock, Point Drive and Mrs. Leon Sugar, 14 Deborah Drive.

Tea will be served on the patio of the Jamar Adcock home. Mrs. Dewitt Milam is chairman of the tour and serving as her co-chairman is Mrs. Adcock.

Monroe Sectional Bridge Tournament Is Scheduled

The Bayou Bridge Club of Monroe will hold its Sixth Annual Monroe Sectional Bridge Tournament, the week-end of April 21st, 22nd, and 23rd, at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, Monroe, Louisiana.

The first event, the Masters Pair, will start at 1:30 P.M., Friday. This event was won last year by Mrs. Sara Ducote and Mrs. Jack Wicks. At the same time a side game will be held for players who would like to participate, but feel their experience would not justify playing in the Masters Pair. On Friday night a Team-of-Four game will start at 8:00 p.m.

There will be four games Saturday. An Early Bird game at 9:00 a.m., a Men's Pair and a Women's Pair at 1:30 p.m. The first session of the Open Pair will start at 8:00 p.m. There will be a buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m., with cocktail party and dancing after the first session.

Sunday afternoon the tournament will close with the second session of the Open Pair and a Pair Game for those who didn't play Saturday night. There will be sandwiches and coffee served "for the road."

Dr. Carroll Summer, President of the club, and Mrs. Helen Campbell, Tournament chairman, urge that all bridge players in the area attend, and may do so as players or spectators. Winners in all event will be awarded suitable prizes for permanent possession. Players are expected from Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas.

Ah, Spring — gay, capricious often a headache but never a bore.. Just about time we get in the mood for gardening and/or garden parties, the weather changes. Now take this week. Glorious days, and everyone ready to get up to the elbows in flowers, dirt, and seeds; a large party scheduled in EMY-LOU BIEDENHARNS garden Thursday afternoon. So what kind of skies dawned for Thursday? Right. But surely nothing is duller than eternal sunshine. Here things are never dull.

But whether one is inspired to entertain because of or in spite of weather, there is no better reason for a party than to honor out - of - town visitors. JUDGE and MRS. JOSEPH LOSCALZO of New York City, who have been here with their daughter and son-in-law, MILDRED and LEE VANDERPOOL for two weeks, have been guests at several parties during their stay.

Tuesday night BESSIE and FRED FUDICKAR and ROSALIE and FRED FUDICKAR, JR., were hosts at a family party at the home of the latter. An informal barbecue supper was served from a table centered with spring flowers. Guests in addition to the Loscalzos and Vanderpools included the MURRAY HUDSONS, HENRY BIEDENHARNS, JR., PAULINE RILEY, and BLANCHE OLIVER.

Bayou DeSiard country club's glassed porch was scene of a dinner Wednesday night honoring the Loscalzos. Hosts for the event were the BREWER GODFREYS and the FRED PETTYS. A silver Revere bowl held a massive arrangement of white azaleas, mock orange, white iris and white camellias. Ivy extended the length of the table, with three-branched silver candlesticks decorated with white azaleas at either end. . . Included on the menu served to twenty-six guests were Rock Cornish hen with wild rice dressing, cranberry salad, and fresh asparagus, with Alaska refrigerator cake for dessert.

Ten couples attended the buffet supper given Thursday evening by BERNICE and HAROLD WOODS, honoring the Loscalzos. The unusually delicious menu included smothered chicken breasts on beds of rice with dill beans and marinated tomatoes. Individual strawberry pies were served for dessert.

An interesting visitor to Monroe was JEAN FLATTERY of San Francisco, who was the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, LETA and SLOAN OLIVER, for Easter weekend. Jean, who is a former newspaperwoman, has spent two years in Japan and recently visited London and Tehran. She was invited to several small coffee parties during her stay, including those given by LAURA JOHNSON, JEAN GENTRY, and HORTENSE TOUCHSTONE. . . MARGARET DOWNING was hostess for luncheon at the Lotus club.

Miss Saxon, Mr. Maxwell Are United

MR. AND MRS. LARRY LEROY MAXWELL

Ridge Avenue Baptist church was scene of the wedding of Miss Bobbie Sue Saxon, West Monroe, and Larry Leroy Maxwell, Monroe, which was solemnized March 30 at 8 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Saxon, West Monroe, and Mr. Maxwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Maxwell of Dry Prong.

Rev. A. T. Mitchell performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of white gladioli, fern trees and candelabra, on either side of a prie dieu. Candles also graced the church windows.

Mrs. Jane Peterson, accompanied Luther Burney who sang "Because," "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer," and also played traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over delustered satin, scalloped at the neck and hemline with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. She wore pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom, and a fingertip veil of nylon tulle attached to a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was of white carnations surrounding a yellow-throated white orchid.

Flower girls were Denice and Lisa Saxon, who wore baby blue cotton satin frocks, with white eyelet pinafores. Their headbands of blue satin were edged with lace and they carried baskets of yellow petals.

Kennard Welch attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Joe Saxon, Norman Garlington, Glynn Maxwell and Tommy Auttonberry.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the educational building of the church. The bride's table was covered with a centerpiece of pink carnations and candles. The cake and pink punch were served from opposite ends.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas and Memphis, Tennessee, the bride changed to a yellow linen suit, with which she wore a yellow hat and other accessories of white and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will live in West Monroe.

Mrs. Maxwell was graduated from West Monroe high school and is a student at Northeast Louisiana State college. Mr. Maxwell, a graduate of Dry Prong high school, attended Northwestern at Natchitoches and Northeast Louisiana State college.

Miro Book Club Entertained By Mrs. Mulhern

Spring flowers decorated the home of Mrs. B. L. Mulhern when she entertained members of the Miro Book club Monday afternoon, April 3.

Mrs. J. H. McCormick, president, had charge of the business session during which the state bulletin was read. A letter from the Quota club was also read announcing the annual tour of homes benefit scholarship fund on April 9 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Miss Catherine Livaudais reviewed chapters nine and ten of the book on Hawaii by Ben Adams.

Refresments were served at conclusion of the afternoon to Mrs. Armand V. Breard, Mrs. John B. Filhiol Jr., Mrs. Horace V. Fluker, Mrs. J. H. McCormick, Miss Catherine Livaudais, Mrs. Neal McHenry, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. J. T. Pugh, Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell and Mrs. R. L. Wood.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over delustered satin, scalloped at the neck and hemline with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. She wore pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom, and a fingertip veil of nylon tulle attached to a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was of white carnations surrounding a yellow-throated white orchid.

Flower girls were Denice and Lisa Saxon, who wore baby blue cotton satin frocks, with white eyelet pinafores. Their headbands of blue satin were edged with lace and they carried baskets of yellow petals.

Kennard Welch attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Joe Saxon, Norman Garlington, Glynn Maxwell and Tommy Auttonberry.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the educational building of the church. The bride's table was covered with a centerpiece of pink carnations and candles. The cake and pink punch were served from opposite ends.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas and Memphis, Tennessee, the bride changed to a yellow linen suit, with which she wore a yellow hat and other accessories of white and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will live in West Monroe.

Mrs. Maxwell was graduated from West Monroe high school and is a student at Northeast Louisiana State college. Mr. Maxwell, a graduate of Dry Prong high school, attended Northwestern at Natchitoches and Northeast Louisiana State college.

Big Handbags Can Become Habit-Forming

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

There is no doubt that this big handbag thing in my life has got to stop. At least, so I tell myself every time I turn one out upon the bed after several weeks and find such things as a mislaid monkey wrench amidst the miscellany of lipsticks, old grocery lists and empty cigarette packs.

The trouble with my resolve is that I have a fatal weakness for large handbags. It began several seasons ago when the first Italian leather buckets came over here. After years of never having enough room in handbags, I greeted those buckets with screams of joy.

By the time I realized that a bucket can fill, and fill in layers, the handbag people, European and American, had come out with all sorts of enticing big bags. The tote bag showed up, compartmented, they said, with a place for everything — even a passport.

Couple United In Maplewood Baptist Church

Vows uniting Miss Betty Elizabeth Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Franklin of Sulphur, and Donald Wayne Beardsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Beardsley of Houston, Texas, were solemnized Saturday, April 8 in the First Baptist church of Maplewood, La.

The bride wore a gown of ivory silk peau de soie, enhanced by Alencon lace. The basque bodice was fashioned with a bateau decolletage, marked by scallops of the lace pattern that extended over the shoulders of the elbow sleeves. A cording of the silk encircled the waistline from which the belled skirt draped to form a circular court train. Her waist-length veil of silk illusion draped in tiers from a bell coif. Her bouquet was of yellow roses.

Miss Amelia Franklin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Lucy Marroquin of Guatemala City, Guatemala, C.A., Miss Mitzi Burk, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Shirl Edmonds, Lake Charles, and Miss Jane Kinney of Sulphur. The attendants wore frocks of leaf green organza over taffeta, in waltz length. The fitted bodices had circlet necklines, accented by a cording of the silk and a band of organza encircled the waistlines and ended in small back bows. They carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

Serving as best man was Luis L. Stuart III, and groomsmen were James R. Goeman Jr., Malcholm Storey, Houston, Tex., Ronald Franklin, San Angelo, Tex., brother of the bride and James McRae, Houston, brother-in-law of the groom.

Candlelighters were Miss Linda Hailey of Shreveport and Miss Candy Greene of Texas City, Texas. Flower girl was Miss Judith Arledge of West Monroe and Glynn Franklin, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride, who attended McNeese State College at Lake Charles, is the granddaughter of Mrs. G. C. Hudson and the late Mr. Hudson of Columbia, and also of Alcie Franklin, Columbia.

Mr. Beardsley graduated from the University of Houston, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha Order and Sigma Gamma Epsilon.

The couple will reside in Houston.

MRS. WILLIAM JAMES MARCHBANK III

Methodist Church Scene Of Marchbank-Etier Vows

In a setting of white flowers and candlelight; Miss Camille Etier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Etier of Mangham, became the bride of William James 'Gerry' Marchbank III, of Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William James Marchbank II, Wichita, Falls, Texas. The Rev. E. A. Keasler performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. March 30 in the Mangham Methodist church.

Vows were exchanged before the altar, banked with smilax, magnolia leaves, dogwood and bridal wreath. Spiral candelabra, entwined with smilax and white wisteria flanked tall pedestal baskets of white bridal wreath and dogwood. Completing the background setting were fan - shaped arrangements of white azaleas interspersed with branched candelabra holding tall white tapers.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. B. N. Hixon, organist, who accompanied Ronnie Sanford of West Monroe, as he sang "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional gown of white satin, styled with fitted bodice and princess panel in front of the skirt which terminated in back in a full chapel train, outlined with Alencon lace. A scalloped neckline and three quarter sleeves accented the lace yoke which buttoned down the back and was detailed at the waistline with two self - material roses. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a lace caplet, embellished with pearls and she carried a crescent bouquet of white roses centered with a purple orchid, and studded with rhinestone hearts, from which cascaded white satin streamers.

Miss Kathryn Etier, served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a gown of green taffeta, fashioned on princess lines and featuring a sweetheart neckline, with matching headpiece and slippers. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow roses.

Bridesmaids, who were dressed identically to the honor attendant, were Miss Nancy Rand of Fort Worth, Texas; Miss Kay Stowall and Miss Rosalyn Anne Thames.

Jerry Head of Newellton, served as best man. Groomsmen - ushers were Micky Prestridge, Crowville; Dicky Aycock, Monroe and Dub Heffington, Wichita Falls, Texas. Candles were lighted by Don Holton.

For the occasion the bride's mother was wearing a pastel green silk frock with white accessories and pink camellia corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a coral pink silk dress with matching accessories and a yellow corsage.

The refreshment table, covered in white damask, held the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, with roses forming a bouquet on white tulle ruching encircling the cake which was placed on a mirror. Central decor for the table was a fan - shaped arrangement of white dogwood, camellias, pearlized grapes, centered around four lighted spiral tapers. Mrs. Claude [illegible] presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Miller Watson, Tallulah, served the cake. Both cousins of the bride, wore white carnation corsages.

The bridesmaids' table, covered in white linen cutwork, held a three tiered cake, surmounted by wedding bells, around which the bridesmaids placed their bouquets. Miss Jane Lyles presided at the guest book, placed on a table which held a memory candle, encircled with white tulle adorned with butterflies and wedding bells.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a spring suit of raw silk in [illegible] blue with matching accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Marchbank will be at home at 600 Bres Avenue in Monroe.

A graduate of Mangham high school, Mrs. Marchbank attended Northwestern State college and was graduated from Northeast State College.

Mr. Marchbank is a graduate of Wichita Falls high school, attended the University of Oklahoma, and is a senior at Northeast. He has accepted a position as coach at St. Matthews High school in Monroe beginning with the fall semester.

Those from Monroe among the large number of out - of - town guests attending the wedding were Miss Hazel McLawchlin, Miss Louise McLawchlin, Miss Kathy Talton, Miss Patsy Gurley, Miss Betty Hines, George V. Varino Jr., Mrs. J. M. McElwain Jr., Miss Gloria Lynn McElwain, Mrs. Louise Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Gordy, Miss Jane Ross, Bruce R. Parks Jr., Marion F. Edwards and Ronnie Sandford.

Teens Should Edit Fashions

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Although every girl regards herself as an individual, she'd often rather be shot than be "different." When all her group are wearing middy blouses, black stockings and stout brogues, how can she resist? It's treason to her peers not to wear what they wear. She'll wear the latest, no matter how she looks in it.

Yet a teen-age girl should resist fads unbecoming to her. She should realize that someone must originally have had the courage to start the fad which she is now slavishly following. Unconsciously, but surely, the group has a leader, usually a girl who can carry off the new with an air.

All her followers utterly fail to see that they're not the same shape and shade she is, and that she may be the one and only girl in school on whom green lipstick looks marvelous.

Besides looking less attractive than she could, the follower is in real danger of permanently stunting her fashion sense. Long after she is out of her teens she may continue to follow timidly any group with whom she finds herself.

If a girl feels she just can't reject the group fad of the moment, she could at least edit it in favor of herself.

She'll wear the latest, no matter how she looks in it.

Yet a teen-age girl should resist fads unbecoming to her. She should realize that someone must originally have had the courage to start the fad which she is now slavishly following. Unconsciously, but surely, the group has a leader, usually a girl who can carry off the new with an air.

All her followers utterly fail to see that they're not the same shape and shade she is, and that she may be the one and only girl in school on whom green lipstick looks marvelous.

Besides looking less attractive than she could, the follower is in real danger of permanently stunting her fashion sense. Long after she is out of her teens she may continue to follow timidly any group with whom she finds herself.

If a girl feels she just can't reject the group fad of the moment, she could at least edit it in favor of herself.

Miss Leonard Is Bride Of John H. Kelley

Vows uniting in marriage Miss Barbara Sini Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leonard, Crossett, Ark., and John Hoyt Kelley, son of Mrs. John E. Kelley and the late Mr. Kelley, of Crossett, were solemnized Thursday, March 30 at 5 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Holley in the South Crossett Missionary Baptist church against a background of seven - branched candelabra holding white tapers, flanked by baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Miss Anita Faye Taunton provided nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Gwen Kilcrease of Hamburg, Ark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white lace over satin and net. The bouffant skirt swept up in the back to reveal rows of tiered net ruffles and the fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of white net leaves, tipped with pearls. She carried a nosegay of white carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Erlene Taunton served as maid of honor and wore a street length dress of orchid lace over nylon. She carried a bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums.

Norval Cecil served as best man and ushers were Larry Barnett and George Carter Jr.

Mr. Kelley is a student at Arkansas A & M college in Monticello and the bride will graduate from Crossett high school in June.

Some 35 per cent of the shrimp is used in the institutional field.

Hair Raising

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eyebrows can be regrown temporarily in certain cases of total or extensive hair loss by the injection of suitable corticosteroids, reports Dr. Robert A. Berger of New York.

The technique presents certain difficulties — pain during and swelling after the injections. But Dr. Berger believes the treatment is "practical and worthwhile in many cases in which the eyebrow region, cosmetically important and not easily masked, is involved."

MISS RAMONA MAE NEAL

Miss Christian, Mr. Carter To Wed Saturday

Forthcoming marriage of Miss Mary Alice Christian to Jeff Thomas Carter, son of Mrs. Charles Erickson and the late Hollis Cecil Carter, is announced today by her mother, Mrs. Mary P. Christian.

The bride-elect is also the daughter of Robert Gilmer Christian and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lucius Purifoy of Camden, Arkansas, and Mrs. Frank Gilmer Christian of Calhoun, Georgia and the late Mr. Christian.

Mr. Carter is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Thomas Carter of Orange, Texas, and the late Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Grower of West Monroe.

The wedding is scheduled to be held Saturday, April 15 in the home of the bride-elect's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron F. Parker, 721 DeSiard Road. The Rev. William M. Hatcher, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, will perform the 4 p.m. ceremony in presence of members of the immediate families.

Miss Christian is a graduate of West Monroe high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. The future bridegroom attended West Monroe high school and is employed in West Monroe.

Baptist Church Scene Of Keenan-Atkins Vows

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Ginger Nell Atkins, daughter of Mrs. Barney Atkins, of Jonesville, and Duane Couillard Keenan, son of Mrs. S. E. Keenan of Clayton, on Saturday, March 25 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Jonesville.

Baskets of white gladioli and stock banked the altar where the double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. O. McNair, pastor of the church. Completing the setting were myriads of white tapers in branched candelabra, entwined with ivy, which stood at either side of the podium. Candles were lighted by Bill Atkins, brother of the bride, and Dicky Wilds.

Preceding the exchange of vows nuptial music was presented by James Keeth McNair, organist, and by Mrs. A. J. Smith, pianist, who accompanied John Louis LaPrarie, as he sang "Because," "Whither Thou Goest," and following the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Barney Atkins Jr. She wore a traditional gown of magnolia silk organza. The moulded bodice was fashioned with a square neckline and short sleeves were detailed with embroidery and bands of satin ribbon insertion outlining the neck and forming a point at the waistline. Front of the very full skirt was accented with satin ribbon and embroidery in an inverted crescent design with panels of organza at either side. The full chapel train carried out the ribbon design and a cluster of organza roses with tiny pearlized leaves formed a headpiece which held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She wore an antique locket belonging to her aunt, Mrs. William McDowell of Monroe.

Miss Pat Breeding of Pineville, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Claudette Stokes of Elmer; Miss Mary Carol Burford of Gloster; Miss Sylvia Whatley of Lake Providence; Miss Abby Keenan, Clayton, sister of the bridegroom. Miss June White and Miss Pamela Booth, both of Jonesville, served a junior bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical sheath dresses of silk linen in champagne beige with short pleated overskirts of silk organza. Completing their costumes were open crown picture hats of silk organza adorned with self material roses and they carried bouquets of Happiness roses.

John Barnwell of Natchez, Miss., served as best man. Groomsmen were Dean Stevens of Natchez; Cliff and Roscoe Wilson, cousins of the bride, of Jonesville; William Mount of Sicily Island; Dicky Wilds of Wildsville and Bill Atkins, Jonesville, brother of the bride, who also served as ushers.

For the occasion the bride's mother was wearing a sheath dress of turquoise silk shantung with scoop neckline, rolled collar and an overskirt of knife-pleated panels. Her accessories were in matching shade. Mrs. Keenan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a green crepe sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. A. J. Smith had charge of the bride's book, which was placed on a round table centered with a memory candle. Centering the bride's table was a silver candelabra entwined with ivy and white carnations tied with white satin ribbons, holding white tapers. Opposite the silver punch bowl was the tiered wedding cake, topped with a replica of the bride's bouquet of white sweetheart roses. Bridesmaids bouquets were placed about the reception rooms, with the bridal motif also decorating the playroom, where punch and hors d'oeuvres were served.

Presiding at the two punch bowls were aunts of the bride, Mrs. R. O. Burks, Mrs. R. W. Davis, Mrs. Ira Hall, Mrs. Ethel Smith, Mrs. Carl Quinn, Mrs. Lee Breithaupt and Mrs. C. C. Wilson.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Pensacola, Florida, the bride was wearing a beige wool crepe costume dress trimmed in tangerine with beige accessories and a corsage of white roses. Upon their return the couple will be at home in Vidalia.

Mr. Keenan was graduated from Sicily Island high school and attended Hinds Junior college in Mississippi and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston. Mrs. Keenan graduated from Block high school at Jonesville and attended Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe and Northwestern State college at Natchitoches.

Girl Scout News

Offhand, one might think the eagerly - looked - forward - to, two night troop camp planned by Troop 15 for Wednesday and would be called off on account of weather. Not so. Troop leader, Mrs. John Salisbury, says the troop proved that it is possible for nineteen girls and their leaders to spend two days indoors and still have a wonderful time.

Mrs. Salisbury didn't get to go with the girls, but Mrs. Frank Parrino and Mrs. G. A. Waschka did a good job of leadership, assisted by Senior Scouts Milann Gannawa yand Deas Parrish and our good camping friend, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee.

While rain poured the girls were having campfire in front of a pleasant fire. Looking back, the girls decided that the most fun were the games the Senior Scouts taught and the original skits which they themselves contributed to the campfire program.

Breadtwists cooked over coals in the fireplace were just as good as if cooked outdoors. A break in the rain for a short while Thursday morning allowed the girls to raise the flag and to pitch a tent. The girls had planned to complete the Campcraft badge and they did, practicing lighting a kerosene lamp, lashing, building fires, cooking, following a kaper chart by patrols.

Bright sunshine was a welcome sight on the second morning for packing up, cleaning up, and leavig for home. At their troop meeting last week the girls evaluated their experience and wrote thank you notes to Deas and Milann.

Many of these girls are veteran day campers and some of them have had troop camping experiences.

First registrations for day camp July 3-28 will be taken in neighborhoods Saturday between 9:30 and 11:30 and at the office until 3:00. Someone will be outside the main entrance at Lakeshore, Lexington, Sherrouse, Plum Street, Highland and Mitchell schools (in a car if weather is bad) to receive applications. Of course, registrations will be taken later, but to insure a place, parents should reserve one now. As usual, the camp committee and camp director are making plans for an adventurous experience for girls ranging in age from 8 to 15.

First of several new troops to register is Troop 99 at Lexington School, with Mrs. M. E. Luse, Mrs R. L. Jackson as leaders. Serving on the troop committee are: Mrs. R. Killcrease, Mrs. Bill Spooner, Mr. C. W. Campbell and Mrs. C. W. Brincefield. The following girls have been invested and are looking forward to taking part in Girl Scout activities during the summer: Donna Bradford, Cheryl Brincefield, Diane Brownlee, Melissa Campbell, Colleen Cline, Gaye Colvin, Cherll Edwards, Cindy Ellett, Pamela Jackson, Charlotte Killcrease, Dana Luse, Carolyn Marcovitz, Anne Martin, Shelis Richardson, Susan Spooner, Ruth Ann Szold, Sue Stroud and Conie Weaver. Congratulations to these new Scouts.

Little Girls Have Fashion Convictions

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

As any mother knows, clothes shopping with daughter can be an exhausting, knock 'em down and drag 'em out fight. But a recent study made at New York State College of Home Economics reveals that fashion convictions are held firmly even by five-year-olds.

Interviewing mothers to find out how they selected their daughters' school dresses, faculty members found that most of the time it is the little girl who does the selecting. While mother is eyeing something "suitable," Mary Jane has swooped down with unerring glance upon the dress that looks prettiest on the hanger.

Little girls love full skirts with many petticoats, because they are such fun to twirl in. Many times mother gives in despite the laundering chores she sees ahead

MRS. RICHARD ALDON CARAWAY

Caraway-Byram Nuptials Solemnized In Tallulah

A double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Jerry Ann Byram and Richard Aldon Caraway was solemnized at the First Baptist church in Tallulah on Sunday, March 26 at 3 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Ragan Byram of Tallulah and Mr. Caraway is the son of Mrs. A. T. Caraway and the late Mr. Caraway of Jackson, Mississippi.

The Rev. Gray Allison of Ruston, cousin of the bride, was officiating minister. Vows were exchanged in a setting of palms, candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers, baskets of white gladioli and stock and an arch entwined with ivy and dogwood blooms.

Miss Ernestine Stewart presented the nuptial music and accompanied W. A. Windham who sang "Through the Years," and "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," at close of the ceremony.

Mrs. W. A. Windham, aunt of the bride, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Emily Ruth Wroten, Miss Hazel Jean Roberson and Miss Sydney Carolyn Johnston of University of Mississippi. They wore identical sheath dresses of burgundy silk organza with pleated tunics, matching headdresses and nose veils and carried nosegays of pink flowers.

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice of Chantilly lace, Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. Tiny covered buttons enclosed the back bodice and the skirt, embellished in front with lace appliques, swept to a full chapel train. Her elbow length veil of double illusion cascaded from a pearl headpiece and she carried a nosegay of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Reed Herring, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Don Hodges, Tom Todd and Charles Michel, all of Jackson, Mississippi, with ushers being John Byram, brother of the bride, John Victor Wright, Ben Todd and Charlie Beaver of Jackson. Bill Windham was ring bearer.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Byram were hosts at a reception in the church parlor. The bride's table, covered with a pink satin cloth with white net overskirt held a centerpiece of pink and white carnations in a silver and crystal epergne, white candles in silver holders and a silver punch service. Mrs. James P. Holloway of Dallas, Texas, cousin of the bride presided. The tiered wedding cake at an adjoining table was served by Mrs. John Earl Martin and Miss Mary Murphy of Shreveport, aunt of the bride had charge of the bride's book.

For travel, when the couple left for New Orleans, the bride wore a taupe silk shantung dress with fitted jacket, bone accessories and a corsage of pink glamellias. On their return they will reside at 1818 Wisteria Drive in Jackson.

Mrs. Caraway graduated at Tallulah high school, attended Northeast State College in Monroe and Droughons Business College in Jackson, Miss. Mr. Caraway received his degree from Mississippi State University.

A number of friends from Jackson, Vicksburg, Hickory, Meridian, Newton and Natchez in Mississippi and Epps, Bastrop, Shreveport and Baton Rouge and Dallas, Texas attended the wedding.

Let's talk about Maternity Fashions

By LILLIAN ELIAS

HE'LL NOTICE
Some men seem to be completely oblivious to fashion and charm . . . and you probably think your husband fits into this category. Not so! True . . . at this particular time he regards you with mixed emotions ranging from the very tender to the more complacent. But, if there is any doubt in your mind about the effect of a new outfit on him . . . try outfitting yourself in a very stunning ensemble for your next invitation out. Watch his eyes light up! There's your proof!

TOP FASHIONS
Time was when an expectant mother merely dressed herself in some kind of smock and settled back for a miserable nine-month wait. Today, the expectant mother can look as svelte as a needle and thread can make her. Fortunately, designers are taking mother-to-be so seriously that she can now look as smartly dressed at home as on a shopping spree. You'll find just about everything you can think of in our shop to keep you looking your best . . . from pedal pushers to a smart cocktail dress.

IN ANY SEASON
The time to start your maternity buying is at the beginning of your pregnancy . . . regardless of the season. Come in and let's get acquainted. We'll advise you, as we have advised hundreds of women just like you. We'll help you select maternities that will see you through.

MISS PATRICIA ANN DEASON

June Wedding Planned By Miss Deason

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Patricia Ann Deason, daughter of Mrs. J. O. Deason of Hico, and the late Mr. Deason, to Larry Roger Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Stanley of Minden, is made today by the mother of the bride-elect.

The wedding will be solemnized June 2.

Miss Deason is a music major at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston and will graduate in May. She is a member of the Honor Society and Phi Kappa Phi.

Mr. Stanley is a graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic where he majored in music and became a member of Omicron Delta Kappa honorary fraternity. He is at present music instructor in the Anacoco and Hornbeck schools.

Baby Talk

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 51 per cent of all maternity patients in America today see a doctor during the first two months of pregnancy, the Health Information Foundation reports.

The foundation said 99 per cent of all live births take place in a hospital with a physician in attendance.

Coffee Gravy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coffee with cream or milk makes delicious gravy for roast leg of lamb. Here is Mrs. Helen Britt's recipe.

Mix ½ clove of finely minced garlic or ¼ teaspoon of powdered marjoram with a small amount of butter. Insert bits of seasoned butter in slits around the bone of a 5 to 6-pound leg of lamb. Let stand at room temperature 2 hours. Roast in a preheated 300-degree oven until desired doneness is reached. Baste at 15 to 20 minutes intervals with coffee and milk or cream, using a total of 1 cup of liquid. About 1 to 2 tablespoons of milk or cream and 1 (8-ounce) cup of coffee.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by Mrs. William George Martin of Pensacola, Florida, of the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Sara Elaine, to Dale Raymond Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Carroll of Wisner. The wedding will take place June 17 in Pleasant Grove Baptist church at Pensacola.

MR. AND MRS. Stanley Carroll of Wisner, announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha to Philip Dampier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Dampier, also of Wisner. The wedding will be solemnized May 27 in the Holly Grove Baptist church.

Girl Scout News

Offhand, one might think the eagerly - looked - forward - to, two night troop camp planned by Troop 15 for Wednesday and would be called off on account of weather. Not so. Troop leader, Mrs. John Salisbury, says the troop proved that it is possible for nineteen girls and their leaders to spend two days indoors and still have a wonderful time.

Mrs. Salisbury didn't get to go with the girls, but Mrs. Frank Parrino and Mrs. G. A. Waschka did a good job of leadership, assisted by Senior Scouts Milann Gannawa yand Deas Parrish and our good camping friend, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee.

While rain poured the girls were having campfire in front of a pleasant fire. Looking back, the girls decided that the most fun were the games the Senior Scouts taught and the original skits which they themselves contributed to the campfire program.

Breadtwists cooked over coals in the fireplace were just as good as if cooked outdoors. A break in the rain for a short while Thursday morning allowed the girls to raise the flag and to pitch a tent. The girls had planned to complete the Campcraft badge and they did, practicing lighting a kerosene lamp, lashing, building fires, cooking, following a kaper chart by patrols.

Bright sunshine was a welcome sight on the second morning for ucking up, cleaning up, and leavig for home. At their troop meeting last week the girls evaluated their experience and wrote thank you notes to Deas and Milann.

Many of these girls are veteran day campers and some of them have had troop camping experiences.

First registrations for day camp July 3-28 will be taken in neighborhoods Saturday between 9:30 and 11:30 and at the office until 3:00. Someone will be outside the main entrance at Lakeshore, Lexington, Sherrouse, Plum Street, Highland and Mitchell schools (in a car if weather is bad) to receive applications. Of course, registrations will be taken later, but to insure a place, parents should reserve one now. As usual, the camp committee and camp director are making plans for an adventurous experience for girls ranging in age from 8 to 15.

First of several new troops to register is Troop 99 at Lexington School, with Mrs. M. E. Luse, Mrs R. L. Jackson as leaders. Serving on the troop committee are: Mrs. R. Killcrease, Mrs. Bill Spooner, Mr. C. W. Campbell and Mrs. C. W. Brincefield. The following girls have been invested and are looking forward to taking part in Girl Scout activities during the summer: Donna Bradford, Cheryl Brincefield, Diane Brownlee, Melissa Campbell, Colleen Cline, Gaye Colvin, Cherll Edwards, Cindy Ellett, Pamela Jackson, Charlotte Killcrease, Dana Luse, Carolyn Marcovitz, Anne Martin, Shelis Richardson, Susan Spooner, Ruth Ann Szold, Sue Stroud and Conie Weaver. Congratulations to these new Scouts.

Little Girls Have Fashion Convictions

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

As any mother knows, clothes shopping with daughter can be an exhausting, knock 'em down and drag 'em out fight. But a recent study made at New York State College of Home Economics reveals that fashion convictions are held firmly even by five-year-olds.

Interviewing mothers to find out how they selected their daughters' school dresses, faculty members found that most of the time it is the little girl who does the selecting. While mother is eyeing something "suitable," Mary Jane has swooped down with unerring glance upon the dress that looks prettiest on the hanger.

Little girls love full skirts with many petticoats, because they are such fun to twirl in. Many times mother gives in despite the laundering chores she sees ahead.

MRS. RICHARD ALDON CARAWAY

Caraway-Byram Nuptials Solemnized In Tallulah

A double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Jerry Ann Byram and Richard Aldon Caraway was solemnized at the First Baptist church in Tallulah on Sunday, March 26 at 3 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Ragan Byram of Tallulah and Mr. Caraway is the son of Mrs. A. T. Caraway and the late Mr. Caraway of Jackson, Mississippi.

The Rev. Gray Allison of Ruston, cousin of the bride, was officiating minister. Vows were exchanged in a setting of palms, candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers, baskets of white gladioli and stock and an arch entwined with ivy and dogwood blooms.

Miss Ernestine Stewart presented the nuptial music and accompanied W. A. Windham who sang "Through the Years," and "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," at close of the ceremony.

Mrs. W. A. Windham, aunt of the bride, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Emily Ruth Wroten, Miss Hazel Jean Roberson and Miss Sydney Carolyn Johnston of University of Mississippi. They wore identical sheath dresses of burgundy silk organza with pleated tunics, matching headdresses and nose veils and carried nosegays of pink flowers.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

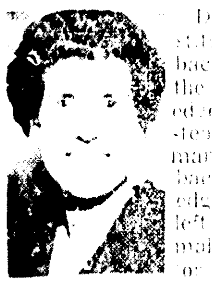
"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I am making a robe that is giving me fits. How can I attach these pieces without spoiling the 'V' shape?"

Mrs. J.C.C.

Dear Mrs. J.C.C.:

Applying this type of a yoke to a similar shaped section of a garment requires the techniques used in gussets.



Do not machine stitch the center back seam all the way to the edge of fabric. Instead, stitch to a mark ⅝" from the back stitch. The edge you have left open will make it possible for you to fit the yoke in and still have a perfect "V".

If you are cutting in a similar type part of your pattern where there is no seam at the point of the "V", you should re-inforce each side of the V by stitching on the seamline and then CLIP the fabric to the point you have reinforced. You will now proceed as above.

BUTTON RULE

"Dear Eunice:

"Most patterns I have seen tell you to lap the right back over the left back when garments are buttoned down the back.

"However, the other night on TV, June Allyson had on a beautiful dress with the buttonholes on the left side. Which way is correct?"

Mrs. M.C.

Dear Mrs. M.C.:

"Rules are made to be broken", as the old saying goes. There is a rule that is more or less standardized for men's and women's clothes concerning the direction for the closing.

In more expensive clothes, designers take great joy in doing the unconventional just to be unique. This is undoubtedly the reason for the unusual closing in the dress you saw.

BODICE EASE

"Dear Eunice,

"I have what they call a large "rib-cage" and when a sheath dress is fitted like most of them are, it is much too tight above my waistline. It also doesn't look very good. Is there some special kind of pattern that would look good on me?"

Mrs. C.S.

Dear Mrs. C.S.:

Instead of making one large dart under the bustline, I would suggest making one smaller dart and one small unpressed pleat. This would give you some ease above the waistline. You could also gather the fabric allowed for darts and have a slightly bloused effect for the bodice. I would avoid a tight-fitting bodice.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of this paper. Your question will be answered as soon as possible. And if you have questions about putting in sleeves, you'll find expert, detailed answers in Eunice Farmer's booklet, ALL ABOUT SLEEVES. Obtain it by sending 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of Monroe Morning World.

MRS. JOSEPH HENRY BAUGHMAN

Doris Lynn Knotts Bride Of Joseph H. Baughman

Miss Doris Lynn Knotts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Knotts, Sicily Island, became the bride of Joseph Henry Baughman, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Stein Baughman of Farmerville, in a double ring ceremony solemnized Friday, March 31.

Vows were exchanged in Wisner Baptist church at 7 p.m. with the Rev. Ira A. Love, minister of Haughton Methodist church officiating.

Miss Alice Ruth Herrington, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections and accompanied Rudolph Marion Dozier, as he sang "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie and Alencon lace. Styled on princess lines, the high bodice of lace was encrusted with pearls and sequins, which were repeated at wrists of the long tapered sleeves. Side panels of Alencon lace extended to the hemline of the belled skirt with full bloom peau de soie roses accenting back fullness, which terminated in a chapel train. Her tiered veil of imported illusion cascaded from a small hat of peau de soie roses and she carried a shower bouquet of white cattleya orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Nancy Knotts, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Janet McClelland, Miss Carole Ann Soloman and Miss Mitzi Baughman. They wore beautifully draped gowns of sea nile green silk chiffon, styled on princess lines with bell shaped ballerina length skirts. Their headpieces were two-toned roses in shades of sea nile and hedge green to which circular veils of illusion were attached. Miss Knotts carried a cascade bouquet of rosettes, yellow roses and yellow satin leaves and the bridesmaids carried arm bouquets of yellow roses.

Michael Stein Baughman Jr. served as best man and groomsmen were Joel E. Smith Jr., J. Carlton White and Jackie L. Hudson. Ushers were Frederick F. Preaus, Richard Aycock, Robert Rainer, George Sumlin Jr., Patrick W. Dukes and Larry Stephens.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor with the bride's parents as hosts. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 502 Erin in Monroe.

Mrs. Baughman was graduated from Wisner high school at Wisner and Centenary College, Shreveport, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority.

Mr. Baughman was graduated from Columbia Military Academy, Columbia, Tennessee and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is presently enrolled in the school of pharmacy at Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe.

Males Score Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — The number of male teachers in the public high schools in the United States exceeded the number of school marms in the academic year 1958-59.

The U. S. office of Education, compiler of the statistics, says this is the first time men have been in the majority since its surveys began in 1890. The males accounted for 52.2 per cent of the total.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I am making a robe that is giving me fits. How can I attach these pieces without spoiling the "V" Shape?"

Mrs. J.C.C.

Dear Mrs. J.C.C.:

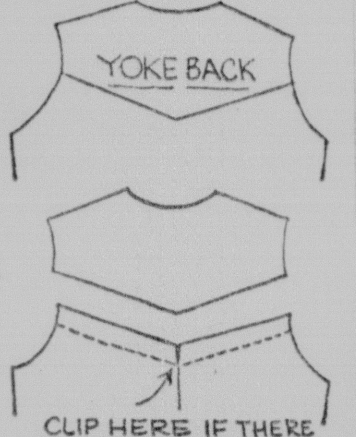
Do not machine stitch the center back seam all the way to the edge of fabric. Instead, stitch to a mark ⅝" from the back stitch. The edge you have left open will make it possible for you to fit the yoke in and still have a perfect "V".

If you are fitting in a similar type part of your pattern where there is no seam at the point of the "V", you should re-inforce each side of the V by stitching on the seamline and then CLIP the fabric to the point you have reinforced. You will now proceed as above.



BUTTON RULE

"Dear Eunice:

"Most patterns I have seen tell you to lap the right back over the left back when garments are buttoned down the back.

"However, the other night on TV, June Allyson had on a beautiful dress with the buttonholes on the left side. Which way is correct?"

Mrs. M.C.

Dear Mrs. M.C.:

"Rules are made to be broken", as the old saying goes. There is a rule that is more or less standardized for men's and women's clothes concerning the direction for the closing.

In more expensive clothes, designers take great joy in doing the unconventional just to be unique. This is undoubtedly the reason for the unusual closing in the dress you saw.

BODICE EASE

"Dear Eunice,

"I have what they call a large "rib-cage" and when a sheath dress is fitted like most of them are, it is much too tight above my waistline. It also doesn't look very good. Is there some special kind of pattern that would look good on me?"

Mrs. C.S.

Dear Mrs. C.S.:

Instead of making one large dart under the bustline, I would suggest making one smaller dart and one small unpressed pleat. This would give you some ease above the waistline. You could also gather the fabric allowed for darts and have a slightly bloused effect for the bodice. I would avoid a tight-fitting bodice.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of this paper. Your question will be answered as soon as possible. And if you have questions about putting in sleeves, you'll find expert, detailed answers in Eunice Farmer's booklet, ALL ABOUT SLEEVES. Obtain it by sending 10 cents and a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of Monroe Morning World.

Installation Of Officers Held By Review Club

Mass arrangements of pink azaleas were used in the entrance and dining room. On the mantel in the living room an all white arrangement of tulips, snapdragons and camellias in a wedgewood blue vase reflected in an oval shaped mirror. Coral honeysuckle in a blue and white antique chocolate pot graced another table.

Mrs. W. M. Inabnet, president, conducted a short business session and introduced Mrs. DeWitt Henry, who installed new officers for the 1961-62 club year.

Mrs. Henry used an inaugural theme for the impressive ceremony. Emphasis was given to the transfer of responsibility, renewal of purpose and reaffirmation of ideals of loyalty and service to club, community, state, nation and world.

Subject for the afternoon's program was "Present Day South America." Mrs. N. R. Spencer, chairman of the advisory board, introduced Mrs. E. P. Cudd, who gave an abridgment of "Arms and Politics in Latin America," by Edwin Lieuwen, an associate professor and chairman of the department of history at the University of New Mexico. The book deals with the interplay of political forces against a background of the dynamic progress of grown and social change. The United States' basic aim for the future, the author concludes, must be a prosperous and stable Latin America that will advance security of the entire hemisphere and contribute to strength and solidarity of the western world. Because of Mrs. Cudd's intensive study of Latin America, her talk included important facts about several countries. From data obtained on the rapid growth of Brazil and her fabulous new capital, Brasilia, she used descriptions made by Dwight Eisenhower, Adlai Stevenson, Ludwig Bemelmans and other world travelers.

During the social hour the hostess served frosted drinks and cookies to Mrs. George T. Walker, Mrs. L. N. Waddell, Mrs. N. R. Spencer, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Claude Smith, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. W. M. Inabnet, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. C. P. Gray Jr., Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Thomas C. Dansby, Mrs. E. P. Cudd and Mrs. W. E. Bennett Jr.

MRS. LARRY LAMAR HOLLEY

Miss Givens, Larry Holley Exchange Wedding Vows

The wedding of Miss Loraine Givens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Givens and Larry Lamar Holley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sessions, was solemnized at the Tallulah Methodist church on Friday, March 31 at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. J. H. Hamilton performing the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white spirea and ivy formed a setting for the exchange of vows which was preceded by appropriate nuptial music played by Miss Beth Brown, organist.

Miss Frances Hargon, maid of honor and only attendant for the bride, wore a dress of lavender lace over taffeta and carried a French bouquet of white carnations.

Tony Corley served as best man and ushers were Bert Batchelor and Gary Givens.

Mrs. Givens chose for her daughter's wedding a navy dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a black ensemble. Both had corsages of Dutch iris and carnations.

A reception followed in fellowship hall of the church, which was decorated throughout with arrangements of azaleas, spirea and wisteria. The serving table held a centerpiece of white carnations and candles with Miss Florence Hargon presiding at the punch bowl and Miss Jeannette Lewis serving cake at opposite ends.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Holley will be at home in Monroe. Both are graduates of Tallulah high school and Mr. Holley attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. Mrs Holley graduated from a business school in Monroe.

Shirley Aulds Engaged To California Man

Mrs. Laurence W. Johnson of Visalia, California, formerly of Monroe, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Shirley Aulds to Ted Fuchs Jr. of Visalia.

Miss Aulds is also the daughter of the late Major Marvin Melvin Aulds, former resident of Monroe. She will be graduated in June from Mt. Whitney High School.

Mr. Fuchs, son of Mrs. R. D. Wadlington of Visalia, is a 1958 graduate of Mt. Whitney High School, where he participated in football and track. He is now terminating three years service in the U. S. Army at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevy is doing*—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. Chevy's clean-etched looks, for example. The tasteful interior of its finely crafted Body by Fisher. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. The precise way it steers. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turboglide.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there, you see, is where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of persuasion. If you weren't absolutely sure it was a Chevy, you'd imagine you were riding in a far costlier car.

AND JUST ONE JET-SMOOTH RIDE WILL SHOW YOU WHY!

Chevrolet's all-around motoring value was again demonstrated in competition when Chevrolet was awarded the 1961 Pure Oil Safety and Performance Award for the 2nd straight year at Daytona Beach. No wonder people are buying more Chevrolets than any other make! Chevy's got more of what it takes to please people!

Installation Of Officers Held By Review Club

Mass arrangements of pink azaleas were used in the entrance and dining room. On the mantel in the living room an all white arrangement of tulips, snapdragons and camellias in a wedgewood blue vase reflected in an oval shaped mirror. Coral honeysuckle in a blue and white antique chocolate pot graced another table.

Mrs. W. M. Inabnet, president, conducted a short business session and introduced Mrs. DeWitt Henry, who installed new officers for the 1961-62 club year.

Mrs. Henry used an inaugural theme for the impressive ceremony. Emphasis was given to the transfer of responsibility, renewal of purpose and reaffirmation of ideals of loyalty and service to club, community, state, nation and world.

Subject for the afternoon's program was "Present Day South America." Mrs. N. R. Spencer, chairman of the advisory board, introduced Mrs. E. P. Cudd, who gave an abridgment of "Arms and Politics in Latin America," by Edwin Lieuwen, an associate professor and chairman of the department of history at the University of New Mexico. The book deals with the interplay of political forces against a background of the dynamic progress of grown and social change. The United States' basic aim for the future, the author concludes, must be a prosperous and stable Latin America that will advance security of the entire hemisphere and contribute to strength and solidarity of the western world. Because of Mrs. Cudd's intensive study of Latin America, her talk included important facts about several countries. From data obtained on the rapid growth of Brazil and her fabulous new capital, Brasilia, she used descriptions made by Dwight Eisenhower, Adlai Stevenson, Ludwig Bemelmans and other world travelers.

During the social hour the hostess served frosted drinks and cookies to Mrs. George T. Walker, Mrs. L. N. Waddell, Mrs. N. R. Spencer, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Claude Smith, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. W. M. Inabnet, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. C. P. Gray Jr., Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Thomas C. Dansby, Mrs. E. P. Cudd and Mrs. W. E. Bennett Jr.

Two small eggs usually measure 1-3 cup; two large eggs ½ cup. Handy to remember for certain cake recipes.

MRS. LARRY LAMAR HOLLEY

Miss Givens, Larry Holley Exchange Wedding Vows

The wedding of Miss Loraine Givens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Givens and Larry Lamar Holley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sessions, was solemnized at the Tallulah Methodist church on Friday, March 31 at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. J. H. Hamilton performing the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white spirea and ivy formed a setting for the exchange of vows which was preceded by appropriate nuptial music played by Miss Beth Brown, organist.

Miss Frances Hargon, maid of honor and only attendant for the bride, wore a dress of lavender lace over taffeta and carried a French bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Givens chose for her daughter's wedding a navy dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a black ensemble. Both had corsages of Dutch iris and carnations.

A reception followed in fellowship hall of the church, which was decorated throughout with arrangements of azaleas, spirea and wisteria. The serving table held a centerpiece of white carnations and candles with Miss Florence Hargon presiding at the punch bowl and Miss Jeannette Lewis serving cake at opposite ends.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Holley will be at home in Monroe. Both are graduates of Tallulah high school and Mr. Holley attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. Mrs. Holley graduated from a business school in Monroe.

Little Shavers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Little girls now start wearing nylons at the age of nine.

And what are little boys doing? According to the makers of an electric shaver, many lads start shaving when they're only 12.

Shirley Aulds Engaged To California Man

Mrs. Laurence W. Johnson of Visalia, California, formerly of Monroe, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Shirley Aulds to Ted Fuchs Jr. of Visalia.

Miss Aulds is also the daughter of the late Major Marvin Melvin Aulds, former resident of Monroe. She will be graduated in June from Mt. Whitney High School.

Mr. Fuchs, son of Mrs. R. D. Wadlington of Visalia, is a 1958 graduate of Mt. Whitney High School, where he participated in football and track. He is now terminating three years service in the U. S. Army at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

Round They'll Go

NEW YORK (UPI) — Architects are going in circles at the University of Pittsburgh to give each of 1,855 students outside rooms in new dormitories.

The university will build three 88 - foot - diameter towers on a three-story pedestal. The circular towers will be 15, 18 and 21 stories respectively.

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevy is doing*—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. Chevy's clean-etched looks, for example. The tasteful interior of its finely crafted Body by Fisher. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. The precise way it steers. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turboglide.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there, you see, is where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of persuasion. If you weren't absolutely sure it was a Chevy, you'd imagine you were riding in a far costlier car.

AND JUST ONE JET-SMOOTH RIDE WILL SHOW YOU WHY!

Chevrolet's all-around motoring value was again demonstrated in competition when Chevrolet was awarded the 1961 Pure Oil Safety and Performance Award for the 2nd straight year at Daytona Beach. No wonder people are buying more Chevrolets than any other make! Chevy's got more of what it takes to please people!

JET-SMOOTH RIDE

THE HOME SHIFT

Scilla Lovely Yard Cover

By MILDRED SWIFT

There's so much beauty everywhere at this time of year, it's just a little bit confusing to try to select a subject for our Sunday visit. Right now I'm looking at a bed of blue and white scilla in my back garden. This has been used as a ground cover so you can imagine how lovely such a sheet of bloom can be. This is a timid little bulb, often called blue bells of Scotland. They come back year after year, the blue and the white.

The blossoms hold up well when cut and they are pretty in arrangements after the bloom has dried on the stalk. The bulb is planted during the winter months. It likes an acid soil and unlike our other bulbs will come up through the heaviest mulch. They'll also stand summer watering which many bulbs will not take.

There's also a pink scilla but I've found they disappear after a year or two.

MORE GARDENING

The imperial candle tree that gives us so much pleasure in summer can be purchased at the nurseries now. Give the plant plenty of room. It grows almost as large as the mimosa and the shape is much the same. Also remember this is a tropical tree and needs plenty of sun. The flowers are lovely cut.

Notice on your magnolia grandiflora and see if there's scale. It is terrapin scale, large and easily visible. This is not too prevalent in north Louisiana, but can be mighty bad. Spray with malathion. Of course if your tree is large you probably will have to call in professional help.

From now on, bulbs that have finished blooming start storing up food for next year's blooms. Leave the top. Let them die before cutting them. Give them bone meal and cut off the dead blooms so they'll not go to seed.

My preference of the large yellow daffodils is still Burgomaster. Again this year (for the sixth year) the blooms were immense. Make a note to purchase a few of these next winter.

It is not too late to plant an eucalyptus tree and these can be purchased at the local nurseries. There are two varieties. The difference is in the way the stem grows through the leaf. We believed, in the past, that eucalyptus would not survive our Louisiana winters, but they've proven completely satisfactory. Purchase a bucket plant. Stake the tree the first year. The eucalyptus usually grow very tall the first year. If this happens, top the plant in June. This will give you a nicely shaped tree.

Mulch plants now. If you use a heavy mulch such as cotton seed hulls, etc., be careful to let this go through the heating period before putting it around plants. Just leave it in a pile for several weeks.

Let the house plants enjoy the outside for a while. Place them in a shady spot, give them a good misting with the garden hose. Feed them. Remove dead leaves. They will usually take on new life, put on new growth and be ready to take back in the house in a few weeks. Of course, don't let a frost catch your house plants outside.

The black sooty substance on gardenias is an indication that they need an oil emulsion spray.

The last of April you can divide and reset chrysanthemums. Watch for aphids on new growth of many plants. Use a nicotine spray when the temperature is 70 degrees or higher. Mix insecticide according to directions on container.

Put off camellia seed pods as they form, unless you want to plant these. In that case let them dry on the tree.

Some seed to plant this month are: Coleus, gourd, marigold, sunflower, zinnia, balsam, cleome, cosmos, moonflower, tithonia, vinca, four o'clock, morning glory.

Clean up and sharpen your garden tools. Have the lawn mower sharpened, oiled and adjusted. Remember that last fall you lowered the blades because the grass wasn't growing too high. Raise those blades now so they'll not scrape the grass. This injures roots and causes great yellow spots in the lawn.

If you have dwarf youpons and want them to stay dwarf, you'll have to prune them. Use the same procedure as for other evergreens — prune limbs at irregular intervals.

Pull weeds in the lawn while the soil is still wet. The long tap roots will come up easily. If you pull and the root breaks off in the ground, it will make a stronger root to give you more trouble. Get that root!

The castor bean produces very attractive rough textured clusters of orangy red fruit in the fall. These are pretty with their bold foliage. This plant makes a wonderful temporary screening if you're just moved in your new home and can't plant permanent plants this year.

The native Louisiana Iris are in bloom. Such lovely colors. If you have a low spot in your garden you can use a few of these bulbs. The foliage is quite attractive and gives a different texture most gardens need. Just after the plants finish blooming is a good time to transplant. Many of my plants are growing in water at the edge of Bayou DeSiard. However, they will grow on dry land too, and bloom.

Caladiums come in a number of different colors. They'll grow in semi - shade and like a rich loamy soil. The whites give your garden a pick up, especially if you have dense shade. They are much more effective with a number of the same color planted together. You get a spotted effect by alternating colors. These bulbs are not likely to start growing until the temperature reaches 70 degrees.

ROSE TROUBLES

Keep captan, fermate, dithane or manzate on hand to spray roses for leaf spot. All three are used, one tablespoon to a gallon of water. This is a fungus disease. An infected leaf will remain infected for its entire life.

The best plan is to prevent this black spot. Its important to spray roses immediately after every rain. The rains wash off most of the fungicide and it must be there at all times to do a job of prevention.

We once recommended sulphur for leaf spot but it burns the foliage in hot weather and is acid in reaction. Continuous use causes the soil to become too acid.

EXTRA

If youre buying some new stockings to wear with your spring costumes, you'll note the pastel colors come in deeper shades for 1961. In fact, pastels are so deep they're scarcely pastels at all. For instance, pink has deepened to raspberry and green is best in jade tones. The favorite is turquoise.

Heavy textured cotton such as jacquards and tapestries are among the popular fabrics for spring fashions. It's best to wash and rinse these inside out to prevent snagging the long floats of thread which give such cottons their unusual surface interest.

When you purchase loosely woven fabric for a home sewing project, meet the shrinkage problem head on by laundering the yardage before you start to cut. Before putting the fabric in water, turn in the raw edges and loosely baste a temporary hem to prevent troublesome raveling.

If you wear the popular contact lenses, protect your eyes against possible infection. Always wash your hands with plenty of warm soapsuds before inserting or removing your lenses.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for this week are: Monday, Bonnie Gaddis will show us the care and potting of house plants; Tuesday, Marietta Harrell will demonstrate "Low Fat Diets,"; Wednesday John Wright from Louisiana Tech with flower arrangements; Thursday and Friday, Marketing with Mildred.

See you next Sunday.

Photographers Plan For Summer Action

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

It's a relief to forget the tough winter we've been through and, though it's only early spring, some photographers are already planning for the summer ahead. Homer Page is one of those with a long - range view.

I first met Page in 1954 when he was an assistant to Edward Steichen in the preparatory stages of the world - famous "Family of Man" exhibition. Some time after, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in photography and taught at the California School of Fine Arts. For the last few years his photo - journalism has kept him traveling throughout Europe, Asia, Africa and South America for magazines, the Ford Foundation, the State Department and United Nations agencies.

NOTED

"As I wandered around the world on my assignments," Homer told me recently, "I began to note the change in Americans traveling abroad. They popped up away from the usual tourist circuit . . . more adventurous, less complaining.

"That's when the idea took root of a personal type of summer photo trip for camera fans. I visualized a small group of earnest photographers whom I could lead as a friend to the places I knew and being able to strike the right balance between informality and photographic purpose.

"I hoped to bring out or instill in each member a personal photographic project or point of view in his travels. It isn't enough to make a postcard record of where one has been. Each person's particular interest — architecture, native costumes or customs, transportation, and so on — may not be evident in advance but it can be developed along the way.

"I thought of it also as a leisurely summer course in photography while the traveler was discovering the continent and his own potentials photographically."

Page's ideas struck a responsive chord when discussed with an old friend who was a travel agent. As a result, the ideas passed from a dream state into a definite "Camera Holiday in Europe" itinerary which takes off from New York City July 16. After a jet-age start, with flights to London and Vienna, transportation will be by private motorcoach for the four - week trip.

MINGLING

"Traveling in our own coach gives the group a chance to mingle and hold seminar sessions along the way or to stop if we come across anything unexpected or picturesque. The informal atmosphere will encourage each member to set his own photographic pace since the group will vary in picture experience and talents. Of course I'll be available for specific technical advice in the field . . . and a bit of creative inspiration in the evenings over a cafe au lait."

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Noted Horticulturist To Appear Locally

By GLADYS M. KULCKE

W. Truman Quinton, noted horticulturist and plant pathologist will be in Monroe this month to help garden club members with their garden problems. Quinton is a graduate in horticulture and has had wide experience in both floral and vegetable gardening.

He will confer with members of garden clubs of Monroe and West Monroe, April 17, 18, 19, 20, 24, 25, 26, and 27. If you would like to have Quinton visit your garden to consult with you and a group of gardeners on plant diseases, horticulture or any garden problems call me at the Fifth District Garden Center FA 5-1441 for an appointment.

Members of the Dubach Garden Club, Dubach, presented a pretty Spring Flower Show last week.

HORTICULTURE

In the horticulture division Mrs. M. F. Henry exhibited pink Darwin tulips from bulbs that have been blooming for three years. Other specimens exhibited by Mrs. Henry were — Duke of Windsor, Dutch Iris (Huchtenburg), Louisiana wild phlox and a branch of Calyanthus.

In the arrangement division Mrs. Alvin Davis chose a white, footed, pottery container for her arrangement of blue Dutch Iris. A spiral design was made by the placement of Dutch Iris. Foliage of bearded iris formed a background for the iris.

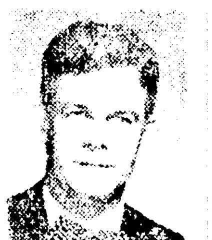
White daffodils were placed to follow the upper line. Depth was emphaszied by the side placement of some of the blossoms.

Mrs. C. S. Fuller placed White Cloud bearded iris in a white pottery compote. The iris foliage formed the background for the diagonal design of iris. Two pale lavender iris were placed in the focal area. Transition of open blossoms to partial open and closed buds was used to an advantage in this arrangement.

All of these arrangements were made for the living room.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Horticultural Work Boosted



By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Here and there over the southern states some very sophisticated groups of people are doing significant work for the advancement of horticulture. One of these is the Louisiana Society for Horticultural Research. Recently, the members of this society gathered for their annual meeting in Lafayette. Your columnist was the speaker at the banquet and will report shortly on the remarkable work of this group of plant lovers.

PLANT SEARCH

Every few years, the Society sends Professor Ira Nelson of Louisiana Southwestern University to South America to search for new plants which might do well in the Southern States and in the greenhouses in colder sections. The beautiful and delicate ararylis evansae named in honor of Mrs. C. B. Evans of Ferriday, La., promoter of the Society, was one of these plants. Gardeners who have always thought of amaryllises as big course plants will certainly be pleasantly surprised when they see these dainty flowers in all sorts of pastel shades — even in yellow.

A new red passion vine brought back by Prof. Nelson has proven to be root hardy out of doors in even the cooler sections of the south when deeply mulched in winter. All the new plants are brought home and resuscitated from their travels and the shock of transplanting at Lafayette in the greenhouses. Then they are propagated, and, at the Annual Meeting of the Society, the members take home the plants they wish to test out. This was somewhat the system practiced by The Royal Horticultural Society of England and by other societies in the past.

About every other year, your columnist, as an honorary member of the Louisiana Society, visits Lafayette to study and photograph the plants and to work for the Society on the fine library being established there at the new Horticultural Center. There were some very exciting plants in the greenhouses recovering from Dr. Nelson's last trip when I was last there, so there will be much to tell you when I have seen what these newcomers look like this time.

"Some Promising Plants for the South" was the subject of my lecture. To get the material for this discussion, it was necessary to go through over 1,000 slides made at Kew Gardens, Edinburgh and Cambridge Botancial Gardens, Wisley Gardens (Royal Horticultural Society; and several Continental institutions and private gardens. This is the way we select new plants for trial in our Southern gardens. If they turn out well, the commercial nurseries sell them and they are thus made available to gardeners all over the South.

EXTENSION NEWS

Pruning Time Advice Given

By AUDREY DAWSON

Mrs. Gardener as soon as your early blooming spring shrubs quit blooming it's time to prune. This includes such plants as the spireas, flowering quince, jasmines and forsythias. It is best to cut out the oldest flowering shoots and this will encourage strong new shoots which will provide most of next year's bloom.

Plan your favorite gladiolus bulbs at two week intervals. This will give you continued bloom.

Mrs. Gardener be sure to remember your roses — keep on a planned spray schedule to control leaf spot and aphids — plant lice. A good formula to use is one teaspoon of captan, one tablespoon malathion to one gallon of water. This should be sprayed on your rose bushes each week.

Flower seed to plant this month includes: sweet alyssum, ageratum, morning glory, periwinkle, four o'clock, zinnia, nasturtium, marigold, moonflower, balsam, feverfew.

SEWING WORKSHOP

Yours truly will be with a group in a clothing workshop the 11-12-13 at the Agricultural Building. Homemakers who will take part are: Mrs. Frank Buce, Mrs. Herbert Dunn, Mrs. Robert J. Gates, Mrs. W. M. Roberts, Mrs. A. R. Robinson, Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. S. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. E. Hart, Mrs. Ann Flavin, Mrs. H. D. Rankin, Mrs. V. C. Brister, Mrs. T. L. Fuller, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Mary Jane Hart, Mrs. Stanley Jones, Mrs. Pete Medak, and Mrs. R. E. Brookings.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

Home Demonstration Club members be sure to mark Saturday, April 15th on your calendar. Mrs. John Lewis will be with us at 9:30 a.m. at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe to help you learn more about arranging flowers. If you have some flowers and a container be sure to bring them.

WEIGHT WATCHERS

Are you, Mrs. Homemaker, trying to trim a few calories from your diet. Our Nutrition Specialist, Mrs. Irene Turner, has a few hints for you. One suggestion is to make use of seasonings that add practically no calories, such as spices, vinegar, herbs or tart fruit juices. Many sauces, gravies dressings and table fats have more calories than the food they are served with. For instance an average half cup of plain boiled and diced potatoes is only 45 calories, when mashed with milk and fat added it jumps to 115 calories and when pan fried can reach 240 calories. If you want to cut calories, add just a little seasoning — a teaspoon of butter, some chopped fresh parsley, salt and pepper, this can make it appetizing and still hold the calories to 73.

A low calories tomato and lettuce salad of one medium tomato and two leaves of lettuce furnishes only 35 calories with a teaspoon of French dressing or commercial salad dressing it goes to 95 calories — with a tablespoon of mayonnaise it reaches 145 calories.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that the 17 million teen-agers in the U.S today have 9 billion dollars of their own money to spend — the result of lots of baby sitting and lawn cutting.

Did you know to produce one ton of primary aluminum requires enough electricity to supply electical needs of a six room house for 15 years.

Did you know that pineapples grow on plants three to four feet high. It takes almost two years for a pineapple to mature. This explains why it is grown in a tropical climate where a year-average temperature of 75 degrees creates just the right atmosphere for its culture.

CLOTHING IN 61

Homemakers shopping for clothing in 1961 will find more blended fibers, lighter weight outer clothing and more easy care apparel.

THE HOME SHIFT

Scilla Lovely Yard Cover

By MILDRED SWIFT

There's so much beauty everywhere at this time of year, it's just a little bit confusing to try to select a subject for our Sunday visit. Right now I'm looking at a bed of blue and white scilla in my back garden. This has been used as a ground cover so you can imagine how lovely such a sheet of blooms can be. This is a timid little bulb, often called blue bells of Scotland. They come back year after year, the blue and the white.

The blossoms hold up well when cut and they are pretty in arrangements after the bloom has dried on the stalk. The bulb is planted during the winter months. It likes an acid soil and unlike our other bulbs will come up through the heaviest mulch. They'll also stand summer watering which many bulbs will not take.

There's also a pink scilla but I've found they disappear after a year or two.

MORE GARDENING

The imperial candle tree that gives us so much pleasure in summer can be purchased in the nurseries now. Give the plant plenty of room. It grows almost as large as the mimosa and the shape is much the same. Also remember this is a tropical tree and needs plenty of sun. The flowers are lovely cut.

Notice on your magnolia grandiflora and see if there's scale. It is terrapin scale, large and easily visible. This is not too prevalent in north Louisiana, but can be mighty bad. Spray with malathion. Of course if your tree is large you probably will have to call in professional help.

From now on, bulbs that have finished blooming start storing up food for next year's blooms. Leave the tops. Let them die before cutting them. Give them bone meal and cut off the dead blooms so they'll not go to seed.

My preference of the large yellow daffodils is still Burgomaster. Again this year (for the sixth year) the blossoms were immense. Make a note to purchase a few of these next winter.

It is not too late to plant an eucalyptus tree and these can be purchased in the local nurseries. There are two varieties. The difference is in the way the stem grows through the leaf. We believed, in the past, that eucalyptus would not survive our Louisiana winters, but they've proven completely satisfactory. Purchase a bucket plant. Stake the tree the first year. The eucalyptus usually grows very tall the first year. If this happens, top the plant in June. This will give you a nicely shaped tree.

Mulch plants now. If you use a heavy mulch such as cotton seed hulls, etc., be careful to let this go through the heating period before putting it around plants. Just leave it in a pile for several weeks.

Let the house plants enjoy the outside for a while. Place them in a shady spot, give them a good misting with the garden hose. Feed them. Remove dead leaves. They will usually take on new life, put on new growth and be ready to take back in the house in a few weeks. Of course, don't let a frost catch your house plants outside.

The black sooty substance on gardenias is an indication that they need an oil emulsion spray.

The last of April you can divide and reset chrysanthemums. Watch for aphids on new growth of many plants. Use a nicotine spray when the temperature is 70 degrees or higher. Mix insecticide according to directions on container.

Put off camellia seed pods as they form, unless you want to plant these. In that case let them dry on the tree.

Some seed to plant this month are: Coleus, gourd, marigold, sunflower, zinnia, balsam, cleome, cosmos, moonflower, tithonia, vinca, four o'clock, morning glory.

Some bulbs to plant are: caladium (if ground is warm) dahlia, canna, tuberose, gloriosa.

Clean up and sharpen your garden tools. Have the lawn mower sharpened, oiled and adjusted. Remember that last fall you lowered the blades because the grass wasn't growing too high. Raise those blades now so they'll not scrape the grass. This injures roots and causes great yellow spots in the lawn.

If you have dwarf youpons and want them to stay dwarf, you'll have to prune them. Use the same procedure as for other evergreens — prune limbs at irregular intervals.

Pull weeds in the lawn while the soil is still wet. The long tap roots will come up easily. If you pull and the root breaks off in the ground, it will make a stronger root to give you more trouble. Get that root!

The castor bean produces very attractive rough textured clusters of orangy red fruit in the fall. These are pretty with their bold foliage. This plant makes a wonderful temporary screening if you've just moved in your new home and can't plant permanent plants this year.

The native Louisiana Iris are in bloom. Such lovely colors. If you have a low spot in your garden you can use a few of these bulbs. The foliage is quite attractive and gives a different texture most gardens need. Just after the plants finish blooming is a good time to transplant. Many of my plants are growing in water at the edge of Bayou DeSiard. However, they will grow on dry land too, and bloom.

Caladiums come in a number of different colors. They'll grow in semi - shade and like a rich loamy soil. The whites give your garden a pick up, especially if you have dense shade. They are much more effective with a number of the same color planted together. You get a spotted effect by alternating colors. These bulbs are not likely to start growing until the temperature reaches 70 degrees.

ROSE TROUBLES

Keep captan, fermate, dithane or manzate on hand to spray roses for leaf spot. All three are used, one tablespoon to a gallon of water. This is a fungus disease. An infected leaf will remain infected for its entire life.

The best plan is to prevent this black spot. Its important to spray roses immediately after every rain. The rains wash off most of the fungicide and it must be there at all times to do a job of prevention.

We once recommended sulphur for leaf spot but it burns the foliage in hot weather and is acid in reaction. Continuous use causes the soil to become too acid.

EXTRA

If youre buying some new stockings to wear with your spring costumes, you'll note the pastel colors come in deeper shades for 1961. In fact, pastels are so deep they're scarcely pastels at all. For instance, pink has deepened to raspberry and green is best in jade tones. The favorite is turquoise.

Heavy textured cotton such as jacquards and tapestries are among the popular fabrics for spring fashions. It's best to wash and rinse these inside out to prevent snagging the long floats of thread which give such cottons their unusual surface interest.

When you purchase loosely woven fabric for a home sewing project, meet the shrinkage problem head on by laundering the yardage before you start to cut. Before putting the fabric in water, turn in the raw edges and loosely baste a temporary hem to prevent troublesome raveling.

If you wear the popular contact lenses, protect your eyes against possible infection. Always wash your hands with plenty of warm soapsuds before inserting or removing your lenses.

Photographers Plan For Summer Action

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

It's a relief to forget the tough winter we've been through and, though it's only early spring, some photographers are already planning for the summer ahead. Homer Page is one of those with a long - range view.

I first met Page in 1954 when he was an assistant to Edward Steichen in the preparatory stages of the world - famous "Family of Man" exhibition. Some time after, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in photography and taught at the California School of Fine Arts. For the last few years his photo - journalism has kept him traveling throughout Europe, Asia, Africa and South America for magazines, the Ford Foundation, the State Department and United Nations agencies.

NOTED

"As I wandered around the world on my assignments," Homer told me recently, "I began to note the change in Americans traveling abroad. They popped up away from the usual tourist circuit . . . more adventurous, less complaining.

"That's when the idea took root of a personal type of summer photo trip for camera fans. I visualized a small group of earnest photographers whom I could lead as a friend to the places I knew and being able to strike the right balance between informality and photographic purpose.

"I hoped to bring out or instill in each member a personal photographic project or point of view in his travels. It isn't enough to make a postcard record of where one has been. Each person's particular interest — architecture, native costumes or customs, transportation, and so on — may not be evident in advance but it can be developed along the way.

"I thought of it also as a leisurely summer course in photography while the traveler was discovering the continent and his own potentials photographically."

Page's ideas struck a responsive chord when discussed with an old friend who was a travel agent. As a result, the ideas passed from a dream state into a definite "Camera Holiday in Europe" itinerary which takes off from New York City July 16. After a jet-age start, with flights to London and Vienna, transportation will be by private motorcoach for the four - week trip.

MINGLING

"Traveling in our own coach gives the group a chance to mingle and hold seminar sessions along the way or to stop if we come across anything unexpected or picturesque. The informal atmosphere will encourage each member to set his own photographic pace since the group will vary in picture experience and talents. Of course I'll be available for specific technical advice in the field . . . and a bit of creative inspiration in the evenings over a cafe au lait."

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Noted Horticulturist To Appear Locally

By GLADYS M. KULCKE

W. Truman Quinton, noted horticulturist and plant pathologist will be in Monroe this month to help garden club members with their garden problems. Quinton is a graduate in horticulture and has had wide experience in both floral and vegetable gardening.

He will confer with members of garden clubs of Monroe and West Monroe, April 17, 18, 19, 20, 24, 25, 26, and 27. If you would like to have Quinton visit your garden to consult with you and a group of gardeners on plant diseases, horticulture or any garden problems call me at the Fifth District Garden Center FA 5-1441 for an appointment.

Members of the Dubach Garden Club, Dubach, presented a pretty Spring Flower Show last week.

HORTICULTURE

In the horticulture division Mrs. M. F. Henry exhibited pink Darwin tulips from bulbs that have been blooming for three years. Other specimens exhibited by Mrs. Henry were — Duke of Windsor, Dutch Iris (Huchtenburg), Louisiana wild phlox and a branch of Calyanthus.

In the arrangement division Mrs. Alvin Davis chose a white, footed, pottery container for her arrangement of blue Dutch Iris. A spiral design was made by the placement of Dutch Iris. Foliage of bearded iris formed a background for the iris.

Mrs. Charles B. Colvin used a round milk glass container for her triangle design. Strawberry Begonia leaves were placed to curl over the rim of the container. Sansaveria leaves formed a symmetrical triangle. In front of this placement, double poppy - folwered, purple anemomes formed another triangle. It was an interesting combination of materials. Mrs. R. E. Robinson chose a flat, free - form Hammat origional container. Clipped pine branches formed the crescent line design. Yellow daffodils were used low in the arrangement following the lower line of the pine.

White daffodils were placed to follow the upper line. Depth was emphaszied by the side placement of some of the blossoms.

Mrs. C. S. Fuller placed White Cloud bearded iris in a white pottery compote. The iris foliage formed the background for the diagonal design of iris. Two pale lavender iris were placed in the focal area. Transition of open blossoms to partial open and closed buds was used to an advantage in this arrangement.

All of these arrangements were made for the living room.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Here and there over the southern states some very sophisticated groups of people are doing significant work for the advancement of horticulture. One of these is the Louisiana Society for Horticultural Research. Recently, the members of this society gathered for their annual meeting in Lafayette. Your columnist was the speaker at the banquet and will report shortly on the remarkable work of this group of plant lovers.

PLANT SEARCH

Every few years, the Society sends Professor Ira Nelson of Louisiana Southwestern University to South America to search for new plants which might do well in the Southern States and in the greenhouses in colder sections. The beautiful and delicate araryllis evansae named in honor of Mrs. U. B. Evans of Ferriday, La., promoter of the Society, was one of these plants. Gardeners who have always thought of amaryllises as big course plants will certainly be pleasantly surprised when they see these dainty flowers in all sorts of pastel shades — even in yellow.

A new red passion vine brought back by Prof. Nelson has proven to be root hardy out of doors in even the cooler sections of the south when deeply mulched in winter. All the new plants are brought home and resuscitated from their travels and the shock of transplanting at Lafayette in the greenhouses. Then they are propagated, and, at the Annual Meeting of the Society, the members take home the plants they wish to test out. This was somewhat the system practiced by The Royal Horticultural Society of England and by other societies in the past.

About every other year, your columnist, as an honorary member of the Louisiana Society, visits Lafayette to study and photograph the plants and to work for the Society on the fine library being established there at the new Horticultural Center. There were some very exciting plants in the greenhouses recovering from Dr. Nelson's last trip when I was last there, so there will be much to tell you when I have seen what these newcomers look like this time.

"Some Promising Plants for the South" was the subject of my lecture. To get the material for this discussion, it was necessary to go through over 1,000 slides made at Kew Gardens, Edinburgh and Cambridge Botancial Gardens, Wisley Gardens (Royal Horticultural Society; and several Continental institutions and private gardens. This is the way we select new plants for trial in our Southern gardens. If they turn out well, the commercial nurseries sell them and they are thus made available to gardeners all over the South:

Pruning Time Advice Given

By AUDREY DAWSON

Mrs. Gardener as soon as your early blooming spring shrubs quit blooming it's time to prune.. This includes such plants as the spireas, flowering quince, jasmines and forsythias. It is best to cut out the oldest flowering shoots and this will encourage strong new shoots which will provide most of next year's bloom.

Plan your favorite gladiolus bulbs at two week intervals. This will give you continued bloom.

Mrs. Gardener be sure to remember your roses — keep on a planned spray schedule to control leaf spot and aphids — plant lice. A good formula to use is one teaspoon of captan, one tablespoon malathion to one gallon of water. This should be sprayed on your rose bushes each week.

Flower seed to plant this month includes: sweet alyssum, ageratum, morning glory, periwinkle, four o'clock, zinnia, nasturtium, marigold, moonflower, balsam, feverfew.

SEWING WORKSHOP

Yours truly will be with a group in a clothing workshop the 11-12-13 at the Agricultural Building. Homemakers who will take part are: Mrs. Frank Buce, Mrs. Herbert Dunn, Mrs. Robert J. Gates, Mrs. W. M. Roberts, Mrs. A. R. Robinson, Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. S. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. E. Hart, Mrs. Ann Flavin, Mrs. H. D. Rankin, Mrs. V. C. Brister, Mrs. T. L. Fuller, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Mary Jane Hart, Mrs. Stanley Jones, Mrs. Pete Medak, and Mrs. R. E. Brookings.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

Home Demonstration Club members be sure to mark Saturday, April 15th on your calendar. Mrs. John Lewis will be with us at 9:30 a.m. at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe to help you learn more about arranging flowers. If you have some flowers and a container be sure to bring them.

WEIGHT WATCHERS

Are you, Mrs. Homemaker, trying to trim a few calories from your diet. Our Nutrition Specialist, Mrs. Irene Turner, has a few hints for you. One suggestion is to make use of seasonings that add practically no calories, such as spices, vinegar, herbs or tart fruit juices. Many sauces, gravies dressings and table fats have more calories than the food they are served with. For instance an average half cup of plain boiled and diced potatoes is only 45 calories, when mashed with milk and fat added it jumps to 115 calories and when pan fried can reach 240 calories. If you want to cut calories, add just a little seasoning — a teaspoon of butter, some chopped fresh parsley, salt and pepper, this can make it appetizing and still hold the calories to 78.

A low calories tomato and lettuce salad of one medium tomato and two leaves of lettuce furnishes only 35 calories with a teaspoon of French dressing or commercial salad dressing it goes to 95 calories — with a tablespoon of mayonnaise it reaches 145 calories.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that the 17 million teen-agers in the U.S today have 9 billion dollars of their own money to spend — the result of lots of baby sitting and lawn cutting.

Did you know to produce one ton of primary aluminum requires enough electricity to supply electical needs of a six room house for 15 years.

Did you know that pineapples grow on plants three to four feet high. It takes almost two years for a pineapple to mature. This explains why it is grown in a tropical climate where a year-average temperature of 75 degrees creates just the right atmosphere for its culture.

CLOTHING IN 61

Homemakers shopping for clothing in 1961 will find more blended fibers, lighter weight outer clothing and more easy care apparel.

Fame, Money Byproducts Of Acting Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — David Janssen, active in both TV and movies, says he looks upon acting as primarily a job, with fame and money as by-products.

"I'm always unemployed after we wrap up the last job," he says. "There's no sense in having chronic remorse after it's been done. You just go on to the next project.

"It's all relative. As an actor your work habits are different. You have to get a good night's sleep so you're presentable before the cameras and perhaps you have to make love to someone you've just been introduced to and you'll never see again."

'Fiercest Heart' Due Wednesday

"The Fiercest Heart", 20th Century-Fox's CinemaScope DeLuxe color production with the Boer movement in Africa as background opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. The motion picture, based on the best-selling novel by Stuart Cloete, stars Stuart Whitman, Juliet Prowse, Ken Scott, Raymond Massey and Rafer Johnson.

Adventure, Sparked by the courage of men and women fierce-of-heart, who want freedom and a homeland more than anything else in the world, and are willing to trek across a wilderness of African jungle and mountain to reach their promised land . . . here is the stuff of this mighty drama and the powerful content of a film certain to create wide curiosity at this complex time in history.

BOER FARMERS

"Te Fiercest Heart" is the tale of Boer farmers, led by stern and dauntless Willem Prinsloo (Raymond Massey) and his spirited grand-daughter Francina (Juliet Prowse), whose rugged caravan sets out for a remote African landscape to find security in a dangerous period of jungle wars and a native uprisings. They are joined by a soldier of fortune, (Stuart Whitman) who wants to lose himself among these pioneers in order to evade capture as a military deserter, but who finds the fervor of this little band so contagious and the appeal of Francina so irresistable he becomes one of the most dedicated leaders of them all.

Juliet Prowse, brilliant young actress whose dramatic skill is as unchallenged as her previously displayed dancing-comedy gifts in 20th Century-Fox's musical extravaganza "Can-Can" is convincing and lovely as the girl who gives up a "respectable" farmer-fiance to marry a headstrong adventurer.

VETERAN ACTOR

Producer Must Stay Out Of Dressing Room

NEW YORK (AP) — Eli Wallach has a special provision in his performing contract for the hit play, "The Rhinoceros." The item stipulates that the show producer, Leo Kerz, cannot enter Wallach's dressing room.

The old provision grew out of a dispute between Kerz and Wallach when the drama was in preparation. After Wallach had been hired, another player was engaged to perform the same role.

Kerz said it was done because Wallach's commitment in a movie might make it impossible for him to fulfill the stage contract. The actor said he could. In the ensuing arbitration, Wallach insisted on no-visit proviso.

Director Gains Special Gaelic View For Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Cole is using first-hand information to choreograph and direct "Donnybrook!" for Broadway.

The new musical is about Ireland, and Cole went off to absorb proper Gaelic atmosphere for 18 days in thhe hamlet of Cong. The same village was used for backgrounds in the 1952 prize-winning film "The Quiet Man," the story of which is the basis for "Donnybrook."

Curtain Call

Hooray! At last the day has arrived when we open the new Strauss Playhouse. Between three and five this afternoon the public is invited to come and tour the theatre. You will be pleased with Monroe's new, ultra modern and comfortable playhouse.

Then Wednesday evening promptly at 8:15, the curtain goes up on the Little Theatre's production of the popular Broadway musical, "Damn Yankees." This is an invitation preview. Thursday night, is opening night and a festive occasion. It will be. Dress is optional for both the Invitation Preview and Opening Night, but we are encouraging the ladies to dress up and wear their party dresses.

The box office will be open to the membership at large tomorrow, Monday, and to the general public on Wednesday. Velma Kellenberg will be at the theatre to take your reservations from twelve noon to 5 p.m. each day. "Damn Yankees" will have a limited run (April 12 - 18th) so please call for your reservations early. Director Richard Clark announces that for the first time a Matinee will be given Sunday, April 16, at 2:30 p.m. Also the energetic cast will perform again at 8:15 that night just like they do on Broadway.

LETTERS

Fame, Money Byproducts Of Acting Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — David Janssen, active in both TV and movies, says he looks upon acting as primarily a job, with fame and money as by - products.

"I'm always unemployed after we wrap up the last job," he says. "There's no sense in having chronic remorse after it's been done. You just go on to the next project.

"It's all relative. As an actor your work habits are different. You have to get a good night's sleep so you're presentable before the cameras and perhaps you have to make love to someone you've just been introduced to and you'll never see again."

Sub-Teen Group Represented In 9 Major Shows

The juveniles are working in "All the Way Home," "The Wall," "Bye Bye Birdie," "The Sound of Music," "Critic's Choice," "The Music Man" "Gypsy," "The Miracle Worker," and "Midgie Purvis."

'Fiercest Heart' Due Wednesday

"The Fiercest Heart", 20th Century - Fox's CinemaScope De-Luxe color production with the Boer movement in Africa as background opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. The motion picture, based on the best-selling novel by Stuart Cloete, stars Stuart Whitman, Juliet Prowse, Ken Scott, Raymond Massey and Rafer Johnson.

Adventure , Sparked by the courage of men and women fierce - of - heart, who want freedom and a homeland more than anything else in the world, and are willing to trek across a wilderness of African jungle and mountain to reach their promised land . . . here is the stuff of this mighty drama and the powerful content of a film certain to create wide curiosity at this complex time in history.

BOER FARMERS

"Te Fiercest Heart" is the tale of Boer farmers, led by stern and dauntless Willem Prinsloo (Raymond Massey) and his spirited grand - daughter Francina (Juliet Prowse), whose rugged caravan sets out for a remote African landscape to find security in a dangerous period of jungle wars and a native uprisings. They are joined by a soldier of fortune, (Stuart Whitman) who wants to lose himself among these pioneers in order to evade capture as a military deserter, but who finds the fervor of this little band so contagious and the appeal of Francina so irresistable he becomes one of the most dedicated leaders of them all.

Juliet Prowse, brilliant young actress whose dramatic skill is as unchallenged as her previously displayed dancing - comedy gifts in 20th Century-Fox's musical extravaganza "Can-Can" is convincing and lovely as the girl who gives up a "respectable" farmer - fiance to marry a headstrong adventurer.

VETERAN ACTOR

Producer Must Stay Out Of Dressing Room

NEW YORK (AP) — Eli Wallach has a special provision in his performing contract for the hit play, "The Rhinoceros," The item stipulates that the show producer, Leo Kerz, cannot enter Wallach's dressing room.

The old provision grew out of a dispute between Kerz and Wallach when the drama was in preparation. After Wallach had been hired, another player was engaged to perform the same role.

Kerz said it was done because Wallach's commitment in a movie might make it impossible for him to fulfill the stage contract. The actor said he could. In the ensuing arbitration, Wallach insisted on no - visit proviso.

Director Gains Special Gaelic View For Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Cole is using first - hand information to choreograph and direct "Donnybrook!" for Broadway.

The new musical is about Ireland, and Cole went off to absorb proper Gaelic atmosphere for 18 days in thhe hamlet of Cong. The same village was used for backgrounds in the 1952 prize-winning film "The Quiet Man," the story of which is the basis for "Donnybrook."

Bus Drivers Hold Annual Meeting At Alexandria

W. O. Roberts of Ouachita Parish is a member of the executive board.

The meeting was held at the Alexandria Junior High School and about 560 bus drivers and other members attended.

They heard a parade of speakers including Gov. Jimmie Davis, Sec. of State Wade O. Martin Jr., State Comptroller Roy Theriot, Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion and Joe Waggoner, president of the School Board Assn. and member of the State Board of Education.

BOMB IS FOUND

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — A bomb was found early Saturday near a wall around the residence of Jacques Coup de Frejac, head of the government information service. It was the second bomb placed near his home in 24 hours. The first exploded, damaging the house and an automobile. The bombs were of a type customarily used by rightwingers opposed to President Charles de Gaulle's policy for Algeria. Coup de Frejac is presently in Paris.

. . . Facts About Electric Co-ops

Don't be confused by "misinformation." Owned by thousands of your friends and neighbors, facts like these about Electric Cooperatives are easily avialable:

- ELECTRIC CO-OPS are private enterprises, owned and controlled by people who couldn't get essential electricity any other way.
- ELECTRIC CO-OPS are essential to continued rural development and to the economic progress of ALL Louisiana—Town and Country.
- ELECTRIC CO-OPS are the ONLY way ALL rural people can continue to receive dependable electricity at reasonable rates . . so essential to continued progress.
- ELECTRIC CO-OPS repay REA loans with interest (in advance of schedule) just as millions of FHA and VA-financed home owners do every month. They ARE NOT government agencies.

Electric Co-ops have a proud record. They want everybody to know their true story.

Methodist Group Slates Annual District Meet

The annual meeting of the Monroe district, Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, will be held at the McGuire Methodist Church in West Monroe Thursday, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The one - day conference will use as its theme "God Calls to Witness and Service" and will feature an address by Mrs. W. B. Landrum of Little Rock, field worker from the woman's division of the board of missions of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Landrum has had wide experience in the work of the Woman's Society in the local church, and as a district, conference, and jurisdictional officer.

She has her B.A. degree from Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., and has done graduate work at the University of Arkansas. She has taken special courses at the University of Texas and San Francisco State College.

Mrs. A. H. Harper, Collinston, is president of the Monroe District W.S.C.S., Mrs. Charles Chisholm, West Monroe, vice- president; Mrs. E. N. Jackson, Monroe, recording secretary; Mrs. P. L. Foreman, Monroe, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Elliot, Monroe, secretary of children's work; Mrs. J. M. Gilstrap, Monroe, secretary of literature and publications; Mrs. Don Wineinger, West Monroe, secretary of missionary personnel; Mrs. C. L. Taylor, Monroe, secretary of spiritual life cultivation; Mrs. Corbin Turpin, Jr., Monroe, secretary of student work; Mrs. W. A. Cotton, Monroe, secretary of the Wesleyan Service Guild, and Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Jr., Monroe, is zone one leader.

Bus Drivers Hold Annual Meeting At Alexandria

W. O. Roberts of Ouachita Parish is a member of the executive board.

The meeting was held at the Alexandria Junior High School and about 560 bus drivers and other members attended.

They heard a parade of speakers including Gov. Jimmie Davis, Sec. of State Wade O. Martin Jr., State Comptroller Roy Theriot, Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion and Joe Waggoner, president of the School Board Assn. and member of the State Board of Education.

They also witnessed a demonstration of school buses.

BOMB IS FOUND

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — A bomb was found early Saturday near a wall around the residence of Jacques Coup de Frejac, head of the government information service. It was the second bomb placed near his home in 24 hours. The first exploded, damaging the house and an automobile. The bombs were of a type customarily used by right-wingers opposed to President Charles de Gaulle's policy for Algeria. Coup de Frejac is presently in Paris.

. . . Facts About Electric Co-ops

Don't be confused by "misinformation." Owned by thousands of your friends and neighbors, facts like these about Electric Co-operatives are easily avialable:

- ELECTRIC CO-OPS are private enterprises, owned and controlled by people who couldn't get essential electricity any other way.
- ELECTRIC CO-OPS are essential to continued rural development and to the economic progress of ALL Louisiana—Town and Country.
- ELECTRIC CO-OPS are the ONLY way ALL rural people can continue to receive dependable electricity at reasonable rates . . so essential to continued progress.
- ELECTRIC CO-OPS repay REA loans with interest (in advance of schedule) just as millions of FHA and VA-financed home owners do every month. They ARE NOT government agencies.

Electric Co-ops have a proud record. They want everybody to know their true story.

"ELLIOTT Paint & Varnish Co. is seeking the services of a salesman with a successful selling record in Louisiana. We manufacture a complete line of trade sales paints, varnishes and enamels for paint stores, lumber dealers and hardware stores. This is an opportunity for a young man to join a company willing to amply reward his efforts and pay him in accordance with what he can produce. We now have established business in Louisiana, together with a warehouse in Shreveport, and can assure prompt delivery. Our line has met with immediate acceptance wherever it has been introduced, and if you are looking for an opportunity to increase your present earnings and are not afraid to work, write us giving full details of past experience, territory covered and the type of accounts you have serviced. You will receive all fringe benefits such as profit - sharing, hospitalization and life insurance. Unless you have had previous experience and are acquainted with the paint trade in Louisiana, your application will not be considered and all details must be included in your reply. Elliott Paint & Varnish Co., 4525 W. 5th Ave., Chicago 24, Ill."

SALESMAN WANTED

We are looking for a professional Salesman with integrity, who is confident of his ability to sell, having proved it to everyone's satisfaction.

This man works out of his own pride and desire to be outstanding in his chosen profession.

He should be between 35 and 50, and have a family for whom he is determined to provide a better than average future.

BLONDIE
I'LL HAVE TO STOP TALKING NOW, ELSA-- I SMELL SOMETHING BURNING IN THE KITCHEN
MY SUPPER IS RUINED, AND DAGWOOD'S DUE HOME IN TEN MINUTES!
BLONDIE-- WHATS THE TROUBLE ?
MY SUPPER BURNED, AND I'M AFRAID I CAN'T GET TO THE MARKET BEFORE IT CLOSES
BLONDIE'S SUPPER BURNED TO A CRISP
I FEEL GUILTY--I WAS THE ONE SHE WAS TALKING TO ON THE PHONE
WE WIVES HAVE TO STICK TOGETHER
OH, BOY--I HOPE BLONDIE HAS A GOOD SUPPER TONIGHT-- I'M HUNGRY AS A WOLF
TAKE THIS STEW-- I COOKED TOO MUCH FOR MY FAMILY
HERE'S A NOODLE CASSEROLE I HAD LEFT OVER
I'LL PUT THIS SALAD ON THE TABLE FOR YOU
OH, DEAR-- OH, DEAR-- THE MARKET WAS CLOSED, AND I HAVE NOTHING FOR POOR, SWEET DAGWOOD
SIT DOWN, BLONDIE-- YOU'RE JUST IN TIME FOR SUPPER
GEE, DAD--YOU'RE A WONDERFUL COOK
YEH, MAN

YES. ALL FRESH WANTS NOW IS A JOB SO SHE CAN SUPPORT HERSELF AND BABY. THAT'S THE FINEST TRAIT A YOUNG MOTHER CAN HAVE.
WHAT ABOUT THAT PHONE CALL FROM EX-MAYOR VOTEN?
THE OLD MAYOR OFFERED FRESH A JOB. SAM.
THE MAYOR RETIRED FROM POLITICS IN '42 AND STARTED RAISING DOGS FOR THE BLIND.
YES. HE ALMOST WENT BLIND HIMSELF IN THE EARLY 40'S. DIDN'T HE?
"HAPPY" VOTEN WAS QUITE A CHARACTER AT THAT. AS I RECALL IT. AND A VERY GOOD MAYOR.
AT LEAST NO SCANDAL EVER TOUCHED HIS ADMINISTRATION.
AND AT THE OFFICE OF EX-MAYOR "HAPPY" VOTEN.
FRESH. LITTLE FLOWER. THIS IS A PLEASURE.
SIT DOWN—RELAX. AND YOU. TRACY. WHAT HAVE YOU GOT TO SAY FOR YOURSELF?
IT'S BEEN A LONG TIME SINCE WE'VE HAD A CHAT, MAYOR.
I NEVER INTERFERED WITH THE POLICE FORCE. YOU HAD A FREE REIN WHEN I WAS MAYOR. EH. BOY?
RIGHT! AND TELL ME. HOW'S THE DOG RAISING BUSINESS?
STUPENDOUS! OUR DOGS HAVE COPPED EVERY BLUE RIBBON FROM MAINE TO CALIFORNIA.
AND THAT BRINGS US TO FRESH. I READ THAT SHE'S BROKE AND NEEDS A JOB. GOOD! THE OLD MAYOR NEEDS A SECRETARY.
BUT WHY DIDN'T YOU BRING YOUR LITTLE SON WITH YOU? I WANTED TO MEET THAT BABY WITH THE BEARD.
I'M SORRY. I DIDN'T. HE'S AN AWFULLY SWEET LITTLE FELLOW.
AS FOR MY QUALIFICATIONS, I CAN TYPE, SAYS FRESH. "THEN YOU'RE HIRED," BELLOWS THE MAYOR.

Weeds killed with Improved WEED-B-GON don't grow back! Hormone ingredients 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T force weeds to grow old and die from the roots up, yet grass is not harmed. And you never need to stoop! Lawn weeding is as easy as watering with the ORTHO Lawn Sprayer attached to your hose. Economical, too — costs less than 2¢ per 100 sq. ft. of lawn. Get WEED-B-GON now from your nearest garden supply dealer.

DESPITE AMORY GOODFELLOW'S OBJECTIONS, HIS PLAY IS ABOUT TO GO ON THE AIR...
THAT'S IT, KIDS! BREAK FOR DINNER! THE NEXT TIME WE DO IT IT'LL BE FOR REAL!
SHOULDN'T AMORY EAT SOME DINNER?
COME ON, AMORY— LET'S GET SOMETHING INSIDE YOU BESIDE COFFEE AND PEP PILLS!
NO... PLEASE... FULL STOMACH MAKES ME SLEEPY...
...NO... DINNER... MORE... COFFEE...
HE'S PROBABLY SAFER IN HERE AT THAT! IN HIS CONDITION ANYTHING COULD HAPPEN TO HIM IN THE STREETS...
HE SEEMS TO BE GETTING WORSE...
I DON'T KNOW IF I'LL BE MORE PLEASED HAVING A GOOD SHOW OR SEEING HIM RELAX!
WHICH REMINDS ME— I WANT TO GET BACK EARLY!
THERE ARE SOME BITS OF STAGE BUSINESS I WANT TO GO OVER ONCE MORE... DARK IN HERE... GUESS NO ONE'S BACK YET...
OH! AMORY! YOU'RE STILL WORKING...
OH, NO!! I'VE DONE IT! I'VE FALLEN ASLEEP! I'M DREAMING AGAIN!
AMORY!! WHAT ARE YOU DOING?! PUT DOWN THAT KNIFE!!
STAY BACK! DON'T MAKE ME HURT YOU!!
PLEASE!! PL...

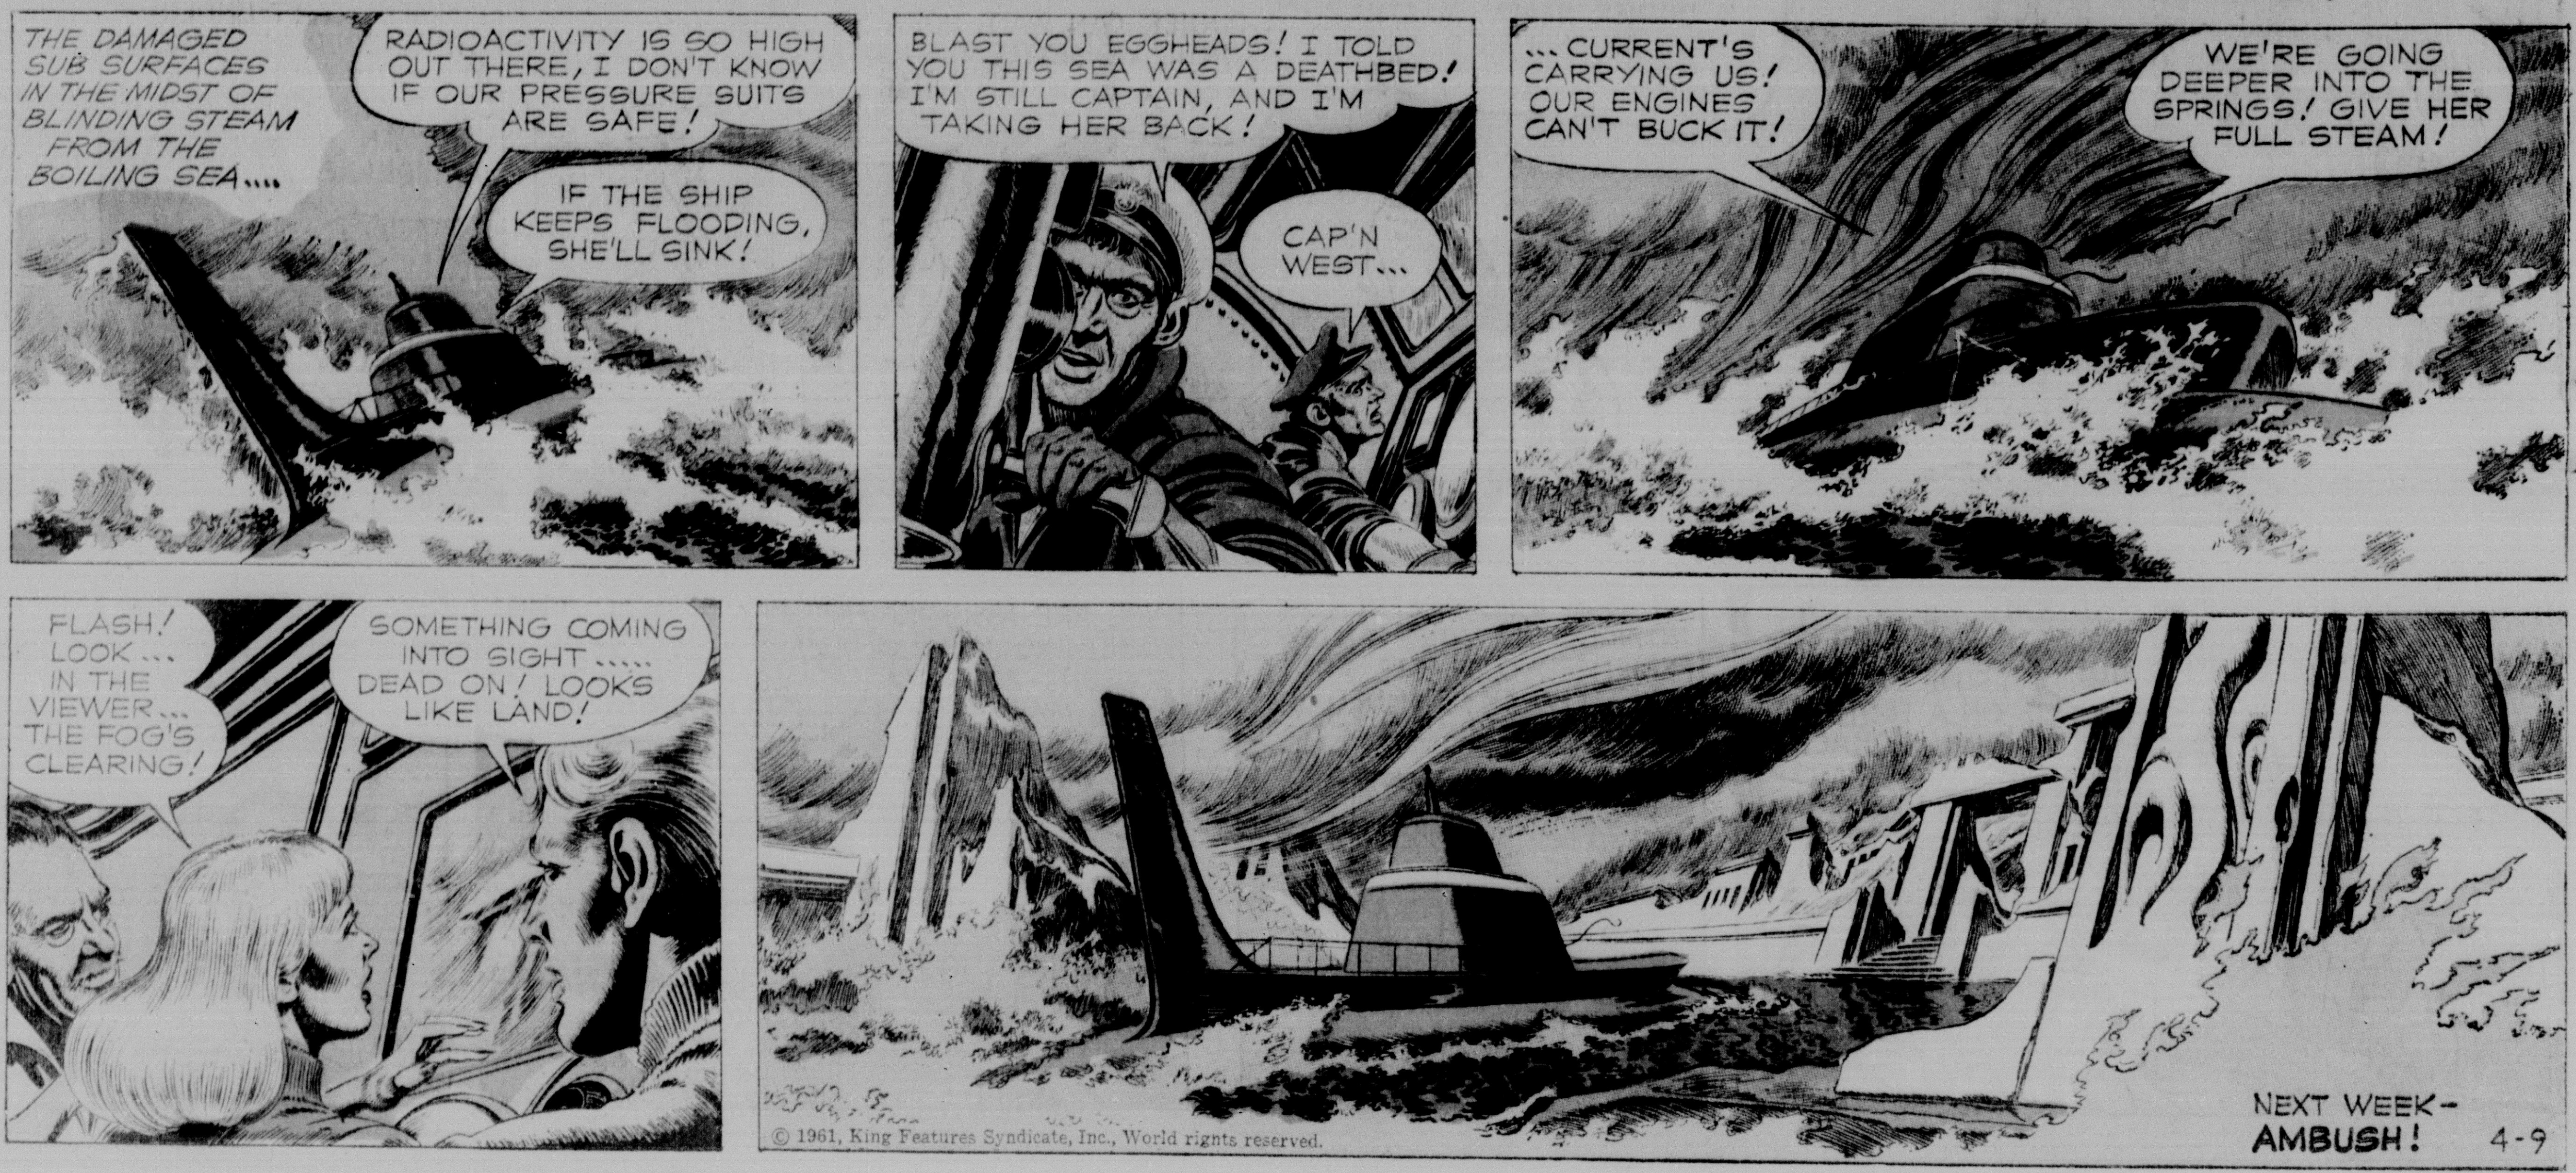
FLASH GORDON

by MAC RABOY



THE DAMAGED SUB SURFACES IN THE MIDST OF BLINDING STEAM FROM THE BOILING SEA....
RADIOACTIVITY IS SO HIGH OUT THERE, I DON'T KNOW IF OUR PRESSURE SUITS ARE SAFE!
IF THE SHIP KEEPS FLOODING, SHE'LL SINK!
BLAST YOU EGGHEADS! I TOLD YOU THIS SEA WAS A DEATHBED! I'M STILL CAPTAIN, AND I'M TAKING HER BACK!
CAP'N WEST...
FLASH! LOOK ... IN THE VIEWER... THE FOG'S CLEARING!
SOMETHING COMING INTO SIGHT..... DEAD ON! LOOKS LIKE LAND!

[illegible] PATROL OF CHINESE REDS IS SLEEPILY PREPARING BREAKFAST...
FROM THE HILLS TO THE WEST COMES THE SOUND OF TINKLING BELLS... A PARTY OF MONKS STARTS DOWN THE TRAIL...
COMRADE LEADER, IT IS THE FORBIDDEN RITUAL OF THE PRIESTS BEARING PRAYER WHEELS AND BELLS...
THEY HAVE BEEN WARNED!
BRING THE RELIGIOUS MUMBLERS TO ME!
I SHALL FORCE THEM TO EAT THEIR STUPID PRAYER PAPERS!
THEN, FROM THE DARKNESS TO THE EAST THERE IS THE SHARP CRACKLE OF RIFLE FIRE AND THE RISING THUD OF HOOFBEATS—AS A CAVALRY UNIT SWEEPS INTO THE VALLEY....
AS THE FOOT SOLDIERS TURN IN SURPRISE, THE PRAYER WHEEL OF THE RELIGIOUS PROCESSION BECOMES A DEADLY MACHINE GUN....
HARDLY A WORD IS SPOKEN AS THE RED PATROL GOES DOWN UNDER THE CROSS-FIRE OF THE ATTACKERS... THE RIDERS STRIP THE CAMP OF FOOD, WEAPONS AND HORSES—THEN FADE BACK INTO THE MOUNTAINS...
ONLY ONE THING MOVES IN THE STRICKEN CAMP....A BANNER WHICH BEARS A STRANGE DEVICE...

YOGI BEAR

By Bill Hanna and Joe Barbera

GEE YOGI...IT'S GOING WAY BACK TO THE PICNIC TABLES.
YOU CAUGHT A PICNIC BASKET, YOGI!!
PICNIC BASKETS DIS-APPEARED AT THE LAKEFRONT PICNIC GROUNDS? OKAY...I'LL BE RIGHT THERE!
OOOPS!
YOGI! DROP ME IMMEDIATELY! THAT'S AN ORDER!!
YES SIR!
